"Oh, no, Janie. None of those silver pencil things under my tongue! I'm all right," and he perked up his ears like lollypop sticks. "I'm all right."

He's Worried

"But something is wrong," said Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy.

"You are quite right—there is," said Mr. Longears. "I just happened to think this old world of ours is going around so fast I am beginning to think my little bunny rabbit chicken might fall off if I don't teach them the reason they can stay on."

"There are many other things they ought to learn, too," said Nurse Jane. "They must learn things out of the Hollow Tree School as well as in it."

"You are right," said Uncle Wiggily. "The Lady Mouse Teacher cannot give all the lessons. There isn't time. So I am going to start some more classes of my own. And the first lesson is going to be a very mysterious one."

"Yes, tonight I am going to give a lesson on the mysterious fire that shines in the swamp at the end of the woods."

"It is a strange fire," said Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy. "I have often wondered, myself, how it burns and burns and never sets anything ablaze."

"Come to the fire lesson tonight," invited Mr. Longears.

And if the apples pie will take the cheese to the movies, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily scaring the Bob Cat.

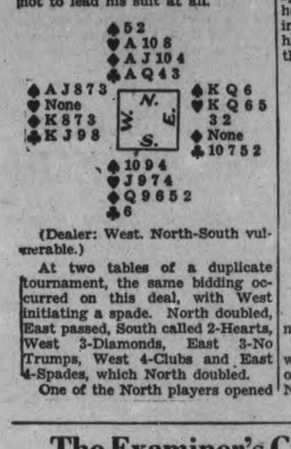
"The Authority on Authorities"

CONSIDER THE FACTS

IF YOU ARE planning to lead your partner's suit, think of the circumstances under which he made his bid. Was it an opening bid? Was it a mere overcall? Was it in response to a bid from you? Was it perhaps forced out of him by your own informative double? These four types of calls all range weaker and weaker in minimum strength required. In fact his response to your double required no high cards. Bearing that in mind may make you decide not to lead his suit at all.



(Dealer: West. North-South vulnerable.)

At two tables of a duplicate tournament, the same bidding occurred on this deal, with West initiating a spade. North doubled, East passed, South called 2-Hearts, West 3-Diamonds, East 3-No Trumps, West 4-Clubs and East 4-Spades, which North doubled.

One of the North players opened the A of his partner's heart suit. West ruffed, led to the spade K, ruffed a small heart to provide against four shown by South's response to the double, then led two more spades, winding up in the dummy. He then flashed four heart leads in quick succession, discarding two clubs and two diamonds, North making the mistake of holding two each in these suits. A club put North in to get two tricks there, but he had to give West a diamond trick.

At the other table North led a spade, remembering his partner's heart bid had been coerced. When in again from a club trick, he led his other spade. Now try to make the contract!

* * *

Tomorrow's Problem

(Dealer: South. East-West vulnerable.)

After a 3-Spades bid by South, who uses this as a weakness shutout, what would you bid in the North?

Looking Back On This Date

MAY 16

The announcement that the Lord's Day Alliance of Canada will observe the 50th anniversary of its organization in 1888 gives an opportunity to cast one's memory back and notice how public opinion has changed even in the last quarter century.

Fred Williams

Up to 1897, no street cars were permitted to be run in Toronto on the Sabbath. The rich or well-to-do who had their carriages could drive to church and back, even if the coachman was thus prevented from going to church. Those less fortunate had to walk to church. Of course the Toronto of that time was very much smaller than now and no great journey was necessary in such a "city of churches." But the World, and W. F. Maclean, decided that the time had come when the common people might ride to church or to a park in the afternoon, and so started an agitation for Sunday street cars.

For three or four years the battle waged. The evangelicals came out emphatically against "profanation of the Sabbath" or the introduction of the "wide-open Sunday." The supporters of the reform fought doggedly "for the Common People". The latter eventually won in 1897 and the newspapers of this date in that year carried the news that at last the voters of Toronto had given a majority of 321 for Sunday cars. It was a sad defeat for the Lord's Day Alliance, which had brought all its clerical big guns into the battle and been beaten.

There was gloom in the churches and evangelical headquarters, but it was not long before many of those who had voted against Sunday cars used them not only to go to church but for summer pleasuring also. Then came the automobile to revolutionize life every day, but especially on Sundays. If some of those old gentleman and ladies who so vigorously opposed Sunday cars 10 years ago were able to come back now they would indeed bewail the "desecration of the Sabbath" and declare that their predictions that the loosening of the restrictions would seduce people from church had been verified and admit the Sunday street cars were the least of the evils which they anticipated.

The Lord's Day Alliance can do much to lessen Sunday labor; it can place a brake upon the tendency to Sunday amusements for profit, but it can no more bring back the old Sabbath, stop Sunday motoring and prevent Sunday golf or tennis than Canute could stop the waves. The world has moved and has taken the Sabbath of our fathers with it. Sunday outings all day and every week are now the rule, and the effects of this have naturally been felt in the family circles and Sunday schools. Yet how many would go back to the Sunday customs of 40 years ago?

SCOTT'S SCRAP BOOK

—By R. J. Scott

The Crippling Effect Of Rheumatism

Rheumatism is a constitutional disease caused by an accumulation of uric acid in the blood and is greatly aggravated by cold and dampness. It generally leaves in its train distorted joints, crooked limbs, crippled hands, and the intense pain and agony is almost unbearable.

Burdock Blood Bitters by invigorating the digestive organs, and eliminating the uric acid from the system will help in giving you relief from this torturing trouble.

MR. HENRY THORNTON, Beeton, Ont., writes:—"I have been a well digger for the past fifteen years, and five years ago I got rheumatism in my left hip and knee from the dampness in the wells.

I tried everything I could think of, but nothing seemed to do me any good until our druggist advised me to use Burdock Blood Bitters, which I did, and it was only a short time until the rheumatism was completely out of my system."

Splendid Meeting
Knox Women's Association

The May meeting for the Women's Association of Knox Church was held in the church parlors, with a good attendance, and the president Mrs. John Allen presiding. The devotional period was in charge of Mrs. N. Gillis.

Mrs. J. McCurdy, who has just returned from a winter spent in Florida, was the special speaker, and gave a most interesting and vivid account of the motor trip to the south, and many experiences while there. Her talk was much enjoyed by her audience.

The following business period contained the routine reports, the leaders of the five circles into which the association is divided, giving most encouraging accounts also of their different activities since the new year. Splendid financial returns and great interest in the work were shown. The Lord's Prayer, repeated in unison brought the meeting to a close.

Dr. H. G. Carleton, President
Peterborough Queen's Alumni

The Peterborough District Queen's Alumni Association spring party was an enjoyable affair at the Kawartha Golf and Country Club Friday evening. E. R. Shirley, the president, was the capable chairman at dinner, attended by nearly sixty members from the city and district.

The clever table decorations were particularly appropriate for the season, and were designed by Miss Connie Wagar, with assistance from Miss Irene Mark and other helpers. On the head and foot tables little dolls danced about Maypoles, and on the side tables, dolls gathered gumdrop "flowers" from off tiny painted twig trees.

Richard Lees, honorary president of the Alumni and senior graduate of Queen's in Peterborough, was missed from his usual place at the head table, his absence being mentioned with regret during dinner. A note of thanks from Mr. Lees for a gift of flowers was read. College songs, led by Don Munro, with Tom Allen at the piano, were part of the dinner program.

Dr. J. A. Bannister, for the Nominations Committee, announced the slate of officers for the coming year, and the new president, Dr. H. G. Carleton of Norwood, was welcomed to the chair.

The alumni officers for the season 1938-39 are as follows: Honorary Presidents, Richard Lees, E. R. Shirley; President, Dr. H. G. Carleton; Vice-Presidents, Leo Copp, Miss Alexandra Howson, J. F. Harvey (Lakefield); Secretary, Mrs. R. G. Corneill; Treasurer, V. R. Henry; Chaplain, Dr. C. M. Scott; Executive, Miss Verna Burgess, Miss Helen Porter (Lakefield), Miss Doris Bannister (Millbrook), E. H. Greig (Campbellford), A. B. Gates and Jack Mark.

The evening's program included colored movies shown by Mr. Copp of the Field Naturalists' excursion to this district last year, and in which a number of the Queen's graduates had taken an active interest. Court whist, for which Miss Lamoine West of Madoc was prize-winner, and dancing were also enjoyed. The table committee included Mrs. H. R. H. Kenner and Mrs. V. R. Henry. Members of the Alumni were present from Madoc, Norwood, Campbellford, Lakefield, Hastings, Havelock and other points in the district.

Wagar—Tripp

A very attractive wedding was solemnized in Park Street Baptist Church on Saturday afternoon at two o'clock, when Elsie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Tripp of Romaine street, became the bride of Adelbert Wagar, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Wagar of Stewart street. The pastor, the Rev. C. C. Boyter officiated.

The church was decorated with a quantity of ferns, and white satin ribbons marking off the guest pews. The wedding music was played by the organist, Stanley Northrop, and during the signing of the register, Jack Flagler sang, "Love's Old Sweet Song."

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was charmingly gowned in white triple sheer, with all white accessories, and her hat having a shoulder length veil. She carried a bouquet of pink carnations.

Miss Iva Tripp attended her sister as bridesmaid, wearing a becoming gown of pale blue sheer, with hat and other accessories in white, and also carrying a bouquet of pink carnations. The groom was attended by Arnold Lawrie, and the ushers were Clifford Hunt and Archie McMasters.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the groom's parents, followed by a wedding supper served to about forty guests. Pink and white decorations were prettily carried out for the rooms and the table, which held the three-tiered wedding cake, pink and white candles and pink carnations. The groom's gift to the bride was a handsome chest of silver. The young couple are shortly taking up residence on George street.

The Examiner Attends a Birthday Party

Happy birthday to Lorene Mann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Mann, Bridgenorth, who was three years old on Saturday. Lorene was hostess to sixteen of her young friends at a monster birthday party. She wasn't able to blow the candles out all by herself, but willing friends made short work of them and of the cake, shown at TOP. Lorene is in the centre and on the left of the picture is Doris Fowler and at the right is Lois Murray. Both are from Bridgenorth.

Mrs. F. M. Somerville, President of Local Branch, Grenfell Mission

Mrs. F. M. Somerville was elected president of the Peterborough Branch of the Grenfell Labrador Medical Mission at the annual meeting held at the home of the immediate past president, Mrs. W. R. Morris.

Splendid reports for the past year's successful work were brought to the meeting. The secretary reported one tea and one garden party had been held in aid of the society; and in March, Dr. H. Forsythe of St. Mary's River Hospital, Labrador, lectured in Murray Street Baptist Church, on the work being done along the bare coast of Labrador and in Newfoundland, the lecture being sponsored by the local branch of the mission.

The secretary also reported eight large boxes of new and used clothing and bedding were shipped to Harrington Harbor, Canadian Labrador, early last summer.

The treasurer's report showed receipts for the year to have amounted to $289.46. Of this amount, $100 was sent to the General Secretary for work in Canadian Labrador; $90 had been used for supplies and materials for the bales shipped to Harrington, and $54.83 had been remitted to the General Secretary in Ottawa for industrial work and Christmas cards sold for the mission work.

The convenor of the Sewing Committee reported on the preparations being made for the bale to be sent in June. The quality of the bale's contents improves each year, as more new garments are made and bought. The ladies of Anson House continue to do much work for Grenfell, as do also the ladies of Murray Street Church, and the Berean Bible Class of Knox United Church.

Officers Elected

The election of officers for the coming year, resulted as follows: Honorary president, Mrs. W. R. Morris; president, Mrs. F. M. Somerville; 1st vice-president, Mrs. D. B. Falkner; 2nd vice-president, Mrs. Adrian Macdonald; secretary, Mrs. F. C. Anderson; treasurer, Mrs. G. R. Langley; convenor of packing, Mrs. J. C. Smith; convenor of sewing, Mrs. Somerville; convenor of industrial work, Mrs. Linden Hall; convenor of Christmas cards, Mrs. D. V. Canning.

Before the meeting adjourned, plans were made for the annual spring garden party to be held at the home of Mrs. Gordon Langley, on Friday, June 10.

JUST BETWEEN US WOMEN

"It is not the moving about, the strange places one sees, nor the people one meets, that really count in life, you know. I think it is the things one learns, the places in which we take root and grow, and the people which teach us what is really worth while—patence, and the beauty there is in the simplest and most common lives, when they are lived close to nature." — Ellen Glasgow.

Dear Friends,—This quotation is so true. There are many who travel in and around the world, but they have gained nothing from it. They took all their prejudices and bigotries with them, and—brought them all back. They gained nothing by this travel, sometimes not enough to talk in an entertaining manner about it, so that others could share vicariously.

Any travel should broaden the mind, else you might as well stay at home. If you cannot learn how to enjoy more, to appreciate more, to sympathize more, your journeyings will have been in vain.

And, when I talk of bigotries, I don't mean only in religion, for we can get bigoted on our own way of doing things, our own way of thinking, so that we exclude so much that would benefit and help us.

Some think also, that you cannot live close to nature if you don't live on a farm or in the country. But what about human nature which is common to us all? You have to have the seeing eye, the hearing ear when you travel abroad, even if your journeys be short ones.

You can see how others live that would please you, and you can see and hear how others again live, that would never please you, and make your choice. You can see human nature at its highest in the slums, when the poor help the poor, and you can see it at its worst when those who could help, withhold their hand.

We are inclined to judge nations by one or two whom we have met. The English as supercilious and aloof, the Irish as fighters, the Scotch as stingy or too careful, the Welsh as singers and keeping to themselves. The Americans as boastful and arrogant in their youth, and the Canadians as slow and without enough pride in their own country.

But, when you travel amongst them, you find humor and kindliness from the first, sympathy and a deep understanding form the second, a large generosity from the third, shyness and kindliness from the fourth, courtesy and friendliness from the fifth, and a deep love of country and aliveness in the sixth.

But again, you have to look for these things, you must cast aside some of your prejudices, you must go with an open mind, or you will see just what you expect to see, because you are looking for it. Even in coming to town, or going downtown if you live there, you see what you are looking for, and what a variety there is for those who have the "seeing eye, and the hearing ear."

You can have kinship with many peoples, although their way is very different from ours, for all must solve their problems, and that is how to get the best from life. You can have roots in one country and still live in another one, so that you are kin to both.

I like to feel that my mind is like the great terminal, with trains of thought coming in and going out. With freight, with passengers, switches, signals and bells. To take coal on, to be banked high, and to make the wheels go round, not only for myself but for others, too.

I would not like a one track mind, over which the train of thought travels just from one point to another. The monotony would get me down. I like to touch at small villages, larger cities, and big places, getting thoughts and ideas and points of view from many.

And if you cannot travel far, there are many worlds around you to explore, little ones like shop and factory, store and office, and above all the one right in your home. We must touch so many lives on so many points, to make it interesting. More? Maybe.

Your Friend,
ROBERTA.

No Wonder You Are Constipated!

What do you eat for breakfast? Coffee, toast, maybe some eggs? What do you eat for lunch and dinner? Bread, meat, potatoes? No wonder you're constipated; you probably don't get enough "bulk." And "bulk" doesn't mean the amount you eat. It means the kind of food that forms a soft "bulky" mass in the bowels. It's this mass that helps a bowel movement.

The common sense thing to do about it is to eat a natural laxative food. Kellogg's All-Bran for breakfast will give you just the "bulk" you need. And it gives you, in addition, Nature's great intestinal-tonic, vitamin B1. Eat this crunchy toasted cereal every day, drink plenty of water, and life will be brighter for you! All-Bran is made by Kellogg in London, Ontario. Sold by every grocer.

Do This If You're NERVOUS

Don't take chances on harmful opiates and products which you know nothing about. Use common sense. Get more fresh air, more sleep and take a reliable, time-proven medicine like famous Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—made especially for women from wholesome herbs and roots—let it help Nature tone up your system and thus calm jangly nerves, lessen distress from female functional disorders and make life worth living.

For over 60 years one woman has told another how to go "smiling thru" with Pinkham's Compound—let it help YOU.

"TIRED" ALL THE TIME

She felt miserable—draggy—low in vitality—lower in spirits. She hadn't thought of her kidneys, until a friend suggested Dodd's Kidney Pills. At once she took Dodd's. The "washed out" feeling was soon replaced by clear headed energy and restful sleep. Headache, backache, lassitude and other signs of faulty kidneys disappeared. 112

Since death its gloom, its shadows cast
Within our home, where all seemed bright,
And took from us a shining light.
We miss that light, and ever will;
Her vacant place there's none to fill.
Down here we mourn, but not in vain,
For up in Heaven we will meet again.

—Sadly missed by Husband and Family.

YOUTH REMANDED IN EXTORTION CASE

(Examiner Correspondence.)

TWEED, May 16. — Appearing before Magistrate E. J. Butler, on Friday afternoon, Gerald Gunning, of the Township of Hungerford, was remanded in custody until May 21. Gunning is charged with attempting to extort $5,000 from W. E. Spackman, bank manager at Tweed, on April 23.

It is alleged Gunning sent a threatening note to Spackman demanding he leave $5,000 on the Lodgeroom Church steps by 8 p.m. April 23. A dummy package was left, while Provincial Police waited for the extortionist. A man finally came to the steps, taking the package, and evaded the police.

Chief Clare Hayes of Tweed and Sergeant H. Thompson of the Ontario Provincial Police of Belleville, arrested Gunning on April 25 at the home of his father, in Hungerford Township, and charged him with the offence.

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Tuesday, May 17

VERY LIVELY business conditions of a profitable nature are presaged by the predominant lunar and mutual aspects. These auguries also point to sudden change or travel, with much stirring in launching such business projects which will bring financial satisfaction. Be wary of strangers.

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for changes during the year, with profitable new contracts or propositions demanding fresh plans and environs. It should be a most auspicious time for dealing with persons of power and financial standing who will lend a friendly ear to proposals of merit.

A child born on this day may be highly talented, versatile and original, with a predisposition to get into predicaments through stubbornness and quick action. However, it probably will be successful, winning the support of important persons, being popular, attractive and ingenious.

PLEA FOR SKIIER

TROY, N.Y., May 16—(AP).—The Taconic Hiking Club announced today it had cabled an appeal to Chancellor Hitler of Germany for release of Hannes Schneider, famed Austrian skiing instructor recently reported taken into custody for alleged anti-nazi activities.

A British May Day Dig At Chamberlain

A giant caricature of Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain is shown being borne in the great May day demonstration in London's Hyde Park. The prime minister, a swastika charm dangling from his watch-chain, is depicted fleeing from spear-points representing Labor, Communism and other ideologies that are against his foreign policy.

ST. PAUL'S GUILD SPONSORS EUCHRE

(Examiner Correspondence.)

MARMORA, May 16. — Group 2 of St. Paul's Ladies' Guild held a euchre party in the Parish Hall on Friday evening, there being eleven tables in play. The prize-winners were Martin Linton and Mrs. Eugene Brady.. Refreshments were served at the close.

A very impressive ceremony took place in the Sacred Heart Church on Sunday evening when 22 girls were received into the Sodality of the Blessed Virgin. Rev. Father Agnew delivered an interesting sermon on "The Relationship of Christ and His Mother," after which the girls received their badges. The service concluded with Rosary and Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament.

GIRL IS IDENTIFIED

NEW YORK, May 16 — (AP). — "The girl in grey" was identified in the morgue today as Pearl Louise Braden, of Carapolis, Pa., by her sister, Mrs. Evelyn Cape. The 16-year-old girl died last Friday after drinking poison in a rest room of the Midtown Bus terminal.

Mrs. Cape told Detectives Daniel McCann and John Aievoli of the missing persons bureau that her sister had disappeared last November and had not communicated with her family since then.

OBITUARY

RICHARD DAINARD.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HASTINGS, May 16.—The death of Richard Dainard occurred at his late residence on the Campbellford Road, on Thursday evening.

Richard Dainard was born in South Bay, Prince Edward County, 74 years ago, the oldest son of the late William Dainard and Mary Jane Jenkins. His death, which makes the first break in a family of twelve children, came rather unexpectedly, as he was only ill one week, and was able to be about his work.

He leaves to mourn his loss his sorrowing wife, formerly Ida Chard; five sons: Louis of Warkworth, Samuel of Norwood, Cecil, Frank and William of Seymour; his only daughter, Mrs. Harry Bolton of Percy; five brothers: Case, Samuel and George of Milford, Jacob of Cherry Valley, Nelson of Belleville, and John of Hastings; also five sisters.

AUGUSTUS H. BERTRAND

(Examiner Correspondence.)

CAMPBELLFORD, May 16.—After an illness of only a few days death claimed Augustus H. Bertrand on Wednesday. The deceased who was born near Meyersburg, the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bertrand was in his fifty-ninth year. His whole life was spent on the farm in this locality where he was well-known and claimed a host of friends. He leaves to mourn the loss, his wife, the former Kathleen Karl of Havelock and six sons, James of Kirkland Lake, Arthur of Corbyville, Joseph, Percy, Arnold and Bill at home and two daughters Violet of Belleville and Kathleen at home. Also surviving are one brother Albert of Meyersburg and four sisters Mrs. Robert Hansley, Carmen, Man.; Mrs. J. J. Bradley, Port Elgin; Mrs. A. E. Blue, Port Colborne; Mrs. R. M. Millar, Westwood. Many beautiful floral tributes gave mute evidence of the esteem in which the deceased was held.

The pall bearers were Messrs. Albert Bertrand, Orland Bertrand, Arthur Bertrand, James Bertrand, Cecil Bertrand, and Joseph Bertrand. The remains were interred in Mount Pleasant Cemetery.

TRENT RIVER W.I. ELECTS OFFICERS

TRENT RIVER, May 16.—Pay your dues and join again was the response to the roll call at the May meeting of the Women's Institute held Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Walter Lewis.

Miss Doris Scott, secretary, read the new program previously made out, which met with the approval of all members present, and also gave the year's financial statement which showed receipts $112.66, expenditures $92.66, cash in hand $20.

Letters were received from St. John Ambulance Association concerning the Institute organizing a first aid course and the secretary of Central Ontario Women's Institutes convention area regarding the one-dollar fee. No action was taken about the first aid course and the fee was ordered to be sent to the department.

Election of Officers

Mrs. Joseph Hoffman of Havelock took the chair for the election of officers. Mrs. Earl Greenly resigned as president and thanked all members for the loyal support during her term of office.

The election was as follows: President, Mrs. Walter Lewis; vice-president, Mrs. Harry Mann; secretary, Miss Doris Scott; treasurer, Mrs. Earl Greenly; press reporter, Miss B. G. French; auditors, Mrs. W. C. Inkster and Mrs. Melville Wight; district director, Mrs. Thos. J. Brown; board of directors, Mrs. Melville Wight, Mrs. Ward Glenn, Mrs. Roy Longmuir, Mrs. Robt. Carnrite; district representatives, Mrs. Walter Lewis, Mrs. Thos. J. Brown, Mrs. R. J. McNeely, Mrs. John Scott; sick committee, Mrs. John Scott, Mrs. R. Carnrite, Mrs. Ward Glenn, Mrs. R. J. McNeely.

Mrs. Lewis expressed her appreciation of the electing her to the office as president and asked for the hearty co-operation of the members during the coming year. A vote of appreciation was given Mrs. J. Hoffman for her duties in taking charge of the election of officers, after singing the National Anthem lunch was served.

Weds Commoner, Loses Rights

Wedding of Archduke Albrecht, 40, of the ancient house of Hapsburg, and a commoner, Katherine Bucskay, 27-year-old country school teacher, at Pannohalma, Hungary, forfeits Albrecht's Hapsburg rights. Expulsion of the archduke was announced shortly after the marriage. It was explained that Archduke Otto, head of the house of Hapsburg, several years ago issued a circular letter to all members of the Hapsburg line reminding them that if they should marry beneath their rank they automatically would cease to be members of the imperial house.

PAINFUL SCIATICA

Here is the case of Mr. A. D. M. If ever an outlook seemed black, his did! If ever relief seemed far away, an idle dream, it did to him! Now read his letter.

"For over 30 years I have suffered from Rheumatic trouble. On February 12th, 1936, I went down with Sciatica, and thought I'd lost the use of my left leg. I took treatments for two months, and felt somewhat better. About a month ago my left leg became very bad again, and almost useless. I started taking Fynnon Salt. After about a week an improvement set in. Now I can keep going twelve and fourteen hours a day."

A ½ teaspoonful of Fynnon Salt in a glassful of water every day will help drive rheumatic troubles out of your system. The combination of Sodium Potassium and the elements of Lithium in Fynnon Salt assist in expelling Uric Acid, help stimulate your liver, putting you on your feet again. 5 MEET DEATH, 29 ARE INJURED IN TRAIN CRASH

Rear End Pileup Is Worst On London Underground Victims Trapped Hours

LONDON, May 17.— (AP).— At least five persons were killed and 29 injured today in a rear-end crash between two crowded underground trains and a wild panic in the tunnel under Victoria Embankment. The wreck was the worst in the history of London's "underground."

Some of the victims were trapped for hours in the wreckage after an eastbound train smashed into the rear of another between the Busy Temple and Charing Cross stations.

Forty firemen and police men worked 2½ hours to extricate four passengers from the big red first and third class coaches.

Passengers told of the jarring impact of the crash followed by blinding showers of sparks in the pitch black tunnel.

Screaming women and blood-spattered victims jostled in the darkness in a mad scramble to escape through the splintered windows. Charing Cross station, in the heart of London, was turned into an emergency hospital. Dozens of doctors, nurses and stretcher bearers rushed there. Ambulances and fire engines choked streets around the station.

Scene One of Panic.

The crowded coaches were twisted, and plunged into darkness. There were scenes of panic when a battery beneath one train sent a shower of sparks through the tunnel.

Women screamed, thinking the train was on fire. Crowds smashed windows and fought their way on to the tracks.

"Everyone in my compartment was badly shaken," he said. "It was an eerie and upsetting experience to see stretchers going by along the line for the injured."

One passenger in the first train said: "We had not quite stopped and were just crawling along when suddenly there was a terrific jolt as the train in back crashed into us. I was flung off my feet. Our guard had a broken leg, and we helped him down. The driver of the oncoming train had a miraculous escape, for he didn't seem hurt."

AIR MISSION HINTS LONG-TERM DEALS

OTTAWA, May 17.—(CP)—Executives of several Canadian aircraft construction companies were in Ottawa today, conferring with the mission from the British Air Ministry.

The Canadian company officials, it is understood, supplemented verbally the particulars set forth in the various memoranda placed at the disposal of the overseas party yesterday.

These covered the equipment, personnel, and capacity of the various plants, together with details relating to costs of operation and possibilities of expansion.

Comander J. G. Weir, head of the mission, said last night that such conferences would take place before the return of the party to England. He was chiefly interested, he said, in the activities of the primary aircraft building industry.

The commander said that if contracts were awarded the Canadian companies, they would be given "with a long-term view." The British were not concerned with a rapid turning out of machines so much as with an assurance that there could be a steady output from Canada over a period of years.

NO INQUEST DATE

OWEN SOUND, Ont., May 17 (CP)—Dr. A. B. Rutherford, chief coroner, has not set a date for the inquest in connection with the death of William "one-armed" Waterton, shot to death in his shack near Balaclava last week. The inquest will not be held until Dr. E. R. Frankish, provincial pathologist, is prepared to give his report following investigations.

Art Treasure Bared As River Drops

Lyons, France, May 17 (CP)

DRY WEATHER and an unusual drop in the level of the River Rhone have given France a new art treasure.

The water at Vienne, near here, dropped to such a low level that it exposed first a hitherto unsuspected foundation of an old Roman bridge, then large fragments of white marble and a well-preserved bust of Venus. The bust was taken to the Vienne Museum, where classical experts expressed belief it was a genuine piece of art of the Gallic-Roman period.

SUPPLY MINISTER SEEN AS OUTCOME OF CABINET UPSET

LONDON, May 17.—(AP)—Shake-up at the air ministry widened today with the resignation of Lord Weir, unofficial adviser to the government on aircraft production since 1935.

Lord Weir announced he was following the action of Viscount Swinton, who resigned yesterday as secretary of state for air, but declined further statement.

As ex-officio member of the air council, Lord Weir had worked in collaboration with Lord Swinton, who was president of the council. He was managing director of the Clyde-side engineering firm of G. J. Weir, Ltd., and director of Imperial Chemical Industries and International Nickel Company of Canada, Lloyd's Bank and the National Bank of Scotland. He was air minister in 1918.

The resignations seemed to foreshadow far-reaching steps toward coordination of supplies and production, aimed at a goal of 3,500 first line planes by 1940. Up to now critics of the air program have levelled much of their fire at alleged lack of coordination in "shadow factory" production. These factories are additions to existing plants, built at government expense to make various plane parts.

The union of Engineering and Shipbuilding Workers arranged to meet with employers May 25 to talk of ways of meeting the demand for labor in the arms speed-up.

Lord Swinton's resignation, because of parliamentary clamor that the program had lagged under his direction, was considered to be the first step toward speedier rearmament in the air.

Sir Kingsley Wood, 67, portly and known as "cherub" to his intimates, advanced from the Ministry of Health to replace Lord Swinton.

Minister of Supplies

The next step may be creation of a new cabinet post. The Daily Telegraph (Conservative) hinted at this in an editorial praising the new cabinet:

"The immense expansion of the defence forces which is now in training demands direction of co-ordination in the business of supplies which cannot effectively be discharged by anything less than a separate department of state, with a cabinet minister at its head."

A ministry of supply long has been urged by some as essential if the government is to surpass Germany's aircraft leadership. Through such a ministry the government could eliminate much red tape and over-

In Wilds 6 Days Woman 78, Safe

Shows Few Ill Effects From Long Foodless Wander; Even Managed Sleep at Nights Despite Cold

TIMMINS, Ont., May 17 (CP).—Mrs. Margaret Watson, 78, lost for six days in the dense bush country of Fallon township, was found alive and well today by searchers. She had been without food or shelter since wandering from her son's home.

Mrs. Watson was found several miles from Barite Mine, near where she became lost last Wednesday night while taking a stroll. Searchers said the point where she was found is about 26 miles southeast of South Porcupine.

Standing on a slight knoll, she waved her handkerchief as a group of men led by Melton Bertrand, a fire ranger, broke through heavy underbrush and saw her. They had been following footprints they hoped were Mrs. Watson's since late yesterday.

Bertrand picked up the trail shortly before dark yesterday about a mile and a half from Brite Mine. He followed tre trail until dark and picked it up again this morning. He found Mrs. Watson shortly after 8.30 E.S.T.

Community Astonished.

The community, which believed she had fallen into a nearby river or had perished for want of food in the bush, was astonished to learn the aged woman apparently suffered few ill-effects.

Taken to her mine home she was put to bed but was able to talk to relatives. She said the nights were chilly but she had bundled herself up as well as she could and slept a few hours at a time.

The attending doctor said Mrs. Watson would be kept in bed several days for a rest and to guard against pneumonia which might follow her lengthy exposure.

TOO MANY REPLY TO PLEA FOR WIFE

WINDSOR, Ont., May 17 (C.P.).—Reginald McLeod of London, Ont., regrets now that he asked Mayor E. S. Wigle of Windsor for assistance in finding a bride. He informed Mayor Wigle to-day that he's sorry he started the whole thing and may leave for Vancouver shortly.

The Mayor up to to-day had forwarded 25 applications from girls in various Western Ontario centres on to McLeod in London. McLeod answered to-day, "Received your letter with the enclosed letters. Please don't send me any more letters. Return them to their owners."

Consequently he will not get the latest letters. One from a 23-year-old London girl said: "Tons of loneliness and ounces of nerve force me to write to you." Another from a 25-year-old would-be bride of Delhi said: "I can only hope I may prove to be the right girl." He added she was "more or less refined."

The letter from the London lass noted that "the writer of these lines has followed your story," and asked that McLeod meet her on a designated London street on Friday night at a specified time. Description of the clothes she would wear was given.

"If you have not yet found the girl you are looking for, I wonder if we could be friends?" the letter asked. "I mean, go places together; meet other people."

"Tons of loneliness and ounces of nerve force me to write to you," the letter adds. "Please let me state this is not a marriage proposal, but rather one of friendship."

3 DOOMED MEN ESCAPE

COLUMBIA, S.C., May 17.—(AP) Three of six convicts under death sentence for killing Olin Sanders, penitentiary guard captain in a frustrated jail break last Dec. 12, escaped from the Richland County jail here early today.

The trio, George Wingard, 22, of Columbia, Herbert Moorman, 41, of Detroit, and Clayton Crans, 28, of Rochester, N.Y., were found missing at the early morning checkup.

USURY CANADA'S BIGGEST BUSINESS SAYS CAMPBELL

HAMILTON, May 17 (CP). — Banking has been the only business in Canada to have increased its assets since the war, Hon. Colin Campbell, Provincial Minister of Public Works, told a service club here today.

He charged that "usury had become the greatest business in Canada today."

Mr. Campbell's charge was made in a vigorous plea for monetary and financial reform as the "greatest and most urgent need in Canada."

While bank assets had increased, national wealth, national income, agricultural investment, farm crop value had decreased with a "staggering" increase in the national debt.

Cannot Go On.

Canada could not go on exporting its gold and borrowing from sources whose credit had been established by Canadian gold, Mr. Campbell said.

"We admit defeat when we admit that we must sit by idly while our national debt increases and the amount of interest to be paid out on servicing debt increases," he said.

Money had been cloaked in mystery in Canada, and the examples of Europe's paper money and managed currency were always thrown out when a suggestion of monetary control was made, he continued, but "the situations are entirely different. Those European countries had not gold reserves."

"We can have that money, the same money which the orthodox bankers have been talking about for years, based on our gold, if we insist that it shall not be exported from the country," he said.

Ex-Army Chieftain Held In Castle

BERLIN, May 17 (CP-Havas). — Baron Werner von Fritsch, former Commander-in-Chief of the German Army, who was forced out in the purge of February 4, has been placed under arrest in a castle in Hanover, pending the outcome of a conflict between him and high Nazi officials, who accused him of immorality, it was reported here today.

Baron von Fritsch, the report said, was cleared of the immorality charges by a military tribunal of honor. He demanded punishment of his accusers. Unable to obtain satisfaction, the former Reichswehr chieftain refused to accept an invitation from Chancellor Hitler to return to the army.

He was then assigned to reside in a Hanover castle, accompanied by an aide, and put on his honor to remain there until his case is settled.

Nearly 24 Planes Organized To Start Hunt

Four Women, 2 Children Listed on New Transport Bound to St. Paul for Delivery; Fear Pilot Hit Fog-Shrouded Mountain Top

LOS ANGELES, May 17 (AP).—Mercy planes mobilized in a giant aerial search today for a new $80,000 Lockheed transport feared crashed with nine persons in a fog-shrouded peak of the Sierra Madre range near Los Angeles.

The transport, flying to St. Paul for delivery to Northwest Airlines, took off from Union Air Terminal yesterday and was last heard from above rugged Mint Canyon.

Aboard were:

Mrs. Carl B. Squier, 34, wife of Lockheed's sales manager.

Evelyn Dingle, Northwest Airlines employee.

Nearly two dozen planes were mobilized by the Sheriff's aero squadron and commercial airlines promised additional aid for an intensive hunt. Weather reports of ceilings as low as 2,000 feet in the mountain area minimized hopes for early discovery of the missing ship.

No Hint of Disaster.

No word from the transport's two-way radio system gave a hint of disaster yesterday. Pilot L. D. Carlson of Western Air Express, taking off on a regularly scheduled flight from Union air terminal, kept in radio contact with Pilot Willey until the latter reached Mint Canyon. Nothing was reported amiss.

Quickly changing weather conditions—broken cloud banks which joined in a solid blanket—were believed to have trapped the high-speed transport. The flight was not a scheduled commercial trip.

Lockheed said the plane would not have proceeded beyond Las Vegas, where it was to be delivered to the air-line.

It had accommodations for 10 passengers and a crew of three.

A Lockheed "14," it was a sister ship to that in which five Polish airmen are engaged in a leisurely 16,500-mile flight to Warsaw. Last Jan. 10 a Northwest Airlines' Lockheed crashed in the Bridger Mountains in Montana, killing 10 persons.

Lindsay Arsenal To Be Opened

OTTAWA, May 17 (C.P.).—The Government Arsenal at Lindsay, Ont., will be re-opened, Defence Minister Mackenzie told the House of Commons last night. New equipment will be purchased and the plant renovated to make shell cases. It will involve $130,000.

Bruce McNevin (Lib. Victoria) suggested the whole plant at Lindsay should be put into operation because it was modern and in a safe position in time of war. He suggested all sorts of military equipment could be manufactured there.

LONDON BANK RAID NETS LONE BANDIT $1,000 IN COOL JOB

LONDON, Ont., May 17 (CP)—A lone bandit armed with a small silver plated revolver and wearing dark driving glasses held up the London west branch of the Bank of Toronto today.

Forcing bank employees to hand over nearly $1,000 in cash the bandit made them lie on the floor while he escaped in a light-blue colored sedan.

A few minutes after the hold-up police and detectives were patrolling every highway in western Ontario searching for the car. The car was stolen in Toronto last night.

The hold-up was staged shortly after 11 o'clock. Malcolm A. Patterson in charge of the branch and the ledger keeper, Clare Heald, were alone when the car drove up to the front door.

Patterson was in the teller's cage at the time.

"This man, who came in the door was about six feet in height and about 35 years old," Patterson said. "He was dark and clean-shaven and seemed to be wearing a jacket."

"Give me nickels for this," he said.

Patterson counted out the five-cent pieces and started to shove them across to the man, only to look up into a revolver held by the customer.

"All right, hand over the money," drawled the bandit in a low voice.

Not Satisfied.

As the hold-up man picked up the bills he told Patterson: "Hand over the rest of it. This isn't all you have."

"Give it all to me and hurry up," he said.

"You carry more than this. Give me the rest of it and hurry. I'm not fooling."

The bank teller gave him the rest of the cash.

All this time Heald was beside the teller's cage, but wasn't able to make a move to call for help.

"Now then, you two lie on the floor," ordered the gunman.

FRANCE SEEKING WAY OF WINNING MUSSOLINI OVER

PARIS, May 17.—(AP). — Premier Edouard Daladier called a full session of his "National Defence" Cabinet to-day to consider means of pushing French-Italian friendship negotiations to a successful conclusion.

French observers made no secret of their disappointment over the lack of cordiality in Premier Mussolini's Saturday speech at Genoa in which he spoke of a possible breakdown, but Daladier was understood to be ready for further efforts to settle French-Italian differences.

The Premier was backed by the success of his 5,000,000,000 franc (about $140,000,000) defence loan, over-subscribed yesterday, and the purchase of 100 warplanes from the United States.

Some sources said the question of immediate appointment of an ambassador to Rome formed a part of the Cabinet's agenda. Thus, in effect, would be recognition of the Italian conquest of Ethiopia for which France won permission from the League of Nations last week. France has not had an ambassador in Rome since late in 1936 when Count De Chambrun resigned.

Talks to Continue.

A Foreign Ministry spokesman said conversations on the French-Italian agreement would be resumed in Rome to-day when Jules Blondel, French Charge D'Affaires, calls on Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano.

"We are going to display perfect goodwill and see later if it is possible to continue it," the spokesman said.

Another question before the French Cabinet, of almost equal importance and also bound up with Mussolini's speech, was the Sudeten German demands on the Czechoslovak Government.

France's effort to persuade her Central European ally to make liberal concessions to the Nazi minority was given new significance by belief in French circles that Mussolini's speech indicated he would stay on the sidelines, in the event of German-Czechoslovak differences, just as he did when Germany absorbed Austria.

Foreign Minister Georges Bonnet discussed both the French-Italian negotiations and the Czechoslovak question yesterday with W. C. Bullitt, United States Ambassador, and a number of other leaders in the Diplomatic Corps.

TORY BREACH ENDS FROST ANNOUNCES

TORONTO, May 17.—(CP)—Cecil Frost, vice-president of the Ontario Conservative Association, said in an address here last night differences which had arisen in the party regarding date of a general meeting had been smoothed out.

The Association executive decided last week the meeting will be held July 21. It previously had been postponed from May 28 and many in the party had pressed for the holding of a meeting before the federal party convention in Ottawa July 5.

"All differences have now been settled," Mr. Frost told St. Paul's National Conservative Association in Forester's Hall. "The officials of the party feel a happy compromise has been reached. The Conservative party will now be ready to face a general election in the fall, and this might easily be held. It will also be in a position to greet the new Dominion leader after the convention in Ottawa in the first week of July."

John T. Hackett, Montreal, told the meeting that at no time in the history of Canada has sectional dissension been as vocal as in the past few months. "A strange reading our newspapers," he added, "might get the idea Canada is not a nation but half-a-dozen different countries."

Rain Breaks Britain's Drought Worst In 123 Years

Ottawa May Provide Reserves' Boots

Ottawa, May 17 (CP)

MEMBERS of the non-permanent active militia have never been provided with boots by the Defense Department, but the possibility of supplying them is under consideration, Defense Minister Mackenzie told the House of Commons today.

Howard Green (Cons., Vancouver South) said there had been complaints from the militiamen that they had to buy boots which were of little practical use for any other purpose. The Minister said boots had never been supplied, but there was a strong feeling they should be, and the department was giving it some consideration.

Loss Estimated At Over Two Million a Day—Soil Drifting Reported In Yorkshire

By Guy Rhoades
(Canadian Press Staff Writer.)

LONDON, May 17 (C.P. Cable).—Great Britain's worst drought since 1815—the year of Waterloo—to-day appeared definitely broken as rain fell generally for the first time in many weeks.

The Ministry of Agriculture, unable to estimate damage to crops and loss to farmers from drought and early morning frosts, said it believed growth had been retarded rather than snuffed out, but private estimates have placed the loss as high as £500,000 ($2,500,000) a day for several weeks.

London newspaper correspondents' surveys have indicated damage as heavy. Soil drifting was reported from Yorkshire where thousands of sheep are said to have died. Potato crops in many districts are ruined and prices have trebled in some markets. London has experienced a shortage of fresh vegetables and prices have shot up.

Farmers bereft of feed supplies and lacking pastures have been forced to sell live stock at heavy losses. Seeding has been delayed over wide areas where the ground is baked so hard as to make ploughing impossible.

Empire Farmers Riding To Fall If Production Unchecked

Organized Group Agrees On Orderly Flow To British Mart To Avoid Saturation

TORONTO, May 17. — (CP). — All organized farmers of the British Empire have agreed on a policy of controlled expansion, Sir Reginald Dorman-Smith, M.P., told a luncheon meeting of the Ontario Chamber of Agriculture here to-day. Sir Reginald is returning to England from the Empire Farmers' Conference at Sydney.

"Throughout the whole Empire farmers are all looking to expand their production," Sir Reginald said. "And they are looking to the United Kingdom to take the increased production.

"The saturation point of that market may soon be reached, however," he continued. "If their production is not controlled the farmers of the Empire are riding to a fall. There must be orderly expansion."

Sir Reginald, a former president of the National Farmers' Union of England and Wales, outlined the objectives of the Sydney conference, the first ever held by Empire agriculturists.

Principal objective of the conference was to "ensure as far as is humanly possible that every farmer gets such a price for his products as to get a reasonable return for his work," he said. "This price level must be such as to allow a rate of

Poisoner's Campaign Kills 50 Dogs

Quebec, May 17 (CP)

PROVINCIAL POLICE investigated today reports of mass poisoning of dogs at Dolbeau, in Northern Lake St. John district.

Reports from the remote town said that more than fifty dogs had died by poisoning in the last two weeks. Pamphlets prepared by the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals were sent to Dolbeau over the week-end. They pointed out that infliction of pain on animals is punishable by fine or imprisonment.

Woman Dreams Hubby Slain In Fight, And He Was, 2000 Miles Away

East Orange, N.J., May 17 (AP)

A DREAM that her husband has been slain in a fight awakened her about the time the actual event took place several thousand miles away, Mrs. Ernest Topp related today.

Informed of the death of her husband, 58-year-old second cook aboard the United States steamer City of Norfolk, Mrs. Topp exclaimed:—

"My God! I woke up at five o'clock this morning after dreaming he had been killed in a fight. I woke up screaming: 'Don't touch the body until I see it.'"

Topp was one of five men who died after a fight at sea. Topp was allegedly attacked by Chris Maggurio, 20, a Spaniard, with a kitchen knife. Maggurio then jumped overboard. Three members of the crew were drowned when a rescue boat capsized in launching.

Cardiff, Wales, May 17 (AP)

ONE of the largest real estate deals ever recorded in the United Kingdom was effected today when the Marquess of Bute sold a considerable portion of this teeming Welsh metropolis for a figure understood to be about 20,000,000 pounds ($100,000,000).

Neither the purchaser nor the actual price was disclosed, but the property included residential districts, shopping centres and docks.

The Marquess, considered fabulously wealthy, belongs to a large Scottish family which has long owned large estates in Wales, especially in Cardiff, which has a population of 223,648.

CANADA'S DEFENCE PICTURE DETAILED BY IAN MACKENZIE

OTTAWA, May 17.—(CP).—A detailed picture of Canada's defence program, particularly on the Pacific coast, was drawn from Defence Minister Ian Mackenzie in the House of Commons yesterday when the committee on supply passed all items in the $34,000,000 list except one.

In sharp contrast to the defence debate of last year, when French speaking members moved to decrease the expenditures of this department, the members yesterday satisfied themselves with questions and suggestions for greater expenditure. French-Canadian members took little part in the discussion.

Lacking, too, was the customary attack of Miss Agnes Macphail, (U.F.O.-Labor, Grey-Bruce) on the item for cadet training. For many years Miss Macphail has opposed this expenditure but she has been ill and was not in the House yesterday.

One item was left over to enable later discussion on any of the defence projects.

Questioned on every phase of the expenditures Mr. Mackenzie told the committee recruiting for the non-permanent forces was proceeding at an encouraging pace, and that eventually Canada would have to rely on Canadian manufacturers for essential materials for an emergency.

Pressed by Howard Green (Con. Vancouver South) for greater details of the government's program the Minister said all possible information was being presented. If Mr. Greer was "endeavoring to pin me down to definite and comprehensive plans for the future I am not going to make any such declaration," the Minister said.

The day was also devoted in part to agriculture estimates, but no progress was made. The discussion ranged over the importation of substitutes for animal fats, transference of drought area families to the northern parts of prairie provinces and the distribution of supplies in the drought areas.

All Points Surveyed.

Intelligence officers of the Defence Department were alert to survey and strategic points on the Pacific coast where defence reserves might be placed and their survey would identify the owners, includ-however, it believed crops might still be raised on the dried land, although the harvest would be later than normal.

Flower gardeners reported nightly ground frosts killed many shrubs while orchardists said blossoming trees were nipped and crops would be light.

Rain spread slowly across the country, starting May 12, when the drought appeared broken west of the line from Plymouth to Liverpool to Tynemouth. A week-end heat wave in London, however, sent temperatures up to 75. Thereafter cool, cloudy weather spread eastward, bringing a steady light rain, with occasional downpours.

Throughout Northern Europe and the Danube Basin the drought caused untold damage and French vineyards are reported hard hit.

WRECK ON CURVE KILLS 3 TRAINMEN NEAR SCHREIBER

SCHREIBER, Ont., May 17.—(CP)—When a Canadian Pacific Railway freight train failed to make a curve near Selim yesterday, the engine and two cars plunged over a 10-foot embankment and killed three men.

The accident occurred at the east switch near Selim, about six miles west of Schreiber. A west-bound freight was flagged by trainmen W. Simons, despite injuries, and the heroic railroader probably prevented a second accident.

The dead: Ben Turner, engineer; S. Priske, fireman; H. Kennegeisser, trainman. The engineer and the fireman died instantly as engine 2304 left the curve and rolled over on its side at the bottom of the embankment. The trainman died two hours after the mishap.

Besides Simons, Conductor E. Gerow suffered injuries. Both were rushed 120 miles west to hospital at Port Arthur.

Passenger train number three, westbound, was delayed two and a half hours while auxiliary and emergency crews cleared the tracks.

The dead engineer was a prominent Schreiber resident. He was president of Schreiber Fall Fair Association. Priske was a member of the Brotherhood of Firemen and Enginemen and Kennegeisser was a member of the Brotherhood of Railway trainmen. They all lived at Schreiber.

CAR STARTS OFF INJURES WOMAN

(Examiner Correspondent.)

TWEED, May 17. — Mrs. Frank Meraw of the Township of Hungerford, suffered an unfortunate accident while on her way to attend church on Sunday morning. She had alighted from the automobile near the Separate School to allow a neighbor to enter, when it started down the hill and knocked her over, fracturing her hip. Following medical attention from a local physician, she was taken to Hotel Dieu Hospital at Kingston.

Fire of unknown origin severely damaged the roof of the residence of Thomas Rath, farmer in the Township of Hungerford, on Monday evening. Mr. Rath, on going out to get some firewood, noticed that the roof of his dwelling was ablaze. The local Fire Brigade went to the scene and brought the fire under control. It is thought that the fire might have started from a defective chimney. Fortunately nearby barns were not affected by the fire.

COUNCIL ACCEPTS F. E. CLARK TENDER FOR WEIGH SCALES

(Examiner Correspondence.)

CAMPBELLFORD, May 17.—Council members accepted the tender of F. E. Clark to operate the weigh scales for the balance of the year when they met in a special sitting on Monday evening. Nine tenders were read by the clerk.

A deputation of Separate school supporters including Rev. Fr. J. V. McAuley, Jas. Wilson and J. L. Doherty attended the meeting requesting the council to take some action in the matter of supplying water service to the Separate school and a motion was passed whereby the council agreed to supply sewer pipe and the Water and Light Commission to furnish water mains with the school to do all excavating and filling. It was pointed out that an extension of water service to this portion of the town would give fire protection to Naseby street residents.

Dog By-law Fails

The question of dogs runing at large and destroying property was again on the agenda. Speaking of the matter of the large number of complaints that had reached him Mayor F. F. Long said that since there were only 150 of the 900 families in town keeping dogs the non-owners should be given consideration. He suggested that a by-law be passed prohibiting dogs from running at large from April 15 to June 15, but the majority of council members being dog owners themselves felt this was placing too great a hardship on the dogs.

Councillor Macmillan stated the complaints were in his estimation coming from a relatively small proportion of the non-owners. Following considerable discussion of the matter a motion was passed asking the co-operation of all fair minded people of the town to aid the police in controlling dogs running at large. Councillor Battisby who sponsored the motion declared that the town would be forced to pass a by-law controlling the dog nuisance if citizens did not take warning.

With all neighboring towns holding their Victoria Day celebration on May 24 no action was taken with regard the petition signed by a number of mechants. It was suggested that most of the signatures were of people who were under the impression that all other towns were adopting the same procedure.

With the sittings of the County Council scheduled for the week beginning June 6 it was decided to hold the next regular meeting on June 3.

wages to farm labor equivalent to that in other callings. The farmer must be able to carry out his duty to the land, to be able to pass the land on to those who come after him in better condition than when he received it."

Government Intervention.

Farmers have come to realize, Sir Reginald believed, that the evil of falling prices must be attacked by government forces. This was shown at the Ottawa conference held after the industrial collapse of 1929, he said. "Every industrial collapse is preceded by a collapse of prices of primary commodities. Wholesale prices of these commodities must be made to rise before a depression will pass. No results appeared after the Ottawa conference until prices did rise."

At Sydney the farmers sought to evolve machinery to ensure stability of remunerative prices for farm produce," Sir Reginald continued. "By keeping price levels in a straight line over a long period we could stave off industrial depression."

The United Kingdom is the only market for the surplus of Empire commodities, and the Sydney conference made certain "concrete resolutions" concerning the preservation of this market, said Sir Reginald. "We decided the time has arrived to call a halt to the cut-throat competition of the past. Empire farmers must co-operate to secure an orderly flow of goods to Great Britain.

"There is every reason to believe Great Britain will be compelled to regulate incoming supplies of food. If we continue to accept all that can be shipped from overseas there will result a catastrophic decline of prices. It profits us nothing if by buying cheaply, that is, at less than the cost of production, we ruin the Empire producers."

In addition the government is looking to Canada and perhaps the United States as sources of aircraft supply.

There will be an opportuntiy for further discussion of the question in Thursday's parliamentary debate—unless Prime Minister Chamberlain's gout keeps him at home and forces a postponement. Last week Conservatives headed by Winston Churchill, and Liberals and Labor offered motions to be debated Thursday demanding investigation of the nation's air defences.

Tories Rally Again

When the new cabinet names were announced yesterday, however, a group of 100 of the Conservatives offered an amendment assuring the government of "wholehearted support in their efforts and determination to bring our air defences to the highest pitch of efficiency."

The Churchill motion thereupon was withdrawn.

In addition to Lord Swintons resignation, it was understood Earl Winterton, who acted as the minister's deputy in the House of Commons, had relinquished all air ministry duties. He remains in the cabinet, however, as Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster.

Sir Kingley Wood's Health ministry went to Walter Elliott, who was secretary of state for Scotland. In other changes Malcolm MacDonald succeeded Lord Harlech, who resigned, as secretary for the colonies, and Lord Stanley, the Earl of Derby's son, was promoted to the cabinet as secretary for the Dominions. The new secretary for Scotland is D. J. Colville. There was a general shake-up amongst the junior ministers.

INNERKIP HOME BURNS

WOODSTOCK, Ont., May 17—(CP)—Home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Downey, in the village of Innerkip, was destroyed today by fire of undetermined origin. The family were awakened by the fire which apparently started on the second floor, and managed to escape without injury.

The building, owned by Miss Mary J. Edwards of London and had been in the Edwards family for three generations, was of frame construction with metal outside sheeting. Neighbors prevented spread of flames to the nearby United Church sheds.

7 BOMBS SHATTER CANADIAN MISSION

HANKOW, China, May 17 (CP-Havas). — Seven bombs were dropped in the compound of the Canadian Jesuit Mission at Suchow during a raid on the Chinese-held railway junction by 54 Japanese warplanes on Saturday, Chinese Government authorities stated yesterday.

Seven refugees sheltered by the mission were injured by bomb splinters and falling debris. A dozen rooms in the mission buildings were destroyed and the roof of the mission church was damaged.

Between seven and eight hundred civilians in the town of Suchow were killed or wounded. Three thousand buildings were said to have been wrecked.

Suchow Surrounded.

SHANGHAI, May 17 — (AP). — Japanese dispatches declared to-day Suchow had been completely surrounded and Japanese troops were closing in from all sides on thousands of Chinese trapped in the area around the vital Central China rail junction city.

The Japanese asserted it would be only a matter of hours before they actually assault the strategic city for which they have been fighting for months.

Encirclement of Suchow was accomplished, the Japanese said, by closing the last gap to the west, just below the Lunghai Railway near Tangshan. This railroad town is approximately 50 miles west of Suchow.

Troops fighting toward the railway from the north and south converged near Tangshan, the Japanese said, and then fought their way eastward along the railway to Hwangkow, only 30 miles from Suchow.

The Japanese said troops which yesterday cut the Lunghai line near Sinanchen, in Kiangsu Province, 67 miles east of Suchow, were pushing rapidly westward toward the junction city.

Pihsien, long besieged city 25 miles north-west of Suchow, was captured and the Chinese defenders were driven across the Grand Canal, the Japanese dispatches said.

General Count Juichi Terauchi, commander of the Japanese forces in North China, moved his headquarters to an undisclosed point "somewhere south of Peiping," assuming personal command of the "final drive" to crush Chinese resistance in the Suchow railway zone.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

Winnipeg wheat futures sagged two cents to-day for the second successive session due to lack of support and slow export demand. Final quotations were 1¼ to 2¼ cents lower, May $1.13⅞, July $1.02¼ to ¼, October 84½ cents.

Lower outside markets, particularly Buenos Aires which fell nearly three cents yesterday, caused bearishness. It took only minor Southern and local sales to depress values although minor purchases, chiefly by export and overseas firms, supported May and October at times.

Saskatchewan Rushes Election But Farmers Rush Seeding

Take Advantage Of Best Prospects In Years—Liberals Lead Pack Into Field

REGINA, May 17—(CP). — Although the Saskatchewan general election is set for June 8 and four political parties are intensifying their activities, Saskatchewan farmers' chief concentration is on a day-and-night drive to complete seeding.

The order-in-council passed Saturday dissolving the eighth legislature and issuance of writs for the election with nomination day June 1 increased interest in cities. But in rural Saskatchewan the election was temporarily secondary to farm work and farm prospects, best in a decade because of heavy spring rains.

A June election had been forecast since early in the year and all parties had laid campaign plans long before Premier W. J. Patterson's election announcement Saturday. Fifty-one Liberals already are in the field, Co-operative Commonwealth Federation has named 31, Conservatives 23 and there are two Social Crediters, two Unity candidates, two Labor--Progressives, two Independents, one Independent Conservative and three Independent Labor.

Seats Down To 52

The legislature passed a redistribution bill in March reducing the number of seats from 55 to 52. In the last house the Liberal government, elected June 19, 1934, had 50 seats and the C.C.F. five. Although Conservatives polled 114,973 votes they failed to elect a member. Liberals polled 206,191 and C.C.F. 103,582.

As Social Crediters participate for the first time as a party in a Saskatchewan provincial election their campaign will be led by Mr. Aberhart and top-ranking cabinet members from Alberta. Mr. Aberhart, Hon. E. C. Manning, provincial secretary, and Hon. Lucien Maynard, minister of municipal affairs, visited Saskatchewan last week.

MAY 17

Canada's first royal governor-general was the Duke of Connaught in 1911. But if Sir John Macdonald had had his way a son of Queen Victoria would have occupied Rideau Hall 28 years before. In 1883 Lord Lorne's term of office was nearing its completion; the presence of a daughter of the queen (the Princess Louis) had been so successful that it was suggested, it is believed by the queen herself, that it "would be nice" if one of her boys could be sent out "to govern Canada."

Fred Williams

Prince Leopold, the youngest of the family, created the Duke of Albany in 1881, was the one selected to come to Canada. He was willing; indeed, he was anxious, for his health was poor and it was believed the Canadian climate might have a good effect. But he had in 1882 married a German princess who was busy with a baby son and she declined to leave the comforts of Europe for the "backwoods of North America." And so the idea of a prince as governor-general was not then realized, much, it is said, to the anger of the old queen, who disliked having her plans interfered with.

As it happened it was all for the best because the Duke of Albany succumbed to consumption in March 28, 1884. It was his son, Leopold Charles, who renounced his British nationality when he became Duke of Saxe-Cobourg in 1900, fought against Britain, and was deprived of his British titles in 1919. A daughter, born after Leopold's death, more than made up for her brother's defection. She became the beloved Princess Alice.

The Prince of Wales (afterward Edward VII.) was most anxious that the baby of the family should be sent to Canada. He so informed Sir Alexander T. Galt, the Canadian high commissioner, and judging from correspondence, the queen was herself anxious for the appointment, since Galt visited her before returning to Canada, and it was not until the eve of his sailing that he was told the Marquess of Lansdowne had been chosen and not the young duke.

Incidentally it was about this time that Canada, through Sir John Macdonald, put forward the suggestion that the Dominion should be consulted as to the choice of governor-general, for in a letter which Sir John received from Lord Lorne on May 17, 1883, the governor wrote: "I am all in favor of the Dominion government of the day being consulted on the nomination of the G.G."

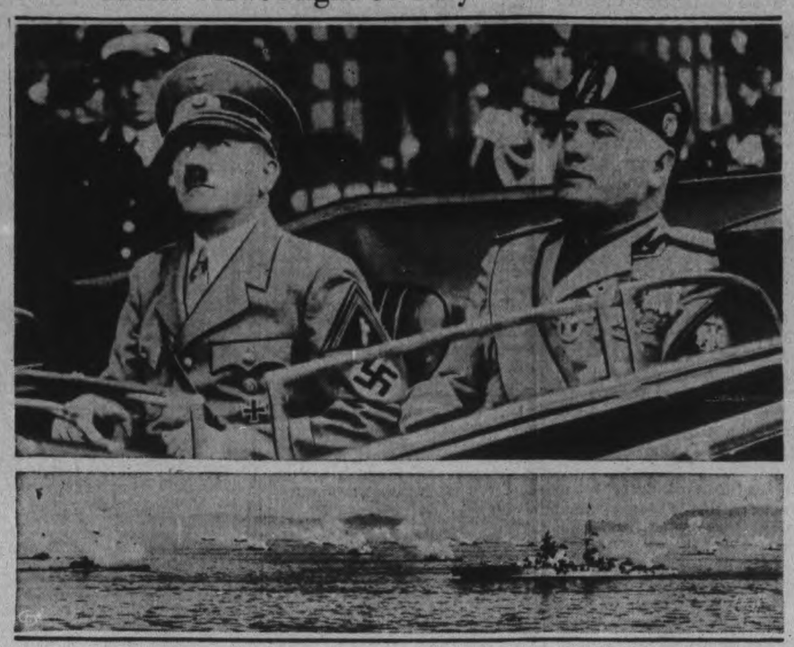
Hitler Views Might Of Italy's Naval Forces



Down Rome's streets, filled with cheering thousands, in the greatest show of pomp and glory of the modern age, Chancellor Hitler and Premier Mussolini are shown travelling in the same car during the German dictator's visit to Rome. Hitler was given an opportunity to witness Italy's naval strength when the combined fleets of the Italian navy put on a demonstration for the visiting Reichsfuehrer in the Bay of Naples, BOTTOM. The white smoke arising from the warships is caused by the guns firing a thundering salute to the two dictators.

George St. Ties Knox Bantams

George St. and Knox Bantams of the Church Softball League went to a 37-37 tie last evening at King Edward school, the second game Knox had without coming to a decision—the first not being finished. In last night's heavy slugging, the game was called at the end of the sixth with a tie resulting, due to darkness. Knox had gathered 14 in their last time at bat in the dusk but couldn't get the 15th run. A flock of pitchers showed very little and the fielding was quite sloppy. Gardiner and Alcock of Knox got on base safely each of the eight times they came up. Richardson and McCurrock of George St. were not put out any time, either. Probably a point each will be given these teams. Starting lineups:

Knox: Richmond, rf; Gourley, lf; Gardiner, p; Gertley, 1b; Braund, 3b; Hamlin, 2b; Parnell, c; Alcock, cf.

SCOUT FAN HONORED

CLEVELAND, May 17—(CP). — John A. Stiles of Ottawa, chief executive commissioner of the Boy Scouts Association in Canada, was awarded the "Silver Buffalo" for "distinguished service to boyhood" at the National Scout Council's 28th annual meeting Saturday. Cornelius McGillicuddy, known to baseball fans as Connie Mack, manager of the Philadelphia Athletics, was one of seven others who received the award.

GOVERNOR SEES DRAMA FESTIVAL

By Robert K. Taylor
(Canadian Press Staff Writer).

WINNIPEG, May 17 (CP).—The Dominion Drama Festival went into its second day today with praise from Adjudicator Barrett H. Clark of New York still ringing in the ears of actors and directors of regional festival winners from Toronto, Victoria and Yorkton, Sask., for "uniformly high standard" in the three short plays that opened the festival last night.

The record festival audience, which included Lord Tweedsmuir, saw two drawing room comedies and a stirring play-with-a-message, "Steel," by Toronto's Theatre of Actions.

Yorkton Little Theatre group played "A Bite of the Apple," and Victoria Beau Arts Society, "Hands Across the Sea."

"On the whole I have enjoyed myself," said Clark in his adjudication after the three plays. "I have been amazed at the uniformly high standard of production and direction. There was no basis for comparing the three plays but each showed consistently an intelligent desire to put over their work."

Prefers "Steel."

Clark termed Vernon Sylvaine's play by the Yorkton group and Noel Coward's "Hands Across the Sea" as "conventional bits of work." He added as a rule he had more sympathy with a production such as "Steel," however crude the play might be, for it had a message.

Ben Lennick as Tony the Indian recruit to union ranks, captured chief audience attention and provided most of the comedy relief in the tense strong-drama production.

Sydney Banks in an Irish role and Helen Coleman as Betty Dugan, Steve's sisters, played standout roles.

Clark found the Victoria group gave "smooth acting and direction," in the rapid-paced, modern comedy set in a Mayfair apartment where two colonials, H. F. Hewett and Leila Harris as Mr. and Mrs. Wadhurst, visit. Dennis Harris as Burnham, who plunders into the party, handled his comedy role to full advantage.

OMEMEE

The Y.P.U. held their weekly meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lackey on Thursday evening with a large attendance present. In the absence of the president, Miss Mildred Moncrief, missionary convenor, presided. Edgar Hogg gave a missionary recitation, "Jesus Christ and Me", which was followed by a violin selection by Willis Cunningham. Mrs. Frank Lackey gave a most interesting and helpful missionary topic. Contests and games were enjoyed after which a delicious lunch was served.

Mrs. Arthur Hewitt and Mrs. Leigh Hewitt entertained the members of the Fraserville W.A. at their home Wednesday afternoon. A large number were present and a dresden plate quilt which was ordered was completed.

Mrs. Lloyd D. Gilmour of Peterborough visited her sister, Mrs. Leigh Hewitt on Wednesday.

Mrs. Reg Atchison and daughter, Joyce, of South Monaghan, spent a few days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. Holden.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Moncrief and daughter, Greta, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Moncrief were guests on Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. G. N. Moncrief of the Peterborough-Port Hope highway.

Mrs. J. Lackey and her son, Rev. Harold Lackey of Ivanhoe spent a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lackey recently.

Mr. Victor Colon returned home on Sunday after spending the past week with friends in Toronto.

Camisado Is Tops At Belmont Park

BELMONT PARK, N.Y., May 17 (AP).—James D. Norris, the Chicago sportsman, whose Danger Point scored a surprise victory in the famed Metropolitan Handicap here Saturday, was represented by another feature race winner Monday afternoon when his 4-year-old colt Camisado, paying 9 to 2, easily prevailed over the Class "C" horses in the six furlong Shoreham Handicap.

The son of Sortie, coupled with Strolling By and piloted by Jimmy Stout, swept up on the outside in the last sixteenth and breezed to a three lengths' victory. T. J. Healey's Black Look, back in New York after an invasion of Pimlico, barely outlasted Manhasset Stable's White Tie for the place. Half Time, which beat Camisado with east at Jamaica, was fourth in the role of an 8 to 5 choice.

The manufacture of artificial ice did not become widespread until 1900.

McQUESTEN MAKES URGENT PLEA FOR HIGHWAY SAFETY

TORONTO, May 17. — An urgent appeal for a "safe and sane" holiday week-end was issued here to-day by Hon. T. B. McQuesten, Ontario Minister of Highways, when he announced that his department would once more conduct a summertime advertising and publicity campaign with the object of cutting down the appalling number of deaths and injuries which put all Ontario in mourning last May 24 week-end.

"It's not very many years ago," said Mr. McQuesten, "that the only important worry we had over 'the 24th' was whether our children would come through with nothing more serious than a scorched finger. Strong public opinion and the determinatin to make the Queen's Birthday 'safe and sane' has practically eliminated the horrors we used to witness each year from dangerous fireworks displays. If we can make children act with safety and caution when they have a firecracker in their hands, it seems logical to assume we can do the same with grown-ups when they have a steering-wheel in their hands."

Keep the Commandments.

Most people, Mr. McQuesten pointed out, have little difficulty in keeping the Ten Commandments. They are few, easy to remember, and any violations are quickly recognized, at least by the violator.

"Why, then," he queried, "should it be any more difficult to observe the few, simple rules that are designed to save our own lives and the lives of others who use our streets and highways. There are fewer than ten, and at least as easy to understand. And there can never be any doubt in a driver's mind whether or not he has violated a traffic rule."

He quickly outlined the eight safe-driving "canons" which are incorporated in the advertisement currently appearing in the Ontario press:

Drive at a safe speed, keep to the right, never pass on a hill or curve or when the view is obstructed, don't park on the highway, signal in plenty of time before you turn, observe all road signs and signals, be sure your car is in safe driving condition, and most emphatically, if you drink, don't drive.

"There is nothing vague or difficult to understand about any of these rules," Mr. McQuesten insisted. "Anyone who has been given a licence to drive is capable of following these principles. The only thing that is needed to make our highways safe is a determination on the part of every driver that he will carry out every rule of safety all the time. It sounds simple—and it's just as simple as it sounds. If we can teach our children to handle Roman candles and pinwheels safely, we should be able to teach ourselves to handle steering-wheels safely."

NEW FIRE CHIEF

BRANTFORD, Ont., May 17 (CP) —Fire Chief Gordon E. Huff took over duties as chief engineer of the Brantford fire department today, succeeding Chief D. J. Lewis, who at midnight completed 50 years of service, 40 of which were as chief. The new chief served overseas, leaving with the first contingent, and winning the M.M. He represented the artillery at the Coronation.

Floor Collapse Hurls 50 Into Cellar

Fifty screaming men and women plunged into the cellar of a house in Hamilton, Ont., when the floor on which they were standing during an auction sale gave way. Only five, however, were injured, the rest suffering cuts and bruises. The auction sale, conducted at the home of Arthur Meppin, Queen St., had been under way a few hours when the joists cracked and the occupants and furniture in the room were hurled into the cellar. The picture shows the floor after the collapse.

Judge Bans Hats On Women Jurors

WHITE PLAINS, N.Y., May 17 (A.P.). — Women jurors must sacrifice chic to the demands of duty in the courtroom of Justice Abraham Zoller. Justice Zoller decreed that women sit bareheaded to keep their minds on the case instead of on their neighbor's hat.

"The ladies are doing fine work in our courts," he added tactfully, "but I feel that floppy hats and Paris creations should play no part in the performance of their duties."

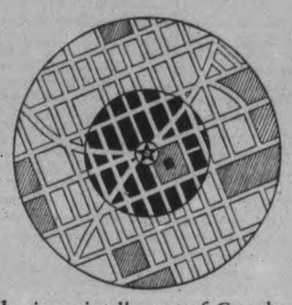
BORROWING FOR PROFIT

"to every business comes a time to borrow," for instance.....

To Extend Your Local Trade

Business now restricted to very narrow limits may have in it potentialities for wider markets, larger profits. Wise management must determine business limitations.



If your business possibilities, conservatively appraised, warrant extension to a larger field, conservative borrowing may be a wise and businesslike step.

The Bank of Montreal, with branches serving local business in all parts of Canada, stands ready to discuss with you the potentialities of your business and welcomes your application for a loan.

DOMINION OF CANADA LOAN

The Bank of Canada is authorized by the Minister of Finance to receive subscriptions for a loan, to be issued for cash as follows:

$20,000,000

Six-Year 2% Bonds, due June 1, 1944

Issue Price: 99.375% and accrued interest, yielding approximately 2.11% to maturity

AND

$30,000,000

Twenty-Year 3% Bonds, due June 1, 1958
Callable on or after June 1, 1953

Issue Price: 99.00% and accrued interest, yielding approximately 3.07% to maturity.

Proceeds will be used for general purposes of the Government of Canada.
Payment to be made in full against delivery of interim certificates on or about June 1, 1938.

The Bank of Canada is further authorized to receive applications to convert Dominion of Canada 2% Bonds due October 15, 1938 into an equal par value of additional Bonds of either of the above issues.

2% Bonds due October 15, 1938, (with the final coupons attached) accepted for conversion will be valued at 100.80%, which includes an adjustment for accrued interest, in exchange for the new bonds at the offering prices. Bonds accepted for conversion will be exchanged for interim certificates and the resultant cash adjustment made in favour of the subscriber, on or after June 1, 1938.

The 2% and the 3% Bonds will be dated June 1, 1938. Principal and interest will be payable in lawful money of Canada. Interest will be payable without charge, semi-annually on June 1 and December 1, at any branch in Canada of any chartered bank.

Denominations:
2% Bonds, $1,000
3% Bonds, $100, $500 and $1,000

Cash subscriptions and conversion applications may be made to the Head Office of the Bank of Canada, Ottawa, through any branch in Canada of any chartered bank or through any recognized dealer from whom copies of the official prospectus containing complete details of the issue may be obtained. The Minister of Finance reserves the right to allot cash subscriptions in full or in part.

The lists for cash subscriptions and conversion applications will open on May 18, 1938. The lists will close as to either maturity or both in the case of either cash subscriptions or conversion applications, with or without notice at the discretion of the Minister of Finance.

Plain Confiscation

Premier Aberhart's government in Alberta is not in a position to borrow money nor has he arrived at the point where he has so cut down the costs of government that he does not need to raise increased revenue.

Needing money, his government has decided to take it away from those who have it. That is not entirely new as governments have been doing that for a long time. But the Aberhart method is new. It is always possible to get a plausible enough name for a new tax, and one of the latest is the Securities Tax Act. Under its provisions any person holding a mortgage against property in Alberta must hand over 2 per cent. of the principal of such mortgage and do so before the first day of June. If a resident of Peterborough city in Ontario held such a mortgage he would have to pay over his 2 per cent. to the government of Alberta. If the mortgage were for $2,000 he would make a contribution of $40 to a government from which he received no service of any kind.

There is more. If this payment is not made by the first day of June then the penalty clause becomes operative to the extent of 5 per cent. per month or 60 per cent. per year. So at the end of the year the penalty would have accounted for $1,200 of the $2,000 mortgage.

Nor is that all. Owners of mortgages on Alberta land must file a rather elaborate and detailed return by the said first day of June and if the returns are not made by that date the holder of the mortgage is liable to a fine of $10 per day or $3,650 per year.

It may be the individual who holds the mortgage has been receiving no interest money, but there is no provision made to meet such a case. If the holder of a mortgage desired to appeal to the courts and found it would take 30 days to get his case heard he would be taxed $10 per day just the same, or $300 before getting an opinion from the court.

There is no social credit principle bebeing put to work in such legislation. It looks more like a plain policy of gradual confiscation. We do not believe the Dominion Government will ever allow that Act to be made operative.

We Bid Them Welcome

The Ontario Dental Association is in session in Toronto, and we noticed pictures of five dentists from United States who are down for addresses. They appear to be friendly looking chaps, and one of them is going to speak on "Pain Control in Operative Dentistry." We know a number of people who will devoutly hope that the assembled dentists listen attentively while this gentleman is speaking on this appealing topic.

The dentists actually have been making a deal of progress. The lifting of a tooth now from its natural surroundings is not such an operation as it was in the days when the assistant held the patient's head and the dentist braced himself against the chest and heaved until the act was over.

It is possible today to have a fair assortment of teeth removed and take a somewhat lively interest in all that is going on. With the jaws well frozen one can look and see what sort of a tool the dentist is going to use on the next hole. It may be a mid-iron or a straight mashie drive. If the next tooth is a trifle obstinate the patient can observe whether the screw driver or the claw hammer is going to be used. It makes little difference to him because he does not feel it but it gives him opportunity to study the technique of his dentist and then he can form his own opinion as to whether he has picked a good one.

It must be easier on the dentist too than the old method. Today the dentist can heave out a great old tooth roots and all without danger of the patient biting him or kicking him on the shins; he can even indulge in conversation and discuss politics or religion or the state of trade and taxation while continuing to drop the departing teeth into the tin bucket. If this visiting delegation from United States can add to the sum total of knowledge about painless dentistry then we bid them welcome.

Why Not Settle It?

Mr. and Mrs. Philias Tetreault and their children live in one home at Sandwich and Eugene Lapointe lives in another. These homes we understand are close together because the folk who live in them started a dispute regarding a line fence.

The case has been in court before because members of the family were fighting. In evidence it was related a broomstick, a garden rake and bare fists were employed. Court was treated to something like a blow-by-blow report of the engagement. The feeling among the combatants seemed to be one of resentment that neighbors came along and stopped the fracas.

There has been no peace there in over a year because the Tetreault tribe and the Lapointe folk were always certain the other was wrong. When the children of one family would get on the disputed ground then there was cause for war. And all over a foot or so of ground!

All of which seems silly. When people come into possession of property today they secure a marked and known quantity of it. In the registry office it is stated how far the land runs in all directions. A surveyor could settle the whole thing in little time, after which it would no longer be necessary for two silly families to be giving public exhibitions by banging each other with garden rakes, broomsticks and bare fists. A court would be doing better work in insisting that such a situation be corrected than by contenting itself with levying fines and laying the framework for the next outbreak.

A Robin Builds A Nest

Robins select strange places to nest, but we believe the nest which was built under the footboard on the side of a C. P. R. shunting engine in Peterborough will qualify for a strange-nest contest in any community. The engine was in use daily, moving here and moving there and it would cover quite a stretch of territory, but that seemed to make no difference. The lady robin always knew where the engine was.

And in that moving nest she laid three eggs, and they all hatched. There are some who said it could not be done, claiming a bird sitting on a nest must have room to perch, but this robin could not do so because there was no room. The heat which would come from the engine may have furnished some degree of assistance, and there are not many birds which have steam-heated apartments.

There are several engines in the yards here at times in addition to those which some and go in the regular schedule of trains, but this robin knew her engine and several engines caused no confusion. The only trouble in this unusual situation is that the engine has been ordered to Havelock to do some work there and now that there are young birds in the nest it was thought best to remove it as the young things might fall out. The train crew selected what they considered a good place for the nest and family, but at the moment the mother robin does not seem to think much of their powers of proper selection. Like humans who get settled in one place, she probably preferred to be left alone. But there are not many birds which will be able to boast that they spent the 1938 nesting season riding about on a yard engine.

What Would Happen?

The chairman of the Ontario Liquor Control Board announces that the contribution to be made by the Board in the interests of safer driving will be the suspension of the liquor permit of the individual who is found guilty of operating his car while drunk.

Just how serious that will be we do not know. But take it this way: Mr. A. is the drunk driver and he has a liquor permit which he is told he must turn in. He does so knowing full well that he cannot secure another, and so it might appear that he was cut off from his supply of liquor.

But Mr. A. knows Mr. B. and Mr. C. They are good old friends of his and they are possessed of liquor permits. Is it not possible—or even likely—that Mr. B. or Mr. C. could call at the liquor store and purchase a bottle or perhaps two on behalf of Mr. A. whose permit has been taken away from him, Mr. A. could not do his own shopping, but his friends could do it for him. So the cutting off of the permit might not be such a stern gesture after all. If Mr. A. were to have the plates taken off his car so he could not make use of it at all he might be getting the sort of punishment which would hurt.

When $2 Becomes $2.50

Some of the new laws which have to do with the governing of radio are not clearly understood. The Examiner has the following query:

"I have a rather old radio which works from a battery and the license for such a set is $2. I was told the other day that I would have to pay $2.50 because the radio is in a house which has electric lights. Can you please explain whether that is correct?"

No wonder the owner of the battery set is slightly confused as to whether he would have to pay $2 or $2.50. The price which one has to pay depends on whether the house in which it is being operated is wired for electricity. In order that the matter may be made clear and given some degree of authority we quote a discussion in the House of Commons on this point:

Mr. NEEDHAM: Then I understand that the old rate applies to battery sets?

Mr. HOWE: Yes.

Mr. NEEDHAM: And that would apply also to car radios, which are run by batteries?

Mr. HOWE: No; it applies to houses which are not connected to a scurce of electric current. It does not apply to cars.

Mr. COLDWELL: If a battery set is operated in a home where they have electric power, it pay $2.50?

Mr. HOWE: Yes, if there is electric power in the home.

Mr. COLDWELL: Even though a battery set is being operated?

Mr. HOWE: Yes.

So it settles down to the difference of between here and there. If one has a battery set operating in a home where light is furnished by coal oil lamps or gas then the license for the radio is $2. If the same set is moved to a house where there are electric wires—although the radio may continue to be operated from the battery—the fee becomes $2.50.

Ethiopia's Traditional Gold

The Italians have had full sway in Ethiopia for two years. Before they took over this territory by conquest it was freely stated by people who apparently knew nothing about it that there were great deposits of gold, oil and precious stones in the country. Once these resources were developed Italy would begin to get back the cost of the campaign.

The Associated Press says the Italians have finally sent their best mining engineer to Ethiopia because others have failed to reveal the mineral wealth which was supposed to be there. Prior to the conquest of the Italians a British party of exploration had gone carefully through much of the land and reported that evidence of extensive mineralization was lacking. There is gold secured there but much of it comes from river beds and the methods used for securing it are primitive. The Ethiopians were in the habit of taking it for the making of trinkets.

Part of the tradition of there being great unknown wealth in Ethiopia comes from the ancient history of Abyssinia, and the claim of the Ethiopian has always been that the Queen of Sheba was once the ruler of the land. On the occasion of the visit of the Queen to King Solomon at Jerusalem it is recorded that she took with her many gifts included among them being "very much gold," while another section of the Biblical version of this visit says she presented Solomon with 120 talents of gold. And also with many precious stones. Long before the Christian era it is known there was quite extensive trading between Egypt and Ethiopia. We dare say these traditional stories had their effect upon the mind of the Italians as they have had upon the minds of other nations. They believed that once in that old land they could with their modern methods disclose wealth long hidden. So far they have not done it, and a good many competent authorities who know the land well claim Ethiopia will never yield returns to Italy.

NOTE AND COMMENT

The treasurer of Quebec city resigned because his salary was cut from $9,000 to $7,000. Rather than take $2,000 less he will take $9,000 less.

Speaker at Toledo addressing a Toronto audience says the proposed 30-hour week gives too much leisure. That might be true during housecleaning time.

Saskatchewan is to have a provincial election on June 8 and the best thing that can be said about that is that the campaign will necessarily have to be a short one.

Russia expects a record grain crop but the only feature about that to interest Canadians is whether or not that means the Soviet will re-enter the world market.

Mexico's action in severing diplomatic relations with Britain is attributed to an "era of international rudeness". Certainly the world seems to be suffering from overproduction of the commodity.

Orillia traffic officer chasing a stolen car at 70 miles an hour used his left hand to fire two shots at the car ahead. He was going so fast he caught up with the bullets at the next corner.

Germans are exhorted to eat cheese for health. It might be pointed out that so far as certain brands of German cheese are concerned you have to be healthy to eat it.

It is reported that King Solomon's seaport on the Red Sea has been discovered. Hope they are able to discover also a bit of his wisdom as the world needs that at the moment more than another seaport.

Fat Fascist are warned by an Italian paper to keep in the rear ranks when pictures are being taken. Evidently Mussolini does not agree with Julius Caesar's wish to have round him men "that are fat, sleek men and such as sleep at nights."

HANDY MAN

(By A. R. K.)

¶ The handy man just down the street, he built a dandy summer seat, it's neat as it can be; he told me how to cut and saw, he even stopped a while to draw, then gave the thing to me.

¶ He told me how to nail the slats, and cover them with padded mats, the nails that I should choose; he even showed me how to paint, to get effects he said were quaint, a scheme of gentle blues.

¶ I felt that I could make this thing, and fix it up so it would swing, then I'd live out-of-doors; I'd rest my weary spine and knees, and I'd enjoy the evening breeze, when I had done the chores.

¶ I got some boards, some paint and nails, sufficient canvas for two sails, I knew just what to do; I borrowed both a saw and plane, a thorough job was just my aim, and so I got some glue.

¶ I sawed boards like I thought I should, and nailed together piles of wood, size wouldn't do no harm; and neighbors saw me at my task, they paused when passing and they'd ask, if I had built a barn.

¶ I worked quite steady and quite fast, and got the seat complete at last, it's very long and tall; I cannot move it now it's done, but all my relatives can come —and I can seat them all.

The "Farmer" Is Thus Left Alone

(From Parliamentary Debates)

Mr. STEWART: I should like to say just a word in regard to section 8, which inserts section 10A into the bill. In the third line on page 4 of the bill are the words "if the farmer defaults." The minister quite properly thought it necessary to amend a former section in connection with the use of the word "farmer," and under this amendment propositions might be made by persons other than farmers.

Mr. DUNNING: Applicants.

Mr. STEWART: I think a corresponding change should be made in this section.

Mr. DUNNING: If the debtor defaults.

Mr. STEWART: Exactly. I think that would widen it.

Mr. DUNNING: This illustrates how useful it is to have a lawyer on this committee. The suggestion is that the word "farmer" in the third line on page 4 be struck out and the word "debtor" be substituted therefor.

Mr. BOTHWELL: Would the minister be good enough to read the definition of "debtor" as given in the original act?

Mr. DUNNING: If we had only one lawyer we would be all right.

Mr. BOTHWELL: It seems to me that "farmer" is the correct word.

Mr. DUNNING: There is no definition of "debtor" in the act.

Mr. BOTHWELL: The word "farmer" has been used all through the act, and it presupposes that a man must be living on and farming the land before he is entitled to the benefits. It does not refer to the ordinary debtor as the public understands the word.

Mr. STEWART: We have extended the act to include executors, who were not provided for in the original act. Under a scheme of this kind there might be executors who were not farmers at all.

Mr. BOTHWELL: Would it not be better to use "farmer" or "personal representative?"

Mr. STEWART: Anything to widen the definition. "Personal representative" would be all right.

Mr. DUNNING: The word "farmer" occurs again in the same section. Having two legal advisers causes a little confusion.

Mr. DUFFUS: The remarks made by the hon. member for Swift Current bring to my mind a particular case of a gentleman in Ontario who owns many sections of land in Saskatchewan. For years this man has lived in Saskatchewan most of his time. Recently he has been going west in the spring at seeding time and again at harvest time. He has paid almost $100,000 in interest and taxes. Prior to 1930 he paid his interest and taxes in full. His case is now before a board of review, and some of his creditors are endeavouring to establish that he is not a farmer under the act. I think the committee should clearly establish his standing in that respect.

Mr. DUNNING: If that case is before a board of review I do not think this committee can be of any assistance in the matter. It is under consideration by a board in pursuance of the law, and I do not think we could render a judicial decision. After listening to the hon. member for Swift Current, I believe we had better leave the word "farmer" alone. The definition of a farmer is given as one who tills the soil.

Preamble agreed to.

Bill reported.

THE NEW FRANC.

(New York Times)

FRANCE HAS placed a new and lower value on the franc. Officially it is the fifth franc since the Revolution and the fourth since the World War. The franc has shifted so rapidly since wartime that it would seem the number should be nearer forty than four. The pre-war franc, in terms of the dollar, was worth 19.3 cents, and the record low for the unit was 1.93 cents on July 24, 1926. The Poincare franc came in June, 1928, at 3.92 cents; when the dollar was de-valued, the franc automatically went to 6.63 cents although theoretically, the French unit merely stood still. In September, 1926, France abandoned the gold standard, and produced the Auriol franc within the stabilization limits of 4.35 to 4.96 cents. With the advent of the Bonnet franc in July, 1937, the rate once more went below 4 cents. Last week's change gave the new franc a value of about 2.76 cents, or slightly less than 36 francs to the dollar. About the only recognizable point in common in this series of francs is that each contained 100 centimes.

A THREAT IGNORED.

AT 3.30 A.M. TODAY, Arturo Ramos, ex-husband of Millicent Rogers, threatened to break a columnist's head if this story were printed: At midnight Ramos had brought a young lady into El Morocco. Another girl, seated at a nearby table, noticed Ramos and his companion, and tossed three glasses—which broke—in their direction. She then started to hurl a plate at them, was stopped, and rushed from the club. "Don't you print this," the 6 ft. 4 Argentinian threatened, "or I'll break your head. Newspaper men are the worst people in the world. A man tries to be a gentleman, and they won't let him. They wreck women's careers for a story." The plate-thrower returned to the club. And Mr. Ramos, who protests that he wants to be a gentleman, escorted her home— leaving behind him the embarrassed young lady whom he had brought. Mr. Ramos ain't no gentleman.

• When The Home Town Looks Poky

(New York Sun)

IN HER EXPLANATION of apparent indifference to religious services among college graduates the president of Wellesley throws new light on an old controversy. When on their return to the old home town students seem less interested than formerly in church-going, this, says Miss McAfee, is not necessarily because they have grown weaker in the faith. It may be due to the effect upon improved esthetic and intellectual tastes of poor music and inferior sermons preached by recruits from theological seminaries.

This explanation is not altogether satisfactory. A dialectician might argue that if true it refers to a perspective that has been warped, instead of improved, by collegiate experience; that boys and girls should no more expect a small-town church to be turned into the Cathedral of St. John the Divine than they would expect Main street to be transmogrified into Fifth avenue. Here the point could be raised, however, that Main street is commonly trying hard to be a little Fifth avenue; that unless small-town churches display comparable zeal for so-called progressiveness they must inevitably court disparaging judgments from the young.

It is easier to say such things ought not to be than to alter the fact that they are. Boys and girls back from college often find things poky. If they are of the right sort and plan to remain there, they will dig in and help make them less poky. All parents take certain risks when they send their youngsters off to college. Not least of these is the risk that the boys and girls may find their own parents pokiest among the poky. Not much can be done about that. For the curable, time and experience will work some kind of cure; the incurable are only a little worse off than they were before, being now confirmed in their foolishness instead of having been educated out of it.

Nevertheless, small-town churches and theological seminaries should work together to remedy part of the complaint. A church can refuse, for example, to admit to its pulpit any simpering young man, any gladhanding, toothy young man with overworked smiling apparatus, any young man who can't read the Scriptures aloud without making them sound like a bedtime story, who cannot pronounce simple words, who babbles in discourse without having much to say and without skill even in saying his little. The seminaries can at least insist upon their young men learning how to read well, speak with decorum, compose short and simple discourses. In so far as music is concerned, the fine old hymns of worship and praise which have been approved by experience have defied before now the wheeziest of melodeons, the least schooled of choirs. It is wonderful what intelligence in selection and direction can do with them, even for college graduates.

• But Why Tie It On The Son?

Timmins Press

YOU REMEMBER Bruno Richard Hauptman?

And you remember the name of his little son?

No? We thought not.

The other day a little boy named Manfred Hauptman who is not yet five, had an accident. He suffered a broken leg. It happens to thousands of little boys in New York every year.

It wouldn't have rated a line and if it hadn't the name of Manfred Hauptman wouldn't have meant anything to anyone reading the item.

But when the accident was reported and it was shown that this lad was the son of Bruno Richard Hauptman, the story took on new value.

The New York Herald Tribune, admits that here came the knottiest of all ethical problems which face public and press.

It is one of the canons of journalism, says the Herald, that needless injury should not be done innocent persons; and yet in every account of the accident, the crime of Manfred's father was recalled.

In saying that there are grounds for belief that the attitude of the public has changed and that it will not always demand that the sins of the father shall be visited upon the life of his child, the Herald ponders if many readers hadn't wondered if the grisly reminder must harass this son forever.

If all papers were conducted on the plan of the Herald Tribune, there would be no need for such pondering.

We had our own example in Toronto of standards far below that plane. A man suspected of being a Blue Beard and murderer of many wives was the subject of a series of newspaper stories that were justified on any grounds. But one paper was not content with this legitimate news. Ghoulishly seeking for more sensational details it hunted down a son, now happily married and who had gone to the lengths of changing his name in order to win peace, and forgetfulness of a father he distrusted. It published his name to the world. All rival papers had stood by the canons of decent journalism.

But one questions if such examples are not lost upon the public. Facts and circulation seem to prove that they definitely are.

• The Calf Remains Untamed

(Ottawa Journal)

THE FARMER'S life, it is agreed, isn't what it used to be. He has good roads, now, and telephones, and mail delivery, often electric light for his buildings and electric power on tap. He has his automobile, and the rubber-tired buggy that was a pretty snappy job in 1913 is but a curio. He may have a tractor, a bathroom with running water, an electric range and refrigerator, a radio.

Many things have changed about the farm in the lifetime of this generation, but the Peterborough Examiner, which has its roots in the soil, points out with the glee of the discoverer one close link it has found between today's farmer and his grandfather. Science has done wonders, progress has been remarkable, the farmers are deluged with prodigious quantities of free advice from one quarter and another— but when a calf must be taught to drink out of a pail the procedure is just what it was when grandfather was a boy.

Says the Examiner:

"Grandfather used to say a calf was the orneriest thing ever made; some of them had a little common sense but most of them had none at all. Teaching a calf to drink was one job that he always turned over to the hired man. If there was anything in the government bulletins or the new books of rules that the hired man was always reading about how to make a calf drink then grandfather was ready to have the thing tried out.

"But it does seem a bit strange that with all the age of invention has done for the farm they have no new or better way for giving a calf scientific instruction on how to drink from a tin pail. They are still bending that stiff neck, still holding fingers up from the bottom of the milk, and the calf is still knocking the pail over and dousing the instructors."

That is something worth knowing. Those of us who were brought up on the farm like to think there is at least one of the farm tasks that stands unaltered in the face of progress. The calf still is an individualist and untamed.

BROTHERLY LOVE.

(London Sunday Dispatch)

NINE-YEARS-OLD Jack Bunting, of Chesterfield, gave his own life to save his brother Leslie, aged seven.

They were playing round a bathing pool with other boys when Leslie fell from a diving-board into the water.

None could swim.

But Jack jumped in and pushed his brother to a ladder. Other boys helped Leslie out but they could not reach Jack. He was drowned.

We won't talk bathos about "supreme courage," etc. What made Jack Bunting jump into the water was blind instinct—the instinct to protect a younger brother.

But next time you are tempted to talk about "the selfishness of the modern child," etc., stop to remember little Jack Bunting.

WOMEN IN BEVERAGE ROOMS

(Oshawa Times)

The announcement that the Toronto Liberal Women's Association has passed a resolution supporting Premier Hepburn in any move to exclude women from beverage rooms, and has also asked the Government to take steps in this direction, will be hailed with satisfaction not only by temperance workers but by every intelligent citizen capable of realizing that the presence of women in such an environment is an offense to decency and public morals.

FACING THE FUTURE.

(Toronto Star)

TORONTO must get back to the pay-as-you-go method of dealing with relief. A few years ago it was entirely abandoned, and the city did not pay even administration charges out of taxation. Of late years the annual payment has been $600,000 plus administration, and, of course, plus debt charges on past relief borrowings. This year the city will probably have to borrow at least $1,500,000 for relief, in addition to what is met out of taxation.

Relief debentures have hitherto been issued for five years. Now Toronto is being forced by the Ontario municipal board to issue her new bonds for a four-year period instead, so as to hasten the time in which the new debt will be paid off, and reduce the interest payable on it. Next year's bond shbuld be for only three years. There must be some finality to this business of paying relief out of borrowed money.

This is the more necessary because the city faces other large capital expenditures, notably for a sewage disposal plant. And her new airports will add at least $1,000,000 to her debt.

A Bible Message For Today . . . .

BEHOLD, I SHEW you a mystery; We shall not all sleep, but we shall all be changed, in a moment, in the twinkling of an eye, at the last trump: for the trumpet shall sound, and the dead shall be raised incorruptible and we shall be changed. For this corruptible must put on incorruption, and this mortal must put on immortality.—Cor. xv, 51-53.

For we know that if our earthly house of this tabernacle were dissolved, we have a building of God, an house not made with hands, eternal in the heavens. . . .

For we that are in this tabernacle do groan, being burdened: not for that we would be unclothed, but clothed upon, that mortality might be swallowed up of life. . . .

Therefore we are always confident, knowing that, whilst we are at home in the body, we are absent from the Lord. . . .

We are confident, I say, and willing rather to be absent from the body, and to be present with the Lord. . . .

Wherefore henceforth know we no man after the flesh: yea, though we have known Christ after the flesh, yet now henceforth know we him no more. Therefore if any man be in Christ, he is a new creature: old things are passed away; behold, all things are become new.—II Cor. v, 1, 4, 6, 8, 16, 17.

And I saw a new heaven and a new earth.—Rev. xxi, 1.

To The Editor

POLL TAX

Editor Examiner:

Sir: The question was asked in your paper of the 14th inst. why young men should pay Poll Tax. One might ask why should a householder pay taxes—exactly the same reason applies. It is the law, and the money is required to carry on the business of the city, and all the privileges of citizenship go to the man paying $5.00, who is between the ages of 21 and 60, as accrue to the householder who possibly is paying on his home $125.00 taxes.

Sometimes the impression goes abroad that if young men are taken to court for non-payment, that it is an endeavor to collect the tax. Such is not the case. It is to seek punishment for the breaking and non-fulfillment of a statute enacted by the Provincial Government and which can only be evaded if the subject is taxed in some other manner or is giving military service.

Yours very truly,
PROPERTY TAX PAYER.
Peterborough, May 16.

FROM REBELS!

(New York World-Telegram)

THE DAUGHTERS of the American Revolution, having gotten back their breath after the dash of realism which President Roosevelt tossed at them recently are reported to be downright indignant over it.

The President, speaking at their annual congress in Washington, gave them this text: "Remember always that all of us, and you and I especially, are descended from immigrants and revolutionists."

The Daughters, it seems, have been so busy remembering how long a time it is back to the Revolution that they've entirely forgotten that their ancestors were revolutionists.

HIS MAJESTY'S PRISONS

(London Times)

THERE IS NO mystery or concealment about life in his Majesty's prisons, and surprise visits from reponsible people are welcomed. We have many such visits to Maidstone Prison, and visitors almost invariably seem pleasantly surprised at what they have seen, and although asked to make any suggestions for improvements, make very few.

On the contrary several visitors have remarked that the prisoners "seem rather pampered." One visitor in particular was astonished to hear that the prisoners had been shown a film of the Coronation.

MILLBROOK CLUB WINS FIRST PLACE IN DRAMA CONTEST

(Examiner Correspondence.)

MILLBROOK, May 17.—The Religious Drama Festival, held on Friday in the basement of St. Andrew's Church, attracted an interested and appreciative audience, Lakefield and Millbrook competing for Presbytery honors.

Rev. Mr. Kelly of Lakefield gave a brief outline of their play, "Dust of the Road," and introduced the characters. This is a modern play, staged in a farm home, and depicts, in very forceful style, the struggle Peter Steele (Robert Spence) and his wife, Prudence (Marian Payne), have with their consciences to avoid perjury and lying and pay to the son of an intimate friend, who had been killed in the World War, the three thousands dollars, with accrued interest, which he had entrusted to them for that purpose before going overseas.

Robert Spence played a dual role, taking also that of the old uncle in the home who had seen the money left in the Steele's care, and adds some words of biting sarcasm to Prudence Steele, reading her Bible, while hiding deliberate sin in her heart. The tramp (Clayton Bullock) who frightens Mrs. Steele by his noisy entrance at a late hour, while her husband is absent attending a meeting at the church, and who also has an intensive interview with Mr. Steele when that gentleman finally reaches home, turns out to be Judas, who sold his Master for thirty pieces of silver. The money, stained with blood, is rattled in his pockets, while he begs that the right way of restitution be taken, and at last explains that, if he can turn one soul away from sin, it means each time one single grain of dust on the scales, helping to overbalance the huge bulk of his sin which weights down the opposite side.

In the end, right triumphs, the tramp who had been turned away from the door earlier in the evening through Mrs. Steele's indifference to need and suffering, is to be recalled and helped, and the cloud of selfishness and greed which had settled over their hearts and home is lifted as they decide to pay over money and interest, and make things right in the sight of God.

The Millbrook Y.P.U. repeated its play, "Joseph of Arimathea," given on Sunday evening after the regular church service. The adjudicators, Mrs. J. H. McKone, Harold Rehill, and George Nichols, all of Peterborough, admitted having a difficult time in arriving at their decision, but finally announced that the Millbrook play had been placed in Class A, 91-100 points, the highest standing yet given to any dramatic presentation in the Presbytery; and the Lakefield play in Class B, very good, 81-90 points.

B. B. Dawson, president of the Y.P.U., welcomed the visiting artists,

His Helium Ban Upheld

Harold Ickes, U. S. secretary of the interior, RIGHT, is shown telling the press how President Roosevelt upheld his decision banning sale of American helium gas to Germany. The president, after conference with army and navy heads, said it was beyond his power to over-rule Ickes' decision. However, another meeting of the helium board will be held and Hugo Eckener, Reich dirigible expert, will be allowed to appeal. Navy and army heads are willing to sell gas to Germany explaining that it has little military value.

Admiral Bayly Dies In London

LONDON, May 17—(CP-Havas)—Admiral Sir Lewis Bayly, 80, commander-in-chief of British and United States naval forces in the anti-submarine patrol operating from Queenstown (Cobh), Ireland, during the Great War, died here today.

An officer with already 44 years of service at the outbreak of war, Sir Lewis was named commander of the first battle squadron in 1914. The following year he was appointed commander-in-chief of the Western Approaches and in this capacity he welcomed the first units of the United States fleet when they arrived in European waters to cooperate with the Royal Navy against German undersea raiders.

He was known as "Black Bayly" and achieved widespread popularity among his officers and men.

Fear of new tax legislation is said to be chilling business in Brazil.

Judicial Changes Made By Hepburn

Police Magistrate James Cowan, LEFT, of Toronto, former law partner of Arthur Slaght, K.C., M.P., has been dismissed from office. Magistrate W. F. Woodliffe, RIGHT, of Weston, has been appointed by the Ontario government to replace Magistrate William Keith on the York county police commission, the York township commission and the East York police commission. Magistrate Keith will continue in his capacity as magistrate.

SOFT COAL BARONS SENT UP FOR TRIAL

LONDON, Ky., May 17 — (AP).—New sensations were promised by United States Government attorneys to-day as 69 Harlan County defendants—representing nearly all of the rich South-eastern Kentucky County's soft coal industry—went on trial in Federal Court here on a blanket indictment charging they terrorized miners to keep them from joining unions.

Invoked as the basis for the trial are the Wagner Labor Relations Act—never before tested as a criminal statute—and a law enacted during the carpetbagger and Ku Klux Klan days following the war between the States to protect the Southern negro voters' constitutional rights.

Much of the Government's evidence will be a review of testimony taken during a Senate Civil Liberties Committee hearing in Washington in April and May of 1937, when a number of Harlan Countians told of beatings, shootings, and narrow escapes in dynamitings attributed to gun thugs the witnesses said were paid by the Harlan County Coal Operators' Association.

Named in the indictment as the agents of the Operators' Association are 22 former or present sheriff's deputies and former Sheriff Theodore R. Middleton.

The other defendants are 22 corporations and 24 of their executives.

30 YEARS OF EVENTS

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y., May 17.—(AP).—Superintendent of Niagara State Reservation Police Tracy Levee to-day looked back on 30 years' service at the Cataract and recalled these events as the most outstanding; Collapse of the ice bridge in 1912 with three being killed; collapse of "honeymoon" bridge this year during an ice jam; visits to the cataract by David Lloyd George, the late King Albert of Belgium, former Queen Marie of Rumania, the Duke of Windsor, former President Taft and President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

EDEN PREDICTED BACK IN CABINET INDIA SECRETARY

LONDON, May 17—(CP).—Prime Minister Chamberlain was confined to 10 Downing Street today with a slight attack of the gout. His indisposition caused a postponement of a visit to Dundee he was to have made tomorrow.

It could not be learned whether the Prime Minister's illness is likely to delay the cabinet changes which many commentators say will include the resignations of Viscount Swinton, secretary for air, and Lord Harlech, secretary for the colonies.

Sir Samuel Hoare, whose transfer from the home office to the air ministry has been mentioned as a probability, called at Downing Street. Shortly before Sir Samuel's visit, the prime minister received Sir Maurice Hankey, secretary to the cabinet.

Predictions in connection with the forthcoming changes included one by the Daily Herald (Labor) that Anthony Eden would return to the cabinet as secretary of state for India, succeeding the Marquess of Zetland.

Mr. Chamberlain also conferred with Viscount Halifax, foreign secretary, on the rupture of diplomatic relations with Mexico. An important factor was said to be consideration of oil sources if war should come, but the foreign office gave no indication of what it had in mind.

Valuable in War

Until Mexican expropriation of 17 British American and Netherlands oil companies March 18, Mexico furnished Great Britain only six per cent. of her oil imports—but in war time the amount likely would be larger, with the probability Iran (Persia), Iraq and Rumanian sources would not be accessible.

The Mexican government broke off diplomatic relations Friday night "in view of the unfriendly attitude" of the British government, following Great Britan's increasingly sharp protests over expropraition of the British-owned properties.

The Times (Independent) today announced the most recent communication from Mexico as a "truculently worded note"

"Whether over-sensitive national pride, or a desire to obtain popular support at the next election, or some more obscure influence has inspired President Cardenas' government is not yet clear," the Times said, "but if anything is certain it is that such methods of conducting international relations can settle nothing

"If British plain speech on the subject on which the two governments differ in toto has been unpalatable, it provides no reason for action which can only prolong a dispute that cannot be costly to one party alone and must postpone its inevitable adjustment by compromise."

Peace for Czechs?

In another editorial the Times said the visit to London last week of Konrad Henlein, German Sudeten leader in Czechoslovakia, "was eminently satisfactory, proof that the leader of the Germans in Czechoslovakia is himself desirous of a peaceful solution."

The best chance of a friendly settlement is that a maximum of concessions — and concessions there must be—should be offered now and in effective instalments," the Times added. "Henlein appears to have excluded firmly all threats of forcible disrpution aniwd clire iny i ible disruption and will certainly have left London aware that no limit can be predicted to an upheaval provoked by violent measure.

"The importance of his visit, however—undertaken, as it is creditably supposed, with the cognizance of Berlin—is that it has invited a search for a solution in conciliatory terms.

"The Czechoslovak government have announced that the new minorities statute is already drafted, that they are ready to enter now into negotiations with the Sudeten Germans and other interested parties. That is satisfactory news.

An Alternate Proposal.

"The reluctance of the Parha government to agree to separatist demands is fully understandable and it is indeed foreseen by Herr Henlein himself, for he is credited with the intention of turning after, in the event of refusal, to the powers, including Germany, with a proposal that they take it upon themselves to arrange for a plebiscite to be held under an international guarantee of freedom in the manner which answered so well in the Saar.

"Herr Heneline, as leader of an important section of the population, is within his rights in advocating this re-direction of national policy.

"A great many arguments must also be adduced in favor of the neutralization of Czechoslovakia, approximating to the role which has been assumed by Belgium or the status which Swtzerland has now finally secured for herself.

Canadian Minister Attends Dinner

BOARD TO HANDLE C.P. TANGLE NAMED

OTTAWA, May 17 (CP).—Establishment of a board of conciliation to deal with matters under dispute between The Canadian Press and its operating staff was announced last night by Labor Minister Rogers.

On the joint recommendation of the two parties, Prof. Norman A. M. MacKenzie, professor of international law at the University of Toronto, was appointed chairman. W. Rupert Davies, president and editor of the Kingston Whig-Standard, will represent the company, and Leonard James Ryan, Toronto barrister, the employees.

Mr. Rogers' statement said the board had been established "to deal with a dispute between the Canadian Press and 85 employees engaged in its telegraph service, being mechanics and automatic printer telegraph operators, members of The Canadian Press System Division No. 52, Commercial Telegraphers' Union. The application for a board was made by the employees, who request union recognition and an agreement, embodying increased rates of pay, to be negotiated through representatives of their own choice."

TWO VETERAN BASEBALLERS RELEASED BY BROOKLYN DODGERS

Waite Hoyt And Heinie Manush Washed Up In The Big Time

Hoyt Scampering Around Big Top For 18 Years—MacPhail Starts Housecleaning

NEW YORK, May 17—(AP)—Two great names of baseball were scratched from the big league box scores Monday with Brooklyn's outright release of Pitcher Waite Hoyt, the 39-year-old "Schoolboy Wonder," and Slugger Heinie Manush.

For Hoyt, the pink slip meant the apparent end of eighteen years in the big show. A decade ago, with the Yankees, he was about the best in the business, and his decline has been gradual and grudging. Manush broke into the Detroit outfield fourteen years ago, and in only five seasons since did he fail to hit over .300. In 1926 he led the American League with a mark of .377, and last year, at the ripe old age of 36, he paced the Dodgers with .333.

Starts Housecleaning

Larry McPhail, new business manager of the Brooklyns, promised some weeks ago there would be a "house-cleaning" if the club didn't show signs of life by May 15, and this was it. At the same time he released the veteran catcher, Roy Spencer, and sent Pitcher George Jeffcoat to Kansas City on option. Hoyt, who has played with seven clubs in the two leagues since he started with Boston Red Sox in 1919, might have hastened his departure somewhat by a magazine article he wrote last winter, in which he asserted the American League was stronger than the National.

It created considerable resentment among the National Leaguers and the batters proceeded to pin the veteran's ears back every time he took the mound this spring. McPhail, however, said he wasn't influenced by the article and that Hoyt simple didn5t have "it" any more. Hoyt still holds the record of having won more games for the Yankees than any other pitcher. His best year, 1928, he won 23 and lost seven.

Game Immortal

Glancing up with a business-like look is one of the greatest pitchers in baseball history, Denton (Cy) Young, who during his 22-year major league career won more games than any other hurler before or since, is now assistant manager of a Boston hotel.

Comets Open Loop Trimming Admirals

The Canadian Watercraft Softball League opened its season last night at the Exhibition Grounds when the Comets took a 23-22 win over the Admirals. It was a tight game between well-matched squads all the way. Miller of Comets pitched good ball, with his rival, Richmond, also steady. Some heavy hitting and fair fielding were shown. Richardson and Pearons of the Admirals clouted four-base blows. The teams:

Comets ..... 236 336 x—23

Umpires—Mongraw and Ferguson.

Next games: Thursday—Comets vs Venetians, Falcons vs Admirals.

Tommy Farr Bout Not For Title

LONDON, May 17—(CP Cable).—The British Boxing Board of Control Monday ruled it would not recognize the proposed bout in Toronto this summer between Tommy Farr and Maurice Strickland, New Zealand champion, for the British Empire heavyweight boxing title.

Farr, Welsh coalminer, who holds the title, must first meet the winner of a contest between Ben Foord of South Africa and Eddie Phillips of England. If he survives, Tonypandy Tommy then would meet the winner of a match between Larry Gains, Toronto-born negro, and Strickland, the board ruled.

OUTLAWS BEAT ELGIN 17 TO 1 FOR FIRST WIN

HASTINGS, May 17. — The Outlaws swamped Elgin 17 to 1 last night (Monday) to take their first win in the Hastings Softball League. It also marked the second straight loss for Elgin, last year's champions. With McKee pitching four-hit ball for the Outlaws, they were right in form as they connected for 16 base hits. McKee also struck out 11 while walking 1.

The Outlaws went right to work in the first innings when they scored 10 times on 9 singles, Scriver's double, and an error. They chalked up 5 more in the second on four hits and 2 errors, and they made it 16 to 0 in the third when another crossed the plate on errors.

Elgin's lone run came in the fifth when they chased one across on 2 hits and an error. The Outlaws wound up the scoring in the seventh when McKee singled and scored on Stickles' long triple.

Leads Outlaw Batters.

McKee and Stickles, each with 3 hits in 5 times up led the Outlaw batters, while Thistlewaite led Elgin with 2 safeties in 3 times up.

Jack Richardson went the distance for Elgin and was clouted for 16 hits. He struck out 1, passed none, and had 8 errors committed by his team mates.

On Wednesday evening the two undefeated teams, the Clerks and the Tanners, clash.

The teams:

Elgin — J. Richardson, p; E. Preston, 2b; J. Preston, c; M. Scott, 1b; G. Richardson, 3b; Grady, rf; Thislewaite, lf; Metcalfe, cf; B. Scott, ss; and R. Richardson, cf.

Outlaws — Radford, cf, 1b; Phillips, ss; McKee, p; Stickles, 3b; Clapper, 1b; Bonds, c; Scriver, rf, cf; Walsh, 2b; Petticrew, lf; Lobb, rf.

WESTERN BOXERS STEAL LIMELIGHT IN AMATEUR RING

WINNIPEG, May 17 (CP)—Western boxers threatened to steal most of the glory in the Dominion boxing championships following preliminary rounds of the national tournament here last night.

Twenty-two westerners are shooting for the eight titles against nine representatives of the east. Twenty-one bouts were staged with 17 going the three-round limit, three ending in knock-outs and one in a technical knockout.

Highlight of the card was the opposition provided Canada's representatives at the British Empire Games in Sydney, Australia. Billy Brade of Winnipeg and Joey Gagnon of Montreal both were awarded unpopular decisions.

Gagnon, flyweight title-holder a year ago, now campaigning in the bantam class, was forced to the limit by Winnipeg's Metre Derback. He was floored by a sharp left hook for no count in the opening round and punished severely thereafter.

Webb Frizell of Larcombe, Alta., carried the fight to Brade throughout a three-round featherweight bout. Brade's timing was off in the opening round and he confined his shots to stiff left jabs in the final two.

Finest bout of the evening came in the welterweight division. Jack Keegan, hard-smashing Guelph, Ont., boy, survived the vicious punching of Vancouver's Gordie Woodhouse, British Columbia champion, to take a close decision after three torrid rounds.

He smashed the British Columbian to the floor near the close of the first round but the bell saved a knockout. In the third, the blood-splashed fighters stood in mid-ring and slugged it out.

SOCCER GAMES ARE ARRANGED

The Peterborough and District Football Association discussed last night, in the Chamber of Commerce rooms, the question of the Canada Packers becoming defunct after so many years' activity in which they won the district championship repeatedly. No official information was received from the club, but it was left with the president to formulate plans relative to the interest of the players and fans associated with the late club.

All the clubs, with the exception of Deloro, who stated the organization would be represented, last night, failed to be present to get their forms and hear the discussion in regard to the double league schedule and the cup games.

Canadian General A.A., Brinton Athletic and C.C.F. paid their entry fee of three dollars and the guarantee sum of five dollars, which is returned at the end of the season on completion of all the games scheduled. The sum of fifteen dollars was paid to the Canada Packers Club as a token of their winning the league championship.

The Brinton Athletic was represented by J. Withers, Jack Adams for C.G.E., and Stan. Ivison as C.C.F. members of the executive; also J. Lowe was added as a member of the board.

Tom Foster made application to the board as a referee for the coming season, and will receive his initiation on on Saturday afternoon at three o'clock, when the Brinton Athletic and Canadian General meet in an exhibition game.

Toronto Here May 24.

Toronto Kenwoods will play the Canadian General here on Tuesday afternoon at two o'clock; referee, Alex. McKinley, linesman Vincent Stewart. After the game the local club will entertain the visitors in the Canadian Legion Hall. It is expected that over eighty guests will be present from Toronto, and the number will be around two hundred. The president and the secretary were instructed to attend the banquet on behalf of the local association.

After a lengthy discussion, the board decided that the league will officially open on Saturday afternoon, May 28, so that Deloro will have officially notified the local association and their entry fee and guarantee fee must be at the next meeting.

In future, the clubs will pay the groundsman the sum of 75c for marking out the ground and putting up the nets.

Anglican Bantams Take 10 To 4 Win

All Saints Bantams copped a 10-4 win over St. John's at Central last night in a neat Church Softball League scrap. A five-run assault by All Saints in the third decided the issue in the speedy, interesting tussle. Kemp pitched steadily and had neat support. St. John's got two in the first and Batten's homer gave them two more in the seventh. The latter player got three of the losers nine hits. Frank and Clark shared St. John's hurling, both being somewhat wild. Lacey and Dyer led the winners at bat.

St. John's: Batten, c; Frank, p; ss; J. Moore, 1b; W. Moore, 2b; Farrow, 3b; Clark, ss, p; H. Glen, rf; Howard, cf; R. Glen, lf.

Umpires—J. Winterbottom and M. Williamson.

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two

By CEC PERDUE

TONIGHT at eight in Duffus', the Men's City Softball League will hold a meeting. It is as open as a gossip's trap and everyone is quite welcome. They want one more team. Did you hear us? THEY WANT ONE MORE TEAM! The loop looks to be in for a fine season over at the Ashburnham Bowl, where the crowds are bigger and the nickels in the pot sound more musical. But to date the loop only has Westclox, Motorists and Young Petes—plus a game at the Bowl with each of the eight Southend League teams this summer. But they should have a fourth team to make it an ideal circuit. This is the last opportunity for anyone to enter as the league opens next week, about Thursday, and they will be working on the schedule, etc., tonight.

* * * * * * *

FOUR Church Softball League games were run off last week, the boys being so surprised at the semi-decent weather that they kicked in with more errors than Huck Finn at a grammar lesson. George St. Buzzers took an 18-13 win over All Saints at the Oval; All Saints had a mild last-inning rally to score 11 runs and take a 15-14 nod over St. James Juveniles at Queen Mary; Knox Bantams had a tight (and low) 37-all tie with George St. at King Edward; and All Saints Bantams pulled out a 10-4 decision over St. John's at Central in the best fray of the evening. Tonight sees Knox Seniors tangling with George St. Majors at the Oval, the umps being drawn from George St. Buzzers and All Saints.

AT A RECENT MEETING of the Riverview A.C., these officers were elected: President, Frank Grey; secretary-treasurer, Norm Bowler; executive members, Len Minicola, Harry Low and Nick Orlando. Coach and trainer is Tony Minicola, assisted by Ken Riches. Object of the club is to encourage the youth of the city and district in the manly art of self defence and to have them fraternize in their club rooms at 337 George St., north. The next bout being staged by this fine fight club—which has already put on two dandy cards here—will be May 30th in the lacrosse arena on George St., an open-air mitt show. With Toronto and local leather-pushers, and two rasslers.

HERE is the complete card: Nick Orlando, 135, vs. Young Jackie of Toronto in the main eeeevent of the eeeevening, a five-rounder; Dutch McIlmoyle, 165, vs. Larry Hinds of Toronto in a five-round semi-final; Joe (Sonny) Hobbins, 147, vs. Jack Volpie of Toronto, a five-round prelim; Bill Joiner, 132, vs. Walter Hicks of Toronto, a five-round prelim; Roy Prince, 140, against Hal Jones; Mal Packenham, 135, versus Bert Prince; and Buddy Redmond, 80 pounds, against any local challenger the same weight—get in touch with the club if you're interested, youse kids. Norm Bowler is the promoter and Harry Low the matchmaker. Red Garner and Bert Crothall, two Toronto middleweights, will stage a rasslin' show, also.

CLIFF CADD looks like the best bet for first base with the Petes this year. Fred Ash apparently doesn't intend to play and Cadd has been holding down the initial sack in all the workouts this spring. The lanky Cliff looks a bit awkward out there but he might fill the bill okay. Certainly neither Joyce of Kingston nor Gerow of Napanee could have copped any prizes for graceful rhythm around first in the C.O.B.L. last year, yet both were quite effective. They got nearly everything that came their way on the ground or in the air, and they conked out a fair share of hits. And Cliff is likely to do just as well, if he is signed for first. He is tall, experienced at first in intermediate ranks, a good athlete, and was always a strong and consistent clouter. He might fill the bill most acceptably. We hope so, anyway, and will be rooting for him till he has a decent trial.

MANAGER JOE McCARTHY of the N'Yawk Yankees probably sprouted a few gray hairs at the start of the ball season during the holdout of Joe DiMaggio, his ace outfielder. And Manager Eddie Murphy of the Petes is in a similar boat now with Eddie Starr and Bill Calladine on the holdout list. Both claim they do not plan to play baseball this summer, but we imagine both will see action eventually. They would be missed muchly, both being .300 hitters, Calladine a capable third-sacker and Starr a smart receiver. The Petes have been getting pretty fair pitching the past few seasons, and doggone good fielding—but they've been weak with the willow. Deadey may help a lot, Cadd might pole out a flock of hard drives, Clark may start to connect with southpaw slants, and Whatley and Kearns may return to their hitting form. One never knows from season to season in baseball. Calladine and Starr have been pretty consistent at the plate against right-handers or forksiders, and we hope they line up with the locals again.

* * * * * * *

KINGSTON LOCOMOTIVES will enter the Bay of Quinte intermediate loop this year, which means they'll have two clubs in the Limestone City. A senior and an intermediate squad, splitting players and gates. With four or five newcomers lining up with the Ponies—including Wilson, Handford, McIntyre and a couple of U.S. collitch players—several of the 1937 Ponies will turn out with the intermediates. Possibly Jimmy Arnell, Mickey Compeau, Abber Joyce and (the Locos claim) even Yammy Jamieson. But Yammy led the senior circuit in pitching last summer, and we doubt if the Ponies would let him drop back so soon. Kingston doesn't draw nearly as well at their home games as the Petes, yet they seem to be able to bring in a flock of imports and have fandom divide between two teams in O.B.A. ranks.

* * * * * * *

THERE will be an exhibition lacrosse match here this Friday eve at 8.30 o'clock in the George St. arena, under the lights. Woodbridge intermediates play the Petes in the first gutted-stick game of the year in Peterborough. All that we know of Woodbridge is that the gang held the Brampton intermediates to a 5-4 decision last week, Brampton using several senior stars. So they must be fair, at least. Woodbridge may possibly be grouped with the locals in O.L.A. competition this year yet, 'tis stated. Mick Magee of the locals is back again from Orillia and told us last p.m. he expected to remain in Peterborough. Which is downright good news.

Hawks Win 11-5 Over Nationals

A big fourth inning netted the Hawks six runs on as many hits and spelled defeat for the Nationals by an 11-5 count in the opening game of the Southend Softball League last night at the Brinton Field. Reeve Milby and Councillors Grady and Barnes officially opened the season.

McGregor and Elliott divided hurling duties for the winners, the former allowing but four hits, as he walked six and fanned five. Elliott gave but one hit in the last three frames. Wedlock for the Nats was nicked for 12 hits and six were bunched in the one frame. Busby, Creighton, Pryde, Hallihan and McDougall all got doubles. Coursey and Townley were the only Nats to hit extra-base blows. Busby starred in centre and Millard went well at short for the winners; as Coursey and Thompson looked good defensively for the losers. The teams:

All Saints Nose Out St. James

All Saints nosed out a 15-14 nod over St. James Juveniles in their Church League softball setto last night at Queen Mary, an 11-run rally in the final frame dissipating an early St. James' lead. The winners began riding their rival hurler in the seventh for faulty foot-work, and he lost his effectiveness. Walks and hard hitting followed in the final. Up to then Grose had the Anglicans well checked, while St. James had scored seven in a big second heat. O. James' homer with the bases loaded finished the game. Mortimer, Shea, Freeman and Welbourne all did some heavy slugging. The teams:

St. James': Grose, p; Roberts, c; Gillespie, 1b; Shea, 2b; Freeman, ss; Welbourne, 3b; McMahon, cf; Evans, rf; Stanley, lf.

George St. Buzzers Defeat All Saints'

George St. Buzzers took an 18-13 senior Church Softball League win over All Saints' at the Oval last night, the losers having to force a makeshift team when regulars were absent. Gabe Seabrooke and R. Rennie were hit hard on oppol site slabs. The winners got nine in the second to cinch the verdict. For George St., Richards had three hits and Burnham, Parnall, Akers and Skitch two each. For All Saints', Smith hit three, with Williams, Charlton and Livinstone getting a pair apiece. Williams hit a homer for the Anglicans. The teams:

LEAFS ACQUIRE NEW BACKSTOP

TORONTO, May 17.—Dan Howley announced immediately after yesterday's game that he had accepted Catcher Sam Harshany from St. Louis Browns on option, with a five-day recall tag. Harshany compiled a .311 batting average with San Antonio in the Texas League last season, bats right-handed, and is six feet tall.

Harshany is having some dental repairs made, so he can't leave St. Louis until Thursday night, and will join the Leafs by Saturday.

Hank Severeid, former major leaguer, and now coach with Syracuse Chiefs, offers the information that Harshany will be a valuable acquisition for the Howleys. Severeid was manager of San Antonio for two years, and knows the capabilities of the new backstopper.

Among his assortment of safeties in the Texas League last season were eleven home runs.

COOK OF SYRACUSE HURLS 5-HIT BALL TO BEAT LEAFS 8-1

Third-Inning Splurge Nets Chiefs A Victory In Opener

Brennan And Berly Fail To Hold Potent Bats—Cook Former Leaf Player

TORONTO, May 17.—It's been a long time since Toronto Maple Leafs and Cincinnati Reds were working in cahoots, but repercussoins of that disastrous alliance were sounded yesterday afternoon at Maple Leaf Stadium when Syracuse Chiefs filed into town and scalped the Leafs 8 to 1. The Leafs were well beaten yesterday, and they don't need any alibis for the defeat...But to be beaten by Earl Cook, whom the local club nursed carefully through a couple of seasons when everything he threw was hit back at him harder than that served, until he had developed into a fair sort of moundsman, and then have him lifted gratis by a grasping major league outfit, doesn't exactly hit the right spot.

The husky farmer boy from Lenonville served up a superlative brand of ball against the home forces. He gave up a first inning run, and then settled down to coast along behind an early lead gained by his teammates in the third inning off Don Brennan and John Berly, who shared the expense. Mayo Smith, the first batter to face Cookie, greeted him with a long three-bagger to right-centre in the first inning, and scored on Gantenbeins infield out. But from that point until the seventh, Cook let down the Leafs with only one safe hit—a Texas-league single to short right field, by Frank Reiber.

Third Frame Splurge

The Chiefs piled up an insurmountable lead in the third inning when they pounded Brennan and Berly for seven runs, during a rally climaxed by Dee Moore's home run over the left-field fence with two on base. Moore's clout came just after Berly had relieved Brennan. The latter had already allowed four runs, and left two Chieftains on the paths.

Wildness, and a costly miscue, brought about Brennan's departure rather than the fact that the visitors were hitting him hard. With one out Adair singled to right and Meyers bounced a single over the box. Bongiovanni and Mack walked, forcing in one run, and another came home when Urbanski fumbled Longacre's grounder. When Dick Porter singled sharply to right for two more counters, Howley yanked Brennan and Berly took over.

One Big Mistake

Berly made one bad mistake during the relief spell, and he made it as soon as he entered the box. He threw a home-run ball to Moore, and that sent the fifth, sixth and seventh runs of the frame trotting across the plate.

Butch Meyers, late of Buffalo, Bisons, paced the fourteen-hit Syracuse assault, which might have netted more than eight runs, but for some nifty pegging to third base by Bobby Porter, plus a pair of double plays engineered by Second-Baseman Charley Sheerin.

JUST ONE WON IT

CAPETOWN—(CP)—Take it from Ira Drapkin, former Western Province billiards champion—every point counts. He had a 196 to 84 point lead over G. Kimpen in a match here, but lost 200 to 199.

War Admiral Rules $100,000 Favorite

NEW YORK, May 17 (AP)—Barring injury or illness, there no longer seems any doubt that War Admiral will go to the post a firm favorite over Seabiscuit in their $100,000 match race May 30 at Belmont Park.

Money backing for the Biscuit so far has been more oral than actual. In the largest wager yet recorded an eastern sportsman placed $20,000 on WarAdmiral in the high expectation of winning $12,000. As a direct result, the odds against Seabiscuit were stretched out to 7 to 5.

There has been nothing about the workouts of the two horses to indicate the winner or to set the odds so pointedly in War Admiral's favor. Both have trained perfectly and are in fine condition. Neither has been let loose over the race distance—1¼ miles so there have been no exciting time trials to chronicle.

PLAYERS MUST PAY TO RETURN TO GOOD GRACE

TORONTO, May 17. — Lacrosse players who get into scrapes with referees or other players and meet with suspension and then desire reinstatement are going to pay out of their own pocket to get bac kinto the good graces of officialdom, the Ontario Lacrosse Association executive decreed meeting last night at the Prince George Hotel.

This decision was reached when the members discussed the case of Joe Cheevers, ex-Orillia Terrier forward now with St. Catharines. Cheevers was suspended for his part in a tangle at Barrie last year during a junior final game in which he was alleged to have struck Referee Spencer. There was no actual evidence that Cheevers had struck the official, it was revealed, so the executive decided it would fit his case if he were suspended from one league game. After that he will be able to line up with his St. Catharines mates.

Court Costs?

Dave Harris of Brantford has been shelved for the next two games for his alleged altercation last August 10 with Referee Alan Wilford of Hespeler.

Because of the expenses involved in bringing referees and officials to testify in reinstatement cases the committee thought the players might appreciate authority more if any unnecessary action of theirs was to cut into their own private funds.

Club certificates of Mimico, Orillia, and St. Catharines passed without a dissenting voice. Brampton experienced a little trouble when they offered signed playing forms of Kelly DeGray, Chuck Barron, and Lloyd Daniels of Oshawa.

If lacrosse has no teams of senior or intermediate calibre playing out of the Motor City these three will be okay to line up with the Excelsiors. Mimico, who has prior rights to their services by reason of the mileague clause which says a player must play with a team closest his home, waived their claim.

Brantford might have had trouble with getting Cliff Tabor and Harry Smith, but special permission was given the Brants to use these players, although they took up residence in that city later than the specified May 1 deadline. The two are Rochester natives.

THREE INVITATIONS

KITCHENER, Ont., May 17—(CP)—Waterloo county Orangemen are not sure just where they're going on July 12, but they are going to celebrate anyway. No less than three towns, Stratford, Orangeville and Georgetown, have invited the local brethren to attend and wherever they go to the Waterloo County Orangemen will go in a body.

Derby Second, Preakness Winner, Belmont Favorite

The favorite came through in the 48th running of the Preakness at Pimlico race track, and here he is, Dauber, the horse that finished a driving second in the Kentucky Derby and then came down in front in the second of the "classics" in a sea of mud, to finish seven lengths ahead of the second place Cravat. Menow was third. Wm. duPont, Jr's ace three-year-old, will now be the probable favorite in the running of Belmont Stakes in June, last of the "big three" races of the year.

MONTREAL LOSES IN 13 INNINGS TO THE ORIOLES

TORONTO, May 19.—(CP)—But for the fact that there are only three games separating second place and seventh place in the International League standings, the current position of Baltimore Orioles might be considered quite as amazing as last season's comeback when they climbed from the cellar to the playoffs after Bucky Crouse took hold in mid-May.

Right now the Orioles are closest to the runaway Newark Bears, after moving up from fourth in little over a week and from third on the strength of yesterday's 7-6 13-inning victory over Montreal Royals. The amazing part of it, however, is that they have had only four starting pitchers last the route in 23 games, not one of them repeating, and that the famed Oriole long-distance clouting has been evident only in spurts.

They had a dizzy struggle yesterday, knocking Crip Polli out with four runs in the first only to have the Royals come back with three to blast Orville Jorgens off the hill then tie the score in the second. The count was knotted twice more before Pooch Puccinelli, after six futile trips to the plate, smacked a single to bring home Bill Cissell with the winning run in the 13th. Incidentally, the Orioles got one of their best pitching jobs from their third flinger, John Wittig, who set the Royals down with one hit in 6 2-3 innings.

Birds Go Ahead

The victory put the Birds ahead of Buffalo Bisons, who went down 10-3 before a Jersey City blast which included home runs by Hal Lee, Tom Winsett and Roy Joiner.

Rochester's comebacking Red Wings got credit for the day's biggest accomplishment, and incidentally advanced to fifth place, when they turned back Newark 7-5. It was the Bears' fifth loss in 20 games and a four-run assault in the eighth turned the trick as young Teddy held the league leaders in check until the last inning.

Air mail letters will now travel between London and Malaya in six days.

Yesterday's Stars

(By The Associated Press)

Danny McFayden, Bees—Set Dodgers down with six hits, then clouted double to start winning rally in 5-4 victory.

Hershel Martin, Phillies—Collected single, triple and homer to pace mates to 12-3 rout of Giants.

Rudy York, Tigers—Drove in five runs with single and home run, latter with bases loaded, as Tigers whipped Senators 13-7.

HAVELOCK GAME CALLED IN 4TH

HAVELOCK, May 18.—The exhibition softball game last evening between the Wreckers and Campbellford ended abruptly as the first half of the fourth was about to start when Hendy, catcher for the visiting team suffered a broken thumb while warming up the pitcher. The score when the game was called was 10-7 in favor of the Campbellford boys.

Both pitchers, Moore for the locals and Crosson for the visitors were hit quite freely, McCutcheon for the Wreckers knocking a homer in the second.

The lineups:

Campbellford: Reddick, ss; Hendy, c; Campney, 1b; Montgomery, cf; Phillips, 2b; Holmes, 3b; McComb, rf; Blake, lf; Crosson, p.

Score by innings:

Havelock	2	5	0	—	7
Campbellford	1	1	8	—	10

Wrestling Last Night

INDIANS TUMBLE ATHLETICS 4-3 GAIN 2ND PLACE

NEW YORK, May 17 (CP).—According to no less an authority than Joseph Vincent McCarthy, who is pretty sure his New York Yankees will finish on top for the third straight year, the United States West is the place to win the American League pennant. Right now there are three eastern clubs setting out to accomplish that feat.

Joe's reasoning isn't quite clear in the light of current standings, for Cleveland is the only western entry in the league's first division. Boston Red Sockers head the parade and the Yanks and Washington are running third and fourth, all within two games of the lead. Likewise the eastern clubs won 22 out of 32 games during their recent home stand against the west.

On the other hand, New York Giants have practically the same idea about the National League flag, and everything seems to bear out their contention that they can virtually settle the race in the next couple of weeks. Breezing along under a comfortable five-game lead, the Giants find four western clubs trailing along behind them.

They open their home stand today against Chicago Cubs, considered about the most dangerous of the group, and if they can take three straight from Cholly Grimm's crew, they'll be hard to overtake.

Turn Back A's 4-3.

Cleveland's Indians began the east-west series eysterday. At the same time they sounded a warning to the invaders when they turned back Philadelphia Athletics 4-3 in 10 innings and moved into second place. The victory put the Tribe a half-game up on the Senators, who suffered their fourth straight defeat at Detroit's hands, 13-7.

The Giants, idle for four days, got a few bad plays out of their systems before facing the Cubs as they took a 12-3 drubbing from the cellar-dwelling Phillies. Hal Schumacher had practically nothing on the ball, and his successors adopted his system of throwing home-run tosses. Chuck Klein, Gene Corbett, the former Winnipeg Maroon first baseman, Herschel Martin and Pinky Whitney all contributed four-ply wallops for the Phils.

Bees Get 5-4 Win.

Deacon Danny MacFayden pitched and batted Boston Bees to a 5-4 victory over Brooklyn in the day's only other game. He limited the Dodgers to six blows and cracked out a double to start the winning rally in the seventh.

Railbirds Predict Lawless For Easy Win In The Plate

Victory Expected On Basis Of Early Workouts And 1937 Records

TORONTO, May 17 (CP)—Battle between Bunty Lawless, Bobsworth, Grand Dame and Suffern was mooted today as training for the 79th running of the King's Plate, Canadian turf classic, tapered to mere conditioning trials.

Task of preparing 15 thoroughbreds expected to start in the race May 21 at Woodbine Park, nestled on Lake Ontario shores in Toronto's east end, has been virtually completed. Trainers are expected to put their charges over the mile-and-furlong plate route just once more and then ease the burden.

Bunty Lawless, Willie Morrissey's sturdy brown colt, has been installed overwhelming favorite to capture the $7,500 added purse and 50 guineas, donated by the King. On basis of workouts and 1937 two-year-old records, the honors belong to the colt. Railbirds report exercise boys have been forced to hold a snug rein to keep him from gaining his head.

Also helping sway public opinion to Bunty Lawless has been the enthusiasm—two bets totalling $4,000—displayed by Morrissey. Each bet was for $2,000, taken up by a syndicate backing H. C. Hatch's Suffern.

Bain Has One Hope

Experts couldn't pass over Grand Dame and Bobsworth altogether. Unplaced as a two-year-old, Grand Dame will carry the brown and yellow colors of George M. Hendrie of Hamilton. Bobsworth will be H. R. Bain's only hope.

Although victories in the plate by fillies have been few, the last in 1935, Grand Dame's chances have been enhanced by the fact Canada's leading rider, Pat Remillard, will be aboard. Pat was top jockey in Canada during 1935-36-37, but has never ridden a King's Plate winner.

Grand Dame was put through her paces at Hamilton, along with Storm Drum, Horus and Rock Bound, also nominated for the big race. The quartet arrived recently at Woodbine Park for final preps and have yet to be tested over the plate distance.

George Seabo, one of the top-ranking riders in the United States, has been requisitioned to ride Bobsworth. He arrived from New York during the week-end to get the feel of the horse and returned home yesterday.

King Of The Speedways

We present the man who will be driving No. 1 around the Indianapolis Speedway, May 30, when America's leading automobile racers risk their necks against one another for fame, glory and cash. Wilbur Shaw is his name and he's ranked first in the country by the Automobile Association of America. Shaw won the event last year in the record breaking average time of 113.58 m.p.h. for the 500-mile grind.

CAREW LUMBER STARTS CUTTING

(Examiner Correspondence.)

LINDSAY, May 17.—A bad automobile accident occurred near the village of Bobcaygeon on the week-end when three were injured. Mrs. O'Neill Thompson, of Toronto, was a passenger in the car driven by her husband and they were nearing the old Peterborough turn on their way to the village when a car driven by B. Coulter, of Bobcaygeon, attempted to make a left hand turn south. The car, however, according to police, turned into the path of the Thompson car. Mr. Thompson swerved quickly to avoid a collision, but was too late. Mrs. Thompson suffered a broken rib and badly torn muscles, and was transferred to her home from Lindsay in an ambulance. The two men were badly shaken up. The two cars suffered heavy damage and were towed to Bobcaygeon.

The Carew Lumber Company started operations Monday morning, giving employment to thirty men. Twenty-eight thousand logs will be cut up into lumber during the next few months.

The death occurred at Mount Horeb, Ops Township, on Saturday of the late Joseph McGahay, a former member of the township council. The deceased, who was in his seventy-seventh year, was born in Ops and was well known throughout the district. His funeral took place today to Mount Horeb Cemetery, and was very largely attended.

APSLEY

Mr. and Mrs. F. Tanner, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Smith were visitors with Mr. and Mrs. Bob Wager of Pine Point, Jack's Lake, last week.

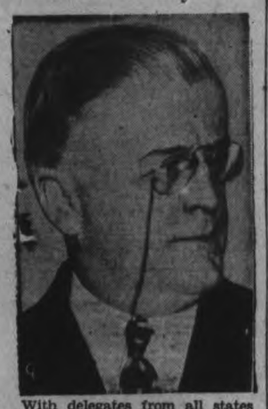
Mrs. Henry Schelcher and baby son was a visitor with Miss Rosalie Smith last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Tucker of Peterborough, were in the village on Friday attending the funeral of their neice, Miss Dorothy Tucker.

OLD BRIDAL VEIL

SASKATOON—(CP)—At a recent Bridal Pageant here, a veil embroidered between the years 1837 and 1847 by a little girl named Martha Broad, was worn by Mrs. Alex Cuthbert, the "little girl's" granddaughter.

Noted Lawyer



With delegates from all states nominating him for the highest honor the U.S. legal profession can bestow, Frank J. Hogan, ABOVE, once a $2-a-week cash boy in Brooklyn, seems virtually assured of the presidency of the American Bar association. For 23 years Hogan has been winning cases against the government, notably the recent tax evasion charge against former secretary of the treasury, Andrew W. Mellon.

To Make Los Angeles-Warsaw Flight

Five Polish airmen stand in front of the aeroplane in which they will attempt to fly the 16,500 miles from Los Angeles to Poland by way of South America. They plan to go to Mexico City, to Natal, Brazil, across the South Atlantic to Africa, and then to Warsaw. LEFT to RIGHT: Jerzy Krassawski, Major Waclaw Makowski, chief of the flight; Jim Barwick, test pilot; and Zbigniew Wysiekierski, pilot.

OBITUARY

MISS DOROTHY TUCKER.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

APSLEY, May 17. —The funeral services of Dorothy Tucker, only daughter of Melville Tucker, of Apsley, was held on Friday afternoon at St. George's Anglican church, Apsley. Rev. F. McMulkin and Rev. C. A. G. Spence conducted the service, which was largely attended. Interment took place in the Anglican cemetery. The late Dorothy Tucker was only 11 years old.

The bearers were former class mates from the schools in Anstruther, which she attended. The four young bearers were Fred Tanner, Billy Wilson, James Scott and Austin Ried. Many beautiful floral tributes were sent and these were carried to the grave by three other school mates, Edwin Smith, Jack Tucker and Douglas Jeff.

Surviving are her father and many other close relatives. Her mother and baby sister predeceased her about 10 years ago.

GEORGE O'CONNOR.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

DOURO, May 17.—The death occurred very suddenly in Toronto on Sunday, May 8, of George O'Connor, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. James O'Connor, who formerly resided a few miles from Peterborough on the Otonabee-Douro boundary. Deceased was in his fifty-fourth year, and is survived by his wife and two step-daughters, Dorothy at home and Mrs. Mervin Bull of Toronto; also surviving are three sisters: Mrs. Joseph Leahy of Douro and Agnes of Seattle, and Mrs. J. O'Rielly of Edmonton; three brothers: Stephen on the homestead and William and Martin of Minneapolis, Minn. The funeral was held on Tuesday to St. Clare's Church, Toronto, Rev. Father O'Donnell celebrating the requiem Mass.

Attending the funeral were: Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Leahy of Douro, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen O'Connor of Otonabee, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lajoie of Peterborough, and Mrs. Teresa O'Connor and son Edward and Fred of Detroit.

MRS. GEORGE FOWLER

(Examiner Correspondence.)

MILLBROOK, May 17.—The sudden death of Mrs. George Fowler, which occurred on Thursday, May 12, in her seventieth year, came as a distinct shock not only to her immediate family circle, but also to the entire community as well.

Mrs. Fowler whose maiden name was Mary Agnes Forster, was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Forster, and was born in Cavan township, her entire life having been spent in this vicinity. In her earlier years Mrs. Fowler attended Sharpe's school, and later the Public School at Millbrook. Fifty-six years ago residence was taken up in this community, where by personal interest and sterling character, she had made for herself a wide circle of warm friends, and where her place in local activities will be decidedly hard to fill.

Mrs. Fowler was a life-long Anglican, a member of the W.A. of St. Thomas' Church, and also a member of the local branch of the Women's Institute. Besides her sorrowing husband, the immediate surviving relatives include one son, D. R. Fowler of Millbrook; one daughter, Mrs. C. C. Platt (Kathleen), of Wellington; one granddaughter; and one brother, Roland Forster, of Toronto; another brother was drowned in 1918 when the Princess Sophia went down on a voyage from the Yukon.

The funeral, which was largely attended, took place from the family residence, King street, on Saturday at 2.30 p.m., the service being conducted by the rector of Cavan parish, Venerable Archdeacon William Simpson, B.A. The pall-bearers were Messrs. W. E. Russell, W. T. Wood, R. E. Stanton, H. J. Russell, P. I. Bentley, and D'Arcy Dunlop. Interment was in the family burial plot at St. John's Cemetery, North Cavan.

MORE ABOUT— DEFENCE

No permanent training areas had been established in Southern British Columbia, the Minister said in reply to a question from Grote Stirling (Con., Yale). Surveys had been made at Kamloops and the Nicola Valley, but substantial objections had been found in respect to every site surveyed. He thought training would be carried out this year at Sidney or Vancouver Island, Kamloops and Vernon.

In reply to a question from Mr. Green the Minister said his Department had no plans underway in respect to the establishment of "strategic highways across British Columbia."

McNevin Speaks For Lindsay.

Bruce McNevin (Lib., Victoria) urged the Minister to make use of the government arsenal at Lindsay, Ont., and the Minister said he would bear in mind the recommendation. Expenditures of about $130,000 was planned as a preliminary measure to restore the plant.

Creation of anti-aircraft units had been delayed by the fact that orders placed for equipment as long ago as 1935 had not yet been filled. However, units had been formed and were receiving training in theory.

Anti-aircraft guns and heavy ordnance in modern mountings were the most important needs for this form of training. There were ample machine guns for training purposes, searchlights and other equipment. Armored cars were being used for training the six tank battalions.

Real tanks had been on order for some time but were not yet delivered. The Minister believed, however, they would soon be available.

Canadian employers were co-operating in encouraging men to go to military training camps, the Minister said. The training strength of the non-permanent active militia for the present year was 48,840, and the peace time establishment as on June, 1937, was 85,982.

In British Columbia the non-permanent strength last June was 3,249 and the permanent 330 officers and other ranks. Mr. Green protested the Pacific Coast was not guarded by even peace strength of permanent and non-permanent militia and asked the Minister if he would consider bringing it up to full pace time strength.

Recruiting Encouraged.

"Every possible encouragement is being given to recruiting not only in British Columbia but all over Canada," the Minister said, "and I think the results are encouraging."

If the emergency arose, Mr. Mackenzie assured the Vancouver member, "we could have ample forces moved to British Columbia in very short order. It is not anticipated by anyone that the forces actually on either coast at present would be ample in case there should be a real emergency."

Mr. Green: "Are there enough soldiers in the province to even man the fortifications that are being built, and to protect the bases?"

Mr. Mackenzie: "Yes, and their positions in that regard are very carefully assigned."

To M. J. Coldwell (C.C.F., Rosetown-Biggar) the Minister said he knew of no Canadian manufacture of aeroplanes for the government being held up by any previous orders from Japan, and knew of no Canadian factories making planes for that country.

Mr. Mackenzie assured the House the fact he came from British Columbia was not the reason for heavy expenditures on that coast. The Department was carrying out recommendations of the General Staff. The Atlantic Coast was not being neglected and new air defences would be started there this year.

Atlantic to be Protected.

Atlantic air defence works would be developed at Yarmouth, Dartmouth, Truro and Sydney in Nova Scotia, and careful plans for the local protection of Saint John, N. B., had been drawn up.

To an inquiry from A. J. Brooks (Con. Royal) the Minister said the training schooner Venture, built at Meteghen, N.S., had been completed at Halifax when the original contractor had failed financially after about $51,000 of the $57,000 contract had been paid. Claims against the contractor, now being adjudicated, might mean some extra cost to the government.

To Rene Pelletier (SC Peace River) the minister said a survey had been made of the possibilities of using Alberta oil in naval units but he was not at liberty to disclose the nature of the investigations.

On the naval reserve item the minister said an examination was being made on both coasts of the possibilities of establishing a fishermen's reserve unit and definite action would be made either this year or next.

At the end of the present year there would be 203 service and training aeroplanes in the Royal Canadian Air Force of which 18 were being built in Great Britain. Only the factor of time would prevent all machines being built in Canada.

Non-permanent air training squadrons would be located at 12 points across Canada at the end of the fiscal year, a number being already in operation.

Would Limit Imports

Mark Senn (Con. Haldimand) and W. Earl Rowe (Con. Dufferin-Simcoe) led the argument in favor of government action to restrict the importation of substitutes for animal fats and animal oils.

Mr. Senn wanted an investigation to ascertain what effect these importations were having upon the livestock industry in Canada, and Mr. Rowe said he did not know of anything "that promises to so adversely affect Canadian agriculture."

William Hayhurst (SC Vegreville) said he had received 500 communications from farmers declaring importations of 200,000,000 pounds of vegetable oils last year from tropical countries and almost duty free, increased manufacture of non-animal fat shortening until it was now double the quantity so manufactured in 1932. The letters urged a protective tariff on these imports.

Mr. Pelletier (SC Peace River) asked the minister to consider moving families, voluntarily, from the dried out areas where it was necessary to keep them on continuous relief, to suitable farming areas in the north where they could be self-supporting.

Mr. Gardiner replied that the government's intention with respect to that problem would be discussed under a vote for the Prairie Farm Rehabilitation Act.

The Examiner BULLETIN BOARD

The Hepburn Government has not had a single bid for its Chorley Park property, official home of Ontario's lieutenant-governors since 1915.

Exhibition Board To Ask Minister For Grant

Several Members Of City Council Expected To Accompany Deputation

A. L. Elliott, M.L.A., will accompany a local deputation from the Peterborough Exhibition Board to Toronto on Wednesday for an interview with the Hon. P. M. Dewan, Minister of Agriculture. It is understood that directors intent to ask the government for a substantial grant for an agricultural building to be erected at the Park for the purposes of the Exhibition. Among those who are going to Toronto are President Tom Brown, Roland Denne, Alderman Glover, Warden E. N. McDonald, Sam S. Staples, Vivian Milburn and Jas. Geraghty.

Around the city hall this week it was rumored that several members of the council other than Ald. Glover would go along with this deputation, Alderman Dutton to enquire about relief assistance, and others to press for construction of the Peterborough-Port Perry highway.

Mr. Elliott recently informed the Examiner that with C. G. Mercer, M.L.A. for Durham and the Hon. Gordon Conant of Ontario county, he had discussed the Central Ontario Highway with the Hon. Mr. McQuesten and R. A. Smith, Deputy-Minister.

"Mr. Smith told us that the Department would probably spend $1,000 a mile on improving the present road," Mr. Elliott said. "He pointed out that it is hardly possible to assume a highway and get it under construction within one year. A great deal of detail has to be attended to first, questions of grades and drainage, railways, corners, farm entrances and so on. At the same time the Minister feels that the highway from St. Catharines to Niagara Falls is so badly in need of repairs that it has become one of the worst in the province."

Mr. Elliott does not expect that work on the Central Ontario highway will be begun this year.

HOLSTEIN BREEDERS PLAN FIELD DAY

Dr. W. R. Graham of the O.A.C., Guelph, formerly of the staff of the Mississippi and Missouri State agricultural colleges, will be the speaker at the intercounty Holstein Breeders' field day which will be held at the Exhibition Grounds on Wednesday, June 8. Dr. Graham has a reputation as a research worker, and his talk on how a cow makes milk is likely to be more informative than the ordinary run of picnic speeches. The Holstein breeders of Ontario, Durham and Victoria counties will be the guests of the Peterborough County Association of which Stanley Wood is president.

The field day is being held at the Exhibition Park because of the varied accommodation it affords. Judging competitions for boys, men and women will be held in the morning, and noon hour luncheon will be on the grounds.

Plans for the intercounty field day were reviewed at a meeting of the executive of the Holstein Breeders' Association of this county, and the event is being looked forward to with a great deal of interest.

NORTH MONAGHAN WILL RESURFACE THREE STREETS

A paving program for surfacing three streets in the township with retread was passed by North Monaghan township council at the regular monthly meeting Monday.

A unanimous resolution instructed Archie Patterson, road superintendent, to arrange for paving Morrow Street from Lock to Sherbourne Street, all McGill Street, and Chamberlain Street from Monaghan Road to High Street. The estimated cost of this program for nearly a mile of street surfacing is between $2,000 and $2,500.

The following accounts were passed for payment: wood accounts, $83.49 ;salaries, $35; direct relief, $239.61; police protection, $25; street lighting, $90; schools, $1,475; printing and stationery, $42.02; miscellaneous sundries, $37.80; roads and streets, $212.06; administration of justice, $20.85; special grants, $20; salaries. $20.

A bylaw was passed authorizing the council to borrow $4,000 from Mrs. Margaret McKee for current expenditures. Bruce Johnston, clerk, was asked to write the Hydro-Electric Commission asking them to cancel contract number 687 with J. L. Johnston who has removed his booth from the foot of Lock Street.

The council decided to visit the dump ground and gravel pit on Thursday evening next for general inspection. The court of revision for the township will be held at the Court House Saturday, May 28 at 2 p.m. The next regular meeting of the council will be on Monday, June 13 at 2 p.m.

CAMPBELLFORD

ROTARIANS WILL SPONSOR CONTEST

(Examiner Correspondence.)

CAMPBELLFORD, May 17.—Rotarians will sponsor an amateur contest at which winning contestants will be chosen to enter the county finals being held in Roseneath on June 8, when Ken Soble of Toronto will be master of ceremonies. On motion of Rotarian A. D. Bennett, T. E. Hall was appointed chairman of a committee to make arrangements for the contest which will be held in the Arena within the next two weeks. Messrs. A. J. Armour, Earl Bell, Dr. E. A. Stuart and Rev. Harold B. Neal will form the committee.

Jack Meier who came to this country from his native Switzerland some years ago and has gained for himself an enviable reputation both for his mastery of the English language and for the intelligent manner in which he handles his subject, was the guest speaker at the weekly luncheon. Mr. Meier's talk dealt with several of the more interesting geographical and historical factors of his country which is somewhat smaller than our province of Nova Scotia yet has a population but slightly less than half that of Canada.

Bordered by Germany, Italy and France the influence of these countries is reflected in the language of each of these larger nations which has spread over a considerable portion of their neighbor. The Swiss language is itself merely a German dialect according to the speaker. Although approximately eighty per cent of the land is tillable, making Switzerland an extremely fine agricultural country, she is lacking sadly in mineral wealth—a fact which no doubt has saved her from being absorbed by one of the larger nations. Salt is about the only mineral mined in any quantity, but the swift rivers which team down her mountains have been turned into a potential source of wealth with over ninety-five per cent of the homes in the country having electricity.

In closing the speaker spoke briefly of the industries, government and educational system. "The climate," he said, "was neither as cold in winter nor as hot in summer as Canada." Rotarian P. C. Denyes moved a vote of thanks to Mr. Meier for his very interesting address.

CANADIAN YOUTH OPPOSED TO WAR IN STREET POLL

All but one of 150 men and women questioned Saturday and Monday on Peterborough streets, were emphatically opposed to war, is the claim of the Canadian Co-operative Youth Movement branch here.

Alex Sjoberg, president of the organization, said four members of the C.C.Y.M. had stopped shoppers with the question, "Are you in favor of war?" They were "seeking the reaction of Mr. and Mrs. Average Citizen on the question," he said. "Of the men, 99 per cent answered the question with emphatic 'no's,' the exception being one slightly inebriated, red-haired man who was in favor of beginning a little war of his own on the spot, and who on closer questioning was found to be in hearty accord because of the fact it would create work. Forty per cent stated they would participate in a war were they forced to go or were it for defensive purposes; 42 per cent would take part in no war under any circumstances; the remaining 18 per cent expressed their willingness to take part, some for excitement, but most for the economic security it would offer for the time being."

Among the women questioned, in reply to the question: "Would you fight to keep your husband, brothers or sweetheart from entering war?" Seventy-seven answered in the affirmative, save in case it was a defensive war fought on Canadian battlefields, seven expressed total ignorance as to the causes of war and said they were not able to answer, and the remaining 16 said it should be left for the men to decide for themselves, Mr. Sjoberg claimed.

King Edward Wins Over Queen Alex.

King Edward Seniors of the School Baseball League defeated Queen Alex, 10 to 2, on Monday afternoon. Bunched hits and some loose fielding on the part of the losers gave the southend squad the nod. Both hurlers pitched neat ball, Smith of the victors striking out 15 in the seven-inning struggle, while the K.E. gang went down on strikes 19 times before the combined flinging of Woodgate and Wellwood. Several dropped third strikes let a man reach first after fanning. The teams:

MAGISTRATE GEE TAKES HIS SEAT ON COMMISSION

With Magistrate E. A. Gee occupying a seat for the first time since his appointment by order-in-council last week, the Peterborough Board of Police Commissioners met Monday afternoon to open tenders for the furnishing of new uniforms and summer shirts for the police force.

"As Mr. Gee has had no opportunity to familiarize himself with some of the matters that are to come before us," Judge Smoke, who presided, said at the beginning of the meeting, "we will confine the business of this meeting to the question of uniforms, leaving other matters for the next regular meeting."

Tenders were received from five firms: Grafton and Company, Ed. Riley, Isadore I Black, Tip-Top Tailors and Board and Huffman, and after Chief Constable Newhall had been called into consultation and samples and prices had been closely examined it was moved by Mayor Hamilton, seconded by Magistrate Gee, that the tender of the Tip-Top Tailors for the uniforms be accepted. The motion also awarded the contract for supplying two dozen blue summer shirts for use in the hot weather when tunics will be discarded, to Ed. Riley.

The new uniforms are promised for May 31 so Peterborough's finest will be all dolled out in new toggery on that do to do honor to Canada's governor-general on his official visit to this municipality.

OBITUARY

MRS. ISABELLA JOHNSTON

Death came suddenly early Tuesday morning to Miss Isabella Johnston, Lot 22, Concession 16, Otonabee township. She was in her 82nd year and had been in her usual good health until Monday.

Born in the County Fermanagh, Ireland, she was a daughter of the late Christopher and Margaret McBrien. She came to Canada when she was a young woman and had lived in Otonabee for 53 years. Her husband, the late John Johnston, predeceased her in 1936. She was a member of the Church of the Sacred Heart.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Dennis Driscoll and Miss Annie Johnston, both of Otonabee. Her son, Thomas Johnston, predeceased her in 1920. Seven grandchildren and one great grandchild also survive.

The funeral will be held on Thursday morning at 9.30 o'clock from the family residence to the Church of the Sacred Heart for Requiem Mass at 10 a.m. Interment will be made at St. Peter's Cemetery.

JOHN DOHERTY

One of the oldest residents of Otonabee township, John Doherty, died suddenly at his home on Lot 22 Concession 9, on Monday afternoon. He was 83 years old.

Born in Otonabee, he was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Doherty and had lived in the township all his life. He was known as a splendid neighbour and was a highly esteemed citizen whose passing is mourned by all who knew him. He was a member of the Church of the Sacred Heart, and of the Holy Name Society.

Surviving are his wife, formerly Elizabeth Heffernan; four daughters, Mrs. Elizabeth Moher of Douro, Mrs. John Cleary of Hastings, Mary and Marguerite Doherty at home; two sons, James Doherty of this city, and Francis at home, and two sisters, Mrs. Michael of Otonabee and Mrs. Mary Heffernan of Peterborough.

The funeral will be held on Thursday morning from the family residence at 8.20 o'clock to the Church of the Sacred Heart for Requiem Mass at 9 a.m. Interment will be made at St. Peter's Cemetery.

Canada Cement To Renew Quarry Work In Lakefield

Limestone Rock Just East Of Big Mill Will Be Sent To Pointe Anne

Rumors in Lakefield this morning intimated that the Canada Cement Company was about to renew quarrying operations for a supply of limestone rock for their plant at Point Anne.

From this renewal of operations after a long period of inactivity, local opinion, sensed from other recent observations, that the company may be planning a broader work program at the Lakefield plant than is now generally expected.

The limestone quarry is just east of the big mill in the village, and is said to be the best rock in Canada for cement purposes. A number of men are to be taken on at once, it was learned this morning, to resume work in taking out the stone required for cement-making processes at Point Anne.

ARTHURS IS GIVEN TERM IN JAIL FOR FOOD THEFTS

William Arthurs, who pleaded guilty a few days ago to breaking and entering the property of Herb. Doig in Cavendish Township and stealing a quantity of food was sentenced by Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., in police court this morning to two months in jail.

"All I got to say," said Arthurs to the court, "is to ask that you be as lenient as possible because of the season of the year."

"There was nothing particularly serious about this case," said Crown Attorney McElderry, K.C. "However, in the north country when folk leave their food locked up they expect to find it safe."

The Crown Attorney produced a record showing that Arthurs had been convicted on two other occasions, the last time in 1932.

The prisoner told Magistrate Langley that he had been working since he served his last sentence, and that he had tramped into the northern part of Peterborough County looking for work.

"What kind of work?" asked the court.

"Anything but farming," replied Arthurs.

"Was there anything else in the place this man could have stolen?" asked Magistrate Langley.

"There was," replied Provincial Constable Silvester, "but the only things stolen were some bread, butter and a little sugar."

"Did you break anything to get in?" the prisoner was asked.

"No, I just lifted the latch and walked in."

"I think two months will be enough," remarked the Magistrate, and the expression on the face of Arthurs seemed to say that he thought two months was too much.

The Rambling REPORTERS

HE WENT FISHING

Charlie Shaw went fishing. The time was between daylight and dusk. Also it should be said he went to the river because he was certain that was the most likely place to look for fish. He cast forth his line with the proper degree of vigor and skill but the line 'snagged.' That is, it became entangled in some foreign substance beneath the water. The line broke.

Mr. Charles attached a plug and thought he tied it on securely, but he had not. When he cast the plug kept right on going as though it were enjoying the trip.

On the third time up there was an array of hooks. At least there was one hook and a sinker and some bait. Reports seemed to be favorable and Old Man River took hold of the apparatus and there was a tug to make him let go. When the contest was over Mr. Charles was left with the handle of his fishing apparatus. Then he went home before he lost that.—K.

ELLIS BROTHERS ASK FOR TRIAL BEFORE A JURY

Joseph and Gordon Ellis, charged with robbery with violence, elected this morning through their counsel, W. J. A. Fair, to be tried by judge and jury.

"I think we will go up to a higher court," said Mr. Fair as the charge against Gordon Ellis was read by Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C. Defence counsel was not ready to proceed with the preliminary hearing and a remand was granted until Thursday of this week.

A similar course was followed when Joseph Ellis was arraigned later on the same charge.

Neither prisoner was asked to plead today.

The charges against the two brothers are the aftermath of an affair on Louis Street Saturday night, when Morris McCarthy complained of being assaulted and robbed of $52.

MAKING CLEAN-UP NORTH MONAGHAN

Suppression of bootlegging in North Monaghan is only one of the phases of a law-and-order campaign quietly promoted by the township council. Representations were made to the provincial authorities with the result that special officers were sent here to begin a clean up which the council intends to project as far as possible. A resident of the township, who has followed the activity of the council, declares that it has had salutary effect already, and it might as well be known generally throughout the community that the township council for this year will not tolerate law-breaking that is within their power to check. The next move is along health lines, and the assistance of the Provincial Department of Health will be sought in an effort to reinforce plans for improving sanitary conditions in the suburb.

JAMES LOGAN GIVEN $1,050 JUDGMENT

James L. Logan was given judgment against the Township of Asphodel, as reported today, for $1050.50, upon a claim for $10,000.00 damages tried before the Hon. Mr. Justice Kellier Mackay in December last.

The Hon. Mr. Justice Mackay found that there was a broken culvert on a highway in the township which the council had ordered the Road Superintendent to repair, but it was not repaired at the time of the accident.

F. D. Kerr, K.C., and M. A. O'Shea appeared for the plaintiff and Hon. G. N. Gordon, K.C., appeared for the township.

BABY WEEK IN PETERBOROUGH—HELPFUL HINTS TO PARENTS

Teething A Normal Process Much Depends On Diet

Mothers dread the time when baby's teething period starts. It may be a trying and anxious time for them unless they realize certain facts which govern the process.

But while teething in a healthy child is often painful, it is a normal process and is not the cause of all childhood ailments which are attributed to it.

Observations made by the Department of Public Health, Toronto, show that babies may be divided into three groups for this period: the breast-fed; the well-managed bottle-fed; and the badly or carelessly fed.

The breast-fed suffer the least disturbance. In the great majority of cases the teeth appear at the regular time with only a slight period of irritability and restlessness.

In a few cases there may also be slight fever and diarrhoea, all of which subsides when the teeth appear. Breast-fed babies usually have the best teeth, because mother's milk contains exactly what is needed in the best form to build strong teeth. Also, the act of suckling at the breast provides a greater exercise than is afforded by the bottle, thus developing the jaws through use.

Bottle-Fed Babies.

In the well-managed, bottle-fed group are the babies that since they could not be breast-fed were given a food properly prepared as directed by the doctor. The bottle and nipple selected were of the type which most closely approached the conditions of the first group.

The rubber nipple should be sufficiently hard so that the child has to "work" for its food; the opening should be of the correct size. This exercise, as already mentioned, tends to develop well-formed jaws and strong, regular teeth.

The mother, or nurse, should also exert a slight pull so that the child has to tug on the bottle, thus further increasing the muscular action. If all this should tire the child before it has obtained sufficient nourishment, a softer nipple, or one with a larger opening, could be substituted to complete the feeding.

The common mistake of propping the bottle on a pillow and allowing the milk to flow freely down the child's throat through a large opening and with scarcely any effort on its part cannot be too strongly condemned. It results in poorly developed jaws, narrow arches, and crowded irregular teeth with their tendency to rapid decay.

Avoid Faulty Diet.

A certain number of breast-fed babies fall in the badly or carelessly fed group as a result of a faulty diet on the part of the mother. The mother should have a balanced diet, with plenty of milk, eggs, vegetables, greens and fruits, all of which contain in high proportion the lime salts so necessary to the formation of teeth.

The majority of these babies, however, are bottle-fed. They are given food improperly prepared, or at too frequent intervals, and sometimes bread, meat, potatoes and sweets before the digestive organs are ready for such food.

These are the babies who are said to "teeth hard." The teeth may come late or several at a time. The ere attack of indigestion and perhaps convulsions, vomiting and diimproper feeding may cause a sevarrhoea. Teething has aggravated a faulty digestive condition already existing.

Effects of Dentition.

Irritability, restlessness and slight derangement of digestion are the only unpleasant effects of dentition in babies who are healthy. The irritability and restlessness appear to be directly due to dentition. Indirectly, teething may be a factor in stomach and bowel trouble. The process may be painful, the digestive organs fail to act properly, and trouble follows. Dentition does not cause bronchitis, eczema or skin eruptions of any kind.

The opinion is very general among the uninformed that diarrhoea is beneficial during the teething process. This dangerous belief has been the cause of an incalculable amount of harm; as a result, many lives are lost yearly. Children die with summer diarrhoea because they are not taken for treatment until so late that there is little hope of recovery. The mother was told and believed that if diarrhoea were stopped, the child would have convulsions.

When the form of a tooth can be made out by pressing on the gum and the child is fretful and feverish, the digestive capacity is lessened. At such times the nourishment should be temporarily reduced by the addition of water. If the child is breast-fed, the nursing period should be reduced to five or six minutes and an increased amount of cool water given to drink between feedings.

If a tooth is trying to force its way through a thick resistant gum, a great deal of pain and discomfort will be spared the child if the tooth is assisted in its progress. This is best accomplished by placing a clean towel or piece of gauze over the finger, bringing firm pressure to bear over the sharp edge of the tooth. It is quicker and less painful than lancing, and the gum will not close over the tooth.

For the development of strong, healthy teeth, careful attention should be paid to the diet of the young child during its growing period, as diet has a direct relation to the texture of the teeth and their resistance to decay. The food should be in such a form that it needs to be chewed thoroughly. This encourages an abundant flow of saliva and an increased supply of blood to the jaws. The diet should, of course, be balanced, including plenty of milk, eggs, green vegetables and fresh fruits, as these foods contain a high percentage of the lime salts so necessary for the developing teeth. Sugars and refined starches should be sparingly used. Whole wheat is better than white flour.

Jerry-Built Baby Result Of Neglect

SALT LAKE CITY, May 17 (A. P.). — "Jerry-built babies" Dr. C. E. Waller calls those pallid, underfed, runny-nosed youngsters stunted by inadequate early care and their mothers' improper pre-natal diet.

Dr. Waller, assistant United States Surgeon-General, sought a sharp term to describe such children to the National Congress of Parents and Teachers. He borrowed one from the architects:

"Physicians, nurses and social agencies are campaigning against—jerry-built infants. Health programs directed toward both mother and child are in fact intelligent planning to ensure each child a sound body within the limits of his inheritance."

Healthy Body Only Built By Good Food

Don't think that because the baby has come through the first nine months of life without a skirmish, as it were, that you can relax your vigilant care. As a matter of fact, it is during the next few years that most illnesses really occur. It is most important that the proper diet be provided for the little growing body during these years.

Diet From 9 to 12 Months.

6.00 p.m.—8 ounces of modified milk.

9.00 a.m.—2 tablespoons orange juice or 3 tablespoons of tomato juice.

10.00 a.m.—1-2 rounded tablespoons of well-cooked cereal, followed by 8 ounces of modified milk. Part of the modified milk may be mixed with cereal. May have piece of bread dried in the oven (Zwieback).

2.00 p.m. — 1-2 tablespoons of vegetable, such as spinach, chard, beet tops or carrots cooked and put through a sieve: or 1 soft-cooked egg. (Start with half an egg if egg has not been previously given.) 6-8 ounces modified milk.

6.00 p.m. — 1-2 tablespoons of cooked cereal. (If no egg was given at 2 p.m., grated egg yolk may be given also.) 8 ounces of modified milk.

The modified milk feeding for the average baby of nine months should be approximately 3 parts of milk and one of water. The milk should be increased gradually so that the child will be getting the whole milk at one year of age.

6.00 a.m. — 8 ounces of boiled milk.

8.00 a.m.—2 tablespoons of orange juice or 3 tablespoons of tomato juice.

9.30 a.m. — Cereal, 1-3 rounded tablespoon, no sugar. Boiled milk, tablespoons, no sugar. Boiled milk, 4-6 ounces, part of which to be used on cereal. Dry toast or zweiback without butter.

1.30 p.m.—Scraped beef, minced chicken or calf, lamb or beef liver—2 to 4 rounded teaspoons; or soft-boiled egg. Vegetable pulp (spinach, chard, beet tops, or carrots, cooked and put through sieve)—2-4 rounded tablespoons. Boiled milk, 4-6 ounces. Dry toast or zweiback without butter. 2-3 rounded tablespoons of junket, rice, custard, sago, tapioca or cornstarch pudding may be substituted for the milk at this feeding.

5.30 p.m. — Same as 9.30 a.m., with the addition of 1-2 rounded tablespoons of prune pulp, or baked apple.

10.00 p.m.—8 ounces boiled milk if required.

Cereal—Cereals should be cooked from two to three hours in a double boiler.

Scraped beef — Using lean round steak, scrape with a spoon or dull knife against the grain of the meat. The meat thus collected should be put in a double boiler and cooked until the meat turns brown.

Diet From 15 to 18 Months.

Breakfast—Cereal, 2 to 3 rounded tablespoons, no sugar.

7.30 a.m.—Boiled milk 8 ounces, a portion of which may be used on cereal. Soft-boiled egg or a slice of crisp bacon three or four times a week.

Toast or dry bread, with very little butter.

Dinner, 10.00 a.m., 12.30 p.m. — Orange juice, 2 tablespoons, or tomato juice, 3 tablespoons. Scraped beef, 1 t 2 rounded tablespoons or equivalent amount of lamb chop or chicken, or minced liver (calf, lamb or beef), or soft-boiled egg; 1 to 2 rounded tablespoons of one of the following: Spinach, mashed carrots, peas, chard, vegetable marrow.

Potato, preferably baked, 1 to 2 rounded tablespoonfuls.

Dessert — Stewed or baked apple or prune pulp or junket or corn starch or rice pudding, 2 to 3 rounded tablespoons. Bread with a little butter, 1 slice.

Supper: 3.00, 6.00 p.m.— Boiled milk, 5 to 6 ounces. Cereal as for breakfast. Boiled milk, 8 ounces. Bread with a little butter, 1 slice. (If fruit is given at dinner, a milk dessert may be given at this meal; or the reverse.)

Diet From 18 to 24 Months.

Breakfast 8.00 a.m. — Cereal 3 to 4 rounded tablespoons with boiled milk, no sugar. Milk (boiled, 1 glass. Soft-boiled egg, alternating with 1 to 2 pieces of crisp bacon. Stale bread or toast, 1 slice with butter.

Dinner, 10.00 a.m., 12.30 p.m. — Orange juice, 2 tablespoons, or tomato juice, 3 tablespoons. Scraped beef, 2 to 4 rounded tablespoons or equivalent amount of lamb chop or chicken, or occasionally fresh fish or scrambled or soft-boiled egg, or minced liver. One potato, preferably baked. Two to 4 rounded tablespoons of 1 or 2 of the following: Spinach, asparagus, carrots, peas, beets, turnips, squash, celery, chard, string beans, or vegetable marrow.

Dessert — Apple sauce, stewed prunes, milk pudding (cornstarch), rice, tapioca or bread pudding),

Department of Health Dont's

Don't take the baby to a house where there is sickness.
Don't allow anyone who is sick to come near the baby.
Don't feed the baby from a spoon or cup that has been used by any other person without first washing it thoroughly.
Don't allow the baby to be kissed on the mouth.
Don't let the baby use a pacifier or "comfort" or suck an empty bottle.
Don't play with the baby just after feeding it.
Don't take the bay out at night.
Don't test the heat of the baby's food by putting the nipple in your own mouth.
Don't use a baby walker; babies should not be encouraged to walk or stand until they are ready for it.
Don't let flies get on the baby or on anything belonging to him.
Don't neglect diarhoea but consult a doctor immediately.

When Baby Alters Food

Properly strained fruits and vegetables are essential in the diet of a young baby in order to build a sturdy frame, strong muscles and sound teeth. But there comes a time, as the baby grows older when foods of a coarser nature are required, yet at the same time baby is not yet ready for the solid foods enjoyed by adults.

This intermediate period has now been very successfully bridged by commercially canned chopped foods for juniors, which are obtainable in quite a number of appetizing varieties and continue to provide the older baby with the valuable vitamins and mineral salts so essential to proper growth and development.

Scientific Methods Assured.

In the preparation of chopped foods for juniors scientific methods assure the correct coarseness and the product is just sufficiently seasoned for the child to relish. Commercial canners see that only the highest quality fruits and vegetables are used, and the special canning process preserves the vitamins and mineral salts. Frequently, due to lack of facilities, home prepared fruits and vegetables lose a very large portion of their vitamins and mineral salts.

Chopped foods for juniors are usually fed to the child from one to four years of age, but it is always recommended that your doctor be closely consulted as to when to change from strained foods.

Of Material Assistance.

Mothers all over the country will welcome the new product, because it will be of material assistance to them in solving one of the serious problems of child feeding. What mother has not encountered difficulty in child feeding between the ages of twelve months and three or four years? With such appetizing varieties as vegetable soup, carrots, beets, apricots, peaches, pears, prunes, spinach, etc., available in chopped form, it is a very easy matter to tempt the appetite of the modern child. Chopped fruits are served cold just as they come from the can. Chopped vegetables are heated in a double-boiler and may be diluted with milk or water as desired. Chopped foods for juniors do not require any further cooking as the commercial canning process has already taken care of this.

HE KICKS HIS LEGS.

Baby gets exercise through play during his waking hours, but do let him have a few minutes' unrestrained freedom on the table before his bath, and note how he enjoys kicking his legs and waving his arms about.

Mother Is Put Much At Ease

The modern mother quickly selects the particular variety of strained infants' food desired from the large assortment lining her pantry shelf, deftly opens the can and adds a last minute touch for the baby's meal. Then, knowing that tomorrow another variety also properly cooked, strained and ready for use, awaits the same quick last-minute preparation, she proceeds with other household details, her mind at ease on one important matter.

The daily problem to be solved formerly was the procuring of absolutely fresh products and varieties at different seasons of the year, finding time for preliminary preparation, careful cooking, straining and reheating. After all the worry and time put into these operations the baby seldom received maximum food value. For instance, vitamin C, destroyed by the heat in the presence of air, was not present to the degree desired and many mineral salts, soluble in water were poured off the vegetable and lost when straining.

Not so today. Commercially prepared fruits and vegetables, strained and cooked to perfection and ready for use are accepted by up-to-date mothers as the solution to the child-feeding problem. And why not? Vegetables and fruits from chosen crops are harvested at the height of maturity, rushed to the factory for immediate canning and prepared under the strict supervision of qualified chemists. Careful sorting and preliminary preparation, straining through monel metal strainers and cooking after sealing in cleansed cans are followed finally by analysis at the research Laboratory, to be doubly sure! What else could one desire? The baby of today is healthier and sturdier than brother and sister of a few years ago.

ENCOURAGE CEREALS.

Start with very small amounts.

Introduce one new cereal at a time.

Serve a variety of cereals so that the child will not tire of any one kind.

Serve with jam or jelly.

Pour cereals into fancy moulds and serve cold.

BABY WEEK IN PETERBOROUGH—HELPFUL HINTS TO PARENTS

Is It To Be Blind Submission Or Intelligent Obedience?

"Be still" and "Be quiet" are not sensible commands to give a child. A young, active body cannot do this for more than a very few minutes. You should remember to make your demands and commands reasonable, otherwise you cannot expect the child to build up the habit of intelligent obedience.

Commands, moreover, should be given only when necessary and should be few in number. Besides, you should mean every command and see that it is obeyed—if you do not, a child soon learns to pay no attention.

Be consistent—have one set of rules and stick to them. They are hard enough for the youngster to learn anyway. If they change from day to day, intelligent obedience is impossible. Never permit one day what you would punish the next.

Parents should agree also on their method of discipline, otherwise they cannot expect respect and obedience from the child. Never alter a command given by the other parent, nor dispute it before the child. He will soon learn to "play off" one parent against the other to his own advantage if he sees any evidence of discord or lack of co-operation.

Directions Should Be Clear.

Remember, too, that the child must hear and understand in order to obey, so make your directions clear and simple. Expect obedience: everyone tends to do what is expected of him, especially a child. If he feels that you are uncertain of him, that you anticipate trouble, he will not disappoint you.

Avoid over-correction and an autocratic manner. Any healthy individual resents being bullied. Never shout. That is a challenge to battle.

Consider promises carefully before you make them. Remember that a bribe makes misbehaving worth while. It "pays" to hold out for more reward, and a child soon learns to trade his good behavior for the things he wants. But, once made, a promise must be kept to the letter and without fail. If you do not keep faith, neither will the child.

Corporal Punishment.

A pamphlet on "obedience" from the Ontario Department of Health suggests that when corporal punishment is administered when the parent is angry, it has two results: 1. It gives satisfaction to the exasperated parent, and 2. It arouses fear in the child. At first this fear may be effective, but if persisted in, the child either becomes used to it and rather fond of all the excitement and turmoil or he becomes timid, shy and resentful. Neither result is healthy.

There is always a reason for disobedience. Try to discover the cause before you punish or fly into a rage. Ill-health, doubts, ignorance, indecision, insecurity, jealousy, fears and a growing active body are some of the causes of disobedience. Often a child uses disobedience as a means of getting something he wants—material gain, excitement, or even attenion. Be sure the child is not using disobedience to control you.

Do not pay too high a price for your "parental authority." Some parents want a child to "mind" every time they speak. An active, intelligent, interested, persistent child will not do this — he is too healthy. The habit of absolute unquestioning submission to authority costs a child his habits of independence, initiative, and self-reliance. These are absolutely necessary for health and happiness. What do you want in your child, blind submission or healthy, intelligent obedience?

Breast Milk Perfect Food

Doctors are agreed that the breast-fed baby is the best fed baby. The baby book of the Provincial Department of Health points out that mothers should, if possible, nurse their babies, because breast milk is the perfect food.

It contains all the food essentials in the proper proportions necessary for the best growth of the infant. It is easy to digest and thus protests the baby from stomach and bowel trouble. It gives the baby a better chance to grow up—the death rate among bottle-fed babies is much greater than among breast-fed babies. It tends to protect the baby from communicable diseases. It is free from germs and dirt. It does not sour or spoil. It requires no preparation. And it is cheaper than artifical food.

It should be noted that a new-born baby's stomach can hold only one tablespoonful. A month-old baby should get three to four ounces at each feeding, while from the second to the sixth month the baby should receive from four to seven ounces, and from the sixth to the twelfth month seven to eight ounces at each feeding. To determine the amount of milk the child is getting weigh without removing the clothes, before and after each nursing for 24 hours. The difference between the weight before and after nursing will decide how much has been taken at one feeding.

Aside from the milk which the child gets, cod liver oil should be given in the second month. Begin with 10 drops twice a day, increasing gradually to one teaspoonful twice a day and continuing this amount. It may be omitted during the hottest weather.

Not Serious When Baby Sucks Thumb

Don't worry unduly if your child sucks his thumb or his finger. A large proportion of babies do this. It is only in the most extreme cases of persistent thumb-sucking over a long period of time that there may be any disfiguring effects. The child should not be punished for this type of behaviour. Mechanical restraints are seldom successful in breaking the habit, and they are apt to draw undue attention to the problem. Quietly remove the child's hand from his mouth without any fuss or comment. Make sure there are other activities available which require the use of his hands.

Saluting Healthy Babies Canada's Future Citizens

We salute the babies of today. Particularly, the healthy, happy babies.

We bow to the badges of pride of every mother—the future citizens of Canada. We take off our hats to the intelligent mother, who is taking advantage of the knowledge science is bringing to her in rearing her babies.

A knowledge of the importance of pre-natal care, of nutrition and the prevention of disease, has given to this generation a firmer foundation of health than those who preceded it. Witness the increase in stature of young people, even in Japan, where height has been reckoned in terms of small measurements. Universities all over America report an increase in stature and better health among their students. Not only has there been an improvement in physical development but in mental as well. Thanks to mental hygiene, great strides have been made in habit-formation and emotional traits and control.

Message From Minister.

As Hon. Harold J. Kirby, Minister of Health, has said in a message to the people of Ontario: "The health of infants and young children is of paramount interest not only to the parents but also to the State. The value of organized effort has been adequately demonstrated in this field. The consistently falling death rate among children under one year of age is a manifestation of what can be done by the education of the interested public and the regular medical supervision of such children. No better demonstration of what can be accomplished by the consistent application of preventive paediatrics will ever be presented than the successful rearing of the Dionne quintuplets. This outstanding achievement was the result of the twenty-four-hour-a-day practice of the rules of infant and child hygiene, sound-feeding, avoidance of infection, fresh air and sunshine in appropriate doses, plus the direction of an interested physician."

In these baby pages we offer you some of the faces of our future Canadian citizens. We suggest to you some of the fundamental principles which underlie sound infant and child care in the hope that the better health and greater happiness of Canadian children will justify the publication of this baby supplement. We do not propose that these should replace the guidance of the physician, but we do think they should awaken the consciousness of the general public to an increased interest in child and baby welfare. Most of the information has been supplied by the Provincial and City Departments of Health. It may, therefore, be considered authoritative.

We salute you, the INTELLIGENT Mother.

We bow to you, the HAPPY, HEALTHY Baby.

Baby Should Sleep Alone

The baby should sleep alone. A young baby sleeps 18 to 22 hours out of 24.

At six months of age he sleeps about 16 hours; 12 hours of this should be night sleep, with only the interruption of the 10 p.m. feeding. He should sleep 2 hours in the morning and from 1 to 3 hours in the afternoon.

At 1 year of age he should sleep 14 hours.

At 2 years of age he should sleep 12 hours.

A daytime nap of 1 to 2 hours should be continued till the child is 5 or 6 years old.

A well-trained baby will go to sleep when put in bed.

If the baby sleeps lightly, it may be because he has been tickled, played with or tossed about. He should be protected from all such excitement.

Do not waken the baby to change wet diaper; he will not take cold if he has woollen covers over him.

Poultry researchers have perfected a type of food which is said to produce eggs of any color desired.

CHAPTER 38

Wenda kept her voice low as she faced Garry, in his living room, the night that she came to ask for her old part in his play. Yet, though her voice was low, winds and trees and rain were lashed together in the husky tumult it produced.

"You're not fooling me as to the reason you don't want me to bother you, Garry Page. It's that girl you used to know, Barbara Kingsley, isn't it?"

"You'll leave Barbara's name out of this conversation, please, Wenda. She has nothing to do with my decision."

"Nothing! Nothing?" She laughed tauntingly.

"If I did not know Barbara, I still would tell you this," Garry said. "It was at your instigation that the plans we made were broken. I loved you rather badly, Wenda. But it's done."

Garry loathed argumentation with a woman. He hated indirectness. He liked a good fight—but he wanted it to take place on a football field where the scrap was fair and honest, or in a man to man conversation. He squared his wide shoulders and his blue eyes darkened.

"And you are in love with Barbara again, isn't that it, Garry?" Wenda asked, he voice cold, now, too.

Garry threw restraint to the winds. "Get this straight, Wenda. I think I've always loved Barbara, even while I was in love with you. If you had behaved yourself, I might not have realized how much she mattered, for a long time. Now I know. And I'm going to tell her so!"

"What does she have that I haven't!" Wenda asked, her voice a long icicle.

"She has courage and faith and honesty, and she isn't afraid! She doesn't ask—she gives, even when it upsets her very life. Stay here as long as you like. I'm going!" He picked up his overcoat and hat, and went banging the door behind him.

His first thought was that he would hunt up Barbara. Then wisdom told him that this was not the time to go to her. He had some work to do that he would get out of the way tonight. Maybe, when he had cooled down, if it wasn't too late when he left the office, he might give Barbara another ring.

Wenda, meantime, sat very quietly for a moment. Then she opened a compact and began to make up her face. The light was too dim for the task, so she walked back to the bedroom and started to paint on a new mouth. She had made a mistake about Garry, she admitted. She had thought that she could get him back again. Anyway, she needed that part in his play. She would have preferred another role in another production but she couldn't find one. The money that her sister had left for Bobbie's tuition at a boarding school was nearly gone, and financially a role was necessary.

The house telephone was ringing and she did not answer. Maybe Garry wanted to know if she had left. She picked up a comb and ran it through her golden hair. The telephone stopped. She reflected that it might have been a good thing to have answered, after all. If Garry wanted to sever relations with her, to have her seen in his rooms would belie whatever appearance of aloofness he might be giving.

Now the bell on the outer door was ringing. With a wicked little smile in her eyes, Wenda started to the door. Her yellow hair was hanging loose on her shoulders, where she had let it down to comb it, and the comb was in her hand.

She opened the door, smiling.

"Is Garry in?" he asked, ignoring her entirely.

"No, but he will be back presently. Will you wait?"

"No, thanks." He turned and walked away with swift, angry strides. Wenda, watching him go, laughed softly. This incident would reach that Barbara person's knowledge. Ray was in love with the girl himself. Oh, she couldn't have plotted a sweeter revenge if she had tried! Humming under her breath, she arranged her hair, put on her hat, picket up her gloves and pocketbook and closed the door.

Ray Lipton, meantime, went down the street cursing himself for a fool. He had been so sure that Garry Page still loved Barbara and was letting pride keep him away, that he had decided to take a hand. He liked Garry, liked him better than any other man he knew in the newspaper game. Ray had decided that his own case was hopeless. Barbara like him, nothing more. But she loved Garry and always would.

"I don't like being Sir Galahad or John Alden," Fay had grumbled to himself, "but I'm clearing out for good and if I can make those two idiots happy before I leave—Well, I may be a damned fool but here I go!"

In this mood he had gone to Garry's apartment. From the street he had noticed a light in Garry's suite. When the telephone didn't answer he decided to go on up. He had. Wenda had opened the door for him!

When the afternoon papers came from the press the next day, Ray picked up a handful of them and sat down at his own desk to read. His copy for the day had been in at noon and he had cleaned up what advance assignments he had for the next day. Quite idly he turned to the dramatic section of his own sheet. Perhaps because of his encounter with Wenda Ayer in Garry's apartment the night before, he scanned the news of Garry's play. He was not much surprised at the paragraph he read. In a few words, oblivious of their influence on three lives, the critic had written that Miss Wenda Ayer had been recalled to the cast of "Missing April," the comedy by Garry Page.

He wondered what Barbara's reaction would be to those few stark words. He had resigned himself so completely to the knowledge that Barbara would never marry him that he was almost impersonal in his attitude. Garry was too fine, too idealistic and honest for the scheming Wenda. Garry ought to be—kicked.

Well, there was little he could do about it. He had tried to play God and had been put in his place fast enough. He might as well go home and work on a story that had been tossing around in his brain at odd moments for weeks. He must attend to some details of his passport, too, on the way. He wished that he could take a ship tonight and get into the fray of the worlds upset.

But at home he didn't begin to work. He began to sort old possessions. He made a pile of things to be stored, things to be thrown out, things to be taken along. He was in the middle of this work when Barbara telephoned him.

"Ray, I've got some news!" he heard Barbara saying. He was conscious that his voice mumbled something about the story in tonight's papers and that her wonderment showed she did not know that Wenda had rejoined the play cast

"Tell me what the papers say, Ray," Barbara insisted.

"Nothing much, n) darling!" he drawled. "It seems that the lovely and loveless Miss Wenda Ayer has gotten herself taken back to her old spot in "Missing April."

There was a silence that ended with a little laugh from Barbara. "I think I thought she would do that, Ray."

"I didn't!" he growled.

"I thought she was very good in her part," Barbara defended the actress. "Of course she played Garry a mean trick in seeking stardom at the expense of his play but I guess it's all in the game. I'm not very well versed in the theater, Ray. For mine—it's elves and goblins and fairies. But wouldn't you like to know my news?"

The gay, light voice was hers. She marveled at it, as she heard it sending messages across the town.

"You bet I would!" Part of the heartiness came as relief because a trying moment had been passed.

"I'm going abroad, too Mr. Ray Lipton. You aren't the only one who'll be sailing the high March seas.'

Now Ray's interest was real. "When do you sail? And why? What boat?"

"The details have to be arranged, Ray. I'll call you tomorrow." Suddenly she was afraid, that for the first time in her life, she was going to faint. (To Be Continued

Card Fortunes Provide Fun and Laughter

Each Card Tells a Story

What will YOUR future be? Rosy with romance? Tempestuous with adventure? The cards know. Learn to read their hidden meanings.

Choose your Name Card first—Queen of Clubs if you're a brown-haired girl. Your fortune's in the cards which surround the Name Card. Hearts speak of love and marriage. Diamonds, of money and unexpected events. Clubs are concerned with business. Spades say, "Trouble ahead!"

Kings, Jacks, Queen stand for the men and women in your life. Two of Hearts promises a proposal, while Five of Spades alongside hints of exciting complications.

How to deal the cards before you read them? Will you trust your fate to the magic Method of the Sevens? Or stick to the old-old gipsy custom of spreading the cards out in a lucky horseshoe?

Our 32-page booklet gives meaning of every card in the deck; explains all kinds of easy, intriguing fortune-telling ways. Tea-leaves, horoscopes, fortunes-in-campfires, too.

THE STARS SAY . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Wednesday, May 18.

A day of far-reaching influence and importance is read for this day from the radical natures of the ruling planets. While there may be sudden upheavals of a devastating nature, there may also be splendid openings for lucrative transactions or surprising new business associations.

Those whose birthday it is are on the eve of a very important year which may mark a crisis in the life. New opportunities of prime importance are at hand, offering new surroundings, friends and increased business.

A child born on this day may have many contradictory traits of character. While being serious-minded, steady and studious, it may also be forceful, dynamic, and possibly extremely adventurous and ambitious. Although its fortunes may fluctuate, it may make some sort of brilliant or conspicuous romance or achievement in strange places.

DOROTHY DIX

Children Are Like Potter's Clay and if They Turn Out to Be Misshapen Vessels, Then It Is Because the Hand That Molded Their Characters Was Shaky and Uncertain

DEAR MISS DIX—I am a lawyer. The other day a splendid young man who is married to a fine girl was in my office, and, after we had transacted our business, I asked him in a jocular way why they had not had a child and told him that I would like to see them have children to carry on his family name. He replied very seriously that he and his wife would like to have children and that they had talked it over many times, but that the way children treat their parents nowadays made them feel doubtful as to whether it was worth while, although they would like their name to go on after they had passed away. His remark gave me much pause. Is the present-day so-called freedom that modern youth exacts not only wrong to themselves and their parents, but also a wrong in that it denies existence to future youth? Is there not a close connection between these demands of freedom and the astounding decline in the birth rate? And is not one of the reasons for that decline the present-day fear of newlyweds that if they have children those children will accord them the same treatment that they accorded their onw parents? A FRIEND.

Answer:

No doubt there is a child, now and then, born with a distorted mind and criminal tendencies, and nothing that anybody can do can save it from going to its appointed end. But such children are rare. The average child, born of decent people, offers no problem of criminology to its parents, and there is no reason why any man and woman should forego parenthood for fear of the way that the child will turn out.

That matter rests entirely with them. Every babe is clay in the hands of its mother and father, and if it turns out a warped vessel this is because the hand of the potter shook instead of being firm and strong and steady. There is no exception to this rule: "Train a child in the way it shall go, and when it is old it will not depart from it." We have Divine authority for that statement. And psychologists tell us that the pattern of a child's life is set by the time it is 3 years old.

Fathers and mothers determine just exactly how their child shall treat them. If they spoil them; if they overindulge them; if they do not control them or teach them to respect and obey them; if they make doormats of themselves, their children will trample over them. But, on the other hand, if they bring up their children to reverence them, to look up to them and to be guided by them, and if they inculcate in them the right principles of living, their children will be a crown of glory to them.

The other day I saw a child of 3 biting and kicking his mother and screaming insults at her and she took it meekly. You do not have to be a prophet to know that when that child is grown he will kick her out of his way and send her to the Poor House rather than suport her.

Yesterday a mother came weeping to me with a story of her daughter's ingratitude. She said her daughter accused her of ruining her life by spoiling her so that she had never been able to get along with anybody, and now her third husband had left her and she was down and out, poor and homeless. "Think of her talking to me that way," said the mother, "when I never crossed her in her life. There is nothing so terrible as the ingratitude of children."

And, on the other hand, all of us know scores of parents whose children have never given them any trouble, who have never been wild or wayward, but who have developed into splendid men and women who consider it an honor and a privilege to cherish their wather and mother in their old age. Among the most heartening letters that I get are the thousands that I receive every year from boys and girls whose sense of obligation and duty to their parents is so strong that it makes them willing to lay down upon that altar the sacrifice of their own happiness. They are in love with some nice boy or girl and anxious to marry and set up homes of their own, but they cannot do it because there is an old father or mother to support. There is no question in their minds of trying to escape that sacred obligation.

Every father and mother settle how their children are going to treat them when they are grown while they are babes in the cradle. What they sow, they reap. It is for them to decide what the harvest shall be.

Dear Miss Dix—I am what is called "a party girl" and while I have plenty of dates not one of them will ask me to marry him. Now I have a married man in love with me. His wife is getting old. She is narrow-minded and jealous and it is a great strain on him pretending to care for her. But he feels that because she was so devoted and worked so hard for him during their first years to help him get started that he should not desert her now. I will soon be 30 and I realize I haven't much time left to feather my nest. This man has money and I believe he woud marry me if I could get him to divorce her. He has given her the best years of his life. Their children are almost grown and will soon be out of the way, and I think it is very selfish of her to hold on to him. He says I make him feel young and full of life. I am thinking seriously of going to the wife without his knowing it and telling her the truth. It is high time that he stop sacrificing his life on the altar of duty. FAIR PLAY.

Answer:

Don't shed any tears over his sacrificing himself on the altar of duty. He is hiding behind his wife's skirts. He doesn't want to marry a "party girl" any more than any of the other men and he has the grand and perfect alibi in his wife. When a man is really in love with a younger woman and wants to marry her, he isn't so considerate of his wife's feelings. It is only when he is amusing himself with a Lady Love that he begins talking about his duty and standing by the woman who has stood by him through all the hardships of their early marriage. Very few of the playboy husbands want to divorce their wives. Friend Wife is too much of a protection.

• • • • • •

Dear Miss Dix—Why do men prefer slim women to plump ones? My husband fusses at me if I gain a pound. I don't want to be fat, but I feel that if he really loved me he would like me the way I am.

Answer:

Living skeletons seem to be the fashion. Maybe that is the reason husbands prefer 'em. But nobody can guess a man's taste. DOROTHY DIX.

Bedtime Story

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY'S BOB CAT SCARE

Baby Bunty, the little orphan rabbit in Uncle Wiggily's hollow stump bungalow, was so excited she could hardly finish her supper.

"Come now, my dear," said the bunny gentleman, "eat up all your carrots."

"I suppose if I don't, Unkie Wig, you won't take me to the fire lesson, will you?" asked the orphan rabbit using all the baby talk she was allowed.

"What's this about a fire lesson?" asked Buster, a boy bunny who never needed be told to eat his carrots. He would eat his own and Baby Bunty's if Nurse Jane didn't watch him.

"Unkie Wig is going to teach us things we don't learn in school, about nature and science," Baby Bunty, feeling quite important like and not a little bit proud.

"How do you know?" asked Jingle.

"I'm sure Nurse Jane told her," said Jangle, who was Jingle's twin sister. "I saw them talking in whispers a little while ago."

No Harm

"Yes, Nurse Jane told me, but there is no harm in it for Unkie Wig is going to tell us all soon, aren't you, Unkie Wig?"

"Yes, Bunty. But you mustn't use too much of that baby talk," warned Mr. Longears. "After supper," he went on to the others, "I am going to take you children down to the swamp and show you a fire that seems to blaze but yet never burns."

"Oh, is there any such thing?" asked Buster.

"You shall see," promised his father. "So eat your carrots, every one, and when it is dark enough you shall see Will o' the Wisp."

"Who is he?" asked Jingle. "A new Bad Chap?"

"You shall see," promised Uncle Wiggily with a twinkle of his pink nose, which was very bright now because he had stopped worrying about the world going around so fast.

"Oh, I can hardly wait!" exclaimed Baby Bunty.

"Only I hope it isn't a Bad Chap," whispered Jingle.

"Will o' the Wisp isn't that—I'll tell you so much," said her rabbit daddy. "Have no fears."

So the little bunny boys and girls had no fears and when it was dark their father took them to the swamp on the edge of the woods not far from the hollow stump bungalow.

It was night. In the sky a few mosquito hawks were circling about. Now and then a bat swooped over the heads of Uncle Wiggily and the little rabbits. But they had no fears.

Ball Of Fire

"Look!" all of a sudden whispered Baby Bunty, taking hold of Uncle Wiggily's paw. "There seems to be a ball of fire rolling along the ground. It's coming this way. Oh-ee-ee-ee!"

"Don't be silly," laughed Uncle Wiggily. "That is the Will o' the Wisp I am going to give you a lesson about. It is light made by phosphorus and it comes from marsh gas, or rotten wood and other things. Though it seems like fire blazing, it really isn't hot at all. See. I will get some on the end of a stick for you."

Uncle Wiggily put the end of a long stick inside an old, rotten stump near which the strange "ignis fatuus," or foolish fire, seemed to burn. As he lifted out the stick the end glowed like a flashlight.

"But it isn't hot—put your paws near it," said the daddy rabbit. This the little rabbits did. The strange fire did not burn them. It will not burn you if ever you see it in a swamp or damp place.

Then, all of a sudden, as Uncle Wiggily was leading the rabbits home after the fire lesson, out of the bushes jumped the Bob Cat. But Mr. Longears thrust at him the stick with the Will o' the Wisp cold fire on it and so frightened the Bad Chap he ran away as fast as a kite.

And if the store elevator doesn't drop away down under the basement floor I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and Chattie.

Barclay On Bridge

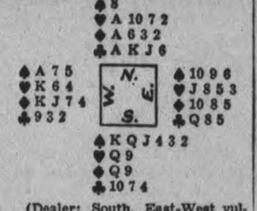
"The Authority on Authorities"

TWO HANDS IN ONE

DUPLICATE bridge discloses the possibilities of a deal in ways that rubber bridge cannot. At one table a bidding problem arises, at another a playing problem. Perhaps four or five interesting points can be developed in the post-mortems among players from different tables after the game is over. That is one of the main reasons why duplicate is considered such splendid medicine to enhance a player's knowledge of the game.



(Dealer: South. East-West vulnerable.)

At one duplicate table South made an original "weakness" bid of 3-Spades on this deal, to shut out possibly strong vulnerable opponents. His partner, with "the works", ordinarily lets such bids alone, but this time just had to do his bit. He called 3-No Trumps, but after South's 4-Spades he had sense enough not to reach out for a slam which could not be made.

At another table, they got to the same spot by means of 1-Club by North, 1-Spade by South, 2-Diamonds by North, 2-Spades by South, 3-Hearts by North, 3-Spades by South, 3-No Trumps by North and 4-Spades by South.

At a third the bidding went about like that, except that North bid his suits from the top down instead of the bottom up and finally stopped at 3-No Trumps. East led the heart 3, dummy played the 9 and West made a beautiful duck, holding up his K to kill the Q as a dummy entry. Where is the man who could make the contract after that play?

Miss Dolly Lacey Has Been Much Entertained

Miss Lillian (Dolly) Lacey, whose wedding to Roy Irwin is to take place in All Saints Church on Saturday afternoon, has been most charmingly entertained by her friends previous to her wedding.

The Misses Marion Worboy and Clara Doris were hostesses at the former's home on Sherbrooke Street, for a kitchen shower in cream and green enamelware, when the gifts were presented in a most entertaining and novel manner. Each guest held a colored balloon which when burst, was found to contain a note sayin where the hidden gifts might be found.

A miscellaneous shower was given for Miss Lacey by Mrs. Keith Wills of Perry Street, when many very lovely gifts were received, presented in a prettily decorated basket. Thirty guests were present.

Mrs. William Constable of Rubidge Street was also hostess at a miscellaneous shower, when more delightful presents were received and a happy social evening spent.

Miscellaneous Shower For Miss Helen McFee

A popular bride of Saturday, Miss Helen McFee of Water street, was guest of honor at a delightfully planned miscellaneous shower Monday evening given by Mrs. Lloyd Ash of London street.

The pretty decorations included a large white bell in the centre of the living room, from which streamers to different parts of the room were attached to hidden gifts for the bride-elect to discover. Colorful red tulips made pretty floral decorations. The evening was most enjoyably spent at games, followed by refreshments served by the hostess.

Those present included: Mrs. P. Hilliard, Mrs. L. White, Mrs. J. Dorrington. Mrs. J. H. Rowe, Mrs. Houston, Mrs. Lloyd Ash and the Misses Helen McFee, Lilian Bathgate, Jean Kerr, Mary Walker, Vera Squire, Florence Walton, Muriel Symonds, Ruth Pogue, Dorothy Lee and Isabel Harvey. A pretty gift was also received from Miss Dolly Smith who was unable to be present.

Mrs. R. Parnall Heads Home and School Council

Mrs. Richard Parnall was installed as president of the Home and School Council for the year 1938-39 at the annual meeting of the Council held in the Green Room at the Y.W.C.A. on Monday evening. Mrs. Parnall succeeds Mrs. G. A. Spicer, whose many activities in Home and School work have been tireless and are much appreciated.

While presiding for the opening meeting, the retiring president reported that the suggestion concerning medical examination for preschool children, who will enter school in September, had met with opposition from the Board of Education. The council, however, is still hopeful the matter will be taken up some time in the future.

Several new Home and School Association presidents were welcomed to th Council by Mrs. Spicer, after which the annual reports of the officers and convenors of committees were received.

The election and installation of officers was conducted by Mrs. E. Wand, past president of the Council, with Mrs. L. M. Richardson bringing in the report of the Nominations Committee. Interesting reports were heard, when Mrs. Wand called on members for informal accounts of the year's work for their associations.

At the close of the meeting, the Social Committee, with Mrs. Roy Parnall as convenor, served very attractive refreshments, during which a pleasant incident was the presenting of a Home and School Service pin to Mrs. Spicer, an accompanying address being read by Mrs. H. H. Graham, and the presentation made by Mrs. S. Gillespie.

Officers of the Home and School Council for the 1938-39 season are as follows: President, Mrs. Richard Parnall; 1st vice-president, Mrs. E. R. Shirley; 2nd vice-president, Mrs. H. Darling; recording secretary, Mrs. M. J. Swanston; corresponding secretary, Mrs. G. C. Northey; treasurer, Mrs. F. Gillespie; five executive members include, Mrs. C. Crowe, Mrs. P. Black, Mrs. A. Lee, Mrs. N. Stanger, and Mrs. H. H. Graham.

Bateman—Newberg

TWEED, May 17. — On Saturday afternoon a very pretty wedding ceremony was solemnized in Wesley Chapel of the Methopolitan Methodist Church in Detroit, when Ruth Kathryn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Newberg, of McLean Avenue, became the bride of William B. Bateman of Detroit, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. W. Bateman of Springbrook, with Rev. Charles B. Allen officiating.

After the ceremony about seventy guests were entertained at a reception and supper at the Bellcrest, and later the happy couple left by airplane for a honeymoon in Chicago. On their return they will reside in McLean Avenue, Detroit.

BLACK LIPSTICK LATEST IN COSMETIC CIRCLES

It Is Licorice in Stick But Your Favorite Color When Applied to Mouth

Applying new black lipstick in swivel case.

By LISBETH.

FASHIONS IN cosmetics are just as changeable and interesting as fashions in clothes. Women have come a long way in this direction since the days when any woman who painted even an modest flush on her cheek was considered a hussy.

Vivid lipsticks have been the vogue for some time, but heretofore they have not emulated finger nails and taken on all the colors of the rainbow. Recently, however, a cometic firm has launched a black lipstick that promises to be very popular. Yes, this lipstick is black as licorice in your fingers—but it goes to a rare red on your lips, so don't worry. Black lips would hardly be alluring we fear.

This lipstick made with this change in coloring is practically indelible. It comes in various popular shades, but it always is black in the stick form.

The case is a new swivel arrangement — as tricky as the stick itself.

Another firm is offering a bath box that is delightful and would make an excellent personal shower present for a bride-to-be. The box which contains the cosmetics is delightful and will stand the dampness of the bathroom without wilting. It holds a shower oil, bath oil, talcum, eau de cologne and small cake of fine soap

Equally suitable for a shower or wedding gift for the bride is this same firm's sachets put up in different sizes and beautifully fashioned of satin or taffeta to perfume the clothes. There are sachets for the bureau drawers and for the travel bag, and there are perfumed bags to hold all the bride's dainty garments.

JUST BETWEEN US WOMEN

"One month in the school of affliction will teach thee more than the greatest precepts of Aristotle in seven years; for thou canst never judge rightly of human affairs, unless thou hast first felt the blows, and found out the deceits of fortune."—Fuller.

Dear Friends:

Have you never looked at some who were having a seige of trouble and wondered why they could not get themselves out of it. If it were you, you think, you would do more than they in getting rid of all this.

And, while you were considering them, while your eyes were upon them and you were going serenely about your business, suddenly trouble struck you. While you were struggling with the first thing, along came something else from another quarter, something fell on you that you thought was secure, and you became bewildered and afraid.

All your theories were of no use. You were caught in a series of bad happenings and could not extricate yourself. You were having your time in the school of affliction, and you would either come out better, wiser, more sympathetic, or you would harden in the process.

But, one thing you would know, and that is that you are not immune from trouble, no matter how you try to avoid it. Our lives touch too many other lives, so that what affects them affects us too. Many's the parent who has suffered from their child's wrongdoing, yet had no part in that same wrongdoing.

Many's the child has suffered pain and disgrace due to what their father or mother did, their sister or brother's mistakes, yet were not to blame. There is not one of us can look with scorn on another person's hardships, for we don't know the day or the hour when it will be our turn.

Not so long ago, I heard two women talking. One had said how her friend had let her down, and the other very complacently said that no one ever did things like that to her. Imputing by her manner that the one who had the grievance must be to blame.

But the next week, her turn came, and how very indignant she was. She did not deserve this treatment, she was annoyed, disturbed. I said that she had thought the other woman was to blame when she was telling her troubles, so what?

And this experience did more for her than all the talk could do. And it is the same with all of us, we have to get a dose of that bitter medicine before we realize how awful it is. When good times are with us, we are inclined to take all the credit to ourselves, but when bad things come along, then we know fully what the other fellow felt like when he had to endure it.

Sometimes we feel how undeserved this trouble is. Couldn't the other fellow feel the same way? "One touch of nature makes the whole world kin," and a good dose of trouble makes us more in sympathy with each other. We are not so ready to blame, when we see how quickly our sun can be darkened, and clouds obscure the sky.

There is not one of us escapes, one way or the other, so let us be not so quick to condemn, not so hasty in thinking others must have done something to deserve these things. "The rain falls on the just and the unjust," and troubles come to good and bad alike, deserved or not.

We are all inclined also to wonder "why do these things happen to me?" After all, why should one of us think we are immune from the common lot. My idea is, that we are not supposed to get too attached to a house from which we must move out soon.

So, be a little more understanding and sympathetic. When times are good, be glad and give thanks. When times are bad, make the best of it and wait on God. Maybe He is refining you and you haven't realized it.

Your Friend,
ROBERTA.

Branch Notes

ONTARIO PROVINCIAL CONFERENCE

At a recent meeting of the Peterborough Conference Committee at the home of Miss Hilda Phillips, it was decided that all the activities on Thursday for the conference should take place at All Saints' Church. This includes the rally service in the church at 8:30 o'clock in the evening and the addresses of welcome in the parish hall immediately following the service. Registration of delegates will also be held at All Saints parish hall all day on the Thursday.

It was also decided that all the meals, the Friday morning Corporate Communion and the installation of the newly-elected officers of the provincial council would be held in the church and parish hall of St. John's. Registrations will also be held at St. John's for the balance of the conference.

The general sessions of the conference are most likely to be held in the halls of the Canadian Legion building as being the most suitable place available.

With regards to committees, Roland Krant announced that his committee for looking after arrangements for transportation for the conference were as follows: Fred Dorrell from St. George's branch; Cecil Hope from St. Lukes; Ken Gibson from All Saints'; and Fred Ford from St. John's.

Although activities with regards to the conference have been somewhat slackened for various reasons on the part of the branches in the city, enthusiasm has again reached a high point. Especially so, since the arrival of the provincial conference convenor, Tim Regan of Hamilton, in the city last week-end.

At this meeting, held in the city buildings, various items of importance were cleared up and ways and means were discussed to make the coming conference one of the most successful ever held in the history of the provincial council in this province.

If there are any members who have suggestions to make with regards to any phase of the conference committee's work, they are quite welcome to do so by giving their suggestions to the member of their branch who is looking after that particular part of the work in that branch, and they will present it at a committee meeting and all suggestions will be given due consideration if they will be a means of making the work of the conference committee run more smoothly.

Well-Babies Clinic Doing Outstanding Work In City

A visitor to the offices of the Medical Officer of Health on a Friday afternoon between the hours of three and five o'clock would find himself in a little crowd of between fifteen and twenty mothers with their babes in arms and little toddlers at their sides, all come for the free instruction and advice dispensed at the weekly Well-Babies' Clinic.

Dr. G. Murray Fraser, M.O.H., is in attendance at the clinics, and is assisted by Miss Mamie Foote, nurse-in-charge, who has three volunteer helpers, Mrs. F. Rappee, Mrs. G. McFarland and Miss Marjorie Best. No treatments are given, but instructions and advice freely, following the purpose for which the organization was formed, that of teaching young mothers the proper feeding and car of their children up to four years of age. Where medical attention is necessary, cases are referred to the family physician. Lately inoculations have been given against scarlet fever and diphtheria to children up to school age.

Literature dealing with every aspect of child welfare is also given out, not the least of Miss Foote's duties is to make 'follow-up' calls at the homes in order to keep in touch and watch the progress of the children.

Started in 1920.

This splendid organization has been functioning in Peterborough since the year 1920 when its formation realized a dream of the late Dr. Jessie Birnie, who saw its urgent need, and was its first medical supervisor. During the first years the clinics were held in the Canadian Legion Hall, but were moved three years ago to the Department of Health offices.

Twelve women sit on the board of management, the present board including several of those ladies who were active in its first organization and have continued so through the years, notably Mrs. Robert Harstone, Mrs. F. C. Neal, Mrs. Arthur Stevenson and Mrs. Joseph Mills. The late Mrs. James Kendry was the first president, with Mrs. Neal as secretary. The present board includes Mrs. Joseph Mills as president, Miss A. Wood, secretary, Mrs. F. C. Neal, treasurer, and the following ladies, Mrs. L. J. Le Clair, Mrs. H. G. Walker, Mrs. Helson, Mrs. H. M. Yelland, Mrs. R Harstone, Mrs A. Stevenson, Mrs. W. E. Conway, Mrs. T. P. McCullough, Mrs. F Rappee and Miss M Best

A noticeable difference has been observed in the condition of infants brought to the clinics thrcugh the years. Dirty, untidy and worst of all, emaciated children are no longer usual sights, showing the value of educational work among the young mothers. The children of to-day are far better kept, and rarely is an undernourished child seen. Over 650 were given the attention of the clinics during last year, and when the numbers that have added up through the years are considered it is realized that a young battalion must be growing to maturity in Peterborough of happier, healthier childhood through the efforts of this organization.

Many A Man
Has escaped a nervous breakdown

It is now becoming generally known, by word of mouth from one person to another, that scores of nervous, worried business men attribute their escape from nervous collapse to the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Business cares and worries of recent years have made men old before their time. Almost daily you read of prominent men dropping out in the very prime of life.

Others have survived, because they learned in time of a way to restore nerve force to the body. As a result, weak, halting vital organs have again assumed their natural functions. Rest and sleep have become possible, and mind and body have been restored to normal. If you find yourself slipping ask your friends about Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. In almost every family there is some one who has profited by use of this modern restorative.

Miss Gwendolyn Varcoe Wins First Place In Amateur Show

Roseneath United Church Sponsoring Elimination Series For Northumberland

(Examiner Correspondence.)

ROSENEATH, May 17. — Evidently Friday the 13th was not regarded as a day of ill-omen to the young aspirants to radio fame appearing at the elimination contest last week in the Town Hall, Roseneath. The contest, under the auspices of the United Church, Roseneath, was held to determine who among the contestants from Ainwick Township would be eligible to appear at the final contest for Northumberland County to be held on June 8 at Roseneath. Ken Soble of Toronto will be master of ceremonies on that occasion, and will present the winner over station CFRB in Toronto.

The first place on Friday was won by Miss Gwendolyn Varcoe, Roseneath, who sang a combination of "Some Day My Prince Will Come" and "Your Eyes Have Told Me So." Second place was won by Miss Jessie Smith and Oral George singing a duet, "Be Nobody's Darling But Mine," Miss Smith playing guitar accompaniment. Miss Joan McGrath was placed third — Joan danced to the musical setting "Bye-bye Blues."

Honorable mention was made of Audrey Scott, who sang "My Sweetheart's the Man in the Moon." Considering Audrey is just six years old her rendering of the song was remarkable. There were two more contestants. Renslow Joice sang "The Rose of Tralee," followed by "There's a Gold Mine in the Sky." Mr. Joice played a guitar accompaniment for the second number. Catherine Hugh, the sixth contestant, contributed a tap-dance. The accompanists on the piano were Mrs. C. W. Varcoe, Mrs. S. Thackeray, and Mrs. L. W. Scott.

The program was divided in three parts. Parts one and three were contributed by guest artists, also those competing, who offered additional numbers. George Turner, chairman of the Board of Stewards, was master of ceremonies. While the audience gathered Lorne Anderson played piano selections, also contributing a number later on in the program.

Opening Numbers.

Part one of the program opened with a song, "Nineteen Years Old," sung by Elmer Harper, who played guitar accompaniment also. A saxophone solo, "Is It True What They Say About Dixie," played by Morris McGrath and a reading "Speak Up, Ike and 'Spress Yo'self," by Rev. L. W. Scott, completed part one.

The second part of the program was the amateur hour. Following this the judges retired to reach a decision, and part three followed. Renslow Joice and Mrs. S. Thackeray entertained with harmonica and piano duets. Mrs. L. Tucker delivered a monologue, "White Carnations," assisted by Mrs. D. Brisbin with a short musical portion of the number. Miss Joan McGrath and Gwendolyn Varcoe sang and yodelled "I'm Goin' to Ride to Heaven on a Stream-lined Train," Joan playing guitar accompaniment, responding to an encore they sang "There's a Gold Mine in the Sky." Elmer Harper sang "Roll On, Little Doggies, Roll On." Morris McGath played saxaphone numbers including "When My Dream Boat Comes Home" and a medley of "Gipsy Doodle" and "Dinah."

The decision of the judges was announced by Rev. F. W. Newell of Hastings. Mr. Newell's assistant judges were Miss Doxsee and Mrs.

Visit By Henlein Only Private

LONDON, May 17—(CP-Havas). —No member of the British government talked with Konrad Henlein, leader of the German minority in Czechoslovakia, during his week-end visit to London, Richard Butler, Under-Secretary for Foreign Affairs, said to-day in the House of Commons in response to a question from Vyvyan Adams, Conservative.,

"I am aware that Herr Henlein paid a visit to this country," Mr. Butler replied. "The visit was, I understand, a purely private one."

"Herr Henlein was not received by any member of the government. I may add in particular that the report of a meeting between the Secretary of State for the Dominions and Herr Henline is without foundataion."

CENTENARY W.A. TO AID EXPENSES OF UNITED CHURCH

(Examiner Correspondence.)

ROSENEATH, May 17—The regular meeting of the Women's Auxiliary of Centenary was held in the United Church on Thursday afternoon. Miss Teressa Dowler, president, presided. During the opening exercises Miss Hilda Arthur read the scripture. During the business period the president reported receipts of $3 from stock sales. Miss Jessie Sherwin volunteered to assemble quilt blocks, ready for quilting. It was decided, on motion, to donate $20 towards church expenses. The secretary, Mrs. Walton Lean, was instructed to forward fruit to a member who is ill and Mrs. Frank Dowler offered her home for the June meeting.

An interesting short program was in charge of Miss Emma Sherwin. A mother's hymn of praise, was read by Mrs. Wellington Dowler. Something different, a guessing contest, was won by Mrs. V. Lean. A reading, "If I Had Known, read by Mrs. Dawson Timlin, concluded this period. Refreshments were served at the close.

St. James' W.A.

At the regular meeting of the W.A. of St. James' Anglican Church held at the home of Mrs. W. Houghtailing, various reports were read and confirmed, a quilt donated to the bale by Miss L. Coyle, and a donation of two dozen eggs or equivalent of same received. On motion the treasurer was instructed to place new ribbon book-markers in the church bibles. Mrs. J. T. Drope and Mrs. W. Houghtailing volunteered to plant the flower beds at the church.

A portion of the study book was condensed and presented by Mrs. J. L. Timlin. The rector, Rev. W. Stocks, gave a short talk on the recent meeting of the synod. Mrs. Ross McCracken offered her home for the June meeting and the rector closed the meeting repeating the Litany, and refreshments were served by the hostess. The president, Mrs. E. Timlin, presided.

Personals

Mrs. Joseph King of Carstairs, Alberta, her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Fred George of Calgary, visited their relatives, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Varcoe, last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Baptie of Norwood visited their relatives, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Braithwaite and Mr. and Mrs. Harold George on Sunday.

Miss Olive Box of Port Hope is a week-end guest of her friend, Miss Geraldine Hugh.

Mrs. James Elliott of Baltimore was a week-end guest of Mrs. Lillie Turner and Mr. and Mrs. George Turner.

Mrs. Donald Yule and daughter, Reta, and Mrs. George Sykes and daughter, Donna, of Warkworth, visited Mrs. W. Houghtailing during the week.

LAKEFIELD

Over Sunday, May 7, Mrs. H. J. Sutton, and Mrs. Don Kidd of Toronto visited in Lakefield with friends.

Dr. and Mrs. J. C. Smith of Lakefield were in Kingston last Friday, May 13, where they attended the Graduation Exercises at Queen's University, Kingston.

Mr. Walter Spence spent a few days in Niagara Falls last week.

Mrs. S. J. Gibson and Miss Loretta Gibson of Toronto spent the past week-end in Lakefield. They were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Hilliard McCracken.

Chas. J. Tanner left on Saturday for Pickle Crow Mine, where he has obtained a position for the summer. Mr. Tanner received word before he left that he had been successful in passing the third year examination in mining at Queen's University.

Miss Vera Moore of Whitby Ladies' College, Whitby, spent the week-end in Lakefield at her home.

B. Scriver, organist and member respectively of Hastings United Church choir, and J. B. Wilson, editor of the Hastings Star. The prizes were donated by C. Brown, L. E. Down, and M. D. Brown, village merchants.

Ellsworth To Return To Antarctic

QUEBEC GROUP ASKS FOR BILINGUALISM

QUEBEC, May 17 — (CP). — strongly-worded plea for full recognition of minority rights under confederation—especially nation-wide bilingualism and separate schools—was made before the Rowell Commission today in its final Quebec session.

The present "dangerous state of tension" in Canada's constitutional structure was due in part to "school difficulties" in various provinces and denial to French-Canadians of their "integral rights to their language," according to the permanent committee of the French language congresses in America. The committee's presentation was supplemented with submissions by affiliated organizations in Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and the Maritime provinces.

"French-Canadians, anywhere in in Canada, are in their motherland," the committee said, "They were the discoverers, the first occupants and the first settlers of our country.

"The arrival of men speaking another tongue and the change of allegiance should not obscure the history of the discovery and the first settlements."

Just An Organization?

Centralization of authority over social legislation would only accentuate that state of tension, in the committee's view. Certain constitutional amendments would have disastrous effect on the civil law of Quebec and, as a result, on the social and economic life of the province, it submitted.

"Generally, the committee feels that it would be dangerous to vest in the federal authority what is termed as social legislation or labor legislation." it said. "Provinces are not industrialized to the same extent. Each province has its own special conditions."

The committee held that all the provinces should co-operate with the federal government, not only to eliminate any friction which might destroy Canada's political structure, but also to strengthen bonds of national unity.

RECKLESS DRIVER NABBED

AURORA, Ont., May 17—(CP).—Gordon J. Maybee of Toronto was arrested on charge of reckless driving and failing to remain at the scene of an accident yesterday as he emerged on No. 11 highway from a swamp along the Holland River.

Maybee is alleged to have fled after a collision of his automobile and one driven by William Hoarsley of Downsview on No. 11 highway. Maybee's car skidded 250 feet and somersaulted twice, police said.

No Dictatorship With Free Press

KANSAS CITY, May 17 (AP).—Mrs. Josiah F. Price, former president of the Canadian Women's Press Club, told the General Federation of Women's Clubs here to-day that "as long as there is a free press there can be no dictatorship."

"The freedom of the press is the main expression of a free democracy," Mrs. Price, of Vancouver, B.C., said in an address prepared for delivery before the federation's convention.

"We have only to note the growing enslavement of the press of Europe to stand on guard for that freedom on this continent."

Mrs. Price urged that Canada and the United States stand firm for the recognition of freedom of expression, adding: "The freedom of the Anglo-Saxon people is bound up in the freedom of the press. It is the most potent instrument for liberty and world peace today."

AIR COMMISSION SEES MACKENZIE

OTTAWA, May 17 — (CP). —The British Air Mission, headed by Commander J. G. Weir, conferred with Defence Minister Ian Mackenzie for two hours today. With the mission was a representative of Sir Francis Floud, British High Commissioner.

Details of what transpired were carefully guarded. But it was elicited from a brief press statement issued at the close of the conference that the mission would not survey Canadian aircraft plants. They hope, however, to see "the representatives of all firms interested in aircraft production" in Canada.

The statement from the department was brief. It said:

"The British Air Ministry Mission which has been in the United States called at the Department of National Defence this morning.

"The mission is devoting its time in the first place to examining the complete information already available. Before leaving Canada, they hope to see the representatives of all firms interested in aircraft production; but in view of the complete information already available, and the short time at their disposal, the mission do not deem it necessary at this stage to visit the various plants concerned."

The mission will stay in Ottawa for two or three days.

WARSAW INSTITUTE ELECTS OFFICERS FOR CURRENT YEAR

(Examiner Correspondence.)

WARSAW, May 17.—Warsaw Women's Institute annual meeting was held in the Institute rooms on Thursday afternoon. The president, Mrs. G. G. Weller in the chair. Reports were read which showed a good standing, there was a discussion on classes. It was decided to ask for quilts and quilting, slip cover making or glove making.

It was decided to hold Friday, May 20, as clean-up day by which time it is asked that the village people have their rubbish ready and a truck will be engaged by the Branch to fall for it. It was also decided to ask the council to have a general dumping ground in some inconspicuous place and forbid dumping rubbish any place on the roadsides.

Mr. G. G. Taylor sent a message in which he kindly offered to turn on the water for the cenotaph flowers, which was gratefully accepted.

The Institute curtains and screens are being badly wracked. They have been lent gratis to churches and schools. It was decided to make a small charge hereafter before loaning them, 75c for curtains and $1.50 for full equipment. The shirt patches were opened and $12.65 found. The girls of the "Milky Way" class will put on their exhibit, and give a demonstration of some of their work at the June meeting.

The district annual will be held at Havelock on Friday, May 27. All who plan to go are requested to leave their names with the secretary, Mrs. Charlotte Cooper by Monday, May 22, so that arrangements can be made in time for transportation. Those who have red geraniums for the cenotaph plot are asked to leave them with Mrs. Charlotte Cooper.

Then came the annual trial-election of president and other officers, Mrs. Weller had let it be known she would not act again, as she had held it for several year. After much delay and several absolute refusals Mrs. Weller consented to carry on for a time. She is a splendid president. Mrs. Charlotte Cooper was quite willing to continue in her office as secretary-treasurer. Old officers were all re-elected.

"I'm a long distance operator. I don't know how many thousand calls I've handled, but I still get a thrill out of it. Here I sit at my switchboard—you, in your home or office, decide that you want to talk to someone who may be many miles away. I say a few words, make a few simple movements with my hands and—Presto!—here's your party. Is it any wonder I sometimes feel like a magician?"

Business men, too, have found magic in long distance—magic that gets more business done in quick time at less cost. They make all kinds of contacts—use it in a score of ways—and get amazing results.

Let us tell you about them!

Reductions in telephone rates—local and long distance—in 1935, '36 and '37 have effected savings to telephone users in Ontario and Quebec of nearly one million dollars yearly.

CITIZENS FLEE AS JAPS POUND SUCHOW WALLS

Desperate Resistance Surprises Jap Invaders And Delays City's Fall

SHANGHAI, May 18 (AP)—Desperate Chinese resistance held Japanese assault units well away from the walls of battered Suchow tonight while Chinese reported other Japanese forces in the Tangshan sector, 50 miles west of Suchow, had been thrown back.

A Chinese communique said the defenders of the vital Lunghai railway had launched a counter-offensive south of Tangshan and driven a Japanese column there amost back to Yungcheng, in Honan province.

Earlier Japanese reports said all General Chiang Kai-Shek's Central Government troops had been withdrawn from Suchow.

The government troops, the Japanese reported, were removed from Suchow before the invaders cut the Lunghai railway and encircled the city. These forces were said to be moving into position around Kweiteh and Kaifeng, west of the important junction of the Lunghai and Tientsin-Pukow railways, preparing for expected attacks there.

It was reported, however, that about 250,000 Chinese troops, mostly provincials, were trapped in the Japanese ring about Suchow with many trying to escape.

Thousands of soldiers and civilians were said to have left the city by the east gate, pouring through the countryside to avoid the Japanese columns closing in on all sides.

A Japanese communique said the west wall already had been seriously damaged by a systematic bombardment from hill positions a few miles away. Concentration of the shelling on this side indicated the infantry intened to attack there.

The closest Japanese columns were approaching from the west, northwest and southwest. A large infantry force was reported attacking Sleeping Ox Mountain, just west of Suchow.

LOAN "SOLD OUT" UNDER HALF HOUR

OTTAWA, May 18 (C.P.). — The new $140,000,000 Dominion of Canada loan which went on the market to-day was over-subscribed half an hour after the books opened, the Finance Department announced.

The official announcement said: "The subscription books of the new Dominion of Canada loan which opened at nine o'clock this morning were closed at nine-thirty (Eastern Daylight Time) in respect of cash and conversion subscriptions for both maturities of the new loan. The loan was over-subscribed. When subscriptions have been allotted information will be released in regard to the allotments in each of the two maturities of the new loan."

The loan was for a maximum of $140,000,000 of which $90,000,000 was conversion and $50,000,000 cash subscriptions.

It took the form of a six-year, two-per-cent. bonds due June 1, 1944, priced at 99.375 and accrued interest, to yield approximately 2.11 per cent. to maturity, and 20-year three-per-cent. bonds due June 1, 1958, priced at 99 and accrued interest, to yield approximately 3.07 per cent. to maturity.

Cornwall Mills Quit Council

CORNWALL, Ont., May 18 (C.P.)—Final results of ballot taken through three mills of Canadian Cottons Limited here yesterday and last night, showed 80 per cent. of the company's 1,500 employees in favor of Cotton Workers' Union, Federal Local 2, as sole bargaining agency representing its membership, it was announced to-day.

Before signing an agreement recognizing Federal Local 2, the company required that a secret ballot be taken, that the majority of the workers vote in favor, that all members of such a union be company employees, and that while the union may retain affiliation with the Canadian Trades and Labor Congress, it must be dissociated from the National Textile Council and its officers. The company also required that union members will not intimidate or coerce present employees to join the union.

Los Angeles, May 18 (AP)

MARTHA RAYE is determined that the public regard her no longer as a wide-mouthed comedienne, but as a glamour girl with elegant legs.

She said so in a suit asking an injunction to restrain a picture magazine from possibly publishing a photograph of her and a chimpanzee smiling large and toothy smiles.

Miss Raye's complaint said that the picture was taken two years ago. Since, she boasted, she has entered "higher spheres of culture' 'and is renowned for the 'shapeliness and elegance of her legs."

Doukhobors To Lose All Their Land

Vancouver, May 18 (CP)

MR. JUSTICE A. M. Manson in Supreme Court yesterday granted leave to National Trust Company, Ltd., to start an action to foreclose Doukhobor-owned lands in British Columbia, Alberta and Saskatchewan.

The suit concerns a $350,000 debenture charge against 5,600 acres of land in British Columbia, 11,000 acres in Alberta, and 13,000 in Saskatchewan, all owned by the Christian Community of Universal Brotherhood, a part of the Russian religious sect of Doukhobors.

FRANCE CALLS UP 60,000 MORE MEN TO GUARD AFRICA

PARIS, May 18—(AP)—France moved to reinforce her African defences today as her friendship conversations with Italy were reported in diplomatic circles to have bogged down over differences on Spain and Tunisia.

Recruiting of 60,000 additional native troops was ordered started immediately by General Jules Buhrer, new chief of staff of colonial armies. France's colonial forces now number 120,000, of which 60,000 are Europeans.

Diplomats reported conversations between Jules Blondel, French charge d'affaires in Rome, and the Italian foreign minister, Count Galeazzo Ciano, had come to a deadlock because of Premier Mussolini's demands that France recognize General Franco as the master of all Spain and assure Italy equal governing rights in the Tunisian protectorate.

The turn in the conversations, looking toward an agreement similar to the Anglo-Italian accord, followed Mussolini's Genoa speech Saturday in which he expressed doubt whether France and Italy could arrive at an agreement.

Sources close to the foreign office said Premier Edouard Daladier's government refused to give Italy any pledge regarding the Spanish conflict and that France considered the question of Italian rights in Tunisia settled long ago.

Although Tunisia is a French protectorate, there are 91,000 Italian settlers there—about the same number as the French have. Italians in Tunisia retain their Italian citizenship and send their children to Italian schools. They have no voice in government, which is controlled by a French resident general.

15 Seamen Desert From Cruiser

HONG KONG, May 18. — (CP-Reuters)—Fifteen seamen deserted H.M.S. Dorsetshire while the cruiser was visiting Australian ports in connection with Sydney's 150th anniversary celebrations, it was disclosed to-day. Four of the deserters are being brought here from Australia.

When the Dorsetshire was off Queensland earl ythis month, it was learned, leading seaman Robert Dickinson was found shot in his bunk. Another seaman was placed under naval arrest.

Mart For 200,000 Cattle Looms

Gardiner Lauded On All Sides for Cold Storage Plan Of Steady Shipments to England

OTTAWA, May 18 (CP).—A steady export business of 200,000 head of cattle a year, fresh killed and sent to the United Kingdom in refrigerated boats, is envisioned by Agriculture Minister Gardiner.

Enthusiastic approval of the project came from all sides as the minister outlined it in the House of Commons yesterday but from many members, representing inland constituencies as well as the Maritime provinces, came protest at the proposal that these cattle should be killed in Toronto.

Mr. Gardiner told of arrangements to ship 2 head of fresh killed cattle weekly in refrigerated vessels as an experiment to ascertain if this beef could compete successfully with chilled beef from the Argentine.

Earlier Harry Leader (Lib, Portage La Prairie) had referred to early experiments along this line and suggested the killing should be done at Saint John or some other Atlantic port. Experiments carried out had proven that Montreal-killed beef had competed successfully with Argentine beef at Smithfield market in London.

Mr. Gardiner said it was not alone the lack of facilities for killing at an Atlantic port that prompted the choice of Toronto but that the Ontario city was the concentration point where an adequate supply would always be available.

Restaurants charged as high as $1.50 a pound for a serving of steak that cost 35 cents a pound at the butchers, Mr. Leader said in open-

BRITAIN BUYING SCRAP

LONDON, May 18 (C.P.-Havas)—The British Government plans to accumulate a stock of 600,000 to 1,000,000 tons of cast-iron for possible use in the event of war, The Daily Express reported to-day.

BRITAIN SEEKING MORE AIR TRAFFIC DOUBLES SUBSIDY

LONDON, May 18.—(CP Cable)—Great Britain is to make a bolder bid for air traffic. Under a bill, second reading of which Sir Kingsley Wood, the new secretary for air, moved in the House of Commons today, government subsidies to civil air transport are to be doubled, from £1,500,000 ($7,500,000 to £3,000,000 ($15,000,000).

The bill opens a new chapter in British civil aviation. All countries, Sir Kingsley indicated, have found it necessary to subsidize air transport.

"I do not think there is any doubt that more money is needed if this country is to occupy its proper position," the minister declared.

Better Canadian Service

Additional financial assistance for services outside Europe will be approximately £1,000,000, of which the greater part will go into the endeavor to link together scattered points of the vast empire. In conjunction with the dominions extra services are planned to Canada. Development of the Australian service is in view. There also is the trans-Pacific project.

Of the vote provided, £400,000 is to be set aside for improved services between London and European capitals—daily service to Berlin, Amsterdam, Praha, Vienna, Budapest, Oslo, and Libson, with establishment of an all-year-round service to Switzerland.

The government desires that aircraft used should be 100 per cent. British. Assistance will be given British internal services on the clear understanding that the companies will make an effort to become self-sustaining, accept liability and agree to the appointment of government directors. A further condition is that 75 per cent. of the pilots be on the air force reserve.

Britain Arms Channel Mouth Used By Spanish Armada

Chancing No Repetition Of 1588 Attack Since Foreign Intervention In Spain

LONDON, May 18 (AP)—A naval base is being built on the island of Portland to guard the western mouth of the English Channel from any attack from Spanish ports.

The base, to protect an approach used by the ill-fated Spanish Armada of 1588, has long been a secondary defence asset but achieved primary importance as a result of foreign intervention in the Spanish war and the theory that a hostile power might use Spanish ports for wartime operations.

Modernization and extension of the harbor and dockyard at Portland is under way. Naval air squadrons soon will take over a large part of the island, including the military citadel known as the Verne, normally garrisoned by the army.

Britain's largest warships can anchor in the harbor, entering and leaving whatever the state of the tide. The defence force probably will be mostly light torpedo boats, however, since they are better suited to the narrow waters of the channel.

Already the site of the navy's anti-submarine school, Portland soon will be the chief anti-submarine base, sheltering a powerful force of swift motor torpedo boats, submarines and bombing planes. Naval experts believe a fleet of small ships might "worry" an invading fleet much as the Spanish Armada was harried 350 years ago.

Found By Police Bottom Forced And $422 Missing

Office Lakefield Creamery Broken Into During Night; Police Comb Roads, Locate Safe and $811.84 in Cheques

Thieves broke into the office of the Lakefield Creamery early this Wednesday morning, carried off a 300 pound safe and got away with $422.21 in cash and $811.84 in cheques. The latter were recovered later by Provincial Constable David Silvester, and Constable Wallace Hendren of Lakefield, on the Young's Point road near the 11th concession of Smith, with the stolen safe lying beside the road a few yards farther on.

Entrance into the creamery office had been gained by lifting a window with a tire iron. Once inside the thieves had lifted a small cash register and an adding machine off the top of the safe and then taken the latter out through the side door of the office.

The robbery was discovered about 1:30 o'clock by Victor Brown who noticed the side door of the place was opened and notified Charles H. Hunter, proprietor of the creamery. He in turn informed Constable Hendren and shortly before 2 o'clock Provincial Constable Silvester was told of the robbery and in a few minutes a hunt in which Provincial Officers Silvester, McClure and Broughton co-operated with the city police was organized. All roads leading into Peterborough were patrolled and the officers travelled many miles over the district in an effort to locate the robbers.

Constable Silvester with Constable Hendren of Lakefield had covered half a dozen roads in the neighborhood of Lakefield before their search was finally rewarded at 5:30 o'clock this morning when, as they drove along the road to Young's Point on the Smith side of Lake Katchewanooka, they saw a number of papers strewn along the side of the road. These proved to be the stolen cheques and about 75 yards further along the road the safe was located. The bottom had been forced open so that the thieves could gain access to the cash box.

CODRINGTON GIRL'S BIGAMIST HUBBY IS JAILED 3 YEARS

COBOURG, Ont., May 18.—(CP).—Edmond Gordon of Windsor, Ont., was sentenced to three years in penitentiary when he was convicted yesterday by Magistrate W. A. F. Campbell on a charge of bigamy. The sentence was reduced from seven years by the Magistrate.

Gordon said he had domestic trouble with his wife in 1921 and left her. Believing her dead he married an 18-year-old Codrington girl last September, he said.

"You were old enough to be her father," the magistrate said. "There is to much of this going on; women and children being cast adrift in the world. The Attorney-General is right in taking a strong hand in the matter."

Police evidence was introduced relating to three charges of fraud following the "wedding" last year. Gordon served a reformatory term for issuing worthless cheques to a taxi driver who drove the wedding party, a merchant who sold him wedding garments, and a photographer who took a picture of the nuptial group. He also gave a false cheque to the officiating clergyman, according to Provincial Constable A. L. Mennie.

MISSING AIRLINER IS FOUND BURNED WITH ALL 9 DEAD

LOS ANGELES, May 18 (A.P.).—The Sheriff's Office received a report from a Mint Canyon rancher to-day that he had sighted the charred wreckage of the missing Lockheed air liner an dall nine persons aboard were dead.

The discovery was made by Walter Peterson 20 miles north of Saugus and 1½ miles off the Mint Canyon Highway in Rugged area where a two-day search, hampered by fog, had been in progress.

Peterson said the plane "was all burned up." He peered inside the cabin, he said, and counted seven bodies. The two child passengers escaped his notice.

He reached the crash scene in the brush-covered, low-sloping hills about 5.30 a.m. (9.30 a.m. E.D.T.), having decided to make a search after a neighbor woman told him last night of hearing an airplane on Monday afternoon.

Couldn't See 100 Yards.

The fog on Monday was so thick, he said, that it was probable the burning craft could not have been seen 100 yards away.

The lost craft, a re-designed Lockheed "14," had been purchased by North-West Airlines for $80,000. It left Union Air Terminal at Burbank on Monday and was scheduled to stop at Las Vegas, Nev., on the first leg of a delivery flight to St. Paul, Minn.

Sid Willey, Lockheed test pilot, charted a "short cut route" over the mountains to the Mojave Desert, planning to fly contact with the earth. He took off a few minutes ahead of a Western Air Express transport, which safely completed a regular commercial trip on a triangular radio-beam course.

Mountie Scalded As Still Spits

CORNWALL, Ont. ,May 18—(CP)—Corporal C. W. Graham of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police was severely scalded last night when a seized still exploded while he was examining it. He suffered great pain as he was rushed nine miles to Cornwall for medical treatment.

With R.C.M.P. Constable Henri D'Aoust and Provincial Constable A. R. Macleod, Graham found a small still in operation in woodcutters' hut in the bushe near Northfield Station. He was examining the condenser when steam spurted out in his face. Four men arrested on charges of operating the still appeared before Magistrate P. C. Bergeron today and were remanded one week. They were not asked to plead, and were released on their own recognizance.

Grotrian Hall, one of London's oldest concert halls, will be razed.

"Joke" Sends Four To Hospital As Italian Poisons Wine

Sees Two Drop, Tries To Stab Self—Friends Injured Going For Aid

KALGOORLIE, Australia, May 18—(CP-Reuters).—A practical joke that ended with four people in hospital is reported from Gwalia, 160 miles from Kalgoorlie.

A 34-year-old unemployed Italian miner, Felica Amanasco, was drinking wine with his landlady and another boarder, according to the police account. For a joke, Amanasco put what he thought was alum in their wine, to make it taste sour. After drinking the wine, however, the two fell to the ground unconscious. They had been poisoned.

Overcome with remorse, he seized a butcher's knife and tried to stab himself through the heart. A bone deflected the blade and he succeeded only in making a deep gash over his heart.

In the meantime two other Italians also living in the boarding house went off to seek medical aid. The car in which they were driving collided with another, and one of the Italians was seriously injured.

The four victims of this practical "joke" are now in hospital where it is stated they will all recover.

Germans Send Army After June Bugs

Berlin, May 18 (AP)

ARMY GARRISONS in the Province of Mecklenburg have been mobilized to wage war on June bugs, which a prolonged hot spell wave brought out in legions. The plague extends throughout all of Central Germany, especially in Schleswig-Holstein and Thuringia, where Nazi Storm Troopers, Hitler Youths, and fire brigade volunteers have been called out to exterminate the insects.

1,000 AT SHOW OF TELEVISION, DISAPPOINTED

Convinced Radio Service Has Long Way to Go Yet, Images Cause Eye Strain

NEW YORK, May 18—(CP)—The United States radio industry is advancing steadily toward inauguration of a television service for the home, but it still has a long way to go before the goal of perfection is reached.

This was the consensus of about 1,000 person who sat in last night when the National Broadcasting Company and Radio Corporation of America brought their all-electronic television system out the laboratory after a seven-months' hibernation.

In a special demonstration for the press, N.B.C. and R.C.A. broadcast a mystery drama from Radio City. The presentation required three studios and four distinct techniques. The main action was performed by a cast of seven actors, but auxiliary media in the form of motion pictures, still slides and special television effects were contributed.

The program was carried by underground coaxial cable from the Radio City skyscraper to the Empire State building, less than a mile away. It went out over a television transmitter located on the 85th floor of the Empire State building. Back in Radio City, press representatives sat before 15 television sets and for 25 minutes watched the drama unfold on a plate-screen 7½-by-10 inches.

Blending of the film and live action was accomplished ingenuously and the images projected on the screen were generally sharp and without distortion. However, the tonal effects were not so clear as in ordinary broadcasting and the small images caused eye strain.

PRIVATE FISHING TO BE SUPERVISED

TORONTO, May 18.—(CP).—Supervision of the leasing of private fishing waters in Ontario is planned by the Ontario Department of Game and Fisheries, Hon. Harry Nixon indicated to-day.

The Department, he said, was "disturbed' 'about the amount of waters being leased to wealthy individuals and clubs and he argued that it was unfair that the best waters of the province should be tied up by a privileged few.

Mr. Nixon explained he would probably recommend to the Fish and Game Committee of the Legislature that all leases of private waters should be submitted to the Department for approval. In that way, he said, the Department could prevent large areas being tied up for the exclusive use of "a few selfish individuals."

There was one case this season, he said, in which virtually a whole county was "posted" by a small group of individuals who assessed $10 per rod for the right to fish the area.

Mr. Nixon also reported several large seizures of undersized trout recently. E. L. Skuce, game warden in the Powassan area, had made five seizures totalling 236 trout, Mr. Nixon said, and only one fish was within the seven-inch legal limit.

Cardiff Proceeds Going To U.S.

LONDON, May 18—(AP)— Lord Robert Crichton-Stuart, son of the Marques of Bute, whose sale of property in Cardiff, Wales, yesterday was one of the biggest real estate deals in history, sailed today for the United States aboard the Queen Mary.

Final details of the sale were hastened to allow Lord Bute's 29-year-old son to leave. With his brother, the Earl of Dumfries, Lord Robert directs most of his father's properties.

Some reports, not confirmed, said Lord Robert planned to invest some of the proceeds of the sale in United States securities which he is believed to regard now especially as bargains.

Over 90,000 season tickets to the Empire Exhibition in Glasgow, Scotland, were sold before the gates opened.

'Kid' Lets Girl Talk Him Out Of Holdup And He Flees Minus His $1 'Bait'

Toronto, May 18 (CP)

The man tendered a dollar bill in payment for a pair of hose and when the girl clerk went to open the cash register he grabbed it, only to find it empty.

He argued with the girl and got a small amount of cash, but the clerk, Miss Marion Hart, talked him out of it. "He was just a kid and didn't know what he was doing," she said. "He was terribly nervous."

The man, believed to be the same bandit who got small sums in the hold-up of two other hosiery stores in the past few days, fled without his dollar bill.

CROWD CHASES RELIEF OFFICER, TRIO ARRESTED

Mob of 600 Windsorites Gets Unruly at City Hall; Police Reserves Called

WINDSOR, Ont., May 18.—(CP).—Three men faced charges of unlawful assembly to-day following a disturbance by a crowd of 600 in front of city hall last night, which brought out police reserves who feared injury to Provincial Welfare Inspector Walter Weese.

The gathering, which stood about in a driving rain for more than three hours, became unruly after city council approved a 20 per cent. reduction in relief which Mayor E. S. Wigle said had been asked by the Ontario Welfare Department.

The three men and a woman were taken into custody when they allegedly sought to interfere with police officers escorting Weese from the meeting to his car. Men arrested for unlawful assembly charges were Charles Newbury, Harry Burleigh and Anthony Goetz.

No charge was laid against the woman last night and she was released after being treated for a hysterical condition. Police said, however, that the woman would be asked to appear in police court to-day, along with the men.

According to eye-witnesses, the woman was alleged to have stretched out her hand as Weese passed and left a smear of cold cream or grease on his face. She later told police she had been pushed "by another woman."

Weese and his protecting officers broke into a run as the crowd streamed after them across the city hall lawn. Police held the crowd off while Weese drove away, then held the four. A large crowd followed the officers, heckling and demanding the four be released.

Several groups of city and welfare officials had preceded Weese from the building, including David A. Croll, Liberal member of the On-

CAMPBELLFORD

YOUTH ARRESTED ON THEFT CHARGE

(Examiner Correspondence.)

CAMPBELLFORD, May 18.—A Campbellford youth was arrested Tuesday morning by Provincial Constable D. G. Campbell who took him to Cobourg where he will face charges of entering and theft. The boy is alleged to have stolen half a ton of scrap wire owned by the Bell Telephone Company and kept in a warehouse on Ranney street. The wire had been placed in the warehouse following the installation of a new underground cable system in town. The theft was thought to have been made on Sunday with the aid of a large closed car in which the scrap wire was taken to a farm yard about one mile south of Wooler. The wire when sold as scrap will bring from six to seven cents a pound. So far as can be learned no attempt had been made to sell the wire, and although two other youths are suspected of being a party to the theft no other arrests have been made.

NO TROUBLE SIGNS IN QUINTS' TEETH

TORONTO, May 18—(CP).—Casts taken of the teeth of the nearly-four-year-old Dionne quintuplets drew wide attention today at the Ontario Dental Association annual convention. Two sets are shown in a display by the University of Toronto's Faculty of Dentistry.

One set was taken when the famed little girls—who will be four May 28—were two years old, the second a year later. Dr. A. D. Mason, dean of the University's dentist faculty, told delegates the casts showed perfect formation. He considered it unlikely the quints would have any trouble with their teeth in the near future.

To the eyes of the experts at the convention the casts showed that two of the girls had certain faults in the structure of their teeth when the first cast was taken. It was believed they might have been due to mouth-breathing or thumb-sucking. When the second cast was taken the faults were not so evident.

Duncan McArthur, Ontario Deputy Minister of Education, told delegates there was a need in Canada for more independent thinking and said that only in schools can be laid a foundation for willingness to assume responsibility.

The Deputy Minister said indifference and a tendency to take principles of self-government and democracy for granted presented an immediate danger in Canada. He claimed in such tendencies lay a fertile ground for dictatorship.

BILL AND GERTIE PART

CHATHAM, Ont., May 18.—(CP)—Bill and Gertie have been separated. Bill, a handsome horse, was purchased by Chatham City Council less than two months ago to help Gertie pull a garbage wagon. But Bill was too high-spirited for his job. He induced Gertie to run away with him recently, but they were both attached to the wagon, and Bill got into difficulties with the whiffletree, and was lamed. Council are purchasing another horse to help Gertie, and Bill will be sold as soon as he recovers from his wounds.

ONTARIO POTATO GRADING "CRIME" SAYS TORONTO M.P.

OTTAWA, May 18 (CP). — Nova Scotia apple growers had not learned to "pack an honest package," British Columbia was once as bad but had improved, and potato grading in Ontario was a "crime," David Spence (Con., Toronto-Parkdale) told the House of Commons Tuesday.

During consideration of a vote of $555,000 for the fruit and vegetable division, Agriculture Department, Mr. Spence criticized the government for having too many fruit inspectors in the Maritime Provinces and British Columbia and not enough in Ontario.

"You cannot make farmers honest," Mr. Spence, formerly a produce merchant, declared. "If they do not want to be honest the inspectors cannot force them to be. And no one can find a market except by shipping an honest package. It does not matter how many inspectors you have on the job.

Too Many Inspectors?

"There are 42 inspectors in Prince Edward Island, 88 in Nova Scotia, 43 in New Brunswick, 92 in British Columbia and 77 in Ontario. Can anyone tell me what justification there is for 42 inspectors in Prince Edward Island?" Mr. Spence asked.

"Just part time," Agriculture Minister Gardiner interjected.

"They are just chasing each other around the island, doing nothing at all. The growers there are to be congratulated because they need practically no inspectors at all. Their packing and grading are so perfect they have made markets for themselves in all parts of the world.

"You have 43 inspectors in New Brunswick. What do they inspect? You have 88 inspectors in Nova Scotia. What is there but a few apples down in the Annapolis Valley? I will say they need some inspectors to watch them, because as yet they have not learned to pack an honest package.

"They need a little education there in regard to packing. I have shipped some of their products to the Old Country and the result was not as good as it might have been. It was not very satisfactory. Nova Scotia has 88 inspectors. What can they be doing?

"In British Columbia there are 92 inspectors, and there they grow a great many commodities that are not produced in other provinces. But they have learned a little more honesty in the last few years than was

The possession of gill nets without a license which is an offense under the fishery regulations even if the nets are not in use, cost Roy Woods a fine of $10 and $2.50 costs when a plea of guilty was entered in his behalf at police court this morning.

Woods had been spotted by Traffic Officer Lloyd McClure with the nets some time ago.

Roy Murphy of Dummer township, who pleaded guilty recently to spearing lunge at Stoney Lake, was also assessed a $10 fine and costs of $2.35 this morning.

Fish and Game Overseer Lyons states that the gill net charge against Woods is not the only incident in which such nets have figured recently. A few days ago he seized a net that had been set in a bay on Lovesick Lake.

"Glimpses of England in the Eighteenth Century" were given by the Rev. Dr. E. W. Young to the young people of St. Andrew's church Tuesday evening at the Christian Fellowship Meeting of the Union.

"Religion," he said, "was at a low ebb in the eighteenth century. There was a lack of spiritual life in the churches. A shrewd observer says of the clergy of that day 'the most remiss of their labours in private, and the least severe in their lives.'"

The statesmen of the day were foul and immoral; the poor copied the vices of the rich, and were ignorant and brutal. It was the age when new centres of population sprang up, and due to the rise of new industries there were no churches in these places for the new population. Mobs in the towns looted shops to get what they needed; trivial crimes were punished by death; twenty young thieves were hanged in a morning in front of Newgate. A little group of Oxford students led by John and Charles Wesley and George Whitfield carried the gospel to the masses of the people. "The indirect results of the Evangelical revival of the eighteenth century are even more important than the direct results," said Dr. Young. A new moral enthusiasm pervaded England. Sunday Schools were established. Wilberforce attacked the slave trade; John Howard reformed the fifty prisons; Shaftesbury attacked the horrible conditions of child labour; John Richard Green, in his short history of the English people, "A New Philanthropy," reformed the prisons, infused clemency and wisdom into the penal laws; abolished the slave trade and gave the first impulse to popular education.

The meeting was presided over by Miss Frances Clark, vice-president. The scripture lesson was read by Miss Corine McArthur, and a piano solo was given by Walter Morrow. At the business meeting, led by president Gordon Harle,, and Harry Vass, secretary, arrangements were made for a picnic in June, and a concert in the early fall.

CAMPBELLFORD

First Form Pupils Present Program

(Examiner Correspondence.)

CAMPBELLFORD, May 18. — Members of the First Form treated pupils of the Campbellford High School to a lively program in the Assembly Hall on Tuesday afternoon. Miss Mary Murphy, president of the Literary Society presided. Miss Dorothy Curle was appointed critic. Misses Helen Nicholson and June Burgiss offered a piano duet, and were followed by Miss Monica DeCarrol singing "Home Town." The lengthy applause drew an encore. Miss Marjorie Mills offered a humorous reading and a comedy sketch by Gerald Duncalfe and Phil Macdonald caused a riot of laughter and an encore. Their ditty was titled "That Big Rock Candy Mountain." A debate between Marion Rowe and Helen Nicholson brought gales of laughter, and this was followed with a piano solo by Margaret Robertson. A blindfold act by Margaret Coughlin and Marjorie Stevens was another number which caused much amusement, and the piano solo of Charlotte Marsden earned her an encore.

The concluding number was a mixed chorus by students in costume. The number was "The Old Straw Hat." After the critic's report had been given, the series of literary programs for the year was brought to a close with the National Anthem.

Robin Family Is Doing Very Nicely Mother Now Accustomed to New Home

"Our family is doing very nicely," trainmen greeted a reporter this morning.

Because engine 840, home of a mother robin and three young ones, was ordered to Havelock, the anxious crew moved the nest and its contents to the top of a high post. They watched anxiously all Monday morning, but found the mother bird would not approach her new home. That afternoon the crew put their heads together, and the outcome was a second new home for the bird.

Raising a railroad tie upright and fastening it with supports within a few inches of the tracks, they built a shelter and housed the nest in it. When the day's work was done they halted the engine flush against the new home. Mother robin immediately flew to her young, food in her mouth. Three heads, mouth dismouth. Three heads, mouths dis-

The family is growing nicely, thank you, the engine crew proudly reported this morning. Mother robin has become accustomed to her new quarters and seems to find them at least as comfortable as the old ones atop the engine.

CAR TURNS OVER ON LAKEFIELD ROAD

Harold Haig, 154 London street, had a narrow escape from serious injury Tuesday night when his car left the road and turned over in the ditch after colliding with another automobile driven by John S. Kidd of Dummer township. Haig got off with shock and bruises, but his car was damaged to a considerable extent.

The accident happened on the Lakefield road, just north of Nassau. Kidd was making a turn off the highway when Haig came along from behind and the collision occurred. After striking Kidd's automobile, the car driven by Haig shot off the road and rolled over.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

Canadian export business placed at 250,000 bushels, the best of any session in weeks, bolstered Winnipeg wheat futures to-day after their two-day decline of nearly four cents earlier this week. Final quotations were ⅝ higher to ¼ cent lower, May $1.14¼, July $1.02; October 84¼ cents.

Prices fell almost a cent in early dealings on scattered sales induced by rains in southern sections of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta. October made a new seasonal low of 83¾ cents. Rye futures also touched seasonal lows.

One buying flurry near the close lifted May wheat 1⅝ cents higher.

MILLBROOK W. I. REVIEWS LABORS OF THE PAST YEAR

(Examiner Correspondence.)

MILLBROOK, May 18.—The annual meeting of the local branch of the Women's Institute was held on Saturday at the home of Mrs. H. J. Armstrong, when sixteen members were present.

The treasurer reported a total raised of $105.89, which amount included the balance carried over from the previous year; total expenditure of $78.63, leaving a balance in the bank of $27.26.

The report of the secretary mentioned 39 members last year, 12 regular meetings, average attendance of 13, and 11 visitors during the twelve months. Two executive meetings had been held; a cedar hedge had been paid for, to improve the Government lot, and the oil for the new bandstand was also bought at W.I. expense; Federation fees had been paid; also convention expenses for a delegate; three dollars donated for the public-speaking contest for school pupils; a bank account started for one new baby; a booth carried on at the fall fair; a euchre party, and tea served after a public agricultural meeting; donations made to the Chinese Red Cross and the Western relief, funds; fruit sent to sick members, Christmas cheer baskets and greeting cards, as well as cards of sympathy to bereaved members; a warm quilt had been made and given to a needy home. Demonstrations had featured two meetings —one on certified potatoes and how to grow them, and another on correct foundation garments; board expenses of two girls to the study course at the O.A.C., Guelph, had been paid, and a number of interesting and instructive papers given at the regular meetings.

Library Application.

Application had also been made for the W.I. travelling library, though this activity has been held over until fall, and at more than one meeting, quilt blocks had been given in answer to the roll call.

Communications included one regarding the short course, that on "Care of the sick in the home," being chosen, with "Home utilization of wool," as an alternative. The course is on June 3. A letter regarding taking up the St. John ambulance course on first aid was left over for further consideration; it involves one lecture a week for six weeks by a doctor, with another physician covering the examination at the close. An invitation from the Morrish branch to be their guests on June 8 was accepted, the program committee including Mrs. H. J. Armstrong, Mrs. E. Richards and Mrs. B. B. Dawson; transportation committee is Mrs. T. G. Harkness and Mrs. M. Ball.

The election of officers resulted in the following slate for 1938-39: President, Mrs. R. J. McKnight; Vice-Presidents, Mrs. E. C. Richards and Mrs. B. B. Dawson; Secretary, Mrs. J. W. Hilton; Treasurer, Mrs. Melville Ball; District Director, Mrs. D. Olan; Auditors, Mrs. Harry Armstrong and Mrs. Basil Richards.

Delegates to the district annual, which convenes at Ballicboro on June 3, are Mrs. T. G. Harkness and Mrs. E. C. Richards. The June meeting will be at Mrs. Basil Richards, and an executive meeting will be held at Mrs. B. B. Dawson's home on Wednesday, May 18. The girls who have been at Guelph will give their report at the June meeting.

The membership is to be divided into groups for the ensuing year, with each group made responsible for one meeting's program. This plan is to be tried out for the initial time this year, and members in the several groups will be arranged, as far as possible, in their respective neighborhoods to facilitate meetings and plans.

JUST ONE DRINK

DETROIT, May 18—(CP)—Robert S. Wilson, Toronto, came to Detroit for a week-end visit. Today he reported to police the theft of $42 and his wedding ring. Wilson said he had been invited to have a couple of drinks in a downtown Detroit hotel by a young woman. He said he didn't remember what happened after the first drink. When he regained consciousness Sunday the girl and his valuables had disappeared.

KING GOES ON TOUR OVER LANCASHIRE

PRESTON, England, May 18 (C.P.). — Starting a four-day tour through busy industrial Lancashire, the King and Queen lunched at the County Hall here to-day as guests of the Earl of Derby.

They left the Royal train which brought them from London at Colne. From Colne they drove, acclaimed all along the route by cheering crowds, through Nelson, Burnley, Accrington, and Blackburn.

In Preston they went first to Moor Park, where a deputation stood with standards of the British Legion. In the afternoon Their Majesties drove to St. Anne's, Blackpool, Lancashire's seaside holiday resort, and Fleetwood. There they rejoined the train.

To-morrow the Royal party will leave the train at Leigh. They will drive through Worsley, Swinton, and Salford to Manchester. In Manchester the King will open the new extension and Council Chamber of the Town Hall.

91 Beaver Pelts Are Seized

NORTH BAY, Ont., May 18. — (CP).—Ninety-one beaver pelts valued at more than $1,500 were seized here to-day on a south-bound train by G. M. Parks, Superintendent of Game and Fisheries, on information supplied by Overseer C. E. Binkley of New Liskeard.

Ownership of the pelts, en route to Toronto in a trunk shipped as baggage, has not been established. Parks said they were the largest and finest he had seen in years.

CAMPBELLFORD

A lovely post nuptial shower was held on Friday evening last in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Scriver whose marriage was an event of interest some two weeks ago. The guests numbering nearly sixty were received by the bride's mother, Mrs. Michael Towns. The newlyweds received many lovely gifts from their friends. Following an evening of cards and dancing, a delightful lunch was served.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hicks and family of Picton were guests of Mrs. George Kingston on Sunday.

POLICE CONVINCED R. A. COOK SUICIDED

CORNWALL, Ont., May 18 (CP)—Ten days of intensive investigation have convinced authorities Ralph A. Cook, former governor of the Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry jail, took his own life, Police Chief Fred Seymour said today.

Cook was found dead on the floor of his garage May 8 with two bullet wounds in his chest. A small-calibre rifle, unidentified by Cook's family, was lying near the body.

The rifle was traced to a Toronto department store., where it was listed as sold to "R. A. Cook, Manistee, Mich.," Chief Seymour revealed. Although identifying marks had been filed from the rifle its trade name was brought out by acid treatment.

Dr. E. R. Frankish, Ontario pathologist, reported metallic filings similar to those scraped from the rifle were found in Cook's trouser cuffs. He also found unburned powder on Cook's vest, indicating the bullets were fired from very short range.

At the time of the mysterious shooting Cook was believed by his family to have been carrying about $200 in cash. A similar amount was found in the house after a long search, Chief Seymour said. Cook's wallet was found in a garden about 100 feet from the garage.

Cadi Questions J.P.'s Powers

COLLINGWOOD, May 18—(CP).—Power of a Justice of the Peace to allow an accused man freedom on bail was criticized by Magistrate Compton Jeffs in court yesterday.

"If the Justice of the Peace can bail out anybody who comes before him without consulting either the Crown or the officers in the case, it's a very poor arrangement," the Magistrate said.

When the father asked that the charge be withdrawn, the Magistrate returned: "You can't lay an information charging an offence and then come forward to withdraw the charge any time you like."

PLAN NO MINIMUM FOR RADIO FINES

OTTAWA, May 18—(CP)—Transport Minister Howe gave notice in today's House votes and proceedings that the government will move to amend clause 10 of bill 52, an act respecting radio in Canada.

One amendment would enable a person accused of unlicensed radio operation to remove the presumption of guilt by reason of the radio apparatus being on the premises.

Section 10 of the bill places the onus of proof of licensed operation on the person against whom the offense is charged. Where apparatus is found "there shall be a presumption that he did establish the radio station or private receiving station or that he did install, operate or have said apparatus in his possession."

The amendment to section 10 would add the words "unless he satisfies the court or magistrate that the radio station or private receiving station was not at the time of the alleged commission of the offence intended for or capable of being used for the transmission or reception of radio."

The bill would provide a minimum fine of $5 and a maximum of $50 for summary conviction under the clause. Mr. Howe's proposed amendment would remove the minimum fine provision but leave the maximum at $50.

SASKATCHEWAN'S LIBERALS RESENT ANY INTERFERING

REGINA, May 18 (CP)—The real heavy oratory broke out across the Saskatchewan election front last night as the opposing factions launched appeals for support on voting day, June 8. Social Credit leaders from neighboring Alberta stepped into the picture for the official launching of their campaign.

Premier W. J. Patterson gave official notice of his government's platform. In a manifesto, the Premier said his government would seek re-election for a second five-year term determined to carry through a policy of free speech, free press and right of assembly and freedom in religion.

Although the manifesto mentioned no particular province, it disapproved of interference by one province with another's affairs. The manifesto also declared the Liberals would vigorously oppose any indication of dictatorship in government.

The manifesto said:

"This government deprecates interference in the affairs of this province by the government of another province. The people of Saskatchewan are quite competent and willing to conduct their own affairs in their own way, and through the instrumentality of their own political organizations without the interference of outside governments."

In the event of a good crop, the farmer could rest assured of protection. The Liberal manifesto said debt adjustment representatives would be placed in every municipality to see that the farmer was first assured of maintenance of his family and rehabilitation of his own agricultural operations.

FIRST HOSPITAL PATIENT

Collapsing at the opening of a new hospital in Victoria, Australia, Dr. G. L. Thompson, a member of the Charities Board, was admitted as the first patient.

Service Station Owner Robbed

WOODSTOCK, Ont., May 18. — (CP).—Garfield O'Brien, proprietor of a service station at Bond's Corners on No. 2 highway east of Woodstock, had two visitors last night.

They asked for cigarettes and as O'Brien turned to serve them, he was struck over the head with some heavy object and stunned. The pair then bound him with a length of radio cord and left after ransacking the place.

A neighbor, Mrs. Schmous, noticing a light burning in the service station, thought this unusual and notified Provincial Constable Jack Clark of Woodstock. He found O'Brien bound on the floor, with one arm dislocated.

WHAT EVERY WOMAN SHOULD KNOW!

THOSE who suffer from nervousness, sideache, backache and pains due to functional disturbances, need a tonic like Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Also the prospective mother will find it very beneficial. It stimulates the appetite and that in turn increases the intake of food, thus strengthening the body. This is what Mrs. George Richardson, 26 Berkshire St., Toronto, said: "Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription helped to strengthen me just wonderfully both before and after childbirth. I felt so different after using the 'Prescription' as a tonic. My strength returned so quickly, and slept well at night." Buy it of your druggist. Liquid or tablets.

"BE ENTHUSIASTIC"
SAYS DALE CARNEGIE
Author of the famous book:
"HOW TO WIN FRIENDS AND INFLUENCE PEOPLE"

● "Enthusiasm is a quality that has been responsible for many fine achievements. Ralph Waldo Emerson said: 'Every great movement in the annals of history is the triumph of enthusiasm.'

● "There is something infectious about an enthusiastic person. His enthusiasm communicates itself to others —becomes irresistible. So, say to yourself: 'Today I am going to be physically and mentally alive.'

"Then go out and put every ounce of energy and spirit which you can command into your daily work. Live enthusiastically."

● "You can't acquire enthusiasm by just wishing for it. And you can't buy it at the corner drug store either. But you can develop it by will power.

"We talk a lot about the importance of physical exercise, but, believe me, we need mental exercise even more. I mean we need to wake up our sluggish minds and create a healthy, enthusiastic mental attitude toward our daily work.

No Person Wants It

Perhaps the Ontario Government will soon be in the frame of mind where it will have a kindered feeling for folk who do not know what to do with their big houses. The Government has a big house, and big property along with it, Chorley Park. It has been the official home of our Lieutenant-Governors since the year 1915. It ceased to be so used at the end of the regime of Dr. Herbert Bruce.

Rather blithely we thought the Government proceeded to ask for tenders from those who desired to purchase the place. It seemed to be taken for granted that some one would want this property and cough up $1,000,000 for it right straight off. The deliberation with which officialdom moved suggested there might even be some form of competition to see which of the several or many prospects would come into possession of the great house.

There is a tender box into which all such communications are tossed or deposited as the case may be. When came the appointed time the Minister of Public Works opened the said box and it was as empty as the great house at Chorley Park. And that place is indeed very empty.

We fear there has been too much adverse publicity regarding this great place for it was announced publicly not long ago that when the rain beat down there was a hurried call sent to the kitchen for all available pots and pans to catch the water which came through the roof. That gives a house, large or small, a bad reputation. It indicates that whoever gets the place will have to spend spare time and money crawling about on top of the thing driving in nails to hold new shingles or putting on pieces of tin where the holes are large.

We shall watch with considerable interest to see what the Government does now that it has an empty house on its hands. Meanwhile the municipality will not close in for non-payment of taxes nor will the holder of the mortgage want to take the property because interest and principal are not paid on time. In that way the Government with its empty house problem is somewhat sheltered from the full force of the cold blast which often enough smites upon the private individual who tries to swing an empty house.

When Relief Families Move

Changes have been made regarding the liability of municipalities to maintain new-comers on the relief list. As the matter stands at present it works like this: If an individual or family moves from municipality A to one which we shall call B the responsibility for maintenance shall rest upon municipality A "until such time as the family or individual has obtained sufficient income from gainful employment to maintain a reasonable standard of living." It is further stated in the regulations that this ruling shall apply only to cases where the individual or family has moved since August 1st of 1937.

So that means if a relief family moved from Oshawa for instance to Peterborough the onus for providing relief would remain on Oshawa indefinitely or until such time as the family became self-sustaining in Peterborough.

Formerly the rule was that Oshawa would have been liable for relief to such a family for one year from the time it arrived in Peterborough after which the responsibility of Oshawa would cease and that of Peterborough would definitely begin. To what extent this will prevent the shifting of families or individuals from one community to another we do not know. It would make little difference to the family as long as relief were being provided. It would make a difference though to the municipality.

War Material In Canada

Airplanes for the British government are to be made in Canada, and it is reported also that a contract for a large number of bombs has been placed in an Ontario factory. There is no reason why a plane or a bomb could not be made in this country just as well as in any other section of the world.

During the time of the World War Canadian plants were given an opportunity to show what they could do. There were plants which started producing shells which had trouble and plenty of it because they were using machinery which was old and unsuited to precision work. When inspection became keen to the point of being drastic there was an immediate change. It was during the war period that a great many Canadian mechanics became accustomed for the first time to working to fine dimensions.

When there was opportunity to engage in this work we do not believe there were a dozen men in the country who knew how to make so delicate a thing as the fuse for a shell with its timing apparaturs, but our mechanics and engineers learned how it should be done. There were large orders placed here too from United States, and the records which were kept at the U. S. Ordnance Dept. office in Toronto showed that the number of rejected shells coming from Canadian plants considerably lower than the number of rejects from United States plants manufacturing a similar article. Once the Canadian shops were properly tooled and equipped the workmanship was of a sort which called for no apologies.

The manufacturing of airplanes can be well attended to in this country, and it calls for skilled men. Planes are not produced on a basis where what is known as gang or quantity production methods can be applied; each unit has to be built just as carefully as though only one plane were being made. Nor is there anything left afterwards which clutters up the market as is the case with automobiles. In the latter there is always the used car with which to reckon. There is no such thing in the manufacture of planes. One which has survived usage for a considerable period has no resale value. It is junk and there is little in it which can be salvaged. When the manufacture of planes and bombs gets under way it will be found that a number of industrial concerns in Canada will be receiving business. An industrial city like Peterborough will probably receive its share.

Our Method Of Speech

London Board of Education proposes there should be a "central authoritative body on the proper use of the English language," and that is being brought to the attention of the Urban Trustees Association of Ontario which is meeting in Oshawa. The feeling is the use of English should be improved by radio announcers, and the suggested Board would have to decide "what is correct for Canadians in the matter of pronounciation of English words."

And have we no such organizations in the country now which can speak with a degree of authority? We have a fairly complete system of primary and secondary education; we have Normal Schools and Universities and finishing shools, and in all these places we have teachers who are recognized as being well versed in the use of the English language.

If the London Board of Education believes some new and authoritative board is necessary, then it must be the Board does not consider our existing authorities are sufficiently well versed, and if not, then why not? And if this new Board does come into existence with what degree of authority will it be clothed so that its findings will be regarded as so authentic and final that they cannot be questioned?

This paper has a belief—and it does not ask people in general to share it—that it is not possible to make all our people pronounce words in the same way. And in that class of people we include those who are fairly well schooled. There is no glaring irregularity in the speech of these people, but there is always that slight difference which comes from the character, intent, enthusiasm or conviction of the individual. We do not believe there could be a straight line drawn to which all would or could or should conform.

When a man speaks we are primarily interested in that he should mean what he says. To illustrate: There was a salesman in this city a few months ago and he was selling stock. He used the word "finance" and "financial" many times, and he was so smooth that he made it sound like "fin-awnce." We happened to ask a banker in the city what he thought of the scheme and the banker used the word "fin-AN-ce" as though he wanted to take a bite out of it. He said also that the man who had the "fin-awncial" scheme was nothing but a sharper. Perhaps you get the idea—that the worth and integrity of the men who use words is a greater thing than the manner of their pronunciation.

Tonsils And Adenoids

A Toronto paper thought it necessary or desirable to telephone Dr. A. R. Dafoe at Callander to ask if the tonsils and adenoids of the Dionne quints were to be removed. There had been a story or rumor to that effect going around in Toronto.

The answer of the Doctor from the north was that he was not considering doing any scientific whittling on the children. No . . . the tonsils were all in and likely to stay in . . . the adenoids were just about the same as any other child might have and that means they are okay.

So Toronto's rumor did not amount to much, and if Toronto is inclined to worry much about children it would probably be found there are sufficient of them in the provincial capital who need more attention than do the well-cared-for quints in the north.

Perhaps Dr. Dafoe is looking to the future and realizes the advantage there will be in publicity in days to come when it can be announced that the five famous sisters have retained their tonsils and also that adenoids were never removed from them.

A Farmer Helped Us

Not very often is an editorial article written in the office by a visitor. But it took place right here and by a farmer. He sat in a chair right overe there and talked about land, and after he went out we wrote it down:

"You know having a piece of land is something like having a bank account. Suppose I went over and put $100 in the bank as a starter, and then started taking out $5 and then $10 and not putting anything back in the account, how long would I have a bank account. It would be only a short time and then I wouldn't have anything because I had been doing nothing except take money out.

"Land is pretty much the same. You have got to keep putting stuff back into it. You have to feed it, and that's what a man does to everything else where he wants to get good results. If he has a good herd of dairy cattle he feeds them for milk and he pays a lot of attention to it. He feeds to finish beef cattle and bacon. I know whether it pays or not. It does. When I fertilize or feed my land according to what it needs then I know for sure I am going to get a much better crop. It's not guess work for I have tried it many times. It costs money but you get your money back and more."

No Home Training

There was a good sized crate or some such container ready for shipping the other day and it was filled with little chicks. We learned they were two days old and were going to some point about 50 miles distant. Of course they had been mechanically hatched, and when chicks are sold on that scale it must be so. It would not be possible to have a number of hens ready and willing to cluck at the same time and hatch out at the same time to fill one of those boxes.

And when the chicks get to their future home they will have to shift for themselves and that seems tough. No doubt they will be kept warm for the present because that will be necessary, but they will not have the pleasure of crawling in under a wide wing for the night. Nor will they as the urge tempts them be able to crawl up on the back of the mother hen.

They will not have any of those personally conducted tours around the premises such as the small chick used to receive as a matter of birthright. There will be instruction on how to shake the dirt from a worm and break it into small pieces before eating. In their early days the small chicks will not be taught that the proper place to scratch is in the garden plot near the house or in the geranium bed. Nor will they hear that friendly noise the old hen makes when she has come upon something which she considers good to eat.

Those little chicks going out into the world when two days old are just the same as orphans. About mother and father they know not a thing; they won't have a bit of what might be called bringing up. So if there are bad manners in the poultry yard in days to come it will all be explained by saying that home influence and parental control have been absent.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Efrem Zimbalist thinks that old music is best and some of the radio comedians have the same idea about jokes.

An advertisement in a Toronto paper says "The taxpayer does not pay one cent." That sounds sensational enough to be carried as news.

Quebec has more cadets in training than all the other provinces combined. That may be explained by the fact that Miss Anges MacPhail does not live there.

Eleven magazines have been banned by Ottawa and a glance over the news stands indicates the authorities could have added a few more without causing much of a gap.

Thirty-one Toronto truck drivers who have covered over two million miles without an accident were honored at a banquet — and that is a much better thing than to be honored at a memorial service.

According to an American authority the average high school student in the United States must wait three years after he leaves school before he can get a regular job. And then after he gets it, he has to worry about keeping it.

GERMS

(By A. R. K.)

¶ I read today a book on germs, it used most scientific terms, long consonant and vowel; the place where germs will grow and thrive, and where they'll breed and keep alive, is on the office towel.

¶ The print shop when I was a lad, had towels that lived to be quite bad, germs gathered in a hoard; for weeks I think it was in use, and took all manner of abuse, 'twas stiff as any board.

¶ We used to wash the ink off there, the towel got all there was to spare, and that was quite a lot; and sometimes they would wash the thing, when it came on toward days of spring, and then it shed its spot.

¶ I often doubt if germs lived there, and if they did we didn't care, for health was powerful good; if germs would ever stop to think, they would not live in spots of ink, I can't think why they should.

¶ If germs had any brains at all, they'd find a better place to crawl, it seems that way to me; they'd go and pick some other ground, where they could sit and look around, where there were things to see.

¶ According to the wise men though, the germs were parked there row on row, in centre and the side; if all those germs had jumped on me, I'm sure as any one can be—I should have up and died.

Can We Make People Happy?

Francis Sayre, Assistant Secretary of State, as quoted in the Gazette, Schenectady, New York

HAPPINESS is one of the requisites of life; without it there can be no permanent social stability. Yet this our present civilization is notably failing to give. The road to happiness, according to the creed of our civilization, lies through material acquisition. We seek happiness for ourselves through the power and distinction given by wealth. Yet we cannot help remarking that in spite of our creed great wealth seldom brings happiness. We seek our children's happiness not through gifts of comradeship and understanding, but through satisfying their every desire for the things that money can buy; as a result, all too often we damn their lives with idleness and emptiness of purpose.

We spend our efforts inventing labor-saving devices; but we use the gain, not to make the labor of the world easier for the workers, but to increase profits for the privileged few. All the time in our heart of hearts we feel the mockery of our creed. Cold experience belies it. Modern wealth has brought not happiness, but disillusionment, cynicism, utter pessimism. Materialism is not yielding practical results.

AND HERE comes Christ, saying: "Do you want to know the way of happiness? See how greatly you can give!" His teaching is audacious. It runs counter to almost everything we believe today. And yet, as we look around us, the people who have won the really precious values and satisfactions in life— yes, when all is said and done, those whom we would most wish to be like—are the ones who have given all that they have and all that they are to some great cause — those who, perhaps quite unknown, have given themselves unstintingly in the service of others.

Would we reduce crime? Our one and only solution is iron bars and unyielding repression; and we are turning misdemeanants into hardened criminals—two-thirds of our prison populations are recidivists—and multiplying crime throughout the land. Materialism is not yielding practical results.

WOULD WE lessen industrial strife? Our one and only solution is strong-armed state police, more injunctions, prison sentences; and we are multiplying industrial violence. Materialism is not yielding practical results. Would the peoples of the world achieve greater national security? Our one and only solution is more poison gas and bigger battleships; and we have not only brought about the bloodiest and most destructive war in history, but are today forcing nations into sure bankruptcy to buy still bigger armaments for the suicidal war which all expect shortly. Materialism is not yielding practical results.

And here comes Christ, saying, "A man's life consisteth not in the abundance of the things which he possesseth." "What shall it profit a man" to gain the whole world, and forfeit his life? Materialism never will and never can succeed. For human nature will eternally crave spiritual values which material possessions and material force can never satisfy. Believe me, humanity is not now athirst for more inventions and scientific discoveries and improved methods of manufacture. These things will not stop heartaches or broken lives or suicides. What men and women are groping for today are spiritual values.

TOO SQUEAMISH.

(St. Catharines Standard)

PRIME MINISTER KING should not be too squeamish about the finer sensibilities of Japan, the bully of the Orient, nor about the Nazis, who threaten the peace structure of Europe. For years past Canadians have heard from U. S. stations the bitterest of invective about Britain not paying her war debt and a great many other things not palatable, and yet there is no prospect of peace being disturbed with our neighbor. The trouble is that some of the nations of Europe who have their nationals and spies working right now in Canada, carry the proverbial chip on their shoulder, and if a Canadian speaker excoriates these nations, and knocks the chip off, the balloon of their pride is punctured. The best thing that can happen is for Hitler and his gang to become informed of what Anglo-Saxon freedom lovers think of them, their system and their undercover designs on the security of others, less strong. Perhaps they will never achieve such understanding except in the language of force wherein lies the fundamental reason why Britain is re-arming.

EARL SELLS A TOWN.

(Glasgow Bulletin)

ALTHOUGH HE did not make a very good bargain, I fancy the Earl of Harewood was not altogether sorry to part with the town of Loughrea, in County Galway, which was part of the property, together with a large fortune, left him by his granduncle, the late Marquis of Clanricarde. Lord Harewood and the Princess Royal have paid one visit, but I think only one, to Portumna Castle, in Galway, since their marriage. Lord Clanricarde was eccentric in many ways, and did not love his fellowmen. He was hard on his tenants, too, so the Irish did not love him, and they have a long memory for grievance, as we know to our cost.

$1,500 A YEAR.

(Lethbridge Herald)

WE ARE reliably informed that the chief bait of the Social Credit invaders of Saskatchewan will be $1,500 a year.

Now that people have begun to laugh every time $25 a month is mentioned in public, Premier Aberhart has been forced to change his tune. So as $1,500 is more mouth-filling than a piffling $25, the Saskatchewan farmers who haven't had a crop for seven years will be offered the $1,500.

Nothing at all will be said about the seven per cent. farm production tax.

Letters To The Editor

Correspondents Discuss Various Topics

ITALY AND FRANCE

Editor Examiner:

Sir: The balky and inconsistent action of France throughout the whole European situation since the war was never more plainly evident then at this moment. France demands that Italy keep out of Spain. Why if France has this right to intervene in Spain has not Italy also? The European situation has from time to time steadily become evidence of the determination of France to decide for the rest of Europe without consulting their interests or concurrence. That brings us steadily nearer to war. Britain saw that her own insistence upon certain conditions regarding Ethiopia meant a great war, who would ask Britain to plunge the world in another war for the sake of preserving her own interests and those of Ethiopia? It is true that peace is not worth it at any price but as between the Ethiopian situation and a world-war as the price of peace who would hesitate to choose? To preserve inviolate our own material interests is not the necessary formation of the moral law.

And what is more, Ethiopia like every other individual has no right to insist upon her own rights as against the general advantage of all humanity. If it be to the manifest benifit of the world that Ethiopia should be taken apart paid for and administered for the world-benefit in a crisis such as this then as in the case of each one of us we must sacrifice the loss to the greater. That is Christianity and it is the rule for each one of us in our daily lives. Selfishness is not always either a supreme law or a supreme right as the custom of expropriation declares.

OUR TAXATION MUDDLES

Editor Examiner:

Sir: The letter of Mr. H. L. Rogers, appearing in The Globe and Mail May 14, complaining that high taxes are destroying the value of Toronto property applies with equal force to every municipality in Canada. It is a scathing denunciation of our present system, which is incurably vicious; no halfway reforms can make it acceptable, it should be scrapped to make way for a better.

His argument for lower taxes on land apparently rests upon the untenable assumption that the buying and selling of land for private gain is as necessary and useful to the community as the business of dealing with general merchandise. Speculative dealing in land has the support of common practise, so also had chattel slavery years ago, but both lack moral sanction. The laborer is worthy of his hire and the producer of wealth is entitled to enjoy the fruit of his labor. Land values are not produced by individual effort. Presence of population and associated public utilities alone create land values. Therefore land values are public property and all benefits accruing therefrom belong to the community as a whole, not to private citizens.

Taxes on land destroy its speculative value but in no wise affect its productive qualities; in fact they stimulate the productive use of land and boost trade and business generally as no amount of 'pump prining' can, and this without cost to the public.

When Mr. Rogers speaks of 'the discredited single tax theory' he may be expressing his own opinion, but he is not stating a fact. The term 'single tax', which may not be the happiest cognomen possible, denotes a fundamental principle of political economy which it is impossible to refute, and is no more 'discredited' then the law of gravitation. If Mr. Rogers' letter is to be taken seriously, one would naturally expect him to welcome any change for the better. 'The discredited single tax theory' holds the solution of all our social disorders, but there is a principle which is a bar against all knowledge, which is proof against all argument and which cannot fail to keep a man in everlasting ignorance. That principle is condemnation before investigation. Has Mr. Rogers adopted that principle?

MAKING A TORCH

Editor Examiner:

Sir: In a letter in a recent issue of this paper a lady of Lakefield was urging folk to assist in destroying the tent caterpillar, and advised the use of a kerosene torch.

We have used such a torch for many years but this year saturated the bit of sacking with waste oil from a car. If one has not such on hand it can be procured at any garage. This oil made a much more lasting torch.

I trust some one may find this of use.

• Fighting Fires With Buckets

(By F. D. R. in Brantford Expositor)

DURING THE week-end, Brantford's Fire Department came under a new head, after the long and exceedingly valuable services of D. J. Lewis, who has retired. The circumstance recalls the fact that over one hundred years have elapsed since the first local volunteer fire company was formed in 1836.

Only six years previously the site of the village until then located on Six Nations territory, had been surrendered for a small sum under a deed signed by representative Six Nations Chiefs and the population at this period numbered only about five hundred inhabitants.

The place had, however, become a trading centre and there were many small stores and other wooden buildings. When a conflagration did start there was little else to do but watch the flames burn themselves out.

Thus it was that in the year previously mentioned, citizens started an organization and purchased what was termed a "goose neck" apparatus.

It did not include any hose, and water was carried in buckets to a water tight box from which a stream was mechanically ejected through a branch contrivance. To change the direction of the flow it was necessary to move the so-called engine.

It was housed in a small frame shanty on a corner of the Market Squa and the structure was surmounted by a small bell. This was sounded not only for fires but also when funerals took place.

The last named practice was abandoned when Arunah Huntington, then a prominent and well-to-do villager, declared that it must cease tolling for burials or he would withdraw his annual contribution of five dollars towards the salary of the ringer.

Whether he objected because of getting too often excited with regard to his properties or because he hated to be reminded of his own inevitable end, the old time chronicles do not relate.

The "Goose Neckers," as they were generally called, had a set of rules which included fines for interrupting any person while speaking at meetings, non-attendance at same, smoking at meetings, wearing dirty uniforms and so on. The highest penalties were for absence from fires without valid reason and refusing to obey orders during a conflagration. In each instance the levy was one dollar.

SHORTLY after the incorporation of the town in 1847 an engine called "The Rescue," was purchased and later in order to remedy a difficulty in securing sufficient water, it was decided to instal six cisterns twelve feet in diameter each to constantly contain not less than ten feet of the fluid.

Members of one of the early companies wore white shirts, black pants, leather waist belt and white panama hats with black bands. At all fires, the officers always shouted orders through trumpets.

Fancy drilling was part of the exercise in which the volunteers indulged and under C. H. Hartman as instructor, many prizes were won in competition with other brigades. Mr. Hartman was subsequently Mayor in 1912-13.

Hook and ladder and hose carts were introduced following the first crude appliances and they were all drawn by hand. At the first sound of an alarm, the firemen dropped whatever work they were at in order to rush out and get hold of the ropes and on long runs they had their stamina and wind apparatus severely tested.

Instead of contesting companies, between whom much rivalry existed, matters finally settled down to a department of which John McCann was a most satisfactory chief.

When a paid brigade was established in 1889 he was offered the head of it but, not accepting, George D. Calder, Captain of Brant Hose Company, was selected, to be succeeded upon his demise by D. J. Lewis.

The introduction of horses was the first big innovation and each evening many citizens watched exhibitions of hitch-ups. Then motorization came about.

Shanks mare first of all gave way to real nags and they in turn to stepping on the gas.

A Bible Message For Today . . . .

BEHOLD, THE days come, saith the Lord, that I will make a new covenant with the house of Israel, and with the house of Judah. And they shall teach no more every man his neighbour, and every man his brother, saying, Know the Lord; for they shall all know me, from the least of them unto the greatest of them, said the Lord: for I will forgive their iniquity, and I will remember their sin no more.—Jer. xxxi, 31, 34.

Annas and Caiaphas being the high priests, the word of God came unto John the son of Zacharias in the wilderness. And he came into all the country about Jordan, preaching the baptism of repentance for the remission of sins; as it is written in the book of the words of Esaias the prophet, saying, The voice of one crying in the wilderness, Prepare ye the way of the Lord, make his paths straight. Every valley shall be filled, and every mountain and hill shall be brought low; and the crooked shall be made straight, and the rough ways shall be made smooth; and all flesh shall see the salvation of God.—Luke iii, 2-6.

Colorful Procession Marks Closing Devotions At Which 3,000 Attend

Eight hundred men carrying lighted candles and reciting the rosary led a colorful procession at the Church of the Sacred Heart Tuesday night in the closing service of the annual Eucharistic Congress of the Diocese of Peterborough. It was the greatest public display of devotion to the Holy Eucharist in the city's history, and a crowd estimated at more than 3 000 attended benediction on the church grounds.

The congress was opened at ten o'clock Tuesday morning by His Excellency Bishop O'Connor who celebrated Solemn Pontifical Mass with sixteen priests of the diocese assisting. Rev. P. P. Butler of Kinmount preached the sermon. In the afternoon pupils from the primary grades of the Separate Schools filled the church and were addressed by the Rev. J. P. Collins. During the afternoon also a conference for the clergy was held in the parish hall. At the evening devotions, Rev. J. J. Garvey, P.P. of Lakefield preached the sermon and after the Litany of the Sacred Heart had been recited by the Rev. Father Gillogly, P.P. of Ennismore the procession of the Blessed Sacrament took place.

The Procession

One hundred and thirty Boy Scouts including a detachment from Lindsay formed two rows on the church lawn through which the procession passed. In the van of the procession were 800 men walking four abreast, reciting the beads and each carried a lighted candle. Behind these were the members of the Sodality, including a group of senior girls clad in white. The next in line were thirty small school girls dressed entirely in white, and with veils who carried flower baskets and strew flowers in the path of those following. Forty priests and altar boys came next with Bishop O'Connor holding aloft the golden monstrance in which rested the Holy Eucharist, and on either side of him walked the Deacons, Rev. P. J. Kelly and Rev. P. J. Galvin. Four men held a richly embroidered silken canopy above Bishop O'Connor and two altar boys swung incense burners. Loud speakers amplified organ music from the church and the school girls sang the Pange Lingua during the procession. Girl Guides and the congregation followed and all formed in a solid bank in front of an altar built on the church grounds.

Above the altar was constructed a cone shaped canopy of colored lights, and in the centre was a large illuminated cross. Each corner of the altar frame was a lighted star, and votive lamps were arranged across the altar. Cedar boughs, ferns and flowers were used in decorations. Twenty priests sat at each side of the altar in two lines and in front of these were acolytes each holding red shaded lamps. The congregation knelt during benediction and the myriad of lighted candles flickered in the darkness where the crowd was assembled making the face of each man visible.

Successful Congress

Bishop O'Connor spoke briefly and congratulated the spiritual director, Rev. Father Gillogly and the pastor, Rev. J. J. O'Brien and the congregation on the success of the congress. He expressed the hope that each year the congress would be diocesan in attendance and a united act of homage to our Divine Master. He stated the annual Nation Eucharistic Congress of the Diocese of Quebec would be held this year on June 22 to 26 and he hoped delegates would attend from Peterborough.

Rev. P. P. Butler of Kinmount, who spoke at the High Mass in the morning, took as his text, Math. xxi., 9: "And the multitude that went before and that followed, cried, saying, Hosanna to the Son of David, Blessed is He that cometh in the name of the Lord, Hosanna in the highest." In an eloquent discourse Father Butler portrayed the parallel that existed between Christ's triumphal entry into Jerusalem and His triumphal life in the Sacrament of His love, the Blessed Eucharist. In this sacramental life as in His public ministry on earth, friends and enemies gathered around Him. Apostles, people and children sang his praises on the occasion of His glad entrance into the city of Jerusalem on the first Palm Sunday. Twenty centuries have not changed His friends who today acclaim Him in His sacramental life. They unite to make reparation for the same type of enemies who once gathered about Him in His public ministry and who now surround Him in the Eucharist—some opposing Him—some seeking even His destruction. It is to adore the Eucharistic Christ and to make amends for the injuries offered Him that the annual Eucharistic Congress has come into existence. The reverend speaker exhorted all to enter into the spiritual work to which the Congress called them.

Conference of Clergy.

At the meeting of the clergy in the afternoon two papers on the Blessed Eucharist were read, and the conference was presided over by Bishop O'Connor. The first paper by Rev. H. J. Fitzgerald, Parry Sound, on "The Cultivation of Love for the Mass." Very Rev. M. J. O'Leary and Rev. J. F. McGuire, both of Bracebridge, led the discussion. Rev. Gregory Wolff of Cobourg read the second paper, entitled "Eucharistic Devotion Essential to Catholic Life," and discussion was by Rev. J. V. McAuley of Campbellford and Rev. S. Coffey of Bowmanville.

In the evening, Rev. Father Garvey of Lakefield, preaching, drew a comparison between the benefits of the sun in the solar system and the spiritual benefits of the Blessed Sacrament in the Sacramental System. The Eucharist, he said, transcends all sacraments, the others are but rivulets leading to the Eucharist which is the fountain head. All are grouped around and each receives its power and efficacy from the Eucharist. We are constantly beset by a multitude of dangers from within and without, and we cannot possibly keep up the fight unless we strengthen ourselves by constant participation in the Holy Eucharist, which supplies spiritual food for the soul. He pointed to the countries without God, where the streams of love and virtue are frozen, where there is no liberty, and where none of the God-given rights are respected. "During your life in those dark days of sorrow and disappointments you know so well where to come for consolation. No other place satisfies except the Holy Eucharist, and we should be truly grateful for this great privilege."

The success of the Congress was due in no small measure to the zealous efforts of the active spiritual director, Rev. V. J. Gillogly of Ennismore. In that success the Rev. J. J. O'Brien had a most prominent hand, for church and grounds and every detail of organization was cared for by him with a diligence that made the Congress an event that would long be remembered for its perfection, its beauty and the devotion it engendered in the hearts of all who were privileged to share in its spiritual benefits.

The visiting priests experienced the generous hospitality of Father O'Brien at dinner served at noon and again at six o'clock in the basement of the church by the Catholic Women's League. The Sisters of St. Joseph supervised the decorating of the altar on the church grounds and attended with the pupils and girls' choir both in the afternoon and at benediction in the evening.

APRIL REVENUES DOWN

OTTAWA, May 18—(CP)—Canada's April revenues at $15,737,123 showed a decrease of $1,421,343 over April, 1937, the department of national revenue reported today.

Customs duties amounted to $5,906,508 compared with $6,847,027; excise taxes $5,791,967 against $6,278,815; excise duties $3,977,630 compared with $3,970,878; and sundry collections $61,016 against $61,745.

Twin Mayors Of Dizzy Disney

The owner of the smile on the RIGHT is Billy Baker, cafe operator, former circus dancer and now, for 30 days, mayor of Disney, Okla. She will run the town on a "whoopee" scale for her term of office, dancing and merry-making being her idea of the perfect state. At LEFT is Mrs. Vera Silar, grocery operator, who will take over the mayoral chair after the 30 days of whoopee to give her program a tryout. She advocates a curfew law and rest program. A referendum of the citizens will then decide which of the two programs they desire permanently.

After Pneumonia Couldn't Get Strong

After many severe illnecses the patient is often left in an extremely weak and exhausted condition.

To all those convalescents needing a tonic to strengthen and build up their weakened system we would recommend Milburn's Health and Nerve Pills to assist them to recover the full enjoyment of robust health. They help to tone up the nervous system and bring back bodily strength and vigor.

Buy a box and be convinced.

MRS. GEORGE CLARK, Wallace, N.S., writes:—"Some time ago I had a severe attack of pneumonia. I never seemed to get my strength back, and was always in a weak, nervous condition until a friend advised me to take Milburn's Health and Nerve Pills.

After I had taken two boxes I felt as well as ever, so I will recommend them to any one who is suffering as I did, for I could not have taken any medicine that would have done me so much good."

ASHBURNHAM TANK CALLED NUISANCE IN M.O.H.'S REPORT

The septic tank used for sewage disposal in Ashburnham was characterized as a nuisance by Dr. Murray Fraser in a special report presented to the Board of Health at its regular meeting on Tuesday.

Dr. Fraser's report told of a number of inspections of the Ashburnham tank which was described as 34 years old. It told of the practice followed of washing sludge from the tank into Little Lake twice a year, a method which was condemned as a most unsatisfactory plan. Dr. Fraser said that one solution of the problem would be to join the Ashburnham system to the city's sewage system.

On motion of Ald. Dutton and Ald. McCannan, the matter was referred to City Engineer Parsons and the Medical Officer of Health with instructions to prepare a report for submission to the Board.

A letter was read from Zeta Kearney, public health nurse asking for a holiday and suggesting June as a suitable time. Chairman Walter Stocker said Miss Kearney was asking for a month's vacation and he warned the board they would be on dangerous ground if they acceded to her request, as all other civic employees were allowed but two weeks holiday.

It was moved by Ald. McCannan and seconded by Mayor Hamilton that Miss Kearney be allowed two weeks' holidays. Carried.

The Public Health Nurse also applied for an increase in salary and on motion of Mayor Hamilton and Ald. Dutton she will be notified that the Board is unable to grant her request.

Applications to have sanitary conveniences installed and paid for through the tax bills were received from Mrs. Wright, Lake street and Mrs. Martin, 104 Aylmer street and were referred to the city solicitor for a report as to property title.

Refreshment Booths

At the last meeting of the Board Dr. Fraser was instructed to investigate the matter of sanitary conveniences in refreshment booths, following complaints about some of these places, and at Tuesday's meeting his report was read. It contained the surprising information that there are 90 places in Peterborough with eating-house licenses, the lineup including 19 restaurants, a similar number of refreshment booths and the balance made up of grocery stores, service stations, drug stores, etc.

The restaurants, his report, showed were provided with sanitary conveniences both for their staffs and for their patrons but the booths were for the most part without any such conveniences.

Dr. Fraser suggested that so far as they were concerned they should be required to see that sanitary conveniences were provided for their employees.

The matter was discussed at some length but no action was taken.

On motion of Ald. Dutton and Mayor Hamilton the M.O.H. was authorized to attend a conference of Medical Officers of Health to be held in Toronto. His attendance at this gathering is required by statute.

Dr. Fraser reported that a house in Ashburnham which had been condemned as a dwelling house had been re-opened at the request of the relief authorities and there were now six or seven people living there. There was not enough air space for that many persons he declared.

Ald. Dutton said that it was understood that only about three persons would occupy the place.

Sanitary Inspector MacPherson referred to the large quantity of bones stored by George Stevens in Ashburnham which at times constituted a nuisance and asked for instructions as to what the Board wanted done about the matter.

Mayor Hamilton pointed out that Mr. Stevens had been unable to dispose of the bones and he advised giving him a chance, at the same time pointing out that the Ashburnham man should be warned against adding to the collection.

There were present at the meeting Ald. Walter Stocker, chairman, Ald. Dutton, Ald. McCannan, Mayor Hamilton and Dr. Murray Fraser, M.O.H.

COLLINGWOOD, Ont., May 17—(CP)—Samuel Barnes, 83, a barber here for 65 years, appeared in police court for the first time in his life yesterday. He was charged under the Industrial Standards Act with giving hair cuts for 15 cents, less than the set rate. An adjournment for two weeks was granted.

Masonic Brethren Visit Millbrook

(Examiner Correspondence.)

MILLBROOK, May 17.—An event of peculiar interest in local Masonic history took place at the weekend, when J. B. Hall Lodge, A.F. and A.M., had the pleasure of entertaining as its guest of honor, Right Worshipful Brother H. W. Roche, D.D.G.M., of the Peterborough Masonic district, who was accompanied by several brethren from Havelock Lodge, together with a number of other visiting brethren from Lakefield, Keene, Peterborough and Cobourg.

The third degree was exemplified in a very able manner by the officers and Past Masters of J. B. Hall Lodge, and the District Deputy Grand Master complimented the Worshipful Master and the other officers for their efficient rendition of the work of the evening.

A happy "fourth degree" followed, with supper served, and a number of addresses, the outstanding one being delivered by the guest of the evening, Right Worshipful Brother H. W. Roche.

GUNS GO INTO BAY

HAMILTON, Ont., May 18—(CP)—Local police have found an effective way of hiding confiscated shotguns and small firearms so criminals will not find them. Loading all the weapons into a harbor patrol boat, Detective J. R. Crocker plans to dump the cache into Burlington Bay.

Canadian Hand-Written Bible Starts For Empire Show

13-Pound Volume Took Retired Traveller 23 Years To Complete

MONTREAL, May 18 — (CP). — Believed to be the only manuscript copy of the Bible in existence, a curious 13-pound volume bound in black Morocco leather, will begin to-day the first stage of a journey that will end in the Canadian pavilion at Glasgow's Scottish National Exhibition.

Hugh Russell, 79-year-old Montrealer who took 23 years to write the Bible out in hand, will take it to Ottawa, where he will turn it over to Hon. W. D. Euler, Minister of Trade and Commerce. The Minister will later send it to Glasgow, where Russell was born.

Written from an Oxford edition of the Bible, the volume contains 1,967 pages, all of velum and measuring 10½ inches in length and 10 inches in width. All pages are gilt edged.

KITCHENER AND VANCOUVER BOXERS WIN CANADIAN TITLES

COSTA RICA IS DEFINITELY OUT PLATE CLASSIC

TORONTO, May 18. — Owing to an injury incurred during his training at the Hamilton Jockey Club, Costa Rica, T. S. Cochenour's hope for the King's Plate, has been declared definitely out of the seventy-ninth running of the classic at the Woodbine aPrk next Saturday afternoon.

The handsome son of Ladder wrenched his hip badly enough to hamper training and made it impossible for Trainer Wes. Sherrard to bring him up for the Guineas engagement.

With just four days remaining before the bugle calls the thoroughbreds postward for the mile and an eighth test, sixteen or seventeen remain in the "probably starter" class —and the race, if anything, appears more wide open than ever.

The probable field at this time looks:

Horse:	Owner:
Bobsworth	H. R. Bain
Mona Bell	Cosgrave Stable
Aldwych	R. W. R. Cowie
Fair Wave	R. W. R. Cowie
Tabmark	J. G. Fair
Troublemark	J. G. Fair
Cabin Gal	H. Giddings
Suffern	H. C. Hatch
Caracole	H. C. Hatch
Grand Dame	G. M. Hendrie
Slycat	Medway Stable
Bunty Lawless	W. Morrissey
Thirty Below	Mrs. R. H. New
Red Pirate	Parkwood Stable
Bucharest	Parkwood Stable
Skyros	Mrs. H. Talbot
Wicklow	Riverdale Stable

This morning will be a highly important and interesting one at Woodbine Park, not only for the owners and trainers, but for the public as well.

Practically every candidate is slated to work the full Plate distance, and when the dust has finally settled the rail-birds may have some vague idea of what to expect next Saturday.

After this morning's trials the starters will be packed away in straw up to their knees, and along about Friday will be given a short opener in preparation for their big test in the King's Plate.

Among those that will be seen in action are: Tabmark, from the Jim Fair Stable; Mona Bell, from the Cosgrave Stable; Suffern and Caracole, from the Hatch Stable; Red Pirate and Bucharest, which will carry the hopes of the Parkwood Stable; Bunty Lawless, the Willie Morrissey candidate, and many others.

The following candidates were given short breezes yesterday: Tabmark, five-eights in 1.03 2-5; Mona Bell, three-eighths in .40; Bunty Lawless, three-eighths in .37; Red Pirate and Bucharest, three-eighths in .36 1-5.

Thirty Below was worked the full King's Plate distance. In company, Dalamac, the R. H. New candidate, worked a mile and an eighth in the following fractions: .25 3-5, .51 4-5, 1.19 2-5, 1.48, 2.03 4-5.

The track is lightning fast.

Ten Teams Entered In Kawartha Loop

The Kawartha Tennis League will operate as a 10-team circuit this year, Lindsay and Cobourg returning after an absence of five years. The loop will operate in two sections, top teams in each division playing an elimination contest for possession of the Morrow Trophy, at present held by the Kawartha Club.

Teams in the South Group are: Cobourg, Port Hope, Kawartha "A", Peterborough "A" and Quaker Oats. Those in the North Group include: Kawartha "B", Peterborough "B", Lakefield, Lindsay and Kawartha "C." Play will commence on June 4th. Officers this year are: President, Walter Perks of the Peterborough Club; vice-president, Walker Jones of the Quakers; secretary-treasurer, John Donaldson of the Kawartha Club.

Kingston Gets Title Tournament

KINGSTON, May 18. — The Canadian Professional Golfers' Association has decided to hold the Dominion pro medal play championship tournament at the Cataraqui Club here on September 13 and 14.

The P.G.A. tourney was held here two years ago, and was won by Stanley Horne of Ottawa, who successfully defended the title on his home course last year.

Cage Champs Receive Ovation

A royal welcome awaited Canada's new senior basketball champions, Vancouver Westerns, when they arrived home after defeating Ottawa Glebe Grads in three straight games, in Ottawa. Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two

By CEC PERDUE

SKIPPER Frank Randle of the local lacrossers is now calling for a big practice session tonight (Wednesday) at eight bells under the lights in the George St. arena. Lights are being installed today. On account of there is an exhibition game on for this Friday eve with Woodbridge playing the Petes here. Robert (Red) Creighton has the booth at the arena this year and most naturally is hoping for a huge turnout Friday! They have a nifty green fence around the playing field this year and a new surface on the field. Anyone wanting to see a good stiff practice game, lasting an hour, might drop down there tonight as two regular teams will be selected and the boys will go right to it. And the beauty of it is that it's free! The locals ought to be in the w.k. pink for the invaders Friday p.m.

* * * * * *

WE STILL LIKE the lacrosse executive as being about the best of any sports' body of officers in the city in recent years. They are a young, energetic bunch of fellows who think the sun rises in one lacrosse arena and sets in another gutted-stick playing field. They spare neither time nor expense and have been working all winter to make this a big season, and they never hesitate to roll up their sleeves and go to work with a shovel at the field. We told you last year of their great work in building one of the best lacrosse arenas in the province, a fine outdoor spot with first-rate grandstand accommodations. Well, they're not resting on their laurels but are planning bigger things this season. The ossifers have a dandy team lined up but have run into trouble getting a good group going. But they don't quit—they'll have a nifty one ere long.

* * * * * *

DOWN AT DUFFUS' last night, three teams entered the Men's City Softball League, and a fourth dropped out. Teams in now are Omemee, Motorists and Westclox. Whilst Young Petes, the junior O.A.S.A. entry, folded up. So the loop will operate with three teams, plus a game with each of the eight Southend League teams during the season. Games are at the Bowl except for those in Omemee. The O's play their games at 6.30 standard time while the local squads play at 6.30 till June 12th and then at seven the rest of the season. Opens on May 26th and runs till early in August, when top two teams playoff in four out of seven. Executive will name umps and schedule should be out shortly.

* * * * * *

REASON the Young Petes faded from the scene is simply lack of players. Chuck Dorrington, who managed 'em last year, explained that some of the boys he had figured on this year were playing in the Southend Loop, a couple would line up with Omemee, and a few were playing junior baseball this season. So he couldn't promise a strong squad at all, and the loop moguls wisely decided it would be better to run with three strong and well-matched entries than four, when the fourth was a weak sister. Men's loop has Mondays, Thursdays and Saturdays at the Ashburnham Bowl, but most o fthe tilts, we imagine, will be Monday and Thursday twilights. And fans can look for some tidy tussles once more. Gals' games there will be on Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Fridays—except when they are out of town.

* * * * * *

THERE will be 10 teams in the Kawartha Tennis League this summer, running in two sections. Cobourg and Lindsay have returned after an absence of several years. South Group is: Cobourg, Port Hope, Quakers, Kawartha "A" and Peterborough "A". In the North Group are: Kawartha "B", Peterborough "B", Lindsay, Lakefield and Kawartha "C". They start play on June 4th, top teams in the divisions playing off eventually for the Morrow Trophy. Officers of this lively net circuit for 1938 include: President, Walter Perks; vice-prexy, Walker Jones; secretary-treasurer, Jack Donaldson.

* * * * * *

A NUMBER OF FOLKS here know Earl Whitehill and many more know of him. The Cleveland southpaw visits Peterborough each year and at one time worked for a spell in the Quaker Oats. His brother, Eddie, pitches for the Petes. Well, the veteran Indians' hurler yesterday pitched a four-hit game to beat the Athletics by a 3-1 score in Cleveland. A bit shaky in the first frame, he allowed two walks, hit a batsman and was nicked for a single—all adding up to one run. From then on Whitehill—the oldest hurler in the American League—was unbeatable. He also had two hits in three times up. Hope Eddie does as well in his start with the locals this season.

* * * * * *

HAVEN'T HEARD officially yet, but it looks to us like the Petes will lineup something like this to open here next Tuesday 'gainst Oshawa: Burton, lf; Deadey, cf; Kearns, rf; Cadd, 1b; Kingdon, 2b; Clark, ss; Whatley, 3b; Mowry, c; Kitchen, Jakafby and Whitehill as pitchers. Scriver hasn't got his transfer yet, Murphy can't play till June 4th, and Calladine and Starr are still on the holdout list. This is not the most powerful looking squad in the loop on paper yet, but may shake down into a real fighting ball club. We're not too worried about the fielding strength of the Petes, and we have a hunch our pitching will be okay this year. What the boys will do in the hitting department is the big question mark in what is sometimes referred to as our mind. But we'll see in time.

* * * * * *

AFTER SEVERAL YEARS in softball, the public school baseball teams are going along okay and turning in neat efforts. One remarkable feature we've noticed is the number of strikeouts the young hurlers are having. The other day King Edward and Queen Alex schools had a game and there were no less than 34 strikeouts in the seven innings staged—an average of 17 on each side! Yet passed balls, errors and walks made the count 10-2 before the end. It would seem that the lads are finding it a whole lot tougher to hit that little pellet as it comes whistling over the platter than they did to smear the big turnip as it floated up. Ditto with the fielding. But batters and fielders will catch up with the pitchers yet.

* * * * * *

GRAB-BAG: Jimmy Arneil, ex-Ponies' catcher, will be playing manager o fthe Locos of Kingston in the Quinte intermediate loop.... Gals' circuit opens Friday with Westclox in Lindsay....Orme Gamsby of Orono is running an intermediate "C" ball team this season....Len Crawford, starry wingman of Kingston juniors, O.H.A. junior "B" champs, has moved to Toronto....T.C.S. Junior School first eleven defeated the junior eleven of Grove School Monday by six wickets and 34 runs....Motorists of the City Softball League practice at six Thursday eve in the Bowl, and Shorty Barrett says all positions are open....Wonder if Chuck Peck, classy Queen's gridder who graduates this year, will be back with Cobourg in rugby this fall....Church softball tonight: Mark St. Seniors vs. Murray St. at King Edward, umps from Knox and Majors; George St. Juveniles vs. Mark St. at the Oval, umps from All Saints and St. James; St. John's Bantams vs. St. James at King Edward; Knox Bantams vs. All Saints at Prince of Wales....Three local midget lacrosse squads are pretty well lined up now....All we can find out of the Keene femme softballers is the ambiguous announcement that the players are in good shape and the pitchers will show a neat assortment of curves—which, after all, isn't news!

Lawn Bowling

By HERB MARTIN

The information that we have today for our bowlers, might, to some extent, seem a little premature, but our only object in doing so is that our members may lay out their programme for next week.

It is not our intention to elaborate on all the improvements that have been accomplished this spring by the Greens committee—it would take too long—but with the purchase of a power roller and a disc cultivator we believe our greens will be just about the best in the province. Of course it will be some time before we will notice results from the operations of these two machines, but the greens will be better for you and I to bowl on. This is just a little of what has been going on for the past few weeks—as for the rest you will have to come out and see for yourself.

Now about May 24—the games will commence at 1.30 p.m.. The draw will be from the board. All three games to be played in the afternoon. There will be no fee as the competition is "on the house."

We expect that all the board of directors will be present, each chairman of a committee and all of his committee; and each skip and his entire rink to be present also, and with this in view we expect the biggest opening day in the history of our club.

And just for comparison we print the opening days for the past few years:

1935—24 rinks (mixed).
1936—26 rinks (mixed).
1937—28 rinks (mixed).
1938—?

We don't want to go on record as being a prophet, but our guess is that we will have over 30 rinks out on the holiday.

Yesterday's Stars

Dick Coffman and Sam Leslie, Giants—Former set down Cubs in order after entering game in 12th with bases loaded and none out; latter's pinch-hit single scored Mel Ott with run that won for Giants 6-5.

Bill McGee, Cardinals—Gave Dodgers one hit and one walk, fanned nine and scored one run and drove the other as Cards won 2-1.

Milt Shoffner, Bees, and Russ Bauers, Pirates—Former shut out Bucs 1-0 on three singles, while Bauers, pitching one-hit game, was beaten on combination of pass, single and error.

SOCCER PRACTICE

The Brinton soccer club will have a practise match on Thursday evening on King Edward Park grounds. Time 6:30.

Majors Beat Knox In Church League

George St. Majors took a 10-2 win over Knox Seniors of the Church Softball League last night at the Oval the win putting the Majors on top of the heap as Knox lost their first in three. Ron Akers turned in a smart heaving chore, allowing but three hit sas he walked five. He had good support and was seldom in danger. Dunkerley's infield work was fine. A. Wedlock, for the losers, was hit hard for the first time this year and his support was shaky in spots. W. Wedlock and Copping went best defensively for the Knox crew. Roberts led the Majors at bat with four, one a homer and Dunkerley also hit a homer. Wells had a few neat drives, too.

McKinley got both the losers' runs, with two walks and a hit in three times up. The teams:

Score by innings:

		R.	H.	E.
Knox	010 100 0—	2	3	3

Queen Alex Wins Over King Edward

Queen Alex Juniors nosed out a 17-16 win over King Edward yesterday in an exciting School League Softball League fixture, to even up the recent senior reverse the Q.A. boys took at the hands of the south-enders. A 10-run splash in the sixth frame pulled Queen Alex up from behind and they added three in a hectic seventh stanza to cop the nod. Some fair pitching and fielding were shown with plenty of hard hitting on both sides. King Edward got six runs in the second, four each in the fifth and sixth and a pair in the last. Queen Alex got one in the second, three in the fourth, 10 counters in the sixth and three at the wind-up. The teams:

Queen Alex: Barrows, p; Gaskill, c; Lyon, 1b; Richardson, 2b; Davis, 3b; Brown, 3b; Bedford, ss, p; Smith, lf; G. Davis, cf; Handbridge, rf.

Umpires—D. Crawford and E. R. Frost.

Sports Spice

By EDDIE BRIETZ

NEW YORK, May 18 (AP)—Sports writers here with the Cubs say if there is a niftier third sacker than Stanley Hack in either major league, they are willing to learn.

Dizzy Dean and Tex Carleton, former team-mates on the Cardinals and now together on the Cubs, have kissed and made up...They only had one falling out in seven years but boy, how the feud lasted...Yesterday was Norwegian fourth of July ...Joe McCarthy had promised his Norwegian catcher, Arndt Jorgens, he could catch the game against the Browns...Just when Arndt got all steamed up for what may be his only chance behind the plate this season, the game was rained out.

The lads along Broadway are going strong for War Admiral against Seabiscuit...Lieut. Joseph P. Murry, who for years has had the Yankee Stadium and the Polo Grounds as a regular assignment and who probably knows more big-league ball players than any New York cop, retired yesterday.

The Reds once played a complete ball game with only two balls.... Three dozen balls are used in an average major league game...Secret of Augie Galan's amazing comeback at the plate is the fact he had a film-like growth removed from his right eye...Augie says the ball used to "miggle" every time it neared the plate.

Fistic Champs

WINNIPEG, May 18 (C.P.). — Champions grounded in the final bouts last night at the Dominion amateur boxing championships follow:

Flyweight — Freddie Ward, of Hamilton, Ont.

Bantamweight — Tony Roberts, Winnipeg.

Featherweight — Billy Brade, Winnipeg.

Lightweight — Frankie Williams, Regina.

Welterweight—Gord. Schmaltz, Kitchener, Ont.

Middleweight — Joe Ashenbrenner, Vancouver.

Light-heavyweight — Andy Miller, Kenora, Ont.

Heavyweight — Dick Syms, Fort William.

GORD. SCHMALTZ DEFENDS CROWN WICKED ATTACK

WINNIPEG, May 18 (CP)—Two punching powerhouses representing the east and west lifted most of the glory as Canada's 1938 amateur boxing championships became history today.

Swarthy Gordon Schmaltz, Kitchener, Ont., welterweight and Vancouver's Joe Ashenbrenner, rode to national titles on lethal right hand punches. They were the big guns of a 16-fight program that named eight Dominion champions last night.

Veteran of 209 bouts, the German-bred Schmaltz defended his welterweight crown with a smashing attack. He polished off George Nyberg of Port Arthur in two rounds after being awarded a technical knockout over Winnipeg's Alex Lindsay in a semi-final bout.

No less prominent was the slugging Ashenbrenner who came to the tournament from Vancouver on freight trains. He pounded Paul Rickey of Winnipeg to a pulp before being awarded a technical knockout late in the third round to earn a final berth.

He was given a stern argument for two rounds by Jack Cummings of Winnipeg in the championship bracket but his devastating right hand turned the tide in his favor in the third.

Schmaltz and little Freddie Ward of Hamilton, Ont., took the only titles that went east of Lake Superior. Ward, a clean-cut red-haired boy, outpointed Paul Stuart of Montreal in the flyweight final.

Ontario claimed supremacy among the big fellows. Dick Syms of Fort William captured the heavyweight crown while Andy Miller, handsome Kenora, Ont., taxi-driver, topped the light-heavyweight division.

Three boxers brought the prairies into the championship group. Billy Brade and Tony Roberts, both of Winnipeg, earned the featherweight and bantamweight crowns respectively and Regina's hard-hitting Frankie Williams reached the lightweight peak

NEW YORK GIANTS EDGE OUT CUBS 6-5 IN 12 INNING BATTLE

NEW YORK, May 18.—(CP)—The National leaguers finally have that new ball that was intended to give the pitchers so much help this season.

They were beginning to suspect the manufacturer of palming off some old spheres in place of the new five-strand, thick-cover ball after watching the flingers get their ears pinned back regularly. But the results of yesterdays games indicate the pitchers certainly had something. Maybe it was that helpful ball.

Four games in the senior circuit produced the following: Two one-hitters, one three and one four-hit hurling job, and some plain and fancy elbowing in the day's major contest, a 12-inning duel between the league-leading New York Giants and the challenging Chicago Cubs.

Although six flingers toiled for the two teams before Sambo Leslie's pinch single in the 12th broke up the ball game and gave the Giants a 6-5 triumph, still it was a well pitched game. The first inning produced most of the scoring as the Cubs smashed Cliff Melton for two runs and the Giants came back to drive Tex Carleton off the hill with none out and tally three times. Clay Bryant took Carleton's place and granted only six hits in 11 1-3 innings. Four were bunched for two runs in the fifth.

Coffman Comes to Rescue

Melton tired and loaded the sacks with none out in the 12th but Dick Coffman, peer of the relief pitchers, staged a successful rescue. Then the Giants went on to win when Bryant suddenly faded and let Mel Ott reach second on a pass and sacrifice. Leslie, sent in to hit against Jack Russell, came through with the blow that scored Ott.

The one-hit pitching feats came from Russ Bauers of Pittsburgh, who lost his to Boston Bees 1-0 and thereby qualified for the second run of hard-luck guys, and Fiddler Bill McGee of St. Louis Cardinals, who beat Brooklyn 2-1.

Bauers took his place right behind the five pitchers in big league history who have pitched no-hit games for nine innings or more and lost them when a wild peg followed the only hit he granted and resulted in Boston's lone run. That was in the first inning. Elbie Fletcher led off with a walk; Debs Garms shot a single to centre and when Lloyd Waner threw toward third, the ball bounced off Fletcher's bat, allowing the runner to score. For the Bees Milt Shoffner pitched three-hit ball and escaped all trouble.

Goody Rosen, the Toronto lad who spoiled a no-hitter for Hal Schumacher earlier in the year, made the only Dodger hit off McGee and the usually reliable Joe Medwick was so surprised he let the ball roll past and Rosen came home. McGee, who fanned nine, also made two of the Cards' hits off Luke Hamlin and figured in the scoring of both runs.

Paul Derringer pitched Cincinnati's Reds to a 13-1 victory, limiting the Phillies to four blows while his mates collected 22, including a home by Linus Frey.

The American League also got a share of the fine flinging in its only game as Cleveland's Earl Whitehill set the Athletics down with four blows and beat them 5-1. He received the benefit of Hal Trosky's homer with one aboard and of the wildness of his mound rival, George Caster. Three other contests, New York-St. Louis, Boston-Chicago and Washington-Detroit were rained out.

GOLF FACTS NOT THEORIES

By Alex Morrison

Stand Erect.

Just as you can be sure of pressing sooner or later, so you can be certain that you will stand too far away from the ball and bend over too much during your swing. These things happen to all players, no matter how much they may be on guard against them.

You are especially apt to fall into these faults in the early part of the season. It is only natural to have the feeling that you should stand away from the ball in order to get a full swing at it. And it is in keeping with this feeling of naturalness that you overlook the incorrect body action caused by bending over too much.

An excessive forward bend does away with any chance of producing the proper hip and leg action Without these things there can be no co-ordination between your body and hands, and without this co-ordination you are better off away from the golf course. It is well worth while setting aside your feelings and objections to standing closer to the ball.

If you find difficulty doing this during a game, then work it out on the practice ground, but in one place or the other make sure that you stand close enough to the ball so that you are decidedly upright in your posture. This upright posture encourages the proper body action which in turn will lead to the much desired co-ordination between body and hands.

Next: Your Swing.

TORONTO WINS 13-FRAME GAME FROM SYRACUSE

TORONTO, May 18.—A timely drive by Charley Sheerin; excellent relief hurling by three members of Dan Howley's hurling corps and some wild flinging by the opposition relief moudsmen, combined to fashion a thirteen-inning 7 to 6 triumph game of their current series with Syracuse Chiefs at the Stadium yesterday.

It was a clean smash to left field by Sheerin which sent the winning run across the plate; it was lack of control by Ted Kleinhans, who relieved Jake Mooty in the seventh, that left the bases loaded on three passes to set the stage for Sheerin's drive; and it was beautiful tossing by Johnny Wilson, Walter Lanfranconi and Ted Olson which kept the Chiefs from scoring, after the visitors had piled up a 6 to 0 lead in the second inning.

Although there were several factors contributing to the Leafian triumph, the feature performance was that of Ted Olson, who pitched hitless ball during his five-inning relief stretch. He rightfully was credited with, and earned, the decision.

Three Walks and a Single.

Kleinhans's lack of control was next in order of importance. Relieving Jake Mooty in the seventh, he wild-pitched the fifth Toronto run of that inning across the plate, and then was fortunate to escape further damage when Charley Sheerin blasted a torrid liner right at Shortstop McDaniel to end the rally.

In the ninth, he walked Gantenbein, and after the latter moved around to the third with two out, he strolled home as a balk was called on the erratic southpaw. Kleinhans completed his philanthropic actions in the thirteenth, when he walked three batters to fill the bases, and pave the way for Sheerin's game-winning single with two out.

Wilson and Lanfranconi come in for a fairish share of the laurels. Wilson relieved Mike Meola in the second inning and although passing two batters and yielding a single then, scattered five hits over the next five stanzas without yielding another score.

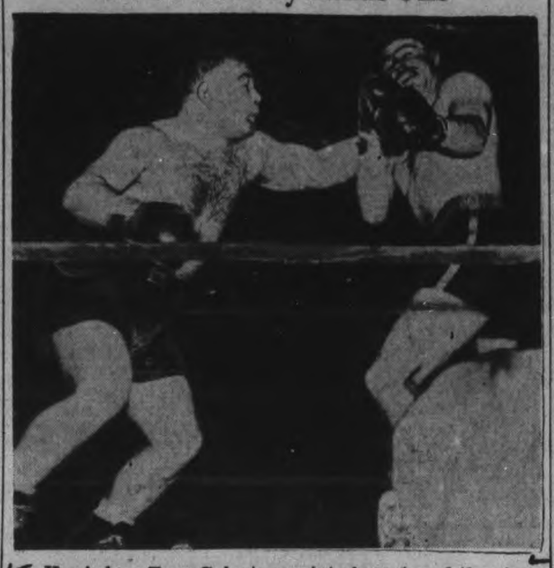
Wilson was lifted for pinch-hitter Al Smith, whose single played a large part in a five-run rally in the seventh, and Lanfranconi toiled for one frame, before he, too, was taken from the mound in favor of Flea Clifton's bat. Olson went on from there.

The blond - haired graduate of Dartmouth College faced only three batters in four of the five innings he toiled. He experienced some trouble in the twelfth when Urbanski's fumble, followed by a miscut of his own, put a pair of Tribesmen on base, but he was pulled out of a dangerous spot when Adair's hard smash deflected off Olson's glove to Urbanski, who engineered a close double play.

Not Meola's Day.

The visitors didn't waste any time in proving it wasn't Meola's day. The husky Toronto right-hander was pounded for two runs on three singles and a walk in the first inning.

Two-Ton Tony Lands One



Here's how Tony Galento, quaint character of the ring, looks in action. Tony's fighting style is to wade in, giving and taking blows, and "may the best man last the longest." Natie Mann, a supposedly promising heavyweight, is his opponent and recipient of a crushing left to the chin here. He lasted two minutes and four seconds of the second round against the Jersey elbow-bender.

BLUBBER MALONE BLANKS MONTREAL FOR HIS 2ND WIN

TORONTO, May 18 (C.P.).—Old Blubber Malone, who has made plenty of trouble in his day, has bobbed up in the International Baseball League to create a few headaches for opponents of Baltimore Orioles.

"Old Blub"—they used to call him Pat in his days with the Cubs—was picked up by the flock, desperate for pitchers, this spring. He won his second straight game yesterday, a nifty one-hitter, over Montreal Royals 3-0.

While the second-place Orioles were going to town, the first-place Newark Bears were losing to Rochester Red Wings 7-2 for their third straight defeat. On other fronts Buffalo Bisons plastered a 12-6 defeat on Jersey City Giants and Toronto Maple Leafs shaded Syracuse Chiefs 7-6.

Malone got plenty of support from Ab Wright, who accounted for two of the Flock's runs with a homer and a double. The lone hit off Malone was a bunt out by Catcher Gilly Campbell of the Royals in the fifth. Malone walked three and struck out one.

Longest Losing Streak.

Defeat of the Bears equalled their longest losing streak (three games) over a two-season stretch. The Wings ganged Atley Donald and collected 12 hits in all with Bernie Cobb leading the attack with a homer and triple. Al Sherer scattered seven Newark hits for the Wings, who took over fourth place from Jersey City as a result of the win.

The Little Giants didn't have anyone to stop Buffalo's 15-hit offence although three hurlers tried.

The Chiefs got away to a six-run lead in the first two innings, but subsided thereafter. The Leafs kept pecking away and pushed over the winning run in the 13th on Charley Sheerin's single.

DIES AFTER HEADER

CAMBRIDGE, England—(CP). — Arthur Garrod, bus conductor who had been given trials by Norwich City and Ipswich Town football clubs, died after heading the ball in a game here.

PAT REMILLARD TOPS JOCKEYS IN KING'S PLATE

TORONTO, May 18 (CP)—Topped by Pat Remillard, premier Canadian rider, one of the greatest gatherings of jockeys ever to meet in a race here will straddle thoroughbreds entered in the 79th running of the King's Plate at Woodbine Park Saturday.

J. W. Bailey, a wiry, strong-wristed home-town boy who made good in foreign fields, will pilot the favorite Willie Morrissey's Bunty Lawless. Bailey started exercising horses a couple of years ago, but never really got an opportunity to show his talent until he travelled to the United States where he is now under contract.

"Nothing but the best," was Morrissey's motto when he started a hunt for a jockey. Available Canadian riders failed to meet his requirements so he journeyed to New York. He dickered with a number of leading United States jockeys and finally landed Bailey to do the riding.

Stamina and speed of the favored colt is not strange to Bailey. Engagements around Toronto tracks last year included the mount on Bunty Lawless two or three times.

Will Ride Grand Dame

Remillard, top-ranking rider during 1935-36-37, will mount Grand Dame, a three-year-old filly owned by George M. Hendrie. Remillard's riding success has always eluded him in Canada's feature race.

Willie Garner, nephew of the late Mac Garner, former riding great, has been requisitioned to ride H. C. Hatch's Caracole while Danny Brammer will be aboard Suffern, second half of the Hatch entry.

ONTARIO BOXERS WIN SEMI-FINALS

WINNIPEG, May 18 (C.P.). — Wind-up of the two-night Dominion boxing championships last night saw 28 fighters in action, bidding for crowns from flyweight to heavy. More than 1,200 fans viewed the finals.

Don Richards of Hamilton, Ont., defeated Leo Cerbasi, Winnipeg, in the opening bout, a semi-final featherweight match. The fight was marred by frequent clinching.

FEATHERWEIGHT.

Harry Zillman, Winnipeg, 134, won the decision over Doug Powell, Vancouver, 134.

MIDDLEWEIGHT.
Semi-Final.

Joe Ashenbrenner, Vancouver, 158, won by technical knockout over Paul Rickey, Winnipeg, 159, in 2.59 of the third round.

UNFIT FOR GOLF

DEAL, England—(CP).—Owing to inundation by the sea and subsequent drought Royal Cinque Ports course will be unfit for the British open golf championship, officials have ruled.

To The Victors, The Spoils

Playing grand golf in a heavy rain on his last tour of the course, Jimmy Hines won the annual Metropolitan open golf championship in New York by posting a 72-hole score of 287. It was prize giving time when the photographer walked in on the scene and caught Sam Snead, who finished second, casting an envious eye over Hines shoulder at the winner's cheque. LEFT to RIGHT, Snead, Hines, Ralph Guldahl, who took third money, and Mark Stewart, chairman of the committee in charge.

OMEMEE ENTERS CITY CIRCUIT

Omemee entered the Men's City Softball League last night at the re-organization meeting in Duffus', but Young Petes dropped out—leaving three teams to face the barrier May 26th at the Bowl. They are Omemee Westclox and Motorists. Chuck Dorrington pointed out that if Young Petes entered they would be weaker than last year with some half of the team dispersed, so it was agreed that it was better to run with three good teams—and a game each with the eight Southend League teams—than operate a four-club circuit, with one weak member.

President Bob Simmons conducted the session, a well-attended meeting. Omemee will play games here and at home at 6.30 standard time. Local teams play here at 6.30 till daylight saving starts and then at seven o'clock. Vince Stewart was re-appointed groundskeeper and league officers will take up collections. First and second teams play-off in four out of seven in August for the Taylor Cup and the right to enter O.A.S.A. playdowns. The league will again supply balls and take the collections. The schedule will be drawn up shortly.

Olympic Confirms Games For Japan

BRUSSELS, May 18 (C.P.-Havas). — The executive of the International Olympic Committee last night confirmed a previous decision taken at Cairo to hold the next Olympic Games in Japan from September 21 to October 8, 1940. The executive noted with satisfaction that the Mayor of Tokio had agreed the 1940 International Exposition to be held in the Japanese capital should end before the Games began.

DEBRIS INDICATES 4 FISHERS' BODIES UNDER LOG BOOM

FITZROY HARBOR, Ont., May 18 (CP). — Searchers used grappling irons today in an effort to recover the bodies of four Ottawa men believed to have been drowned when their passenger motorboat capsized in the Ottawa River near this village, 25 miles west of Ottawa.

Finding of a pair of oars, a small can of gasoline and a green-covered vacuum bottle strengthened belief that Gaspard Chene, Paul Paquin, Russell Radcliffe and Wilfrid Bolduc drowned in the powerful eddies of the river. A boat seat and a piece of gunwale from the side of a boat also were found.

Rowing their skiff along a boom in the river, Leo Lebrun and his brother William, of Quyon, noticed a wooden box jammed against the boom and discovered it contained a can half-full of gasoline. Later they noticed the stern of a boat freshly broken away from the rest of the craft. The equipment was identified by James Wiseman, caretaker, who had seen the men depart.

Villagers saw the fishing foursome on Saturday near the Chats Falls power dam, but none noted signs of distress.

May Be Squall Victims.

Belief that in manoeuvring the boat the men had got caught in the turbulent backwash was discounted by J. A. Kedey, an old resident of Fitzroy, who maintained that Paul Paquin was familiar with every foot of the river. Theories have been advanced that the boat might have capsized during a sudden squall, common to the Ottawa River, or that the boat might have struck a "dead head" or floating log, being carried along in the treacherous undercurrents.

The boom at which the objects from the boat were found extends from McGillivray Island close to the Ontario shore, to the Quebec side at Quyon. The broken parts of the boat and other articles definitely identified by Wiseman, were found about 100 yards from the Quebec side of the river.

Fears that the bodies have been carried by the swift current beneath the boom containing upwards of 20,000 logs were expressed by employees of the company which operates the boom.

Planes Urge Surrender.

Another Japanese column was fighting a major Chinese force at Yaolu, nine miles south-west of the city. Three Japanese squadrons bombed Suchow throughout the day, dropping leaflets advising surrender.

Emphasizing the bitterness of the fighting for the important rail junction, Japanese forces received new orders that "no prisoners are to be taken so as to shorten the war's duration." The order means the Japanese must try to annihilate the enemy. The Chinese also have been instructed not to take prisoners.

The Japanese reported at least six of their columns had severed the east-west Lunghai Railway between Lanfeng and Haichow, while other forces advancing on Suchow and the Lunghai were spread-eagled in an attempt to plug all holes in the gigantic net and prevent escape of the estimated 200,000 Chinese trapped in the Suchow zone.

Capture of Suchow would give the Japanese control of the Tientsin-Pukow Railway for its full length from Tientsin to Pukow, across the Yangtse River from Nanking, and link Japan's North China conquest with its conquered area in the Yangtse Valley.

Meanwhile apprehension was felt for foreigners believed to be in Surchow, including 23 Canadian Roman Catholic priests and seven Canadian Roman Catholic sisters. Outside the south wall of Suchow, four United States Presbyterian missionaries were in the path of one of the advancing Japanese columns.

CROWD CHASES

tario Legislature for Windsor-Walkerville and former Minister of Welfare, who had addressed council. When Weese appeared the crowd began concerted booing.

City Has No Choise

Weese had taken the stand at the meeting that the proposed cut must be enforced on government orders, to go into effect June 1. He said provincial authorities would not allow Windsor, a defaulting municipality, to add a special assessment to the tax rate, and left council with no choice but to pass the relief reduction.

Spirit of good humor ran through the rain-soaked throng early in the evening and songs and soap-box orators were numerous, along with loud boos for relief officials and Mayor E. S. Wigle. Alderman Reginald Morris, only communist on city council, was cheered. He had addressed the gathering after leaving council meeting for a short time after an argument with Mayor Wigle.

People began to gather two hours before the meeting. Only 75 were admitted to council chamber because of safety measures ordered by fire and building inspectors. As the crowd outside the building mounted, a dozen police officers were sent to the scene. Reserves, totalling 25 officers, went to the police building seconds after the crowd became restless. No violence was used in getting the crowd under control.

Several other civic officials were placed under police protection as they stepped from the building following conclusion of the meeting. Mayor Wigle was escorted to his car by five officers.

Although he did not disclose the name of the persons who issued the order, Mayor Wigle told council that the provincial welfare department had ordered the reductions.

2 Hour Argument

Argument over the relief cuts waged for more than two hours before Weese informed council the cuts "must" go into effect. A few minutes later, Mayor Wigle told council Hon. Eric Cross, Ontario Minister of Welfare, had issued a similar order by telephone yesterday.

During the hearing, Mayor Wigle criticized Mr. Croll for having queried Mr. Cross as to the source of the first order announced May 7 directing 20 per cent relief cuts. Cross at that time informed Croll the instructions had not come from his department.

In an address to council, Croll said he had no apologies to make for sending the query and noted he was rather surprised at the reply. He said he would rather lose friends than foresake his principle of fighting for unfortunate people. Earlier, Controller Arthur Reaume had accused Mayor Wigle of "pussyfooting" in regard to his failure to say definitely who had issued earlier instruction to Windsor Welfare Administrator Charles Hays calling for the cuts.

"There are actual cases of starvation in Windsor today," Croll said. "I don't think the question is who issued the orders for the relief cut. That's not important. I think council should attempt to avert the cut. It was my duty to avert the cut if I could."

He told council that 14,000 persons on relief in Windsor at the present time "depended on your judgment."

MART FOR CATTLE

ing the discussion. That, he declared, was something the government should investigate.

Spread on Wide

Mr. Leader said the matter had already engaged the interest of the Manitoba Legislature. He had gone to a local restaurant to check up on the amount of meat served in a steak and found it was from eight to 10 ounces. He realized there were some frills served with the steak but the spread between the price on the market and on the restaurant table was very wide.

Robert Finn (Lib. Halifax) said it was a regrettable fact that the Maritime provinces were taking a retrograde step in respect to agriculture. Some of the finest cattle in the world were raised in Nova Scotia but large packing companies such as Canada Packers, were crowding the wholesalers out of the picture.

Large Ontario and Quebec organizations were playing too big a part in Nova Scotia business, Mr. Finn said, and he referred to the Eaton and Simpson mail order houses in Halifax which he declared had driven the old merchandising houses of Halifax out of business.

J. J. Kinley (Lib. Queens-Lunenburg), Vincent Pottier (Lib. Yarmouth) Mr. Leader and W. Earl Rowe (Con. Dufferin-Simcoe) were among those who argued the logical point for killing was on the Atlantic seaboard. It would save an intermediate rail hault. Mr. Gardiner questioned the possibility of a steady supply at those points even for the experimental shipments, although some of the best cattle he had seen were raised in the Maritimes.

Steady All Year Trade

Advantage of the fresh killed export over shipping on the hoof was that a steady business could be maintained the year round. Live cattle shipments had varied, one year seeing 6,000 head going to England and another year 60,000.

Careful selection of graded animals for this business should build up a market for 200,000 head annually if the experimental shipments proved successful, the minister said, but great care would have to be maintained to keep up the quality.

Under present arrangements weekly shipments of 25 head would be made. The government had made agreements with Canada Packers and Swifts in Toronto to carry out the experimental with the federal treasury making good any loss to the companies.

Replying to a question from R. J. Deachman (Lib. Huron North) Mr. Gardiner said he had not been able to find any literature in Canada on the processing of apples into powder but understood it was a German experiment. He did feel that something might be done with respect to putting sweet apple cider on Canadian tables.

The minister said this dealt with the same matter raised by Mr. Graydon and observed that while Canada was spending only $200,000 for marketing compared favorably with the $2,000,000 the member for Peel said was being spent in United States, considering the comparative populations.

77 Officials in Ontario.

"Then you have only 77 inspectors for Ontario, a province which I think grows more fruit and vegetables than any other province in Canada.

"They don't need to be watched," Daniel McIvor (Lib., Fort William) suggested.

"No, the packing situation in Ontario is not very good, either," Mr. Spence declared, "but the packing by fruit growers of Ontario has improved wonderfully in recent years.

"Apples are not so well graded in Ontario as British Columbia. They are more on a par with Nova Scotia." There were some exceptions. "You cannot get Ontario to grade potatoes at all. The situation with regard to packing of potatoes in Ontario is a crime.

"If the Ontario potatoes were graded as they are in Prince Edward Island, properly inspector and properly packed, if the best commercial grades were planted, we could keep Prince Edward Island potatoes out of the province entirely."

Inspector Recommends Regular Disinfecting Of Market Hall

R. M. MacPherson Finds Bakeries In The City In Satisfactory Condition

A strong recommendation from Sanitary Inspector R. M. MacPherson that the market building should be disinfected regularly was a highlight of his report for April to the Board of Health and at Tuesday's meeting of that body met with the approval of Mayor Hamilton and other members of the Board.

It was decided that a trial disinfectant should be proceeded with and Ald. Dutton offered the use of an electric sprayer with which to make the experiment.

The inspetcor's report in part was as follows:

In several pasteurizing plants where cream was being handled in manner unapproved by this department, the managers have employed methods which are in keeping with the safe processing of milk and cream. Since the initiation of recommended methods the bacterial counts on cream have been considerably reduced and it is cotrain that a safer product is being obtained.

A number of tests on raw milk and cream showed unsatisfactory results and a subsequent check-up on the farm showed considerable carelessness on the part of the producer. In one case it was necessary to exclude the product from the city until conditions were improved.

I am pleased to report that during inspection of dairy farms the majority of producers were voluntarily having their herds tested for mastitis and removing any reacting animals. Milk of good quality can only be produced from mastitis free herds. Many producers are beginning to realize that besides the advantages derived from such a herd from a health standpoint, there is a decided advantage financially since this disease invariably results in decreased production.

Wooden floors in dairy stables are contrary to the regulations and do not lend themselves toward a safe product. It is impossible, due to the absorbing and retention of liquids, to prevent odours in barns thus built. Furthermore the porousness of such floors provide excellent conditions for the development of bacteria which find their way into the milk from the body of the cow and through handling of pails, stools, etc. Consequently, a number of producers were given notices to install floors of some non-absorbent material. These recommendations are to be complied with before the herd is stabled again in the fall.

Bakeries.

Bakeries inspected in the city were in general quite clean and satisfactory. Troughs, racks, mixers and miscellaneous equipment were well looked after. In most of them, floors, walls and ceilings were kept clean and free from dust and cobwebs. Considerable improvement has been brought about in one shop where conditions were unsatisfactory. This shop has been painted and enamelled white throughout.

The stable in connection with the same shop has been thoroughly cleaned and lime washed.

Several out of town bakeries were inspected during the month. One of these was found to be satisfactory but the other one was in very unsanitary state. No attempt has been made to carry out previous recommendations and consequently the product was excluded from sale in the city.

Restaurants.

A number of restaurants were inspected durin gthe month and were found, in general, clean and well cared for. Instructions are being issued as to the proper use of chlorine sterilizer and efforts are being made to have proper washing and sterilizing equipment installed where such is lacking. The time involved in the necessary education of employees in the sterilizing of dishes and utensils by use of chlorine compounds is considerable but I feel certain it is time well spent.

Market.

The market and market house were inspected during the month and I must say that most of the vendors have been very ready to comply with any suggestion as to general cleanliness of stalls, protection of pastry from flies and dust and the proper disposal of wastes from vegetables, fruits, etc. It is a source of pleasure to note the interest of the vendors in maintaining their stands in good order.

Now that the fly season is upon us I feel that every effort should be made to control as far as possible its infesting the market house. The fly is notorious for the part it plays in the dissemination of such dangerous diseases as typhoid, infantile diarrhoea, tuberculosis, cholera, dysentery, etc. I do not think there is need to enlarge upon its menace to public health since its habit of passing directly from filth to human food is quite well known.

I would suggest that regular disinfection of the market house be employed as a preventive measure against this truly dangerous pest. This could be done by spraying with pyrethrum-kerosene spray or other recognized insecticide. I cannot emphasize too much the necessity for such disinfection. Other both larger and smaller centres realizing the need of a campaign against this ubiquitous insect have for a number of years been disinfecting the markets, with very satisfying results. The protection afforded the citizens of Peterborough by such would duly compensate the small cost involved. May I again suggest the regular disinfection of the market building.

BLISTER RUST IS FOUND ON PINE

A specimen of white pine blister rust found at Chemong Park was shown to The Examiner to-day by I. C. Marritt of the Forestry Branch of the Ontario Department of Mines and Forests.

"The infestation of the rust in the woods at Bridgenorth is light and is not a serious matter," Mr. Marritt said. "It is a fungus that attacks the white pine, girdles and destroys it. It is quite a destructive disease among trees, but there is not much of it in this district. The spores of this blister rust are carried from pines to currant bushes, and return to infect other pines. They can travel quite a distance from a pine tree, but their range from currant bushes is believed to be no more than 500 yards. So one way of combating the disease is to get rid of currant bushes within a radius of 500 yards. The Kelly woods at Bridgenorth is now a demonstration bush, and is one of the best stands of pines in this district."

A Sugar Maple Season

Mr. Marritt said the present spring has been exceptionally favorable for the germination of sugar maples.

"We haven't had a season like it for ten years. There was heavy seeding last fall, and the germination has been remarkable. This fact is worth calling to the attention of farmers who might fence a bush to keep the cattle out and give the seeding trees a chance to grow as a future source of maple syrup."

TWO FAIR BOARDS SPONSOR PROJECTS

Two of the junior farmers' projects in this county have been taken under the wings of the Lakefield and Norwood Agricultural Associations.

The Boys' Calf Club is being sponsored by the Lakefield Fair, and Frank Paterson, agricultural representative, reports that a few more boys are needed to bring the club up to the strength he believes it should have. The training the boys of this Club receive, and the detail of keeping feed costs, the bookkeeping of the business that is too often neglected, is reward of membership, ample repayment even if it were the only one.

The same applies to the Foal Club that is being promoted by the Norwood Fair. The boys joining this junior group must own a colt, and a certain program is laid out for their course which ends on the day of the Fair when the colts are exhibited and judged. There will be time for boys to join the Foal Club even in June, but Mr. Paterson would like to close the list of the Calf Club as soon as possible.

TRAFFIC COURT

In traffic court before Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., this morning Joe Robertson was fined $5 and $3 costs for not having a license plate on a trailer. For having a defective horn W. J. Renwick of Westwood paid $2 and 75 cents costs and Martin Reddick found driving without a mirror a luxury for which he had to pay $2 and $2.50 costs. A. Cherney parked on the south side of a street with his car facing west and that breach of a city bylaw cost him $2 and 75 cents costs and Russell McGaw and G. H. Burns paid the same amount for angle parking. Lloyd Cruse was nicked $5 and $3 costs for failure to produce a driving license.

Conway-Friedley First Fishing Exploit Of Season Is Successful

They had heard so much talk about fishing, first trout and then pickerel, that finally Slim Friedley and Jimmy Conway of Ross Hood's garage decided that it wasn't too late for a formal opening of their own season. It seemed that everybody had fishing stories to tell. They began on May 1, and yarns of strings of trout were related by customers who had been all the way from Cavan and Manvers to away up in Hastings. Meanwhile, Slim and Jimmie were sticking to the job, and they might have forgot about the fish if the pickerel season hadn't come along with more palaver. So they got their poles down Monday, polished up the hooks, and went off somewhere just to show the gang that fishing was a cinch, and incidentally to get a load of stories of Friedley-Conway exploits. It is not clear when they started on their expedition, and probably Ross Hood might do a little investigating, because the rumor has it that it was an afternoon affair. Of course full fledged veterans of the pickerel brigade get up before the night is over, and some of them stay out all night. Whatever time it was, the two of them really got a lot of fish, nineteen rock bass, two of them wormy, and Mr. Friedley landed home with a new set of blisters from rowing. So, on the whole it was a highly successful outing, just a workout, and although the pickerel may have the laugh on the Friedley-Conway team at this stage of the game, there's a long summer ahead to run up a box-car figure score of stories that will more than match the large tales Slim and Jimmy have had to listen to instead of cheerily whistling while they worked.

"Now, that 20-pounder we battled for forty minutes, Slim, there was a beauty, etc., etc....."

CAMPAIGN URGED AGAINST RAGWEED

A suggestion that the Board of Health should recommend a vigorous campaign to eradicate ragweed, one of the most prolific causes of hay fever, is a feature of the monthly report of Dr. Murray Fraser to the local Board of Health.

"I understand efforts will be made this summer by the Ontario Department of Health to have municipalities co-operate in the destruction of ragweed" Dr. Fraser says in his report. "The pollen of this weed causes hay fever which is a debilitating disease with congestion of the respiratory organs and possible permanent damage. As this is a matter affecting the health of a large number of persons it is suggested that the Board recommend that a vigorous campaign is launched to eradicate the weed."

Dr. Fraser's report also showed that eighteen cases of scarlet fever were reported in April as compared with thirty-six for March. Most of these were adults which suggests, Dr. Fraser state, that the immunization in February was effective in checking the disease among the school population.

Large Bear Shot At Cordova Mines

(Examiner Correspondence.)

CORDOVA MINES, May 18.—James Barrons of Cordova Mines shot a huge bear in this neighborhood one night recently. Mr. Bruin was shot when in the act of molesting sheep back of the local cheese factory on the property of Mr. Clemenger. The bear was a fine specimen and weighed about 280 pounds, two more are reported still in this district.

RETURN OF CAR IS ORDERED BY JUDGE

Judgment directing Ivan Lillico of Lillico Motors to return a car to Charles Taylor, an Indian, together with damages of $100 and costs, has been handed down by Judge Sheldon Smoke after hearing an action in county court. W. J. Arthur Fair acted for the plaintiff, J. F. Strickland, K.C., for the defendant.

Taylor brought action for delivery of the sedan, seized by Lillico under a document purporting to be a Chattel mortgage, and for damages for illegal seizure. A treaty Indian, Taylor resides on the Curve Lake Reserve.

"No one other than an Indian or a non-treaty Indian shall take any security or otherwise obtain any lien or charge, whether by mortgage, judgment, or otherwise, upon the real or personal property of any Indian or non-treaty Indian, except on real or personal property subject to taxation under the last three preceding sections: providing that any person selling any article to an Indian, or non-treaty Indian, may take security on such article for any part of the price thereof which is unpaid."

"The permissive portion of the section allows security to be taken on the very article sold and no more, and in my opinion, the moment the seller endeavors to attach other articles, or a larger article, to his security, the security becomes null and void." Judge Smoke's judgment read in part. "Such being the case and the defendant having assumed to take security which is not contemplated by the Statute, the documents in question are null and void, and the defendant has seized the plaintiff's car without color of right. He is accordingly liable in damages to the plaintiff.

THIEF TAKES $45 IN RAID ON HOME

Taking a screen out of the cellar window a thief or thieves gained an entrance into the home of Bryden Weese, corner of London and Harvey streets early this morning and stole $45 that had been left in two purses on the dining-room table. When the family arose this morning the robbery was discovered and it was noticed that the cellar door was open. A little later it was found that the screen had been removed. The purses had been opened, every cent of the contents stolen, and then the purses were closed again.

TWO TOWNSHIPS WERE OMITTED IN T.B. CANVASS

When the present testing of the herds of Peterborough and Victoria counties for bovine tuberculosis is completed, farmers of the townships of Galway and Cavendish will have only one outlet for their cattle, unless they are for immediate killing, and that will be to the north across the Haliburton boundary.

When the canvas of the farmers of this county was being taken to obtain their approval of the T.B. county test, the two northwestern townships were somehow omitted. Meanwhile the examination of herds is proceeding, with no reported objection from the Galway and Cavendish area against approaching isolation from the rest of Peterborough county and all of Victoria.

This was one of the topics discussed at the meeting of the agricultural committee of the county council Tuesday afternoon, and apparently all that can be done is to have Frank Paterson, county representative of the Ontario Department of Agriculture, to visit the townships, especially Galway, because there are comparatively few farmers in Cavendish, and impress upon them the confined position into which they will drift when the two counties are officially declared free of bovine tuberculosis.

150 Herds Tested

Already 150 herds in this county have been examined, and 20 have been found to be infected with the disease which Peterborough farmers have united to eradicate. Several men have been engaged in the work of testing since early in April, and three others are expected here this week, probably on Thursday, coming directly from Manitoulin, where herd examination is now completed. It is not the intention of the department to send into Peterborough a staff of men to make the tests as rapidly as possible. The work will likely continue here until late in the year.

CHAPTER 39

Barbara did not faint. She clung to the telephone, when she had finished talking to Ray Lipton, until the room righted itself and she was able to cross to the divan. Then she sat quietly, waiting for the world to go on.

It seemed to her that all of life was suspended in space. She thought that she had recovered from any hurt that Garry's transferral of his affections had brought. She had not realized how deeply she had dared to hope that in some way akin to a miracle, those weeks when he had loved Wenda would be removed from the calendar. She repeated her thought: "When he had loved Wenda?" Ah, but perhaps he still loved Wenda! Otherwise why would he want her in his play again?

She was glad that she was going away so soon. She had thought that she would see if her sub-lease, now almost up, could be renewed. The woman who had occupied the apartment before her coming had not returned as yet. Perhaps it would be better if she, Barbara, came back to a new apartment when the European trip ended. Maybe she would move to a hotel. She had received an increase that would permit it.

Merely to be doing something, she went down the street to the office of the superintendent of the building and inquired. He shook his head.

"I'm sorry, Miss Kingsley, but the tenant will be back in a few days. We have orders to get the rooms ready for her.'

That was just as well. It saved the necessity of a decision. Now she knew she would go to a hotel.

"How soon should I vacate?" she asked.

'Well, your lease is up in a day or two. I'm afraid we can't extend it. It's too bad, when you are sailing so soon, that you can't remain here."

The telephone was ringing as Barbara started up the stairs. She did not realize that it was her bell until she reached the last flight of stairs. Then she began to run. It would be Garry How she knew it she did not know. But she was as sure as she was that damp snow fell through the March fog and she had only one more day in this old brick house where the hurdy-gurdies ground out their tunes in the street below, and the violet peddlers came only as far as the corner with their purple wares.

She fited her key into the latch, ran across the room, and seized the telephone.

"Hello?" he said.

The party had hung up. Only the dial tone came to her.

She couldn't call Garry and say: "My telephone was ringing. Did you call me, Garry?"

Yet why shouldn't she? If he hadn't wanted to talk to her, he would say that he had not phoned. And if he had, perhaps it was something which would lessen this lump that was parking on top of her heart. With trembling fingers she dialed his apartment. She waited. After a long time, the Japanese servant, apparently on duty tonight, answered.

"Mr. Page. He is not in. He has not been in all day. Is this Miss Ayer?

Miss Ayer? Then, Wenda was telephoning to him again. Barbara started to answer but the instant of shocked surprise had been taken for assent by the servant. He was continuing again:

'Mister Page asked me to send you the vanity case you left on his dresser last night. He was sent out of town on a story this morning."

Because she did not want even this servant to know that she had telephoned Garry, Barbara hung up without answering. Well, this was the end. Garry had made up with Wenda. After the hurt, the cruelty, the embarrassment and humiliation she had caused him, he had gone when her silken voice had summoned him.

As she packed now, Barbara reflected that there were some women who could give a man honesty and loyalty and sympathy to be spurned for another who did not know the elementary meaning of the words. She herself would give her time, henceforth, to the flair she had discovered for children's stories. Thinking of children's stories made her wonder about Bobbie. She had not heard a word about him since the early morning that his aunt had taken him back to the city.

With forced cheerfulness, she telephone Ray Lipton the next day to ask on what he was sailing. She instructed the business manager of the magazine to make her reservations on the same boat. She packed her draperies and cushions and books and china for storage. She bought a steamer trunk, a new black taffeta evening dress with a huge-me-tight bodice and wide tiered skirt adorned with green velvet bows, and a soft woolly traveling suit of a lilac shade, which was deepened by a hat that almost concealed one eye, and purple slippers, gloves and bag.

She looked intriguing in the new shade. That was as it should be, she decided. She was starting anew. She was going to a strange country and she would have nothing to bind her to the days behind, not even a color.

She packed her trunk and sent it to the boat. Her bags she took with her to an uptown hotel where she would spend the two nights before she sailed. She had dinner with Natalie that last night, and Julia was there, too. Garry's name did not come up in the conversation. When the last of the green ice had melted in its fragile glass cup, and the coffee was cold in the silver pot, Barbara said that she must run along because she had things to do.

It was late that evening when Garry returned from an assignment that had taken him to Washington two mornings previously. He had seen the New York papers and read that Wenda was appearing again in his play. Night before last, in Washington, he had tried to call Barabar but again her telephone had been silent. He wondered if the Japanese servant had sent Wenda her vanity case. He did not want anything around that reminded him of the woman. He wondered, too, if she had left it purposely as a way of establishing a contact with him.

Garry had been busy during his time in Washington. However, before he caught the plane back, he had decided that he would waste no more time in contacting Barbara. Three nights before, when he had finally finished at the office, it had been too late to call her. In the stark reality of cold, dark morning he had gone to the office, been given an immediate out-of-town assignment and had been tied up on it every minute, except the few he had taken when he made an attempt at telephoning.

Now, as he left the cab that had brought him in from the airport, he walked over to Fifth avenue and swung on to one of the green lumbering busses that was headed downtown. As he dropped his dime in the slot of the gadget that the conductor held out, and watched the churches, stores and apartments that lined the avenue, he reflected that for three days—ever since the night before he went away—he had been traveling toward this moment.

That Barbara might not be home was a possibility. If she wasn't, he would wait. The custodian might remember him and let him come into the reception hall.

He left the bus at Tenth street, walked down a block, turned the corner at the Fifth Avenue hotel, and glanced up to the third floor as he neared the old house which sheltered Barbara. He felt oddly excited, yet relieved. His worries weer over. He was coming back to the girl he loved. And Barbara would stand there, slim and sturdy with gray-green eyes smiling up into his, and understand. He wondered how it had happened that he left the humor, the laughter, the peace and serenity and gaiety that were hers for any other woman. Yes, even for the showcase glitter of a Wenda Ayer.

There were no lights in Barbara's rooms. Garry rang the custodian's bell and went outside, on the steps, to peer into the basement entrance which led to the man's quarters. Presently, the custodian appeared.

"Miss Kingsley?" he said. "But Miss Kingsley doesnt live here any more."

"You mean she's moved?" It had not entered his consciousness that Barabara might be gone. Like the Rock of Gibraltar and the Times building and the tides and the stars, he was certain she would be there. Now he remembered that her lease had been for six months only. Of course she would be moving. Stupid of him to forget.

"Could you give me Miss Kingsley's address?" he asked the man.

The custodian shook his head. "The superintendent lives two doors down the street. He would know."

"Miss Kingsley didn't leave an address," he informed the broad-shouldered, tall young man with the worried blue eyes. "She's sailing for Europe tomorrow. I expect she's staying at a hotel tonight."

It's Smart to Budget For a Perfect Wedding

Take a Happy Bride's Advice

She looks so radiant and carefree. Who'd guess that this young bride planned all the details of her lovely wedding?

"But it was easy," she laughs. "As soon as Tom and I had the date set, I made a list of what the bride and her family pay for: invitations, bridal gown, trousseau—as well as music, decorations, refreshments for the wedding itself.

"I knew how much the family purse would stand, so I planned from the start to have the kind of wedding that would fit.

"Then, of course, Tom got the ring and license, and paid the clergyman. And he gave me my bouquet.

"But its really just as important to budget time as money. First, decide on the place for the ceremony; then make out guest lists; choose attendants next. Remember, invitations must be mailed at least two weeks before the wedding. It's easiest to write thank-you notes a few at a time as gifts arrive . . ."

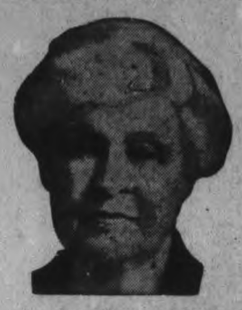
A Wife Enjoys and Demands Just as Much Personal Freedom as Does Her Husband, So Don't Attempt to Dictate What She Can and Cannot Do in Her Leisure Moments

MR. HUSBAND, if you desire your wife to remain under the delusion that you hung the moon and keep her down on her knees thanking God that she drew the big prize in the matrimonial lottery, add these tips to the ones I gave you in a previous article:



Don't constitute yourself your wife's jailer. An adult, intelligent, educated girl doesn't marry to get a boss. On the contrary, one of the things she marries for is to escape from Mother's tyranny, being told what to do and what not to do every hour of the day and generally treated like a moron infant. There is no woman so humble and poor-spirited that she doesn't resent having to ask her husband's permission to join a club or buy a new dress or go to see a friend. Your wife's personal freedom is just as dear to her as yours is to you, and the more liberty you grant her the less she will take. Don't forget that the First Woman risked Paradise to eat forbidden fruit, and all her female descendants take after her.

Don't be one of the foolish men who think that a wife should be like a snail and carry her house on her back all the time. There was never any more michievous propaganda than that about the ideal wife being a woman who never stirred from her own fireside and who had no interests outside of the four walls of her home. That is what makes women peevish and fretful, nagging, dull and stupid, and sends them to sanatoriums and their husbands to philandering.

Encourage your wife to think of something besides the pots and the pans and the babies, to join clubs, to play bridge, to step out and meet new people, get fresh points of view, to collect good stories. It will make her a better housekeeper, a better wife and mother and a lot more interesting companion.

Take your wife out once a week on a party, even if all you can afford is a neighborhood movie and a soda at the corner drug store. Maybe you are a Tired Business Man, but she is a lot more Tired Business Woman when night comes. Your work, at least, has some variety in it and is alleviated by the companionship of others. Hers is the deadly monotony of a job that is the eternal doing over and over again of the same thing that she performs alone, with no society but that of the children. Just a walk around the block will cheer the Little Woman up, and if you will take her window shopping and tell her how you would like to buy her a sable coat, it will make her just as happy as if you did it. The chief thing women resent about their husbands is their thinking that they don't care whether or not they have good times.

Don't nag. Don't be one of the pestiferous husbands who snoops in the garbage can to see how thick the potatoes were peeled; who audits the grocery bill and demands to know why the wife had to buy an extra pound of butter, and who says every day that if he ran his business the way she runs the house they would be on relief. Don't raise a ruction every time the coffee is weak and the roast overdone. Say a good word about th perfect meals.

Don't throw up to your wife the time she paid too much for a hat twenty years ago. Don't blame all the children's faults on their mother. You can jolly a wife out of her faults, but you can't drive them out with a hammer. Furthermore, there are no such reconciled widows as those who were married to naggers.

Don't institute camparisons between your wife and any other woman unless they are to her advantage. Don't tell her how pretty and young some girl you met is. Don't ask her why she doesn't dress like Mrs. So-and-So or have a hair-do like Miss Somebody Else or have a figure like Miss America's. Above all, never cast your mother's cooking in her teeth. Every wife wants to think that her husband considers her perfect, and when she finds she is running a poor second to some other woman it fills her with rage and jealousy and precipitates domestic cyclones.

And finally—and in this is really all the law and the prophets about how to hold a wife's affections—keep selling yourself to your wife and make her fell that she got a good bargain instead of wondering why she did it. Keep yourself attractive. No woman can go on being romantic about a man who looks like something the cat brought in and who sits around in his stocking feet. Nor can she want to kiss a man with a three day's stubble of beard on his face. Nor can she enthuse over talking to one who merely grunts when he is spoken to.

If you want to keep your wife in love with you, Mr. Husband, you must make yourself lovable. It takes time and thought and work, but it is worth what it costs.

Bedtime Story

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY AND CHATTIE

"What are you going to do now?" asked Mrs. Longears of her husband rabbit one day as she saw him at the telephone in the hollow stump bungalow.

"I am getting ready another nature or science lesson for the animal children," said Uncle Wiggily.

"Are you going to tell them how the telephone talks?" asked Mrs. Longears. "Of course I know the telephone doesn't exactly talk by itself, even in its sleep. But I thought perhaps—"

"Some day I will give my little bunny rabbits and the other animal children a telephone lesson," promised Uncle Wiggily. "But just now I am telephoning for my secretaries to get them to send out invitations for a woodland nature lesson."

"Oh, so you have secretaries now, have you?" asked Mrs. Longears with a laugh.

5-18

Uncle Wiggily twinkled his pink nose at his wife and aws soon talking over the telephone to Ray Robin and Jen Wren, asking them to fly to the bungalow and send out invitations to a lesson meeting.

Tired Out.

Jen Wren and Ray Robin scratched the invitations with their feet on dried oak leaves for paper. And they wrote so fast their claws became tired.

"Here," offered Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy. "I will rub some salve from the milkweed plant on your claws, my dears. That will limber them for you."

"Goodness knows they need it," said Jen Wren, fluttering one wing. Soon she and Ray Robin finished writing all the invitations.

That afternoon when they had come from saying their regular lessons to the Lady Mouse Teacher in the Hollow Tree School, all the animal pupils gathered around Uncle Wiggily in the woods.

"Did you all bring your note-books or paper?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"Do we need those?" asked Buster.

"Yes, indeed," said Mr. Longears. "I am going to tell you some facts about nature and science. You may forget them if you do not write them down in a book or on a piece of paper."

"We can use fried oak leaves for note books and paper," said Baby Bunty, the orphan rabbit.

"And we can use thorns from the locust tree for pencils," added Jingle.

Useful Tree.

"Only don't stick yourselves on the sharp thorns of the locust," chattered Johnnie Bushytail, the squirrel, as he scampered up the tree and brought down many natural pencils for the class.

"It's a bad locust tree to have such sharp thorns," said Baby Bunty as she accidentally pricked her paw on one.

"The locust tree is very useful," said Uncle Wiggily. "Make some notes about it on your leaf books. The locust tree has very sweet blossoms from which bees get honey. The blossoms have a lovely perfume. And from the wood of the locust tree fence posts are made and also clubs the policemen carry. Locust wood is hard."

"These new science classes are fun," said Jingle.

"Yes," agreed Jangle, her twin sister. And just then Uncle Wiggily looking over the list made by his secretary birds asked:

"Where is Chattie Chipmunk? Why isn't she here?"

No one answered, but, all of a sudden, there was a strange noise in one of the trees, and a voice cried, "Help."

"That's Chattie," said Mr. Long ears. And if the garage dog doesn't put a sugar cookie on the baby carriage for a wheel I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily's discovery.

A clipping of this deal is due to be sent to a certain artist named McClelland Barclay, who celebrates his birthday on this very date, May 9. He is the only one of the three Barclay brothers who does not play bridge at all and until he does take up the game will not know the kind of pleasant surprise received by the holder of the North cards.

West had opened with one of those short suit club bids, and the North call was 1-Diamond. East bid 1-No Trump and South 2-Spades. Just as North was wondering whether it might become advisable to raise that suit with only three cards, including two nice honors, West doubled!

Was North tempted to redouble, when the king seemed neatly placed in the jaws of his tenace? He was, but decided to accept the gift offered lest he might get no gift at all. So it was played at two spades doubled, producing a game plus an overtrick.

THE NEAREST PLANET

A TINY PLANET WAS DISCOVERED LAST AUTUMN APPROACHING THE EARTH - CALCULATIONS OF ITS PATH SHOWED THAT IT WOULD NOT STRIKE OUR OWN PLANET — IT CAME CLOSER THAN ANY OTHER SKY STRANGER IN HISTORY, AND AT ITS CLOSEST WAS BUT TWICE THE DISTANCE OF EARTH'S CHILD, THE MOON —

THE NAME HERMES WAS GIVEN TO THIS TINY WORLD, AND ITS DIAMETER WAS MEASURED AT THREE-FOURTHS OF A MILE — JUST A MOUNTAIN LOOSE IN THE SKY

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Thursday, May 19.

Judging by the lunar transits operating on this day, there may be lucrative financial transactions, with some cherished plans going over with the aid of influential persons, with whom diplomacy, stratagem or undercover agreements may have to be employed. It might be well to be vigilant in such subtle affairs and not be left "holding the bag," particularly with strangers or persons not too scrupulous.

If This Is Your Birthday.

Those whose birthday it is may be assured of a prosperous and interesting year if he will exercise discretion and sound judgment. It may be necessary to resort to undercover agreements, diplomacy or connivance rather than direct and open measures. But new adventures and enterprises should flourish and employment may be favored, possibly tby unseen forces or secrecy.

A child born on this day may be capable, ambitious and shrewd, particularly versatile in subtlety, diplomacy or hidden resources. These should advance its prestige and position in life, attracting to it important persons with peculiar or secret support of the mighty.

Miss Helen McFee
Gives Trousseau Tea

Miss Helen McFee, who will be a bride of Saturday, entertained her friends at a charming trousseau tea at the home of her grandmother, Mrs. J. H. Morrison, 600 Water street, Wednesday afternoon and evening.

Little Marion Helson opened the door to the guests, who were received by the bride-elect with her grandmother. Tea was served in the dining room where the attractive decorations were carried out in pastel yellow and white, with narrow streamers surrounding a large white bell suspended from the ceiling. Covered with a damask cloth, the table was prettily arranged with yellow tulips and narcissi in a silver basket and pale yellow candles in silver holders. Tea was poured by Mrs. R. P. Borland during the afternoon, and in the evening by Mrs. H. E. Helson. Assistants were Mrs. H. McCracken and Miss Jean Carter.

The many lovely wedding and shower gifts were displayed upstairs by Mrs. D. Davis and Miss Lillian Bathgate, and the trousseau shown by Miss Margaret Sexsmith.

Showers For
Miss Joyce Alcock

A popular bride of this week, Miss Joyce Alcock, has been guest of honor at a number of delightful occasions recently. A large miscellaneous shower was given by the girls of the Canadian General Electric office, and for which Mrs. R. S. Cotton opened her charming home at 308 Park street. Many beautiful gifts were received by the bride-elect, and were presented to her in an entertainingly novel manner. About forty-five guests were present.

A combined miscellaneous and pantry shower was given at the home of Mrs. A. Rankonen of Gilmour street. Many very lovely and useful gifts were presented to the guest of honor, and were placed for her beneath a large "bell" of cellophane, in the midst of which a lighted lamp glowed. Artistic green and white decorations were used in the room, and the bride-elect's special chair. Attractive refreshments were served during the evening by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Hugh Robertson and Miss Mary Rankonen.

Several presentations to Miss Alcock include an electric mantel clock and a silver bon bon dish from the Production, Mechanical and Engineering Departments, and a toastmaster from the Industrial Control Engineering Department, of the C.G.E.

Training Furnishes All-Round Help

OTTAWA, May 18—(CP).—At 6.30 a.m., 10 girls assigned to kitchen and dining room duty start the daily routine at the Home Service Training Centre in Ottawa, operating under the Dominion-Provincial Youth Training program, in training unemployed girls for household work. Setting the kitchen machinery humming, preparing and eating their own breakfast, they arrange the first meal of the day for the remainder of the household.

At 7.15 a.m. the other girls are up and by eight o'clock the windows are wide open in the upstairs rooms, the beds are being aired and all except one lucky member of the staff have descended for breakfast. To train the girls in preparing a breakfast tray the three members of the staff take turns relaxing in bed.

The girls work in teams, housemaids assigned to each floor, ironers, washers and laundry carriers in the basement. There are no set rules and not set routine. The girls are shown how to handle their duties and carry on under supervision but on their own initiative. General housework means cleaning mattresses and chesterfields (there are no vacuum sweepers), scrubbing floors, washing woodwork, polishing windows, sweeping and dusting generally.

A large boiler, two washing machines and three ironing boards in the basement turn out spotless linen. The attic of the large house is an ideal place to dry clothes. This drying room avoids unsightly washing out-of-doors to bring complaints from neighbors. No girl is allowed to climb the stairs to the attic with heavy washing baskets twice in one day.

Shortly after 10 o'clock the unfinished work is left tidy while all the girls attend a cooking demonstration in the kitchen. The kitchen "trainees" prepare the work and onlookers benefit by their mistakes and practical demonstration.

Time For Relaxation

Luncheon follows and a 10-minute rest interval when the girls are free to please themselves. Many gather round the old stone fireplace in the relaxation room in the basement for a smoke. This is the only room in the house where smoking is allowed.

Housework, washing and kitchen work completed, the girls spend the hour from two until three o'clock sewing, studying or listening to talks on deportment or home-nursing. Sewing-machine lessons, lectures on personal hygiene, sanitation, social service, systematic saving and budgeting are arranged for afternoons during the week, lightened by free hours for study, walks in the fresh air, reading and games.

Shortly before six o'clock the dinner gong rings. Only the girls on duty remain in their crisp blue and white uniforms. After the girls finish dinner, the three members of the staff have their meal, prepared and served by girls assigned to "special duties." Menus for the staff and girls are much the same. The luncheon menu prepared and cooked for the girls may in turn be served for the evening meal for the staff. In this way the girls plan and cook meals in small quantities, training them for smaller homes.

A half-hour rest after dinner leaves the girls ready for the evening program which may include physical training, swimming, lectures, informal talks, demonstrations or just fun.

Enquiry Column

Conducted by
Mrs. MARY MOORE

QUESTION: I have invented two very useful culinary utensils that I should like to get your opinion of if you would.

One is a flat bottom spoon to mix or smooth out gravy, etc., with. It can also be used to lift out boiled eggs, vegetables, etc. This spoon is one that I have been wanting myself, also a potato creamer or masher and ricer—would be a great help to the housewife. The drawings herewith you will perhaps find very crude, but I hope you will understand what I mean.

The mixer or beater in the potato pot can be fastened to the lid of pot or handle screwed on. Another plate with small holes in could be then used to rice the creamed potatoes.

I enjoy reading your column. M. McC.

ANSWER: Your ingeniousness is remarkable. I would like to try your inventions—the housewife is certainly the logical person to advise the instruments she needs to work with. While it is our constant aim to teach readers to make gravies and sauces without lumps—lumps still do insist on forming. And anything that would make mashing potatoes easier would be welcome. I think both ideas are excellent, but would naturally like to try them before giving them unstinted praise. Do write again.

QUESTION: Please answer these questions—

(1) What is Plaza?

(2) What replaces salad oil in salad dressing as a substitute?

(3) What substitutes can be used to replace red peppers and green peppers in recipes?

(4) What is chili powder?

(5) What are kidney beans?

(6) When a recipe calls for one Seville orange how many ordinary sunkist oranges replace it?

(8) In canning, what method do you suggest—open kettle, boiler or pressure—and why?

(9) In making candy I always find it too sweet—what could be used to replace part of the sugar and give the same quantity?

(10) In popping corn I always have such a lot which will not pop. What causes that?

Thanking you, Miss A. P.

ANSWER: (1) Plaza is the Spanish word for open square or market place.

(2) Corn oil (Mazola), cottonseed (Wesson), or olive oil are commonly used for making mayonnaise — but mineral oil (for reducing diets) has been used successfully. Of course, boiled dressings, use flour, milk, yolks, vinegar or lemon juice and seasonings. There is nothing that I know that would take the place of oil in making mayonnaise (uncooked salad dressing).

(3) Hungarian paprika or very small amount of Bombassa paprika can be used to replace the flavor of red peppers—cooked pimientoes are more commonly used. I know of no flavor that will replace green peppers.

(4) Chili powder is a mixture of ground Chili peppers, with some powdered garlic, white pepper, and paprika added. (Some chili powders contain a little mustard.)

(5) Kidney beans are red beans nearly twice the size of white navy beans—they are about ⅝ to ¾ inch long and about ¼ inch wide. They are commonly used for making chili con carne.

(6) Seville oranges have a high pectin content and their bitter flavor is particularly nice with sugar in making marmalade. Very good marmalade is made with North American oranges, but the flavor of Seville orange marmalade cannot be duplicated by them. Use two California oranges to replace one Seville orange to get the same jellying quality.

(7) Scallions are actually the "Onions of Ascallon," but are now called such when onions have been grown too close together and resemble leeks.

(8) I recommend pressure canning because it is safe and kills all bacteria and there is no chance of losing any fruit or vegetables (or any product) by spoilage if the process is exactly followed.

(9) In making candy I suggest you use such fillers as nuts, fruits, the various prepared flaked cereals to extend the quantity and reduce the sweetness. Some professional candy makers extend the quantity of cheap candies with China clay, but this is dangerous practice impossible to do in the household.

(10) Part of the corn in the popper does not pop because the fire is not hot enough or the popcorn is slightly damp.

Write again when we can help you.

JUST BETWEEN US WOMEN

"How many are the dreams that might have become happy realities, how many are the plans that might have been brought to golden success had it not been for that terrible sentence, 'Too Much Trouble!'"

—D.S.M.

Dear Friends:

Add to that sentence, "I don't care," and you have the key to what holds most people back from any form of success in the world. "Too Much Trouble" to hold the affections of those near and dear to them," "Too Much Trouble" to fit themselves for different kinds of work.

Too much effort to be expended to achieve any worthwhile things, and "I don't Care," when they are shown the road of failure they are travelling. You have to care, you have to take trouble and master it if you do not want to go down in defeat.

I can show you, anyone with knowledge can tell you, but it is you yourself who must do the thing to be done. No man or woman can make you great, no teacher can make a musician or an artist or an editor out of you, you must have will power, determination, and application, and aplication before you will get what you want from life.

I can read directions in a book, on ho wto cook, how to draw, how to write, but it is my fingers that must get busy, my brain that must study the problems until I find a solution, my hands that must mix the cake, else all the reading will do me no good. You can look at a good painting until you are black in the face, but if you do not get brush and canvas and paints, then start in to paint, how are you ever going to do it?

People have said to me "Roberta, I have wished and wished, but none of them came true." And I knew they had done just that, wished, but never worked. Even in the bible we are told, "God helps those who help themselves," and "Faith without works is dead."

Too many want others to use their will-power in their behalf. Life is not like that. If a thing is worth having it is worth striving for. If you "don't care," why expect anyone else to care? If life means nothing to you but a succession of empty days without effort, why whine about it?

Why talk about the difficulties you have never tried to master. Why claim a thing is too much trouble if you honestly desire it? All life is composed of surmounting troubles, and maybe you are giving yourself more of this trouble in your efforts to avoid mastering it.

Wishing is only the opening wedge, you must use the sledge-hammer of determination to succeed, the will-power that will not accept defeat. Do you think anyone gets their wishes granted without working towards it? Don't be foolish.

The other day I overheard a young man say of another who passed by, "That guy's lucky. He has a good job, yet I stood higher than he did in collegiate, and now he works while I am idle. It's a funny world."

Yet, he did not realize that he was a walking example of why the world is funny. It sure is funny to expect a job while one stands on a street corner making remarks of everyone that passed, and it is very funny indeed to look for a job in a poolroom or a beverage room.

It is funnier still to think that loafing ever brought anything but disaster to anyone. Both body and mind get flabby and soft under those circumstances, so that one cannot think straight nor make decisions, neither are they fit for a decent day's work if it were offered them.

Browning tells us: A Man.
"One who never turned his back,
But marched breast forward;
Never doubted clouds would break,
Never dreamed though right were worsted,
Wrong would triumph."

So, march breast forward with will power and determination to your success in life. Your Friend,
ROBERTA.

Wife Preservers

Don't Keep on Having Constipation!

If constipation's got you down—so you feel heavy, tired and dopey—it's time you did something about it. And something more than taking a physic! You should get at the cause of the trouble.

If you eat only the things most people do, the chances are that a very simple fact causes your constipation—you don't get enough "bulk." And "bulk" doesn't mean heavy food. It means a kind of food that isn't consumed in the body, but leaves a soft "bulky" mass in the intestines and helps a bowel movement.

If this is your trouble, eat crisp crunchy Kellogg's All-Bran for breakfast every day and drink plenty of water. All-Bran is not only rich in "bulk"—it also contains the natural intestinal tonic, vitamin B_1.

ABERHART URGES COHORTS TO UNITE ACROSS PRAIRIES

LLOYDMINSTER, Sask., May 18—(CP).—Premier William Aberhart of Alberta to-day left with Lloydminster electors a plea that Social Credit followers unite throughout the west as a step towards changing the present economic sytsem.

The Alberta Premier spoke here last night to open his campaign for the Saskatchewan provincial elections June 8.

"Western Canada will listen if we band together," he told a meeting here last night. "If the west listens, then the whole of Canada will."

Saskatchewan was unable to pay interest on its debt without borrowing, he said in comparing financial conditions in Alberta and her sister province. Bondholders and mortgage companies could not continue to collect interest in the future as they have been doing.

"It's a nice kettle of fish when it is necessary to borrow money to pay interest," he added.

When the Social Credit government took power in 1935, the Alberta treasury was empty and "the bottom was out." Now the province's debt was being held unchanged while Saskatchewan's advanced.

Saskatchewan, he charged, is in worse condition than Alberta was in 1935. He felt it his duty to tell Saskatchewan electors, therefore, what his Social Credit government was doing.

"Make up your mind that that is the end of the old line parties," he said.

The Alberta Premier said he was "not wholly against" the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation because he was unable to oppose any progressive - minded organization. The C.C.F., however, did not have a workable remedy for the present economic ills, although it did have "many good points."

A "GIRL" STATION

STRATFORD, Ont., May 18. —(CP)—There was no need for provincial motorcycle officer Charles Anderson to go into details when he told "the boys" at the police station here he had just become a father. They knew it was a girl. For no member of the motorcycle division of the Ontario Police Department has become the father of a boy while stationed in this part of the province.

ODD CALF

WOOD MOUNTAIN, Sask.—(CP). —A calf with two heads attached to one neck, four eyes, two mouths but only one ear on each head was born to a cow owned by Cliff McKercher. It is the second time such a calf has been born in this district of central Saskatchewan.

RICHARD DAINARD

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HASTINGS, May 18—The remains of the late Richard Dainard who passed away on Thursday, May 12, were laid to rest in the Campbellford Cemetery on Saturday afternoon with the deceased's six brothers, Case, Sam and George of Millford, Jacob of Cherry Valley, Nelson of Belleville and John of Hastings as pall-bearers.

A very large number of friends and relatives were present at his late residence in Percy Township, for one who was well known and highly respected. The Rev. H. Neal of the Campbellford United Church conducted the service and read from the 14th chapter of St. John's Gospel. Mrs. Shapter and Miss Jordan sang "Rock of Ages."

Deceased's five sons, Lou of Warkworth, Sam of Norwood, Cecil, Frank and William of Seymour; his daughter, Mrs. H. Bolton; his four sisters, Mrs. H. B. Rusaw, Mrs. S. Rusaw of Picton, Mrs. Wannmaker of Dennersville, and Mrs. Peeling of Cherry Valley were present at the funeral. Mrs. Hughes, a sister, was unable to attend.

HAVELOCK W.M.S. HAS SOCIAL MEET

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HAVELOCK, May 18. —The Women's Missionary Society of the United Church held the regular May meeting on Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Rae Williams, with Mrs. S. A. Kemp, the president, in the chair. There was a very good attendance despite unfavorable weather, and the fact that it was Friday 13th.

The devotional period was conducted by Mrs. Kemp, the subject being "World Peace." Several members assisted her in readings. Roll-call for the meeting was responded to by a verse from the Bible beginning with the letter Q.

Chapter 1 of the new lesson book was then taken by Miss Mary Seeney, commencing with a questionnaire and then reviewing the contents of the chapter. The new lesson book is entitled "A New Church Faces a New World," by Rev. Dr. J. H. Arnup, secretary of the Board of Foreign Missions."

The meeting was then adjourned and a lunch served by the committee in charge. A pleasant social hour was then spent.

TOUGH COW GETS BOUNCED

ETTINGTON, Sask. — (CP). — Cattle in Saskatchewan's southern areas have become tough after years of drought conditions. One of Sam Archer's cows was struck by a fast-moving railway engine, but it only somersaulted into a ditch, got up, and ran away.

Boy Scout Leaders Meet For Annual Session

CANADA-U.S. PACT RUMORS FLYING

OTTAWA, May 18—(CP)—Rumors parliament may adjourn soon to be re-assembled later this year to deal with the new United States-Canada trade agreement are not outside the bounds of possibility but the government so far has not considered such a contingency, it was learned today from official sources.

The government still has hope the negotiations at Washington will be sufficiently advanced, if not entirely completed, to be dealt with in the approaching budget. While reports from Washington have suggested the administration there would await the adjournment of congress before making any decided progress on the pacts, the ministry here has no information to bear out such a suggestion, it is understood.

The negotiations covering as they do ,the proposed United States-Great and and also the United States-Canada pacts are the most far-reaching ever attempted, it was explained. They cover not only the three countries but, through the most favored nation features, will affect scores of other nations. It is said the tense situation in Europe and Asia are to some extent hindering the progress towards an understanding.

EAST EMILY

The members of the W.A. of Bethel United Church held a very successful meeting in the basement of the church on Tuesday evening. The society had been divided into two groups for the past four months to form a contest to see which group could make the most money for the society.

A short program was given: Duet, Misses Thelma Bailey and Audrey Boate; reading, Mrs. MacTavish; duet, Mrs. Harry McCarreli and Miss Jean Faulkner; instrumental duet, Mrs. Oswald Ruth and daughter Bernice. Mrs. Oswald Ruth then gave a very interesting and helpful paper from the study book. The most interesting part of the evening took place when the reports of the contest between the two groups were given. Mrs. Spencer for the south group with $103, and Mrs. Ira Switzer for the north group with $83. The regular business meeting then took place, when the entire program for the coming season was given a list of the different homes and hostesses were chosen for the different meetings.

CAUGHT BY TRAIN LAD 15, IS KILLED

STRATFORD, Ont., May 18 (C P.). — Leonard Yousie, 15-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Yousie, Stratford, was killed to-day when struck by a Canadian National Railway passenger train pulling into the Stratford yards. The accident occurred between Victoria Street and Dufferin Street crossing on a section of the railroad property often used by pedestrians and cyclists as a short cut from one street to another.

The lad evidently did not allow enough clearance for the train to pass him and the bicycle was struck by the cowcatcher. He was thrown under the wheels of the train.

The train was in charge of Conductor Charles Mac of Owen Sound and Engineer Frank Galbraith of London.

For the past few weeks he had been employed at the Guthries Greenhouse. An inquest will be held.

Cocoa beans sent from the Gold Coast of Africa to the United States last year weighed 190,955,207 pounds.

Press Is Barred In Loan Bill

OTTAWA, May 18—(CP).—A vote of 9-7 to-day excluded the press from the meeting of the Banking and Commerce Committee of the House of Commons as the committee continued in private its discussion of a draft Bill for the Federal regulation of small loan companies.

Hon. H. H. Stevens (Recon. Kootenay East) and Walter Tucker (Lib. Rosthern) led the attack on the chairman's request for the press to depart and both said they would not join in any "behind-closed-doors" discussion of the legislation.

STRICTER CREDIT MEASURES NEEDED

WINDSOR, Ont., May 18—(CP)—In a buying public credit-conscious by vast sums spent by governments, stricter credit measures are a necessity and prove actually a boon to retailers in increased dependable risks, credit managers of Michigan and Ontario heard here last night at their convention.

More than 200 leading credit representatives of larger corporations in province and state attended the banquet session presided over by Clarence H. Smith of Windsor. Speakers from Detroit, Windsor and Los Angeles were heard. The convention, attended by members of the Associated Credit Bureaux of Michigan, the Windsor Credit Grantors' Association, and the Windsor Credit Bureau, Ltd., will hold its closing session today.

After a five-year period of experiment with a stricter credit policy, an increase in dependable installment buyers was shown, Howard G. Godfrey, credit manager of a large Michigan store declared in his address. Instead of discouraging the number of buyers, as might be expected, strictly enforced credit terms proved consumers are made "more open to buy" because they are free of old debts.

CARDENAS MASSES TROOPS PREPARING TO STIFLE REVOLT

MEXIVO CITY, May 18.—(AP). —The Mexican government is continuing to mass troops about the strategic central state of San Luis Potosi, where tension has grown to alarming proportions in the wake of persistent but unfulfilled rumors of revolt.

Eight thousand troops already are garrisoned in the capital, San Luis, and military pilots are being held in barracks ready for action.

Preparations were under way today to send two more trainloads north to an unaccounted destination. Even half of President Lazaro Cardena's own guard of 400 men has gone to San Luis. Nevertheless, Cardenas has given assurance there is "no danger" that San Luis' "strong man," General Saturnino Cedillo, will lead his pleasant following into revolt.

The General's friends, likewise, continue to insist that he has no wish to revolt, although he is politically a Cardenas opponent.

Was Afraid To Cross a Street

Lost His Nerve After 12 Months' Agony

Suffering from acute rheumatism in both his knee joints—treated in hospital twice without result — so unnerved that he was afraid to cross the street—how readily every rheumatic sufferer will sympathize with this man. Read what he says:

"For 12 months, I suffered pain and misery with acute rheumatism in both my knees. Twice, I was treated in hospital—but it was no use. I could not walk up or downstairs. I was afraid to cross the street, for I had lost all confidence in myself. Fourteen days ago, I started taking Kruschen Salts, and already I am a new man. I can walk with a smart step, go up and downstairs with ease, and cross the street with complete confidence. My rheumatism is getting better every day"—D.L.

In a good many cases, rehumatism cannot resist the action of Kruschen Salts, which dissolve the painful crystals of uric acid — often the cause of those aches and pains — and assist the kidneys to eliminate this poison through the natural channels.—(Advt.)

AMALGAMATION UPHELD

TORONTO, May 18—(CP).—The Ontario Court of Appeal upheld today the Windsor Amalgamation Act. Mr. Justice W. T. Henderson, in a written judgment, dismissed the appeal against a previous finding of Justice F. D. Hogg which upheld the amalgamation of the border municipalities.

TROOPS FIGHT AMID FLAMING SUCHOW RUINS

Chinese Dare-to-Die Units Delay Japanese Advance Till Main Army Reforms

SHANGHAI, May 19 (AP)—Large sections of Suchow were reported burning fiercely today as Japanese, claiming possession of most of the city, fought hand-to-hand with Chinese "dare to die" units in the southern suburbs.

Japanese aviators said the strategic city, viewed from the air, was a blob of smoke creased by jagged flames.

They said naval planes bombing from a low altitude scored a direct hit on what apparently was the main munitions storehouse, sending flames and smoke hundreds of feet into the air.

Another tremendous fire, also apparently from a powder magazine, was reported in the southeastern section of the city.

All the city except the southern part, where fighting continued, was said by the Japanese to have been occupied a few hours after they stormed the wall and poured into the vital central China rail junction.

They launched their first infantry attack during the early morning hours and captured the west wall. Later they reported they had taken a large part of the city in hand-to-hand street fighting and had possession of both the Lunghai and Tientsin-Pukow railway stations.

Suicide Units Prove Aid

With reinforcements arriving hourly, the Japanese predicted the entire city would be theirs before sunset. Severe fighting was reported spreading to the south suburbs, where Chinese "dare to die" units were counter-attacking in an effort to enable the main Chinese forces to withdraw southward and escape annihilation.

Japanese troops advancing northward along the Tientsin-Pukow railway still were 45 miles south of Suchow, leaving a wide gap through which the Chinese might escape.

EGMONT WAVERS ON ENGLISH HOME

CALGARY, May 19.—(CP)—Earl of Egmont, Alberta-born rancher, who with his countess and young son, is en route to England may take up permanent residence at the ancestral estate, Avon Castle, Ringwood, Hants.

The Earl and Countess are making a trip to survey the possibility of educating their son, Viscount Thomas Frederick Gerald Perceval, in British school.

"I have no idea when they will return," said Mrs. D. G. Moodie, mother of the Countess. "When they left here last week they had not decided whether to stay for just a summer visit or longer."

A successful farmer and rancher, the 24-year-old Earl has always expressed a preference for Alberta.

"I like farming and ranching," he said recently. "I prefer my native Alberta to the British acres."

Falls Bridge Base To Be Higher

TORONTO, May 19 (C.P.). — Foundations for the new Falls View Bridge at Niagara Falls will be 50 feet farther from the banks at either side of the river and about 20 feet higher than the old foundations, International Railway Company officials announced to-day.

New York, May 19 (AP)

FIVE MEN were rescued by a United States Coast Guard boat yesterday when a small monoplane owned by the New Jersey Air Service, a private flying company, plunged into Jamaica Bay off Floyd Bennett Field. Only the pilot, Ken Porter, was injured. He was cut on the hands and head.

NORTH CAROLINA'S FELDSPAR TRADE SAID PARALYZED

RALEIGH, N.C., May 19.—(AP)—A delegation from Western North Carolina told Governor Clyde Hoey and Senator Robert Reynolds yesterday that North Carolina's $1,000,000-Feldspar industry was paralyzed by the importation from Canada of nepheline syenite.

Senator Reynolds and the governor promised to cooperate with Feldspart interests in a movement to limit shipments of nepheline syenite under a reciprocal trade agreement or by a tariff.

Members of the delegation pointed out that a bill imposing a tariff of $6 a ton on the Canadian mineral was pending in the United States Congress. Nepheline syenite, like Feldspar, is used in the glass industry. The Canadian substance can be mined cheaper than Feldspar, members of the delegation said.

HERTZOG COHORTS GO BACK IN POWER

CAPE TOWN, South Africa, May 19 (CP-Reuter's).—Prime Minister J. B. M. Hertzog's United Party Government tonight was returned to power for a further five years. Returns from yesterday's general election with 59 seats yet to be heard from, gave the Government 77 members out of a total of 150.

The standing late tonight on the basis of returns from 91 seats was:

Government	77
Dominion Party	7
Nationalists	3
Labor	3
Socialists	1
To come	59

General Jan Smuts, Prime Minister Hertzog's veteran collaborator, was re-elected in Standerton, getting 75 per cent. of the poll in a straight fight with an Independent candidate.

Other Cabinet Ministers returned were General Jan Kemp, Agriculture; Deneys Reitz, Lands; Oswald Pirow, Defence; J. H. Hofmeyr, Mines, and Richard Stuttaford, Interior.

The Government needed 38 of the remaining 59 seats to equal the 115 it held in the last parliament. Up to a late hour the Nationalists, led by Dr. D. F. Malan on a platform demanding the establishment of an independent republic, had elected but three members as against a strength of 20 in the last hour. Their position is likely to improve, however, as returns arrive from the outlying Backveld areas, where their principal strength lies.

DAIRY FARMING IN ANTIPODEAS LEADS CANADA

H. B. Cowan Returned From Conference Of Empire Producers

Three months in Australia and New Zealand confirmed H. B. Cowan's impressions from reports and reading that Canadian agriculture, especially in its dairy branch, is far behind the stage of efficiency that has been attained in both the antipodean countries.

Mr. Cowan was one of the four delegates from Canada at the Empire Producers' Conference, having been appointed as secretary of the Canadian Chamber of Agriculture. His associates were: J. H. Wesson of Regina, president of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce and of the Saskatchewan wheat pool; Paul Bredt of Winnipeg, president of the Manitoba pool elevators and of the Canadian wheat pool; and R. H. Mayberry of Ingersoll, vice-president of the Ontario Cheese Producers' Association.

73 Delegates Present

There were 73 delegates from all parts of the Empire at the conference, Mr. Cowan told the Examiner at his home today. He left for Australia on February 12 and the group arrived back in Canada on May 16.

"Some of the decisions that were reached are likey to affect, in time, not only the financial welfare of the farmers of the Empire, and our own farmers in Peterborough county as well. For example, because it would take too long to review the results comprehensively, every farmer knows that prices of some of his products fluctuate in the British market due to gluts which we thought could not be controlled, and the prosperity of farmers has been thereby more or less restricted. No country alone had power to deal with the situation. Now it is proposed to set up Empire Commodity Boards, similar to the Empire meat board, to regulate the shipments of products to the United Kingdom, and so to prevent gluts with their consequent ups and downs of prices. These boards would enable more stable prices to be maintained, and they would be producer-controlled boards."

Farms Without Barns

Barnless farms were a continual surprise to the Canadian delegation. Mr. Cowan said, and although he had read about them it was a strange omission in the countryside. And there is a great deal less plowing than in Canada. Some of the farms have not been plowed in twenty years.

"The farmers down there don't have to grow grain and roots and grasses for winter fodder because the weather enables them to leave their herds and flock outside the whole year round. These are incidental economies in the cost of production which afford an advantage over our dairy farmers in Ontario.

Farming conditions in both Australia and New Zealand are so vastly different from our own that it is almost impossible to make comparisons that might not be misleading. New Zealand is a comparatively small country and is quite mountainous with large valleys of rich land. Their cattle pasture during the entire twelve months. Produc-

See C.P.R. Holding To Union Idea

Official Refuses to Discuss Line to Be Abandoned Until Unification Before Committee

OTTAWA, May 19 (CP).—Definite indication the Canadian Pacific Railway intends to raise the question of unification before the Senate special committee on the railway conditions of Canada came today as John E. Armstrong, C.P.R. assistant chief engineer, continued his evidence on cooperation between the two railway systems.

Col. M. Biggar, counsel for the committee, asked the witness about 500 miles of thin traffic C.P.R. lines, included in an estimate of 5,000 miles of line which might be abandoned and submitted to the Duff royal commission on transportation in 1932.

Mr. Armstrong said that was based on unification and he preferred not to discuss it until the question of unification came before the committee.

Since 1932 the Canadian Pacific had applied to the Board of Railway Commissioners for permission to abandon only 150 miles of non-competing lines and Col. Biggar wanted to find out why it had not moved to abondon the whole 500 miles comprised in the 5,000 mile estimate.

Denies Program.

"There never was a 5,000-mile co-operation program," said Mr. Armstrong.

At another point Mr. Armstrong said there were cases where no saving could be made under cooperation but savings were possible under unification.

He believed there were economies still to be obtained by co-operation if satisfactory arrangements for dividing burden and advantage between the two systems could be worked out. Failure to devise such arrangements had made it impossible, so far, to agree on the pooling of passenger services west of Toronto and between Montreal and Winnipeg.

Correspondence between S. J. Hungerford, president of the Canadian National Railways, and Grant Hall, vice-president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, regarding cooperation was read into the committee records.

The letter showed the two railway executives disagreed on the possibilities of a joint terminal in Montreal. Mr. Hall believed a joint terminal could be established with convenience to the public, a saving to the railways and small capital expenditure. Mr. Hungerford believed large expenditures would be involved, perhaps added costs and that the project would cause inconvenience to the public.

The railway executives both expressed willingness to study pooling of passenger services west of Toronto but their letters reflected difficulty in finding a basis upon which pooling could be worked out.

NOT CONSULTED, DIONNE DEMANDS NEW NURSE FIRED

NORTH BAY, Ont., May 19.—(CP)—Henri St. Jacques, attorney for Oliva Dionne, father of the quintuplets, said today he had protested the recent appointment of Miss Louise Corriveau as nurse at Dafoe nursery because Dionne was not consulted.

St. Jacques said he had made the protest Wednesday when he met here with Percy D. Wilson, official guardian. Efficiency of Miss Corriveau was not in question, he added.

"Mr. Dionne says it has been discouraging to Mrs. Dionne and himself that, notwithstanding recommendations of Mr. Wilson and approved by Premier Hepburn, Dr. A. R. Dafoe persists in acting independently in making staff changes in the nursery," St. Jacques said.

The attorney said he also had requested the dismissal of Miss Norah Rousselle, tutor to the quints, appointed this spring.

Wilson was in conference here today with Dr. Dafoe and Judge J. A. Valin, guardians. He said "routine business" was engaging the attention of the guardians.

Duce Demanding France Drop Russian Hookup

Daladier Warns Nation Able to Defend Herself; Moscow Stirs Fresh Fires By Asking to Send Spain Arms Via France

PARIS, May 19 (AP).—Premier Edouard Daladier declared France would defend her frontiers against "all attempts at violence" in a surprise statement delivered today as France's negotiations with Italy approached a breakdown.

To newspapermen whom he summoned to his office, the premier said:

"France will persist in proving her close union, her calm self-possession. She can do it because she is strong.

Indirectly the premier threw the blame for the impasse in the friendship talks on Italy, asserting France was "occupied with looking everywhere and with everybody for a settlement, which, however, demands loyalty, reciprocity and parallel action."

The premier's declaration came as Italian efforts to break up France's alliance with Soviet Russia had imposed formidable obstacles to efforts for a Franco-Italian accord.

Conversations for such an agreement began in Rome before Chancellor Hitler's visit to Italy May 3, were suspended during that visit and have not been resumed.

Today Daladier uttered this warning:

"Whatever the circumstances France is capable of assuring alone the inviolability of her frontiers and that of her empire, of safeguarding the independence and integrity of her territory against all attempts at violence."

Impossible Concessions.

Political informants said that in the face of French efforts to resume the Rome talks, Italy is demanding concessions France is not likely to make.

The direct cause of the break in the government conversations is laid to shipment of arms through France to government Spain. Shorn of diplomatic technicalities, Italy seems to have demanded that France choose between Italy and Russia.

Russian has added pressure for permission to send Russian arms through France into government Spain. Diplomatic sources say she has threatened to quit the Anglo-French bloc in European politics unless such permission is granted.

BRITAIN STRIVES TO ASSIST FRANCE AND DUCE MAKE UP

LONDON, May 19.—(CP Cable.)—Great Britain is moving to close the widening bearch between France and Italy and end intervention in Spain.

In London the Earl of Plymouth, Under Secretary for Foreign Affairs, after talks with the French Ambassador, Charles Corbin, opened conversations with other members of the non-intervention committee.

In Rome the Earl of Perth, British Ambassador to Italy, interviewed Count Galeazzo Ciano, the Italian Foreign Minister, with a view to facilitating negotiations for an agreement between Italy and France.

Lord Plymouth's London conversations turn on:

1. Restoration of frontier control between France and Spain and between Spain and Portugal.
2. Tightening up sea control.
3. The question of withdrawing volunteers from Spain by categories.

Both Getting Aid.

For within the last few days fresh anxieties have arisen over Spain. Both the insurgents and the Republicans have been getting war materials from outside. Barceolna is reported to have received new and more powerful anti-aircraft guns. The Republicans recently moved new heavy guns up to the front. Russian airplanes are reported to have been flown through to Spain. General Franco, on his side, has new supplies.

It is these fresh infringements of non-intervention which have occasioned British action, for the Anglo-Italian agreement hinges on a settlement of the Spanish question. Until the Spanish question is settled—and this, in the British view, implies a substantial withdrawal of volunteers — the Anglo-Italian agreement does not become operative.

Dragged By Team Girl 5, Dies

OWEN SOUND, Ont., May 19 (C. P). — Irene McArthur, five-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin McArthur, Lion's Head farmer, died late last night in hospital from injuries received when she was dragged behind a runaway team.

Wilbert Hefstrand, 14, who was driving the team, was in the hospital to-day with both legs and one arm fractured.

The two were driving a load of manure to a farm about 10 miles north of Lion's Head. The horses were startled by a cow and bolted. The two were thrown down between the animals and the wagon, and dragged some distance.

61,000 More Motor Licenses Out

TORONTO, May 19 (C.P.).—More than 585,000 motor vehicle licences have been taken out in Ontario this year, 61,000 more than in the same period last year, Provincial Highways Department officials said today.

Passenger vehicle licences, at 516,883, are 54,000 ahead of the number in 1937. Gasoline sales are up, too, motorists using 21,383,000 gallons in March this year, about 1,000,000 more than in the same month last year.

GRANT ASKED FOR BUILDING AT EXHIBITION

Peterborough Deputation Is Given Very Favorable Hearing by Two Ministers

A Peterborough deputation representing the city and county councils, the Exhibition Board and the Business Men's Association, petitioned the Ontario government yesterday for a substantial grant toward the cost of a proposed building in Exhibition Park that would be available for other community purposes, including an artificial ice rink for hockey.

Hon. H. C. Nixon, acting for Premier Hepburn, and Hon. P. M. Dewan, Minister of Agriculture, received the delegation, and assured them that the request would be fully considered by the Cabinet.

Also Federal Appeal

Mr. Denne informed the Ministers that the Exhibition Board had been presented with the deed of the Park in trust by Harold A. Morrow, that it was valued at $50,000 with $65,000 being an estimate of the cost of the buildings already in use. He said the Peterborough Exhibition served a large area of Central Ontario to much the same extent as London, Toronto and Ottawa, the three other class A exhibitions in the province. An appeal would also be made to the federal government for a grant, and certain commitments have already been made by local interests in the hope that the proposed building could be proceeded with.

Mr. Elliott enumerated the many agricultural organizations that use the Exhibition Park for field days and other purposes, even to school fairs, and with greatly improved accommodation it would be even of greater service to the farming community. It would also be available as an auditorium for public meetings, and a source of revenue would be developed if provision was made for converting the building into a hockey rink in winter.

It was also pointed out that the Peterborough Exhibition is the only one of the four in Class A that has not received substantial aid from the province.

Appeal for Highway

J. W. Geraghty was spokesman for the deputation which urged Hon. T. B. McQuesten, Minister of Highways, to build the Peterborough-Port Perry link of the Central Ontario highway as soon as possible. He was accompanied by Mayor Hamilton, Alderman Glover, L. J. Clancy, E. F. Mason and Tom Brown.

Mr. McQuesten explained that the preliminaries of preparing plans could not be completed until late this year. This included the necessary negotiations for changes in the right of way, grades, and other important details. Construction could not be started this year, but patrol men had been appointed to put the present road in good condition for the time beinf. The Minister said that scores of applications for highways of one kind or other were being made to the government.

Peterboro' Priest To Be Honored

OTTAWA, May 19 (CP). — The University of Ottawa will confer honorary degrees of Doctorates of Law on four prominent Canadians at the annual convocation June 19, it was announced today.

Those to receive the honors are Senator Charles Bourgeois of Three Rivers, Que.; William Perkins Bull, K.C., of Toronto; Rev. Patrick James Kelly, rector of St. Peter's Cathedral, Peterborough, Ont., and Antonio Prince, a native of Edmonton, and now postmaster at Woonsocket, R.I.

6 Deserters Salt Selves Down To Escape Franco's Legion

Premier Sprains Ankle Ordered To Bed

St. Thomas, May 19.

SUFFERING from a sprained ankle and an infection of his foot, Premier M. F. Hepburn returned to his home here yesterday afternoon from Toronto and has been ordered by his physician to remain in bed for a week or more. He suffered the injury two days ago when he slipped in getting out of his automobile in Toronto. The attending physician said the infection on the top of the foot was the more serious part of the injury. The Premier was to have spoken at the Diamond Jubilee celebration of the St. Thomas Collegiate Institute Friday evening.

Canadian And American Group Have Thirsty Time Before Leaving Freighter's Hold

DARTMOUTH, England, May 19. —(AP). — Three Canadians and three Americans who literally salted themselves down to escape from insurgent Spain were refused permission to land to-day when the steamship Lanahrone arrived from Gibraltar.

The six men, who identified themselves as deserters from General Franco's Foreign Legion, emerged from the hold of the freighter when she was two days out of Gibraltar. They had stowed away in a cargo of salt and were suffering severely from thirst when they came into the open.

The stowaways said they had slipped across the insurgent frontier from La Linea, Spain, found civilian clothing and crept aboard the Lanahrone when she called at Gibraltar. Immigration authorities refused to permit them to come ashore here and they continued toward Aberdeen, the Lanahrone's next port of call.

The Canadians identified themselves as Roben Hodge, 30, Michael Bishop, 23, and Raymond Tiger, 26, but gave no home addresses.

Unknown Rifleman Shoots Lad In Hip As He Walks Dover Township Road

— Chatham, Ont., May 19 (CP)

His condition was not critical.

The boy, accompanied by his brother Harold, 12, had left their home with the intention of walking to a nearby garage. As they reached the 12th concession, the lads heard the report of a rifle. Ronald felt a stinging pain in the right hip. He was able to stagger home with the assistance of his brother. Dr. H. A. Taylor of Wallaceburg, who was summoned, brought the lad to the office of Doctors Reid and Moriarity for attention. The surgeon's probed for some time but they were unable to extract the bullet.

Provincial Constable A. R. Peters was notified and started an investigation.

120 Plane Experts Complete Camp Borden Training

Over 200 Expected To Replace Them As Students Are Spread Over Canada

BARRIE, Ont., May 19 (CP). — Sixty-one students have been transferred from the Royal Canadian Air Force training school at Camp Borden, it was learned here today. Another 59 will leave within the next to weeks.

The students are being sent to R.C.A.F. stations in Halifax, Ottawa, Montreal, Trenton, Winnipeg and Vancouver. At Camp Borden they have completed a year's training as mechanics and riggers.

About 200 recruits are expected at Camp Borden in June.

"Is that so?" replied Judge Clifford McLaughlin. "Case dismissed."

135,000 Japs Slain In China War

Hankow, May 19 (CP-Havas)

THE CENTRAL (Chinese) News Agency reported today that an official Japanese announcement made at Yenchow, in Southern Shantung, estimated that 135,000 Japanese troops had been killed in China since the war began last July.

Three Major-Generals, 5,000 army officers and 600 naval officers were listed among the dead.

"Human Cobra" Guilty Of 4 Murders Widow Is Sentenced To Die

Vienna, May 19 (AP)

MARTHA MAREK, 44-year-old widow, convicted of four murders, to-day was sentenced to death.

Although the prosecutor, Otto Wotowa, described the crippled, half-blind woman as a "human cobra, who richly deserves the gallows," the sentence did not indicate the method of execution.

This raised rumors that the guillotine soon might replace hanging for executions in Austria.

Frau Marek was convicted of the murders of her husband, daughter, Aunt and a woman boarder. Jenoe Nepmann, convicted of complicity in the killings, was sentenced to three years' imprisonment.

SENATE GIVES DIVORCE BILL ONLY 4 MARGIN

Upper House Splits Wide Over Stormy Measure; Doubt Commons' Permit

OTTAWA, May 19 (CP)—Parliament Hill sees little chance of the Senate measure broadening the grounds for divorce becoming law this session unless the government gives it special concessions in the House of Commons.

The bill, sponsored by Senator Lendrum McMeans (Con. Winnipeg), got through the Senate yesterday after a stormy passage. It now goes to the Commons but as it is a private measure it must await its turn in the two hours a week devoted to such bills unless the government gives it some of its own time.

Even if it reaches the Commons it is likely the bill will meet strong opposition. Senator J. P. Molly (Lib. Provencher) told the Senate yesterday he did not think the Commons would pass it because the bill was not in the interest of the people.

Party lines were cut through as the measure was given third reading by a vote of 33 to 29. Eleven Liberals aproved the bill and 12 were opposed. Twenty-two Conservatives favored it and 17 were opposed. Of those voting against it 35 were Roman Catholic, all of that religion in the House at the time. They were joined by four non-Catholics — Sir Allen Aylesworth (Lib. North York), William Duff (Lib. Lunenburg), George Gordon (Con. Nipissing) and J. H. King (Lib. Kootenay East).

Added Grounds.

The measure would add to adultery, the only grounds at present, desertion for six years, cruelty, incurable insanity for five years and extreme immorality on the part of the husband. It is modelled along the lines of the Divorce Act passed by the British Parliament last year.

A last-minute effort to block the bill was made by Senator J. J. Hughes (Lib. P.E.I.), a consistent opponent. He sought to prohibit divorced persons from re-marrying during the lifetime of the former spouse. His amendment was defeated.

During weeks of Senate debate on the measure some members directed their attacks against it on moral and religious grounds and others attacked certain clauses, contending they were unconstitutional.

In the original bill clauses dealing with voidance of marriage were captioned "nullity" but when it contended nullification was a provincial right these were deleted. Subsections were inserted which empowered courts to grant decrees from a fixed date after the marriage which would have similar effect to nullification.

OTTAWA, May 19 (CP).—Stabilization of farm product prices in a county as large as Canada presents many difficulties in the opinion of Agriculture Minister Gardiner. Denmark, a small and highly developed country, had been unable to accomplish stabilization of prices, he told the House of Commons yesterday.

After long days of argument and criticism over agriculture estimates, the committee of the whole released the brakes yesterday and the Minister was able to get a large block

DURHAM FARMERS ELECT OFFICERS

The Durham Junior Farmers' Association held its annual meeting in Pontypool on Monday night, May 16, with twenty-five juniors in attendance from practically every township.

E. A. Summers, Agricultural Representative, gave a short address in which he reviewed the junior work in the county for the past year and suggested plans for 1938. It was decided to hold the annual field day at Bethany on Saturday, June 11. The program will include a boys' softball tournament, girls' softball competition, standard events, tug-of-war, championship hardball game between North Durham and South Durham and a dance in the evening.

The new slate of officers is as follows: Past President, Jay Whittington, South Monaghan; president, John Rickard, Newcastle; vice-president, Harry Kennedy, Cavan; secretary-treasurer, George McKnight, Millbrook.

Directors: Hope Township, Carroll Nichols and Elmore Scott; Cavan, Ernest Brackenridge and Ralph McCamus; South Monaghan, Gerald Anderson and Alan Dawson; Manvers, John Hanna and Allan Beer; Clarke, Ivison Tamblyn and John Holmes; Darlington, Lloyd Metcalf and Tom Baker; Cartwright, Neil Malcolm and Murray Byers.

FROST CONDEMNS COSTLY CAMPAIGN

LINDSAY, May 16.—Condemnation of "spending huge sums of money during election campaigns by both political parties" was voiced by Leslie M. Frost, M.L.A. for Victoria, at the annual meeting of the Victoria and Haliburton Conservative Association here yesterday.

"This type of Governmental waste of money cannot be justified and will eventually lead to the defeat of democracy itself," contended Mr. Frost.

The speaker criticized the Hepburn Government for alleged failure to keep pre-election promises in regard to debt decreases, C.I.O. policies and Hydro affairs.

Clayton Hodgson, Haliburton, was elected president of the association, and the following were appointed delegates to the Dominion convention at Ottawa: Clayton Hodgson, C. D. Logan, Miss Beatrice Heard, Samuel Endicott; alternates, R. T. Robertson, Richard Hawkins, Samuel Carew and Henry Brohm.

DAIRY FARMING

tion of 300 pounds of butter to the acre is not uncommon. You see 100-acre farms with 60 to 75 head of cattle, whereas our average is around 15 to 20. Some of their farms actually have one cow to the acre. They have abundant rainfall and the farmers are able to fertilize heavily.

Small Pasture Fields

Farms are marked off into paddocks or small fields and the cattle are moved from one to another, so as to keep up ample pasturage. They raise enormous quantities of lamb and mutton. Mr. Mayberry and I saw more dairy cattle and sheep in three hours after leaving Auckland by train for Wellington than we ever saw before. Jerseys in New Zealand greatly outnumber all other breeds, possibly all the others put together.

Their butter factories average 2,000,000 pounds a year as compared with our average of 280,000 pounds. They estimate that they save two cents a pound in the cost of production through their large and efficient plants. They are not satisfied with that, however. They are now enforcing the zoning of supplies of cream to prevent overlapping and duplication of truck routes, and in small loads, with resulting heavy expense to their industry. They are demanding that this unnecessary expense be eliminated.

During the first week of the conference, New Zealand and Australian delegates objected vigorously against the idea of restrictions being placed in their exports of farm products to the United Kingdom on the ground that they had so reduced their cost of production that they are ready to meet the competition of the world, and let the most efficient survive.

Rich Land Unused

The chief thing that struck us during a tour of northern New South Wales and southern Queensland was the tremendous potential power of production of that part of Australia. The government took us through the chief agricultural areas on a tour by train and automobile lasting a week. We saw enormous herds of cattle and flocks of sheep, and millions of acres of fertile land that had not yet been brought into production.

At Darling Downs they told us there was enough good land to produce all the food required for the Empire, and we were quite prepared to believe it."

Illawara Cattle

Mr. Cowan saw the Illawara cattle, similar to our dual purpose Shorthorns ,and it might surprise some of our farmers to hear that a cow of this breed holds the world's record for butter fat production, and has held it for some years. This breed predominates in that part of Australia."

"I don't think we have anything to learn from their wheat farmers, at least not much, but in many other respects it makes your heart ache when you realize how far we are behind what they have done and what we should be doing. Some people here say we have too much organization. If you want to see efficient control organizations you have to go to both those countries."

Mr. Cowan spoke of seeing 1,000,000 sheep on a range, and also it is not uncommon to see 5,000 to 10,000 sheep on one farm. He attended an agricultural exhibition at Toowoomba, a city of 27,000 people, and was impressed there by many features which could be emulated by our own Peterborough Exhibition. Mr. Cowan is at present preparing reports of the conference and of his observations and enquiries.

KING IS PLEASED WITH RECRUITING

LIVERPOOL, May 19—(CP-Havas)—Favorable military recruiting figures drew an expression of gratification from the King today when he arrived in Liverpool with Queen Elizabeth in a continuation of their Lancashire tour.

The King drew particular attention to the strength of the West Lancashire division in military ceremonies which followed the arrival of their majesties from Knowsley Hall, where they were guests of the Earl of Derby overnight. The warm acclaim of large throngs greeted the royal visitors in this maritime city.

Presenting new flags to the fifth battalion of the King's regiment and the Liverpool Scottish, of which he is Colonel-In-Chief, His Majesty said:

"Officers, non-commissioned officers and men of the fifth battalion of the King's Regiment and the Liverpool Scottish:—

"Some of those present here today will recall the occasion 29 years ago when my grandfather reviewed in Knowsley Park the newly-formed West Lancashire division of the territorial force.

"He did this to demonstrate publicly his belief in the citizen army which had then only recently come into being. Today the territorial army, its value proved in war, has to shoulder even wider responsibilities. That its importance to the nation is fully appreciated by our fellow countrymen is shown by the fine recruiting figures of recent months.

"They have been particularly good in this district and I am glad to see that the West Lancashire division heads all others in England and has a strength 96.8 per cent of its establishment.

Spanish war brought to a quick end.

His blunt statement at Genoa about France and Italy being "on the opposite sides of the barricades in Spain" arises from a belief that France is supplying the Barcelona government with large quantities of munitions, thus prolonging the war in Spain.

Italian Press Bitter

Attacks on France are appearing in the Italian press. Paris papers hold the view that the hitch in the Franco-Italian talk threatens the Anglo-Italian agreement.

"A rupture of negotiations between Rome and Paris," comments Le Figaro (Rightist), "would be a formal condemnation of the Anglo-Italian protocol." Le Jour (Independent) goes so far as to predict that if no agreement is reached between Italy and France, the Italo-British Entente will be shattered at one stroke.

"This rupture," Le Jour adds, "would bring in its train the fall of the Chamberlain government and a rout of the Conservative majority which supports it and accentuation of the growing ardor of the Socialist party and the young Conservatives grouped round Anthony Eden who have not stomached this disgrace. Dissolution of parliament then appears inevitable with every chance of socialism coming into power."

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

Weakness at Chicago caused Winnipeg wheat futures to fall from gains of almost a cent to-day. The irregular session ended with values ¼ lower to ½ cent higher. May $1.14¼, July $1.02½, and October 84¾ cents.

Canadian export sales of 150,000 bushels, mostly old crop wheats, and reports of rains and heavy winds flattening winter wheat crops in Kansas caused early bullishness. Scattered liquidation sales later carried prices down.

Buenos Aires opened fractionally higher, but was unchanged at noon.

OBITUARY

MRS. CLINTON D. HEATH

Largely attended by relatives and friends, the funeral of the late Mrs. Clinton D. Heath was held on Wednesday morning from the family residence at 276 Romaine street, to the Church of the Sacred Heart, where Requiem High Mass was solemnized by the Rev. F. L. Rishea of Trout Creek, cousin of the deceased. He was assisted by the Rev. J. J. O'Brien and the Rev. J. C. Maloney as deacon and sub-deacon.

An impressive sermon was preached by the Rev. J. C. Maloney, Taking as his text the words spoken by Our Lord to His twelve apostles when He was about to depart from this earth: "A little while and you shall not see me, and again a little while and you shall see me, for I go to the Father who has sent me"; the preacher explained the meaning of these words as an assurance that after a short period of separation from loved ones on this earth, reunion would come in the Christian home of Our Father in Heaven, and as an eternal reward to those who lead good Christian lives and accept with patience and resignation the trials and sufferings in their journey through this world as a means of attaining their eternal salvation. The speaker also pointed to the sufferings endured by Jesus as an example to teach the way of Heaven. In the course of his sermon Father Maloney referred to the late Mrs. Heath as having been possessed of these Christian qualities, an assurance of her eternal happiness.

Pall-bearers were Harry Rishea, Frederick Rishea, Amy Rishea, Harry Ranger, Lawrence Heath, and Rex Heath. The prayers at the graveside were recited by the Rev. F. L. Rishea and Rev. J. C. Maloney.

Memorial Windows Unveiled At Norwood United Church

Memories Of Former Church Members Revived At Impressive Service

(Examiner Correspondence.)

NORWOOD, May 19.—Two large congregations filled the United church on Sunday, May 15 when re-opening services of the newly rebuilt church were continued. The unveiling and presentation of seven memorial windows was an interesting feature of the morning service.

Professor H. Ford of Toronto, presented the windows to the trustees and members of the congregation in a few well chosen words. Later Rev. Cleland and the Rev. Stillman paid fitting tributes to those in whose memory these windows have been erected. The beautiful windows have been presented and unveiled in memory of the following by the members of their family:

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Scott and Edwin, unveiled by Miss Lillian Scott of Toronto.

Dr. Samuel P. and Mrs. Ford, unveiled by Professor H. Ford, of Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. William R. Howson, and two children, Margaret Howson Burgess and Thomas Howson, unveiled by Mr. G. A. Howson, of Toronto.

Mr. Samuel McGee, unveiled by Dr. Andrew McGee of Toronto.

Mr. Edwin Charles Squire, unveiled by Mrs. C. Patterson of Toronto.

Mr. Herbert James Stuart, unveiled by his father, Col. R. J. Stuart, of Toronto, and Mr. Ralph George Elliott, unveiled by his father, J. F. Elliott of Norwood.

The Rev. R. F. Stillman of Oshawa, a former pastor of this charge, gave an inspiring address, taking as his text, "And Let Them Make Me a Sanctuary, That I May Dwell Among Them."

At the evening service the Rev. T. M. Wesley of Cambourne, another former pastor, was the guest speaker who took as his theme the "Church," comparing the work of the church to that of a river and its branches. Both of these inspirational addresses given by the guest speakers were very appropriate ones for the reopening services of the church.

Special Music.

The choir, under the leadership of Wesley Wildman, rendered two beautifu larithems in the morning, "Rejoice in the Lord" by Blaines and "Thee We Adore" by Wilson, in the evening. At the morning service L. C. Gunstone gave a solo, "There Were Ninety and Nine." Miss Una Duffields solo in the evening was 'Vesper Prayer."

PIG ADOPTS CHICKENS

DUNGANNON, Ont., May 19 (C. P.). — A pair of White Leghorn chickens have been adopted by a little white pig of the same age on the farm of S. H. Stothers near here. The pig, one of a family of 17, found himself crowded out at mealtime, so was moved to a yard adjoining the pigsty and given his milk from a bottle. The chicks, brought home from Goderich Collegiate Institute, where they had been hatched in an incubator, were placed in the same field, and soon found the pig willing to let them snuggle up to him for warmth.

FAIRMOUNT

Rev. and Mrs. H. P. L. Seymour of Kingston spent a few days with friends in the community, also baptising Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Seymour's little girl, Lila May.

Mr. William Bruce spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. F. Johnston.

Mrs. Robert Hooton and Mr. and Mrs. H. McArthur were the guests of Mrs. G. Berry of Centreville on Sunday.

Mrs. M. Haygarth, Mrs. F. Alton, Bruce Alton and George Morris, all of Toronto, were the guests of Mrs. M. Hooton on Sunday.

Mrs. E. Thompson and Mrs. Ben. Johnston called on Mrs. William Johnston, Sr., on Sunday.

OFFICERS ELECTED AT HALL'S BRIDGE

HALL'S BRIDGE, May 19. — On Friday, May 13th the members of the Buckhorn girls' ball team arranged a very successful and enjoyable euchre and dance at Matthew's Parish Hall. The attendance was very good. The music was supplied by the Rex Wilson orchestra.

The Hall's Bridge branch of the Women's Institute met at the True Blue Hall last week for a day's quilting with a "pot luck" dinner and supper. A very enjoyable time was spent by some twenty members. After supper the annual business meeting and election of officers was held. Splendid reports on the many and varied activities of the year were given. The bathing beach, the big project will be completed in the near fture, it is hoped.

Officers for the ensuing year are: President, Mrs. Howard Pearson; 1st vice president, Mrs. W. Shearer; 2nd vice president, Mrs. G. Dunford; secretary, Mrs. H. A. Shearer; treasurer, Mrs. S. Wood; district director, Mrs. E. Blewett. The meeting closed with the singing of the National Anthem.

Mr. and Mrs. McConkey of Haileybury have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Harman Windover for a few days.

While cutting wood, Jos. Johnson, Jr. of the Oregon Trail sustained a sprained wrist and occupied in loading lumber at Wallace Shearer's mill Mr. Jack Stabler of Hall's Bridge received injuries to the hand, including a crushed finger on Friday, May 13th.

TOO OLD AT FIFTY?

There are far too many men and women in the forties and fifties who think they're "beyond" enjoying work or play. What a mistake! Just when you're old enough to know how to enjoy yourself, to give up because sluggishness and general unfitness make you feel "not up to it"!

Take a look at wealthier people. Do they give in to middle-age? Not likely! They try to keep themselves in the pink of condition until advanced old age; bodies young, minds alert.

How do they manage it? Many by taking the waters at famous Spas. But I can't afford to go to Spas, you'll say. You don't have to, now. Similar benefits of Spa waters can come to you! The combination of the elements of Sodium, Potassium and Lithium in Fynnon Salt gives you remedial effect similar to that which wealthy people go miles to get from Spa waters. "Salts of the Earth" break up the painfully pronged Uric Acid crystals—aid in removing poisons from your body—help stimulate the liver to do its job thoroughly again.

Your regular morning ½ teaspoonful of Fynnon Salt in a glassful of water will help drive Rheumatic pains from your joints. Feel fit at fifty. Large bottle of Fynnon Salt 75c at all druggists'.

We Conceal Nothing

It has been frequently stated that little information regarding armament plans is given out by several of the nations of Europe and the East. Japan has furnished little in detail regarding naval plans; little enough is known of the strength of Russia.

But in Canada we do things differently. All such matters are openly debated in the House of Commons where it is possible to go and hear the debate. Then it is all printed word for word in the House of Commons debates for the day, and a good deal of it goes into the papers.

If there is a vote for purchasing military planes members ask all manner of questions and the Minister of Defence answers them all. He tells of what sort they are; gives facts regarding where they are made. If it is shown that our stock of such machines is away low there is no attempt made to conceal that fact.

When the business of making planes or bombs in Canada is discussed there is no hesitation in saying where they are likely to be made. If some one wishes to arise and complain that we have only a dozen planes and most of them would be unfit for war service then such statement is considered right enough to be made. We apparently have little or nothing at all which we wish to hide from the world.

It Proves Little

Members of the Canadian Co-operative Youth Movement were on the streets of Peterborough on Saturday and Monday questioning people on "Are you in favor of war?" In all an answer was secured from 150 persons. Analysis shows that 40 per cent. would participate in a war if they were forced to go or if it were for defensive purposes; 42 per cent. would take no part in war of any kind; 18 per cent. would be willing to participate in a war, some of them for excitement and others—the majority of this section—for the economic security it would offer them for the time being. That is, they would be sure of a job while they were in the army.

Whether that proves much or little we do not know. If any man or woman were asked the question "Are you in favor of war?" we are certain the answers would nearly all be negative. The people of this country do not live or act or plan in terms of war. As far as our population is concerned there is nothing which we nationally covet or for which we would wage a war of aggression. For that reason we are not what they call "war-minded." But the blunt and unlovely fact is that people often get what they do not want. There have been a sufficiency of people who had smallpox, cancer or other ailments. We are certain they did not want them, but when they came they had to deal with them, and in the dealing with them they would do things which they did not want to do but which they felt they had to do. No man wants to be put out of his home for non-payment of taxes or rent or interest or principal. If you asked him if he wanted to be evicted he would say "No."

It is much the same with war. Are we in favor of war? No. But the unfortunate part of it is that nations which think and act in terms of war would probably not consider for a moment what we thought about it.

It Is A Large Field

Col F. Chappell, Director of Industrial Relations of General Motors of Canada, was addressing a meeting of the Urban School Trustees of Canada at Oshawa.

The general theme under discussion seems to have been whether the teaching in vocation or trade schools was actually fitting young men for industrial life. Col Chappel said this:

> In my opinion it would not greatly undermine their confidence or self esteem if they were taught that what they don't know is of far greater importance than what they already know. They might then be better prepared to accept the arduous work of training that lies ahead of them."

We admit it might be hard enough to cause a young man or an adult to become impressed by the importance and extent of what he does not know, but actually it is the largest unexplored field in existence.

Those who know the most are always those who are impressed and perhaps a trifle depressed by the extent of that which they do not know.

It's Either Up Or Down

When a cabin plane with a dozen or more passengers is not reported as having made a safe landing it is taken for granted that something serious has happened. It must always be that way because a plane must be one of two places—up or down.

There was another big one which left Los Angeles. Reports say it cost $80,000 and had a speed of 250 miles an hour, said to be the world's fastest commercial airplane.

There was a heavy fog on at the time, and there was fog all the way up for 5,000 feet. Aviators are now trying to figure out just what did happen. Likely the pilot could not see and was coming down to see if he could locate any familiar object when he probably crashed on a mountain peak.

When a plane is flying in such a fog it makes little difference if it did cost $80,000 or that it can make 250 miles an hour. Other pilots say the proper thing would have been to stay up at a known height which would have been registered on the instrument board. Then the others remark there were two other planes which crashed in the same district. The business of reporting the arrival and departure of planes is a well-regulated business today, and when one is not reported as having landed officials are pretty certain something serious has happened. Experience has taught them to hold such views.

When A Bank Is Robbed

One lone man six feet tall entered a branch bank in London, Ont., and when he came out he had $1,000 in bills. Then he drove away, and at the moment it is another case of where the search is on. This robber had selected one of those lesser places where there are but two men on the bank staff; he was able to get them close together where he could then cover them both with his weapon. One report says the robber took all the money there was in the branch, but that is not at all likely. Banks have found it advisable to keep most of their money in the vault, and as a rule there is just enough in the tellers' cages to carry on business. That rule is more generally followed now than it was before the bandits started their daylight raiding some years ago.

There seems to be a belief that the bank has all its cash insured and would therefore lose nothing when a robber took away $1,000. When a bank is shipping money from one point to another insurance is carried on it to make certain of no loss in delivery, but from inquiries made by the Examiner it is clear that the ordinary cash in a bank is not insured and the bank in London which had $1,000 taken away would suffer that loss just the same as an individual who might be held up and robbed. If the police recover the cash then it will be turned over to the bank. Otherwise the bank is out $1,000.

All banks have weapons and they are loaded and ready for use, but there is nothing in banking custom which urges managers or staff members to risk their lives to prevent robbery. It is a matter which employees have to decide for themselves. Admittedly there has been little advance made on the part of banks to make their premises more secure against the daylight raiders. There is little danger of the larger branches being molested because there are too many people on hand and traffic outside is liable to be slow and uncertain by reason of signals and density, so escape is too difficult to undertake. It is generally the smaller branch bank where the staff is small and the road comparatively open which is selected by the bandit.

He's Learning Now

A young man, Reginald McLeod, of London, Ont., wrote to Mayor Wigle of Windsor a week or so ago asking his worship to lend a hand at trying to locate a wife. Reginald had apparently had little success in London. And now the young man is sorry he ever took his pen in hand because he has received too many letters. He is rather embarrassed or disgusted and is thinking of leaving for Vancouver, which we admit is a considerable distance away from either Windsor or London.

A number of the girls who wrote letters to this young man who had explained he was possessed of $13,000 which he inherited from the estate of his father, suggested that Reginald should meet them on a certain street corner at a given time. They even described what they would be wearing so identification would be correct and easy to make. If Reginald did not know how to discuss the delicate question of securing a wife before why he has been receiving a good deal of instruction through the mail. He is being told plain as mud that there are dozens of girls who are ready and waiting for some one to come along and suggest such a thing as marriage. They are neither shrinking violets nor clinging vines, but apparently well able to stand up and talk business on a deal which seems to interest them all. The young man from London really never needed to ask any assistance from the mayor of Windsor. All he needed to do was go and spy out a maiden pieced together to his liking and then proceed to pursue her. And married men the world over could have told him all about it without adding to the worries of the mayor of Windsor.

Feeding A Cow

There was something in the paper the other day about a discussion at some farm meeting, and one man a little more outspoken than the others said he did not believe in feeding his milking cows more than 15 pounds of hay per day. He said he used to feed more than that but found by cutting down a little he was getting just as good results.

We do not know if a dozen farmers could gather together and agree on that. They used to argue considerable about that problem on Lot Four Concession Ten a good many years ago. And most of the argument was between grandfather and the hired man. The hired man always had some books and some government bulletins on feeding a cow or anything else that might have taken up lodgings around the premises. But grandfather always insisted he could tell without the aid of the government just how much a cow should get to eat.

As we recall it he was strong on 20 pounds of hay, or something pretty close to that. The plan for measuring or forking hay out in 20-pound lots was never clearly regulated or defined. It probably depended on how the hired man felt or whether he was in a hurry. He was always quoting some figures about the weight of the cow. If the cow was 1,000 pounds then she should have two pounds of hay for each 100 pounds weight. But there was no place to weigh the cow. There was a small set of scales in the granary but you couldn't put the cow on that.

Then too the hired man had quite an intricate system about the amount of meal which the cow should get. Every time the cow gave four pounds of milk then the cow had earned the right to eat a pound of meal. If the cow was giving 30 pounds of milk per day it figured about 7 1-2 pounds of meal, and when the hired man started getting fractions of pounds into his calculations grandfather was sure to say it was time he quit being a hired man and started writing bulletins for the government.

Grandfather always contended he did not need a book of rules to feed a cow. He could tell by looking at a cow and noting how she acted if she was getting enough to eat. He'd always done things that way and he wasn't inclined to change. Of course all that referred to the time when the cow was milking. When she wasn't then her diet went down if not in quantity then in quality; the cow would be likely to find she had to eat a bit of straw along with her hay. But never at any time was there entire agreement about how much a cow should get to eat. The nearest they ever came to a satisfactory answer was all contained in one word "enough."

NOTE AND COMMENT

Alberta's policy seems to be to try to starve out the representative of the King. It is not a matter about which Ontario can do much criticizing either.

Hon. Ian MacKenzie says it is the duty of all intelligent staffs to read all the newspapers. We must remind our circulation department to send him our rates.

Canada's volunteer soldiers may be provided with boots by a grateful country. The only surprising thing about that it was not done years ago.

Alberta is to open a propaganda bureau and if it is to sell Social Credit to the rest of Canada it will need to be operated by experts.

German soldiers are being used to fight June bugs and the world hopes the Reich's armies will confine their battling to that kind of warfare.

It would be hard to convince thousands of folks in Cleveland and Chicago that a recession is not just the same thing as a depression.

Chinese general warns that the Japanese are preparing to use poison gas. The information will not surprise the world.

A california frog broke the world record with a leap of 15 feet 10 inches. A good many pedestrians are alive and well today because they have been able to do better than that.

A farmer in Western Ontario is charging ten cents for people to come and look at a calf with two legs. That's clear profit as it doesn't wear the calf out to be looked at.

According to a New York dentist most of the pain from dental operations is imaginary. We believe that is right so far as the dentists themselves are concerned.

PINK SEDAN

(By A. R. K.)

¶ I went and bought a book of rules, likewise another set of tools, got oil within a can; the rule book told how cars should run, how quick repairs were easy done, upon my pink sedan.

¶ My pink sedan's a stubborn thing, it's been that way since came the spring, it travels very slow; sometimes it stops when I'm away, and when it stops it stops to stay, and I can't make it go.

¶ And so with all this book of rules, and laden down with shiny tools, I walked with happy men; for if my pink sedan would quit, I would not have to wait and sit, I'd make it go again.

¶ I tried it out just yesterday, when I was fifteen miles away, my car just went to seed; I'd find the method that it took, by working on my new-found book, so I began to read.

¶ But I found nothing there at all, that told me why my car might stall, just what to do or how; for by his sketches and his plan, he doesn't know my pink sedan, for they don't make them now.

¶ He don't describe repairs I need, or how to patch a hole with speed, or how to change my tire; says not a word on saving time, by tieing things with binder twine—or using stovepipe wire.

Soldiers Must Buy Own Boots

From Official Parliamentary Reports.

Mr. GREEN: If I might I should like to ask one further question with regard to the non-permanent active militia. Last winter I heard complaints to the effect that the militiamen were not supplied with boots, and that in many instances this kept men from enlisting, because they did not feel that they should buy heavy boots which would be of no use to them in civil life. Is it a fact that none of the militia is supplied with boots by the government?

Mr. MACKENZIE (Vancouver): As far as my information goes, the members of the non-permanent active militia never have, so far as I know, been supplied with boots by any government in Canada. I quite agree with my hon. friend that there is at the present time a strong feeling among the militia that they should be supplied with boots for summer camp purposes and also for ordinary training purposes, and although no definite decision has been arrived at, the matter has been receiving some attention in the department within the last month or two.

Mr. HEAPS: Are there any factories making airplanes in Canada besides those mentioned by the minister?

Mr. MACKENZIE (Vancouver): Oh, I think so; but not for us. There is one factory in Fort William, I understand, manufacturing airplanes, but not for the Canadian government.

Mr. HEAPS: Are they not in a position to manufacture quite a large number of airplanes in the Fort William area?

Mr. MACKENZIE (Vancouver): Speaking quite unofficially, I understand so.

Mr. HEAPS: Is it not possible that they may be making airplanes for the Japanese?

Mr. MACKENZIE (Vancouver): I am speaking entirely without knowledge, of course; that is possible, but I do not know.

Mr. JOHNSTON (Bow River): Before those airplanes could be shipped out, there would have to be a permit issued by the department, would there not?

Mr. MACKENZIE (Vancouver): That would be a matter for the Department of National Revenue, in regard to the section of the Customs Act dealing with war materials; I think it is section 290.

Mr. HEAPS: Supposing those were commercial airplanes which could be converted into military planes; would they come under the government ban concerning the shipment of goods for war purposes?

Mr. MACKENZIE (Vancouver): That would be entirely a matter of policy for the Minister of National Revenue.

Mr. HEAPS: Is it not a policy of the government also?

Mr. MACKENZIE (Vancouver): Not in regard to the export of planes.

Mr. COLDWELL: Is a licence required for the export of these planes? We are not recognizing any war between China and Japan.

Mr. MACKENZIE (Vancouver): I think a licence is required. Of course this does not come under my department, and in these answers I am speaking subject to correction.

Mr. COLDWELL: Perhaps the Prime Minister would tell us?

Mr. MACKENZIE KING: I understand there is a licence.

Mr. COLDWELL: They have to have a licence?

Mr. MACKENZIE KING: I understand so.

Item agreed to.

WHEN NATURE SULKS.

(Lethbridge Herald)

NATURE is not always in a kindly mood, and in an agricultural country that may mean a wide divergence in farm income in two years.

For instance, in 1936, Saskatchewan farms produced $185,000,000, but when the worst drought in the history of the Province struck in 1937 the farms produced only $91,000,000. Farm income was more than cut in two.

Alberta by contract was comparatively lucky. Our farm production was $149,000,000 in 1936 but, due to good crops in some areas, including Southwestern Alberta, the 1937 figure grew to $172,000,000.

However, Mr. Aberhart wants his 7 per cent. whether the farms produce one hundred million or two hundred million. Margin over cost of production—if any—means nothing to him.

THE SPEAKING CLOCK.

(Edinburgh Scotsman)

EDINBURGH is to be the first city outside of London to have the speaking clock available for telephones users. To get the correct time all that will be necessary will be to dial three selected figures, and the clock will reply.

The scheme comes into operation before the present month closes, and Edinburgh citizens will no longer be so dependent upon the one o'clock gun as they have been in the past. But even when the speaking clock is in operation it will be difficult for the average individual to restrain himself from fingering in his waistcoat pocket at the crack of the gun.

The "speaking clock" has been in active service since July 1936, when about 20,000 calls were made upon it per week. Now it has 340,000 calls per week, and 24½ million calls have been made since the service originated.

CHAPLIN TO THE RESCUE

(Edmonton Journal)

IT MAY be accepted as a fact now that talking pictures are here to stay, for Charlie Chaplin has just admitted it! And he is the last of the silent iconoclasts.

Chaplin, then whom there never has been a better or more successful example of a universal film favorite throughout the movie-going world of all languages, has announced he is going to make a talking picture. He will start production, he says, within the next two months, and his picture will carry a complete sound track, including the Chaplin voice.

It will be the first time that Chaplin's speaking voice will have been heard by movie audiences.

• Teaching A Calf How To Drink

(Letter in Ottawa Journal)

SIR:—I WAS much amused at your clipping from the Peterborough Examiner on feeding calves and your comments.

It seems a calf "ain't changed much" since our early days but what about the hired man?

Speaking for myself as one whose roots are in the soil and not as either a grandfather or hired man. As a boy I used to feed the calves on occasion along with a brother two years my senior and we looked on the job with mixed feelings for we often managed to get a good deal of fun out of the operation. Sometimes there would be a great exhibition of bunting. Sometimes the handle of the pail would be left over the calf's neck and when he raised his head, which he sometimes did as a protest against thoughtless treatment, there was the devil to pay.

Some calves gave little or no trouble in feeding, some had to be helped at the start, nob by the immersed finger's method but by bobbing the head not too far or too forcibly into the milk, others needed the fingers almost throughout the whole process until the calf had learned to feed himself which in time, I fancy, he did unless the feeder was also stupid. The temperature of the milk may have something to do with a calf's relish.

But how about the hired man. Has he changed? The fact is he is getting to be a rare critter in farm administration. If he insists on adequate wages the farmer, as a rule, will have nothing for himself; if he doesn't the chances are he is a poor tool and not worth his salt.

You may talk about the conveniences of modern agriculture but how many farms in Ontario are going to ruin for the want of repairs and proper management (despite the good advice of bulletins and farm journals) with young men thinking more of tonight's pleasure than today's work.

M. J. C.

Ottawa, May 16, 1938.

• Anything May Happen In The West

(Brantford Expositor)

THE DIE HAS been cast and the provincial election in Saskatchewan will be held on Wednesday, June 8, according to an announcement just made by Premier W. J. Patterson. It promises to be one of the most interesting campaigns held in Western Canada for some years. The present Government was elected in June, 1934, and in a three-cornered fight the Liberal party, which at that time was led by Premier J. G. Gardiner, captured fifty seats in a house of fifty-five members. That reduced the Opposition to five members of the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation. The Cnservatives did not win a single seat.

It is not to be expected in the present contest, however, that the Patterson Liberal Government will secure any such overwhelming support as that received four years ago. Much has happened since that time. The Social Credit Government in Alberta was elected in 1935, and has been a disturbing factor in Western politics ever since. Not satisfied with directing affairs in Alberta Premier Aberhart has attempted to establish Social Credit parties not only in the two other Prairie Provinces, Manitoba and Saskatchewan, but also in British Columbia. His success in the latter province, however, was negligible.

The campaign which the Liberal party fears most is that of the Social Credit organization, which has made a desperate attempt to capture the province by the tactics which won Alberta. One might naturally conclude that the electors of Saskatchewan would not be enamred with the Social Credit experiment because of its failure in Alberta, but it has to be remembered that doctrines such as those promulgated by Premier Aberhart flourish in hard times, and Saskatchewan has had eight seasons of poor crops because of successive drouths. The recent legislation pased in Alberta was of a confiscatory character, and was designed to appeal to every person who had mortgaged property in that province. It was debt-cancellation on a gigantic scale.

If the Federal Government disallows this legislation it may spike Premier Aberhart's guns in his Saskatchewan campaign, although he will be able to raise the cry that he has been consistently hampered in carrying out his plans by the courts and by the Dominion authorities. The campaign in Saskatchewan will not only have representatives of the Liberal, Conservative, Co-operative Commonwealth Federation and Social Credit parties, but various independent candidates as well. The outcome will be awaited with keen interest by the people of the entire Dominion, because it will be a real test of Social Credit's doctrines in the West.

• How To Settle An Argument

(Family Herald and Weekly Star)

IN THESE DAYS of wars and threats of wars and bitter talk among nations it is cheerful news to hear of a dispute between two countries that has been settled by the method that is plainly the best for both— in court.

A smelter at Trail, in Canada, year after year sent out fumes that blew over the border into the United States and caused damage to farms on the other side. But the President of the United States did not utter tirades against the Canadians and charge them with a sly attempt to cripple the United States' agricultural production. The Canadian Prime Minister did not counterblast to cry that the national honour of the Dominion was being impugned.

Instead, the two countries agreed to set up a tribunal to investigate the whole matter. They appointed one of the foremost jurists from each country, and then an eminent legal authority from a neutral country as chairman. The tribunal delved carefully into the claims of the United States residents near the border, heard evidence, had scientific investigations made. Recently it issued its final award, laying down the damages that should be paid, and its verdict was unanimous.

We hate to think what would have happened if there had been a similar situation between two European countries. There would probably have been charges that one was trying to poison the population of the other by sending over poison gas. The frontier troops in the district would probably have launched a counter-attack long ago.

The Trail award is an example of what can be accomplished by international arbitration. We only wish more international disagreements could be settled in the same way.

• Why Space For Cattle Is Scarce

(Farmer's Advocate)

CATTLE MEN must admit that the shortage of accommodation provided for the carrying of cattle from Canada to the Old Country is not due to neglect or to anyone's oversight.

While we were enjoying a satisfactory cattle trade with United States, spaces on ocean-going boats were not maintained.

Naturally when the cattle trade with Britain suddenly revived there was a scarcity of properly deck-fitted accommodation for live cattle.

But that is not the only problem at present. Cattle alone do not constitute a profitable shipload; there must be cargo in the ship's bottom, but at the present time offerings of freight for transatlantic shipment are not sufficient to enable ship owners to operate their boats profitably.

Three weeks ago there was a ship tied up to an English pier and on it was accommodation for several hundred head of cattle. Because of lack of cargo the owners could not bring the boat over to move the cattle waiting here.

When wheat is moving in large volume the cargo problem does not exist to the same extent, and possibly not before fall will the necessary balance be restored and steady transport established.

WHO PAYS?

(St. Catharines Standard)

"WHO PAYS THE taxes?" is the caption of an editorial in The Peterborough Examiner, which takes up an argument between Mr. Bennett and Mr. Dunning, as to the effect of the income tax on manufacturing profits, and the effect on the price to the consumer. It is reasonable to believe that the profits or income tax enters into production costs, and the manufacturer plans accordingly. The salaried man is in a different boat. He pays with precision a percentage on what he earns.

But "Who pays the taxes?" as a question might be well answered with the phrase, "his name is legion." Everybody pays, directly and indirectly. One cannot turn anywhere without running into a tax. It is eight per cent. either on a perambulator or a casket, and the medical man's fees have to be such so as to include what he is required to pay in income taxation. The average business is confounded with one tax or another, but there is a widespread belief that the most pernicious of all taxes is that eight per cent. on everything one buys. It is a terrific impost to fall on people who are hard up. But because it is applied invisibly, there is not much said about it and there lacks that tax consciousness which in other circumstances might cause a riot.

PUBLIC PROBLEMS

A Bible Message For Today . . . .

GOD BE merciful unto us, and bless us; and cause his face to shine upon us; Selah. That thy way may be known upon earth, thy saving health among all nations.—Ps. lxvii, 1, 2.

✧ ✧ ✧

Then was brought unto him one possessed with a devil, blind, and dumb: and he healed him, insomuch that the blind and dumb both spake and saw. And all the people were amazed, and said, Is not this the son of David? But when the Pharisees heard it, they said, This fellow doth not cast out devils, but by Beelzebub the prince of the devils. And Jesus knew their thoughts, and said unto them, Every kingdom divided against itself shall not stand; and if tion; and every city or house divided against itself shall not sand: and if Satan cast out Satan, he is divided against himself; how shall then his kingdom stand? And if I by Beelzebub cast out devils, by whom do your children cast them out? therefore they shall be your judges. But if I cast out devils by the Spirit of God, then the kingdom of God is come unto you . . . He that is not with me is against me; and he that gathereth not with me scattereth abroad. —Matt. xii, 22-28, 30.

WHEN THEY RETIRE.

(Kitchener Record)

IT IS INTERESTING to see how different people take their retirement from active work. One man recently retired from railroad work is taking life with the zest of a boy and is enjoying every minute doing things that have so long been denied him because of his work.

How differently folk spend the leisure of their eventide! Some settle down at home in a kind of mental coma, apparently interested in nothing except to be comfortable. Some look about to see if there isn't some community work they can get into that will help the town, while others just sit back, find fault and growl.

To which class do you expect to belong once you retire from your regular occupation or profession?

FACING RUIN

(Hongkong Press)

JAPAN is a poor country by comparison with her European rivals. Already she is faced with the gigantic task of consolidating, in the occupied territory of China, territory considerably larger than the whole of Japan. This process required rehabilitation of the country, repair of devastated areas, the setting up of strong, authoritative governments. That is where Japan will be up against it when peace comes, and that is why a quick victory is essential for her. She may finance the war, but can she, without foreign aid, finance peace? All of Japan's most eminent financiers and economists are agreed with their foreign colleagues that Japan's task in China is impossible without foreign assistance, and that realization, and that alone, is responsible for Japan's change of tactics regarding foreigners in China. All talk of the "honor of the Japanese Army" is mere eyewash.

A Bit of Nonsense

TIME MARCHES ON

The children had been photographed, and the teacher was trying to persuade them to buy copies.

"Just think how nice it will be to look at the photograph when you're all growing up," she said, "and say: 'There's Rosie, she's married,' or 'That's Billy, he's a sailor'."

"And that's teacher, she's dead," said a small voice.

Nepheline Syenite Output Shows Marked Increase

Shipments Of Product Mainly From Lakefield In 1937 Valued At $121,481

OTTAWA, May 19.—Production of nepheline syenite from Ontario, which was begun in 1936, has since increased rapidly, shipments of the product in 1937 being valued at $121,481, an increase of 225 per cent. over the previous year. Canadian Nepheline, Limited, which operates deposits of the mineral in Peterborough county, increased the capacity of its processing plant at Lakefield last year from an initial rate of twenty tons daily to forty tons daily, and also made extensions to its quarry plant, with the present installation reported to be capable of producing 400 tons of shipping rock daily.

Established to produce material for the domestic blas-making industry, the company has been a success from the start. Potential demand for its product in the United States appeared so promising that it erected a large plant at Rochester, New York to process crude rock from the quarries in Ontario. This plant will be operated by a subsidiary company, American Nepheline Corporation, and is expected to enter production in 1938.

Deposits of Promise

Along with the foregoing developments, active prospecting of the same general region has been carried on by other interests, and several deposits of promise have been located. Three of these properties were operated in 1937, with a total output of about 2000 tons of crude syenite, all of which was shipped to the United States for experimental processing.

According to the Department of Mines and Resources, Ottawa, the large deposits of nepheline syenite which occur in Peterborough, Hastings, and Haliburton counties have been known for many years, but it is only in recent years that their economic importance was established. Although interest in the mineral at present is centred chiefly in its use in the glass industry, research has shown that it is suitable for several other ceramic uses, including semi-vitreous and sanitary ware, and sheet-metal enamels, and it is probable that the field of use will be still further extended.

Nepheline syenite from the Ontario deposits has already become a serious competitor to straight feldspar, which mineral it may progressively supplant for various ceramic uses; its advantages over most mine-run feldspars being its apparent availability in large tonnages of closely uniform composition; its higher alumina content, and its low iron content, after a relatively simple, and inexpensive process of magnetic separation.

The mayor of Dover, Eng., is shown placing a wreath on the monument erected at Ostend, Belgium, in commemoration of the feat of the British warship, Vindictive, which resulted in the blocking of Ostend harbor, then held by the Germans, 20 years ago. The original bows of the vessel are built into the monument.

HERTZOG PARTY PILING UP LEAD

CAPETOWN, May 19.—(CP-Reuters—With more than a third of the parliamentary seats at stake already in the bag, Prime Minister J. B. M. Hertzog's United Party continued today to pile up an overwhelming majority over opposing parties.

The government's wide lead, gained in urban centres where the results were declared last night, was continued today as counting in rural areas began.

At 10 a.m. (4 a.m. EDT) the standing was:

Government	54
Dominion Party	6
Labor	3
Independent	1
To come	86

At this hour the Nationalists led by Dr. D. F. Malan had elected not a single member of their platform calling for establishment of an independent republic. But this party's strength lies almost entirely in the backveld areas, from which the returns will be slow.

The government appeared headed for a victory as smashing as that of five year ago—when the party led by General Hertzog and General Jan Smuts took 115 out of 150 seats.

Three cabinet ministers—Oswald Pirow, defence; J. H. Hofmeyr, mines; and Richard Stuttaford, interior—were re-elected. Returns affecting the other nine cabinet ministers have not been received.

The Dominion party, as radically pro-British as the Nationalists are anti-British—lost both its leader and deputy leader—Colonel C. F. Stallard and C. W. A. Coulter.

The government's most notable individual triumph so far was in capturing the working-class Vredorp division of Johannesburg from the Nationalists.

W. B. Madeley, leader of the Labor party, which had six seats in the last parliament, was returned from the Benoni district.

POLICE RAID BAGS ONLY BOY AND GIRL

QUEBEC, May 19.—(CP)—Police began a search last night for a man who vanished from a lower town rooming house as they entered it to question an occupant in connection with an investigation into a series of burglaries.

A boy of 15 and a 12-year-old girl found in a room in the house were being taken care of by the police. They also held an automobile bearing Ontario licence plates found outside the building.

As the police entered the house, a man went out by the rear. He eluded them, climbing over sheds and disappearing down a dark alley.

The officers said they had discovered a quantity of goods identified as having been stolen here recently.

"He gave away more money than lots of men ever make," Territorial Governor John Troy said of his passing.

Fairs To Sponsor Groundhog Contest

(Examiner Correspondence.)

CAMPBELLFORD, May 19.—A new innovation at the Country School Fairs this fall will be the ground hog contests which are being held with a view to encouraging rural youth to rid the countryside of this pest. Much damage is caused yearly by the holes made by these little animals and it has been decided, according to A. H. Martin, District Agricultural Representative, to give prizes to the pupils showing the largest collection of ground hog tails mounted on cardboard.

Dates announced for the rural school fairs are as follows: Warkworth, Sept. 12; Campbellford, Sept. 13; Castleton, Sept. 15; Centreton, Sept. 16; Roseneath, Sept. 19; Baltimore, Sept. 20 ;Coldsprings, Sept. 21; Milton, Sept. 22; Wooler, Sept. 23.

PASSION PLAYER ANTON LANG DIES

OBERAMMERGAU, Germany, May 19—(AP)—This little village, in the Bavarian Alps, known the world over for its passion plays, today mourned the loss of its most famous character, 63-year-old Anton Lang, impersonator of Christ from 1900 to 1930.

Lang died in a Munich hospital last night after an operation for a stomach ailment.

The village will give "its great son and first burgher," as the burgomaster's office put it, "a solemn homecoming." The date for the funeral has not been set.

Lang generally was considered to represent the traditional Germanic ideal of the Saviour. His expressive head with its long fair curls made a strong appeal as a veritable "gentle Jesus, meek and mild."

His successor in this role since 1930 has been Alois Lang, chosen to impersonate the Saviour again in the 1940 Passion Play. Alois Lang is not related to Anton Lang.

During the 300th anniversary of the Passion Play in 1934 Chancellor Hitler attended one performance and later told the mayor he would do everything in his power "to ensure continuance of the play" and that he would be among the spectators in 1940.

NEW JAP MINISTER SURE CHINA LICKED

NEW YORK, May 19.— (CP) — Japan unquestionably is facing grave difficulties in the war in the Orient, but China is facing more and greater difficulties, the new Japanese minister to Canada, Baron Shu Tomii, said here last night.

Baron Tomii, just arrived from London where he was counsellor to the Japanese embassy, is spending a few days in the United States before assuming his post at Ottawa Monday.

"I sincerely hope and am convinced these hostilities will be over very soon," the Baron said.

The Baron, who has had 22 years service with the Japanese diplomatic service in many parts of the world, spoke on Japan's difficulties when he was asked if the recent stiffened Chinese resistance was still regarded in Tokyo as a grave threat.

He said he believes the "full dress" campaign by Japan will be over when the battle for possession of the Lunghai railroad is settled. The Baron assumes Japan will be victorious.

"There will be guerilla warfare after that, but we certainly know how to cope with guerilla warfare," he said.

WIFE-KILLER TO HANG

WINNIPEG, May 19—(CP)—William McQuarrie, 55, Winnipeg, was convicted yesterday of the murder of his wife Gertrude, 44, and sentenced by Mr. Justice A. K. Dysart to be hanged July 8.

Mrs. McQuarrie was stabbed while walking home after seeking a legal separation from her husband who had just completed a two-year jail term for a statutory offence.

CAMPBELLFORD SOFTBALLERS DEFEAT PORT HOPE TEAM 14 TO 3

McCOMB STARS IN MOUND ROLE FOR HOMESTERS

(Examiner Correspondence.)

CAMPBELLFORD, May 19— The Campbellford softball outfit took a second easy victory on their home field when they defeated Port Hope 14 to 3 in a seven inning game on Wednesday evening. Bill McComb on the mound for the locals turned in a fine game, having such complete control that the Ports didn't have a chance. In the first inning Douglas, Blow and Potts swung at the air for three straight outs and in the second the visitors did a little better with Hutchinson reaching second. Graham went out at second and Phillips hit an easy fly to left field while Watts struck out to retire the side and make the fourth strike out for McComb. In the third May and Williamson struck out and Douglas was caught at second. Hutchinson was fanned in the fourth and McComb gave Phillips the only walk the visitors were to receive. In the fifth Watts struck out for a second time with the inning ending still no score. Potts and Graham came in in the sixth on two singles and a double and Potts scored again in the final inning to bring the total up to three.

For the locals Holmes scored first with a double, an error and a two-base hit by Phillips who came in on a hard drive by Reddick who completed the circuit for a home run. Montgomery singled and made the plate on a single from Couch and two errors. Campney sent an easy one which was caught by the shortstop, Couch was stopped at third and Coles struck out. In the second McComb and O'Sullivan counted and Campney redeemed himself with the only score in the third. Holmes and Phillips both got doubles coming in on a third double by Reddick to bring the score at the end of the fourth to 9-0. Douglas handed out his third walk of the game to McComb in the fifth but Couch went out at second, Coles at first and O'Sullivan sent a high one which was picked up by Hutchinson at centre field. In the final inning Douglas began to show signs of weakening as both Phillips and Montgomery knocked homeruns and Holmes, Reddick and Couch all came in to score five in the period and end the game at 14 to 3.

Port Hope—Douglas, p; Blow, rf; Potts, c; Graham, 1b; Phillips, lf; Hutchinson, cf; Watts, ss; May, 2b; Williamson, 3b.

WICKLOW GIVEN A ROYAL CHANCE IN KING'S PLATE

TORONTO, May 19—This coming Saturday, May 21, sees the 79th running of the historic King's Plate at Woodbine Park, Toronto, signalling opening of the spring turf meet at the Toronto east-side track, and the annual clash between the best of the Ontario-breds for his majesty's gold.

Thirty-eight thoroughbreds were named this year and nearly half this number will step to the barrier when the bugle blows to send the ponies away on the long trail.

The purse value of the race this year is $7,500 added, plus the 50 guineas donated annually by the King. The first horse receives the guineas, stakes and $5,000; the second horse $1,250, and the third horse $7.50. The breeder of the winner will receive $500.

Wicklow, from the Riverdale Stable, considered to have a royal chance of garnering some of the prize money. This three-year-old daughter of Frisius-Gillingham has been working in sensational fashion and many owners and trainers of King's Plate candidates figure this filly as the one to beat in this year's run for the guineas.

Mona Bell and Cabin Gal, two more members of the fair sex, the former owned by the popular Cosgrave Stable and the latter by Harry Giddings who has trained and saddled seven King's Plate winners.

Suffern and Caracole from the barns of H. C. Hatch who won last year with Goldlure.

Grand Dame, nominated by Geo. M. Hendrie, who also named three others, but is expected to pin his hopes on this lady.

Syros, whose owner is Mrs. H. Talbot and Aldwych carrying the Alice blue and gold silks of R. W. Cowie.

Others that are expected to face the barrier on Saturday are Bobsworth, Costa Rica, Tabhim and Troublemark, Red Pirate and Buchanest and Shore Hawk.

Eddie Jones Heads Hastings Team

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HASTINGS, May 19.—Eddie Jones was elected manager of local Girls' Softball Club at a meeting. Gerrard (Curly) Scriver will be coach. Plans were made for the purchase of bats and soft-balls. A tidy sum was collected by the manager and coach, to be used for the purchase of uniforms when the objective amount is reached.

An exhibition game of softball is slated for tonight (Thursday), when Warkworth girl softballers will meet the locals at the park at 6.15 p.m.

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two

By CEC PERDUE

THE INDIANS had a name for it and they call it lacrosse. Some folks figure it is mayhem in a modified manner, but we disagree—it is not very modified. Anyway, youse folks can get a gander at the gutted-stick sport tomorrow (Friday) after dusk right down in the George St. arena. An exhibition game will start the 1938 season at 8.30 of the clock, under the lights, Woodridge playing the Petes. Both teams are rated as of O.L.A. intermediate "A" calibre. but may be boosted to a senior "B" category this season—and they may be grouped together. Dunno much about the Woodbridge crew but they are reported strong, and their recent showing 'gainst Brampton speaks well for their class. The Petes are probably a lot better than last season, and then they went to Provincial semi-finals.

* * * * * *

THIS IS THE WAY the local lacrossers will likely line up for tomorrow's tilt: Goal, Red Creighton and Joe Meyette; defence, Westonfelt and Jerry Creighton; centre, Hendy; wings, King and Dallin; rover, Dundas; alternates, Worthy, Magee, Crowe, Emmett Creighton, Chute, Miller and Pammett. While Dit Clapper will be invited to play for the locals, he won't be on hand this exhibition game. And Buster Whitton is working late for the present but may make it. Ford Loucks has a bad ankle and will not be in the lineup. But those classy players, including two nifty newcomers in Worthy and Westonfelt, will round out a first-rate squad. The game ought to draw a big crowd of lacrosse enthusiasts.

* * * * * *

SEEMS TO US it is high time the O.L.A. lined up a grouping for the Peterborough gang. Local officers have been trying for weeks but the Ontario body hasn't done a thing yet. Brooklin, a Toronto team. Oshawa and the Petes may be grouped yet, but there's nothing definite. Here's an item from Oshawa: "We noticed that the O.L.A. at a meeting refused to okay the certificates of Kelly DeGray, Chuck Barron and Danny Daniels of Oshawa to Brampton, even though Mimico waived their rights, being closer. It seems that the lacrosse body will not grant the certificates if Oshawa operates a team this season. Here in Oshawa, local lacrosse men are not definitely decided, being greatly interested first of all as to what grouping they will get if they do enter a team." Just like us, buddy.

* * * * * *

JIM LEHANE told us yesterday that the Lacrosse Club figured on four or five local midget lacrosse teams, sponsored by service clubs here. There are three assured now, with two more clubs to be approached, Rotary and Kiwanis. The three in are Lions Club, Kinsmen and Y's Men's—which is good stuff. But Jim hopes they can line up a junior team to take care of players 18 and 19 years of age. Lindsay and Omemee were mentioned as possibilities, but Millbrook are definitely out—their playing field sold and only a few players left. Why not put a second Peterborough team in the Tri-County Loop if it operates this year? Meantime, the Petes have a game here tomorrow eve and another one next Friday p.m.

* * * * * *

SPEAKING of service clubs, it is hoped that they'll get together and sponsor the junior baseball team in the Lakeshore League this season. Lions have promised to aid and two members, Fred Cripps and Max Swanston, will interview the other clubs and see if they'll split the cost and transportation with 'em. Herb Ralph has lined up a fine young squad in an excellent O.B.A. league. but needs a little financial assistance to get started. It wouldn't be much of a burden on anyone—maybe none at all—if several organizations took hold. We are also informed that the Lions Club will run its second annual Ontario dirt track motorbike championship meet at the local Exhibition Grounds on August 1st.

* * * * * *

WITH TWO BALL TEAMS in Kingston now, the Limestone City scribe fears there may be a bit of conflict regarding players, dates, etc., and suggests officials of the Ponies and Locos get together. He adds: "Coach Bob Elliott and Yammy Jamieson took a trip to Canton, N.Y., to see Tony Paczkowski, the Ponies' pitcher this summer. They report Tony playing much better ball than he did here last year, which must be real good as there was nothing wrong with his play in the C.O.B.L. Tony has a record of 10 straight wins this year, and an unbroken victory string of four years in college play. Paczkowski's victims include some high-class college nines, including the Clarkson University team, which has big league prospects in Roser and Donald, who will report to the Yankees when they are through college."

* * * * * *

JUST TO REFRESH the memories of local ball fans, we'll up and slip you the Petes' batting averages of last year — and hope the lower bracket local players don't bend a bat or two around our ears! Starr with .347, Burton with .323 and Calladine with .312 were our main clouters. Fair to middlin' biffers included Whatley with a mark of .271, Clark with .241—and that's all. Under .250 isn't much to brag about. While under .200 is downright weakness with the willow. Long batted .236 and Kearns .221. Then we had Mowry with .176, Ash .175, Kitchen with .167, Jakafby .156 and Kingdon with .118. Also a few more who didn't take part in half the games. The Petes as a club clouted the apple at a .237 clip whereas the champion Oshawa outfit belted the ball for .299.

* * * * * *

IT REMAINS to be seen just how the locals will lambaste the horsehide this season. Deadey is reported as hitting around .300 and Murphy is a good bingler. Not a leader maybe but one who hits with ducks on the pond—that is, a timely batter. Cadd was a fine intermediate slugger and shouldn't have forgotten the knack yet. Several of our regulars had no business batting so low last year and certainly now ought to add from 50 to 100 points against a Biddle and a Paczkowski to whom they have become more accustomed. Starr and Calladine will be missed if they remain out of the lineup for their hitting as well as defensive play. We're not predicting a potent hitting bunch of Petes this year. Nor are we predicting a weak gang of batsmen here this season. We aren't predicting at all—we're waiting to see just what's what.

TANNERS TAKE SECOND VICTORY HASTINGS LOOP

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HASTINGS, May 19.—The Tanners won their second straight game in the Hastings Softball League when they defeated the Clerks 7 to 6 last night in a 7 inning game. It also marked the first loss of the season for the Clerks. Trailing by one the Tanners scored twice in the last of the seventh to win the game.

McCoy went the distance for the Tanners and allowed but 3 hits. He struck out six and walked seven. Blackburn started for the Clerks but was taken out for G. Gibson to start the fifth. He had allowed 5 hits, struck out one and passed none. Gibson was touched for seven hits while striking out none and walking none.

G. Scriver, Hahn, Sargent and McCoy each with two hits in four times up led the Tanners in batting. Crate also with two in four led the Clerks.

On Friday evening the Tanners will be out after their third straight win when they play Elgin.

The teams:

REMILLARD ABOARD GRAND DAME MAY UPSET PLATE FAVORITE

HENDRIE ENTRY HAS THE SPEED TO WIN GUINEAS

TORONTO, May 19.—(CP)—Despite the adage to steer clear of fillies in the spring and back them in the fall, a black three-year-old—Grand Dame—ranks not far behind the public's choice to win the 79th renewal of the King's Plate here Saturday.

Victories by fillies have been few since the classic was first run in 1860. Horsemen always recall with chagrin the triumph scored by Maternal Pride in 1924. She won the mile-and-a-furlong event for H. S. Wilson and returned the largest price ever recorded by a plate victor—$193.35 for $2.

The last filly to win came in 1935 when Sally Fuller carried home on top the famed black and yellow colors of E. F. Seagram of Waterloo, Ont. Sally Fuller was a maiden before the race, yet she trounced soundly the best colts and geldings eligible for the event.

Has Speed to Win

Experts analysing the speed and stamina of Grand Dame, owned by G. M. Hendrie of Hamilton, concede she can't be overlooked in choosing a thoroughbred to beat Bunty Lawless, Willie Morrissey's 2-1 favorite. She has everything necessary—speed, endurance, gameness and Pat Remillard, Canada's premier jockey, as her rider.

Grand Dame's two-year-old record was impressive. She went to the post six times and did not run out of the money. She won three races, was second twice and third once. She failed, however, to win any of the juvenile test events.

The filly displayed lots of early footing and ability to stick up over a route. In the Mrs. Orpen's $5,000 Cup and Saucer, a 1937 preview of Saturday's King's Plate, Grand Dame finished second, beaten by H. C. Hatch's Suffern. That effort dispelled doubts she could hold out the full Plate distance.

No Startling Workout

Railbirds scouting early morning performances haven't been startled by any brilliant workout times. That hasn't been surprising as Grand Dame never has showed an inclination to train. All the early conditioning was done at Hamilton and since Hendrie shifted his stable to Woodbine Park, Trainer Harry McDonald has been content to send her out for mere breezes.

She was tested over three-quarters of a mile yesterday in 118. She showed a desire to run, but Pat Remillard obeyed instructions and held her under wraps all the way. It was expected future workouts would be held to conditioning trials with an outside chance she would be tried over the plate route before the race.

LEAFS BLANK SYRACUSE 4-0

TORONTO, May 19.—The Maple Leafs gallantly withstood the final assault of southern members of the International League and behind some gilt-edged tossing by Southpaw Joe Sullivan, turned back Syracuse Chiefs 4 to 0 at the Stadium yesterday afternoon.

Victors in three of the four series during their present home-stay, the Leafs offered a .636 winning percentage for the approval of the local fans. The only series they lost here, was a one-game affair to Newark Bears.

The Howleys won yesterday's game as early as the first innings when they bunched three of their nine hits with an error, for a trio of counters. They added a fourth-inning marker which Sullivan flinging branded as superfluous.

The diminutive left-hander experienced trouble in only one inning—the seventh—when he walked Dee More, and McDaniel beat out a slow roller down third with one out. Sullivan promptly struck out pinchhitter Alban Glossop and got Adair on an infield grounder to end the threat.

The six Syracuse safeties — all singles — were scattered over as many innings. Not a Chieftain baserunner advanced past second, and only two got that far. Two of the hits he yielded were scratch affairs. McDaniel's tap in the seventh was too slow for Gantenbein to handle, while Bongiovanni was credited with a hit on a grounder that would have been handled easily, had it not struck Meyers, thus retiring the latter runner, who had walked.

Second Shutout.

It was Sullivan's third triumph of the season, all of them at Maple Leaf Stadium. It was also his second victory by the shut-out method.

DIMAG-MEDWICK RENEWING FEUD UNDER BIG TOP

NEW YORK, May 19.—Joe DiMaggio and Ducky Medwick are on the warpath again and these days you get less and less argument over the merits of the Yankees' deadpan and the Gas House Gang's free wheeling walloper.

Both of them got away to slow starts this season. Ducky Wucky had a pain in his back. That was lumbago. Joe had a pain in his pocketbook. That was a holdout. But now that they're back again the fireworks are popping.

Each is a complete dose of pitchers' poison all wrapped up and ready to go. And from the looks of things they've picked up right where they left off last year.

Somehow, it seems natural to see each leading his league in batting, DiMag with a neat .431 mark, and Ducky with a just-as-classy .426. And just like last year, you never can tell when either one of them is going to pick the next pitch and break up a ball game.

Yesterday the Yankees were having a tough time of it with St. Louis Browns. Then along came DiMaggio in the fifth frame, knocked one of Buck Newsom's pet pitches out of the lot, and the Yanks were away in front. But Lefty Gomez and Johnny Murphy couldn't hold the Brownies. So DiMag went in there again in the eighth, helped himself to another one of Buck's high hard ones with two mates on base, and parked it in the bleachers. Result: Yankees 11, Brownies 7.

Meantime, Medwick was going to work in Brooklyn. He contributed a homer and scored four of the runs that gave the Gas Housers a 12-4 decision for their fourth straight win. Don Gutteridge played the part of the No. 1 cannon, however, belting a homer and a singel to drive in five runs.

This boosted the Cardinals into the .500 class for the first time this season, deadlocked with Cincinnati Reds, who were rained out in Philadelphia, and Boston Bees, whose Jim Turner gave up a measly five hits in 14 innings to win a long distance 2-1 decision over Pittsburg Pirates.

Pirates Drop to Third Place

The Pirates dropped to third place by this setback, and Chicago Cubs climbed back to second by topping the Giants 4-2. Carl Hubbell and Larry French hooked up in a tight pitching duel until the eighth, when Melt Ott made a two-base error to allow Gabby Hartnett to score all the way from second. It was Hubbell's first setback of the year.

Cleveland's Bobby Feller stopped a six-hitter across on the Athletics and the Indians clicked for a 7-2 victory over Connie Mack's lowly outfit. Wes Ferrell not only pitched six-hit ball, but banged out a homer, himself, to pace the Senators to a 5-1 victory over the tottering Tigers. The Red Sox and White Sox were rained out in Chicago.

British Walker Cup Golfers Confident Of Win This Year

Rated As Even Money Choices With U.S. Team To Win Coveted Trophy

LONDON, May 19—(CP).—Chuck full of confidence and representing the greatest muster of talent and experience in years, the British Walker Cup team has gone into serious training for its test against the United States amateur golfers at St. Andrews June 3 and 4.

Though British teams have gone down to defeat with disheartening regularity since the competition was inaugurated in 1922, there is growing belief here the succession of lean years is at an end.

Notwithstanding the reputed strength of the U.S. team, there isn't the semblance of the usual defeatist complex. Britain's forces will enter the cup matches rated even money choice where usually they have been on the wrong end of odds as high as 5-1.

18-Year-Old Discovery

Most of the new-found confidence revolves about the discovery of 18-year-old Jimmy Bruen, the youthful Irishman whose achievements are being sung in the boldest superlatives. Some go as far as to compare the belting youth, almost six feet tall and weighing 195 pounds, with the famous Bobby Jones.

Bruen won his place on the team with a brilliant performance in the Walker Cup trials earlier this month. Playing with the coolness of a veteran the youngster gave old St. Andrews—a course that has broken the hearts of many of the world's best—one of its worst lacings. He covered the 72-hole test in 282 and included a 68-round, just a stroke off the all-time course record.

Bruen, Britain's golfers are content, will be a certain pointwinner even though he be drawn against Johnny Goodman, ace of the United States squad.

Plenty of Experience

Britain's team is by no means solely Bruen—experience and skill abound among the other players. Here are the other members:

H. G. Bentley, 31-year-old Manchester businessman; Frank Pennink, 25, London insurance broker; Leonard Crawley, 35, London stock broker and Cambridge triple "Blue"; Gordon Peters, 28, Glasgow insurance inspector; Alexander Kyle, 31, a Scotsman now resident of Leeds; Hector Thomson, 25, son of a Glasgow professional; and Charles Stowe, 35, once was a pit worker in the mines at Wolverhampton.

FOOTBALLER DIES

AIRDRIE, Scotland — (CP). — Scottish international centre-forward and member of Airdrieonian football club which won the Scottish Cup in 1924, J. Reid, 47, died here after a short illness. He was capped three times.

CUT WAS FATAL

ESSEX, England—(CP).—While playing football Ronald Buckland, 11, fell and cut his knee. He died in hospital due, it was believed, to tetanus.

ROYAL AND ANCIENTS

BLACKHEATH, England—(CP).—The two oldest golf clubs in the world, Royal Blackheath and Royal Burgess (Edinburgh) will play a match at Blackheath in June. Blackheath dates from 1608 and Burgess from 1735.

BEARS SUFFER THIRD DEFEAT FROM REDWINGS

TORONTO, May 19 (CP) — If their big guns don't start booming soon those Newark Bears are liable to find themselves right out of the International League lead.

The Bears, who are usually so far in front of the field that you need a telescope to find the runner-ups, are just two games in front of Baltimore Orioles after having taken their third straight licking from Rochester Red Wings 1-0, yesterday.

Not only were they shut out but it was the fourth successive defeat for the champions — more games than they've lost in a row in two seasons. The reason for all this woe is a sudden silencing of the heavy artillery. After averaging eight runs a game for the first 18, the Bears have been able to get only slightly better than two a game in their last four.

Orioles Drub Royals 7-4

The Irioles drubbed Montreal 7-4, as they swept the three-game series from the Royals. Orville Jorgens went the route for the Birds as did the winning pitchers in the other games which saw Toronto Maple Leafs blank Syracuse 4-0, and Buffalo whip Jersey City 10-4.

Southpaw Joe Sullivan stopped the Syracusans with six hits and scored his third straight triumph. The Leafs took fifth place ahead of Jersey City.

Bill Harris gave up eight hits, including a homer by Long Tom Winsett, but his Bison teammates reached three Jersey hurlers for 14 to win handily. Woody Abernathy and Greg Mulleavy clouted four-baggers for the Bisons.

LACROSSE MATCH HERE ON FRIDAY

An exhibition lacrosse match will be played here this Friday (tomorrow) evening at 8.30 o'clock, under the lights, in the George St. arena. Woodbridge meets the Petes to open the gutted-stick sport season in Peterborough. Woodbridge is a strong intermediate club, which may yet be grouped with the locals in O.L.A. competition. Last week, Brampton intermediates, using several seniors, defeated Woodbridge by the narrow margin of 5-4 in an exhibition tussle. The Petes will have a real scrap on their hands for so early in the season, but the locals went to the Ontario intermediate semi-finals last year and claim to be even stronger this season. They may be playing in senior "B" company this summer.

Much work has been put on the local team and the playing field this spring. The field has been re-surfaced and has a new green inside wall around it with rounded corners. Lights have been installed again and all is in readiness. The team has added several new players and the gang have been training hard now for a month. They will satisfy themselves of their strength in the tussle tomorrow night, and also give their many local followers a real lively lacrosse game.

Yesterday's Stars

(By The Canadian Press)

Jim Turner, Bees—Held Pirates to five hits for 14 innings, fanning eight and walking only one in 2-1 victory.

Joe DiMaggio, Yankees—Hit two homers and single, driving in five runs in 11-7 win over Browns.

Don Gutteridge, Cardinals—His homer and single drove in five runs in 12-4 victory over Dodgers.

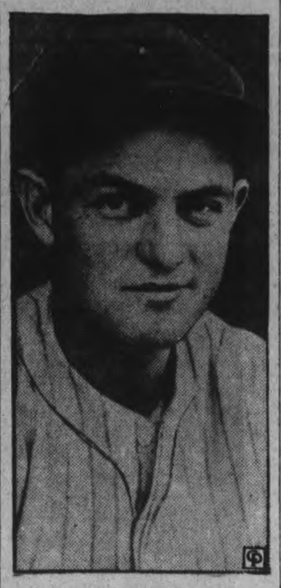
Wes Ferrell, Senators—Held Tigers to six hits, fanning six, and hit homer for 5-1 win.

Charley Root, Cubs—Retired six batters in order in relief role to save 4-2 decision over Giants.

LARGE ENTRY LIST

BERLIN—(CP).—Seventy horses, including many from England, France, Hungary and Yugoslavia, have entered for the "Brown Ribbon of Germany," to be run on the Munich Riem racecourse July 31.

Reds' Receiver



Doing very well in the majors is Willard Hershberger (above), last year a catcher in the International league with the champion Newark Bears and now with Cincinnati Reds. Batted .325 with the Bears. Big trouble is that with the Reds he must displace heavy-hitting Ernie Lombardi to get a regular job.

Sports Spice

By EDDIE BRIETZ

NEW YORK, May 19.—(AP—The dictionary sometimes furnishes good tips on the races...For instance Mr. Webster defines Dauber as a "mud wasp"—.The official name of Dizzy Dean's arm ailment is "inflamed bursitis," but most of the Cubs insist it was just a case where a guy wasn't in shape when he joined the club.

Ever since he wrote the magazine piece calling the National the "new minor league" Sporster Tom Meany of the World-Telegram has been getting mighty cold howdy-dos from Bill Brandt, publicity chief of the league, and Eddie Brannick, secretary of the Giants...the Cardinals have a one-armed batting practice pitcher named Orville Paul...He wears no glove but his throwing arm is so tough he can grab hot shots from the box.

Old Harry Thomas is going back home from Chicago to pull Minneapolis and St. Paul fight promoters out of the red...Already booked with Bob Pastor and others...They say that talk about a deal between Detroit and St. Louis involving Rudy York is just that...

More than 2,000,000 bunches of bananas have been gathered in Guatemala this year.

PRACTICE TUSSLE SEES CLOSE SCORE

In an exhibition practice game by local lacrossers last night at the George St. arena, Joe Meyette's team took a 13-11 win over Red Creighton's crew. Manager Frank Randle selected sides among the Petes in a stiff practice session and a good number of fans saw a lively scrap with a lot of good lacrosse shown. For the winners, King and Westonfelt scored four apiece with Dallin getting two and Worthy one. Chute and Crowe led the losers in sniping with six goals each, as Pammett notched a pair and Magee one. The teams:

Meyette's: Goal, J. Meyette; defence, Westonfelt and C. Creighton; centre, Dundas; wings, Dallin and Worthy; rover, King.

Canadians Stand 1,000 To 1 Chance For Collecting In Irish 'Sweep

TOROTNO, May 19.—(CP)—The 300,000-odd Canadians directly interested may as well know what their chances are of taking down a cash prize next week in the Irish Hospital sweepstakes on the Epsom Derby. Each ticket-holder has less than one chance in 1,000.

Based on the assumption Canadians have invested more than $1,000,000 in the Derby sweep, as they did last March in the Grand National steeplechase gamble, it may be expected about half the amount will return to Canada in prize money. But 300,000 have invested and less than 300 will collect.

Statisticians who have studied the matter note further that the past-performance charts show about half the lucky 300 win $500 consolation prizes, the other 100 draw horses, netting them $2,000 unless the horse finishes first, second or third in which case the winnings reach $150,000, $75,000 and $50,000.

Total world sale of Irish sweep tickets in March was $13,730,010, and the prize money amounted to $8,057,500. Figures may be a little higher by next week when the draw is made Friday and Saturday at Dublin for the June 1 derby—but the odds against you are the same—1,000 to 1.

WORK, WAGES, AID ON FARM, PLEDGED IN SASKATCHEWAN

REGINA, May 18—(CP)—Cabinet ministers speeded up campaign tempo as the Saskatchewan government forces prepared today for the June 8 provincial voting. Two ministers delivered appeals last night with promises of work and wages and continued support for the farmer.

Hon. R. J. M. Parker, minister of municipal affairs, spoke at Qu'Appelle and Attorney-General T. C. Davis appeared at Carnduff. Premier W. J. Patterson was the main figure in the Liberal rally at Eston.

Mr. Parker told his Qu'Appelle audience the dominion government shortly would start a work and wages program in Saskatchewan. He said particular attention would be paid to training young people but did not give further details of the work and wages scheme.

Attorney-General Davis told the farmers they would be protected on their 1938 crop with sufficient seed and enough funds to carry them through to another year. He explained that because of circumstances caused by the drought the government's record was chiefly filled with relief problems.

Plans of the Liberal party had been shelved because money to carry them out had been used for relief. Mr. Davis added if returned to power, the party would attempt to reduce the public debt in an orderly manner to avoid sudden high taxes.

Aberhart Ask Year's Try

Other addresses of the night came from Premier William Aberhart of Alberta as he continued his Social Credit crusade in Saskatchewan and Hon. Solon Low, Alberta provincial treasurer. Mr. Aberhart spoke at Maidstone and North Battleford, Mr. Low at Swift Current.

In his North Battleford address, the Alberta premier said one year's trial would show Saskatchewan citizens Social Credit theories could solve their economic ills. At Maidstone he warned Hon. C. A. Dunning, Minister of Finance, that he "better be careful or I'll call his bluff some day and show him how to run a bank."

Poor distribution of purchasing power was the cause of the present economic distress, Mr. Aberhart said at North Battleford. Among the crowd was a delegation that came 120 miles south from Meadow Lake in a 26-car caravan to hear Mr. Aberhart urge a Social Credit victory in the June 8 Saskatchewan elections.

The leader of the Western Canada Social Credit Association said both Saskatchewan and Alberta had common problems so there was not any "sinister" motive in his campaigning in this province.

Alberta's debt-reducing legislation was giving new hope to farmers who now had some incentive to work. He quoted Prime Minister Mackenzie King as stating in Saskatoon in 1935 that all talk of democracy in government was futile until control of credit and currency was returned to the federal government. That was exactly what social crediters believed.

"Because Mackenzie King ran up against a snag, it is no reason why I should not keep trying," he said.

Belgium's Premier

Paul Spaak, former Belgian foreign minister, who was called upon by King LeYopold to form a new cabinet following the resignation of Premier Paul Emile Janson and his cabinet, as a result of budget difficulties. A strong Socialist, the new premier is expected to retain his foreign minister's portfolio.

Had Indigestion Gas and Pains In Stomach and Bowels

The process of digestion depends largely on the condition of the stomach, and when it is unable to do its work properly there will be a rising and souring of food, a gnawing and burning sensation in the stomach, belching and pressure of gas, flatulency, etc.

Miss M. C. Weiss, Mapova, Alta., writes:—"For a long time I was troubled with indigestion. My stomach would not digest my food, and I would have gas pressure and sour stuff coming up in my mouth.

I used Burdock Blood Bitters, and after taking one bottle I felt a change for the better, so I decided to keep on, and after the third bottle I could eat anything and not be bothered with the rising and souring of my food."

Influence World Politics?

Lady Astor, American-born member of parliament, has issued a denial to assertion by British Liberals and Laborites that world affairs are being "settled" at Cliveden, the huge Astor estate on the upper Thames, to the detriment of the democratic nations. Lady Astor belongs to the English group which favors conciliation with the German Nazis and supports the Franco cause in Spain. Lady Astor's husband, Lord Astor, is chief owner of the London Times.

7 HELD AS "BOOKIES"

WINDSOR, Ont., May 19 (CP). — Following up four raids on alleged bookmaking establishments on Monday, police yesterday raided two more alleged "bookies" on charges of exhibiting racing information. Seven men arrested as proprietors of the places will appear in Police Court to-day. Nick Stojkov was taken into custody at a poolroom, and Peter Wild at a tobacco store. Those arrested on Monday were Francis Hall, Ray Ladore, William Wilcox, and Edward Washbrook. All were freed on bail.

MOUNT PLEASANT PLANS ON COURSE INSTITUTE WORK

(Examiner Correspondence.)

MOUNT PLEASANT, May 19. — The May meeting of the Women's Institute was held in the Institute Hall last week, and owing to the busy season the attendance was not as large as usual. The secretary, Mrs. Mervyn Best, read the minutes of the previous meeting. The president, Mrs. Garnet Shield, moved a vote of thanks to the committee who made out the new programs for the meetings of the coming year, Mrs. Thomas Graham, Mrs. Alexander Tully, and Mrs. Ira Lowe, and the correspondence included a letter from the district president, Mrs. Williams of Morrish, expressing her regret at not being able to be present at the meeting. Thanks was expressed from Joseph Best for fruit sent during his recent serious illness.

Also a letter from the Department and literature announcing the short courses and leader training courses available. After considerable discussion it was decided to have a short course on Needlecraft, with a second choice of Remodelling. Mrs. Ira Lowe and Mrs. Rutherford were a committee chosen to arrange for it.

The secretary was instructed to extend an invitation to Omemee W.I. to join with the local branch for the June meeting to be held at the home of Mrs. Thomas Graham.

During the afternoon a treat provided by the losing side of the roll-call contest was enjoyed. Mrs. Thomas Graham and Miss June Shield were responsible for the program. The former gave an excellent paper entitled "Women of Yesterday and To-day," and the latter a piano solo in pleasing style.

Mrs. T. Shield, Mrs. M. Jones, and Mrs. M. Handley were hostesses, and served a very appetizing lunch, while a social half-hour was spent.

Personals.

Herman McLean of Toronto spent the week-end as guest of Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Morden, and accompanied them to Marmora to visit their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Blake.

A FREE SPEECH PROBE

WASHINGTON, May 19—(AP).—Attorney-General Cummings said to-day he had ordered a "thorough investigation" of the general situation in Jersey City where complaints charge that free speech has been denied.

Canadian Missions Told To Circle

(Examiner Correspondence.)

MILLBROOK, May 19. — The Golden Links Mission Circle took for its study theme, at the May meeting for which it was entertained at the home of Miss Jean Burnham, "Missions Across Canada," beginning at the east coast and travelling westward until the Pacific was reached.

The work in British Columbia was covered, in broad outline, by Miss Jean Burnham; that in the Prairie Provinces by Mary Dawson; Elsie Theobald read a letter from a missionary in Trinidad, telling of a contribution from a mission station in "The Island Beautiful" to the dried-out area in Saskatchewan; Leitha Edworthy gave the activities in Ontario, and Jean Fisher those in Quebec, while Della Mae Sisco concluded the study with the work in Newfoundland.

The president, Phyllis Kidd, conducted the devotional period, giving a talk on "Service Above Self," and closing with prayer. The treasurer reported about nine dollars taken in at the Easter thankoffering, and $4.50 at the tea served last week for the W.M.S. quilting; total on hand now reaching $27; this leaves the Circle able to pay its half-yearly allocation of $25 and still have a small balance toward the finances for the final six months of the year.

Monday night's meeting was closed with a social hour and the service of home-made candy.

Heinz goes twice as far!

• Good ketchup goes so far it pays to buy the best—and that's Heinz, the greatest ketchup bargain in the world.

To glorify simple foods, you need only a dash of Heinz Tomato Ketchup—rich, thick, undiluted—costing only a fraction of a cent—yet it gives you the simmered-down goodness of prize-bred, vine-ripened tomatoes. With them are blended fragrant Oriental spices, winey vinegar, pure granulated sugar—the very spice of life for scores of different dishes. Be sure to ask for Heinz Tomato Ketchup—the greatest flavour value ever known. Get two bottles. Keep one handy in the kitchen for cooking. Cheer the family with the other at the dinner table.

3 DOCTORS DECIDE ALL QUINTUPLETS' HEALTH 'PERFECT'

CALLANDER, Ont., May 19—(CP)—The Dionne quintuplets, given practically no chance of survival at their birth four years ago, today are in perfect health and are "perfectly normal children in respect to physical development, according to three noted child specialists.

Cecile, Emilie, Annette, Yvonne and Marie yesterday went through as rigorous a physical examination as children ever undergo. For two hours, one at a time, the quints paraded before the doctors in a periodical checkup, 11 days before their fourth birthday May 28.

The examiners were: Dr. Alan Brown, professor of Pediatrics at the University of Toronto and physician-in-chief of the Toronto Hospital for Sick Children; Dr. G. E. Hill, one of Toronto's best known eye specialsits, and R. William A. Dafoe, also of the faculty of the University of Toronto. Dr. Dafoe is a brother of Dr. A. R. Dafoe, personal physician to the quintuplets.

Making Fine Progress

"When I last saw them in January, till now, there has been a great improvement in progress. I think the progress during this interval has surpassed other periods of growth. They appear to me to be perfectly normal children in respect to physical development. Their diets are normal, containing all the essential elements necessary for growth."

"The general appearance of the eyes shows improvement,'" Dr. Hill reported. "The interior of the eyes is normal in all respects for all cases. No damage to the eyes by photography. None of the children require glasses at the present time and may never require lenses."

Dr. William Dafoe reported verbally to his brother. In his opinion, he said, the quintuplets are in the best of health and developing "at a great rate." He said he was perfectly satisfied."

It was necessary to examine each girl individually. The doctors found that when they attempted to examine one in the presence of the others, the four not being attended to complicated matters by climbing upon the chairs in the consulting room to see what was going on.

GIRLS TRAINED

SAINT JOHN, N.B. — (CP). — Three hundred girls have enrolled at eight centres in this province for weaving, clothing and art instruction under government supervision, Miss Hazel Hayes, director of home economics for New Brunswick, said here. Similar courses are planned for ten other centres.

Seventy-Nine Killed In Mine Disaster

In one of the greatest mine disasters in England, 79 miners were killed and 30 seriously injured in a series of disastrous explosions in the Markham Colliery, Duckmanton, Derbyshire, Eng. Relatives of the entombed miners are shown grouped about the pithead of the mine, LEFT, as rescue workers toiled to reach the trapped men. All available ambulances, doctors and nurses were rushed to the mine following the explosions. One of the ambulances is shown, RIGHT, leaving the pithead with some of the injured. Survivors of the disaster are shown, lower RIGHT, recovering from their harrowing experience in the hospital.

SAN PEDRO, Calif., May 19. — (AP)—One of the largest consignments of United States-made war planes exported to China since beginning of Sino-Japanese mostilities leaves San Pedro for Hong Kong today aboard the British motorship Greystoke Castle of the Barber Lines.

The Norwegian freighter Tirton, also of the Barber Line, took out a number of planes Monday night. In all, 19, single-engined attack-bombers are included in the cargoes of the two vessels. The shipments are valued at $900,000.

URGE INCOME TAX CARRY EDUCATION

OSHAWA, Ont., May 19—(CP).—Costs of education will in future be paid more and more from Federal and Provincial income tax collections, Harvey R. Fuller, business administrator of the Toronto Board of Education, said here today. He was addressing the convention of the urban school trustees.

The governments of Quebec and Ontario contributed less towards education than those of the other provinces, he said. Prince Edward Island leads the list with 54.2 per cent of the total cost and Quebec is at the bottom with 5.7 per cent. Ontario contributes 11.4 per cent.

Financing of education in urban municipalities was based on property taxation in Ontario, said Mr. Fuller. Lightening of the property tax by use of income tax for education would hasten recovery, he believed.

Self-Interest Leads to Sales

It has become a well established habit for the business man and the investor to open his Daily Newspaper at the financial page to scan the latest News—local, national, international—with an eye as to their effect on his business and his investments.

Such intense self-interest explains the high sales value of the financial pages for the sale of products and services that are logically purchased by business men and investors.

LABOR TO DEMAND AN AIR INQUIRY

LONDON, May 19 (CP-Havas)—The reshuffled cabinet held its first regular Wednesday meeting today with Sir Kingsley Wood, the new secretary for air, discussing with his colleagues next week's House of Commons debate on air rearmament.

Although as a result of the resignation of Viscount Swinton, Winston Churchill and a group of Conservatives withdrew their motion calling for an investigation of the air rearmament program, the Labor opposition is determined to press a similar resolution.

Meanwhile, rumors concerning supposed differences between Prime Minister Chamberlain and Viscount Halifax, Foreign Secretary, were the subject of an article by the political correspondent of the Daily Telegraph (Conservative).

"During the days before the reconstruction of the cabinet a report was current suggesting that friction had developed between Lord Halifax and Mr. Chamberlain," this commentator said. "The fact that the recent cabinet changes do not affect the foreign office should in itself be sufficient to dispose of these rumors.

"I am able to state that no friction did in fact develop between the prime minister and his foreign secretary at Geneva. Mr. Chamberlain maintained in close touch with the foreign secretary, urging that all possible steps should be taken to secure prompt disposal of subjects on the agenda of the league council.

"In responding to these communications Lord Halifax was frank in reporting the practical difficulties with which the British delegation was faced in Geneva.

"These, however, were exchanges of information rather than of views, and at no stage was there any hint of disagreement.

"While it was understood when Lord Halifax took over the foreign office from Mr. Eden that he would not wish to remain there indefinitely, there are no grounds for any suggestions that he is seeking to be relieved of his duties in the immediate future."

TREE DIVIDES COUNCIL

TRURO, N.S.—(CP).—Application of a builder to cut down an old elm tree to make way for construction of a garage has deadlocked town council. Mayor J. H. Slackford, whose casting vote will decide the issue, has asked for time to consider before voting for or against destruction of the landmark.

Princes' Quarrel

F. S. Young, British inspector-general of the Jaipur police, is shown on his arrival in Sikar, India, in an attempt to settle the dispute between the rajah of Jaipur and the neighboring Maharajah of Sikar, who owes allegiance to Jaipur. It seems that the Sikar ruler had refused to permit his son to accompany the Rajah of Jaipur on a trip to London. Incensed, the rajah sent his private army and cannons into Sikar, where the maharajah had locked himself up in his palace. Up to the present, we don't know who is getting the best of the argument.

THE AWFUL PRICE YOU PAY FOR BEING NERVOUS

Quivering nerves can make you old and haggard looking, cranky and hard to live with—can keep you awake nights and rob you of good health, good times and jobs.

What you should try is a particularly good woman's tonic—and could you ask for anything whose benefits are better proved than that world-famous Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound? Let its wholesome herbs and roots help Nature calm your shrieking nerves, tone up your system, give more energy and make life worth living again.

More than a million women have reported benefit—why not let Pinkham's Compound help YOU, too, to go "smiling thru" trying times like it has other grateful women for the past 3 generations? IT MUST BE GOOD!

Dentist Discovers Way To Keep Lower Plates Secure

Toronto Man Simplifies New Orleans Method From 2-Hour To 15-Minute Job

TORONTO, May 19 (CP).—Hailed as the outstanding clinical development at the convention, a simplified method of "harnessing" lower dental plates was shown by a Toronto dentist at the Ontario Dental Association three-day meeting which concludes today.

Dr. Irvine H. Ante, member of the dentistry faculty at University of Toronto, demonstrated to nearly 300 delegates yesterday the method he had developed for greater comfort and increased stability of lower plates. He described his discovery as a simplification of a method developed by two New Orleans dentists, Drs. Fournet and Tuller.

The Toronto dentist, using a living model, explained the method discovered by the New Orleans men "was really applicable to specialists only" and took from two to three hours. The revised method could be used by the general practitioner and took only 15 to 20 minutes.

Third Caused Discomfort

Dr. Ante claimed that at least one-third of persons who used lower dental plates, until discovery of the Fournet-Tuller method, were caused aggravation because lower jaw muscles displaced the plates. Muscle movements under the ante method were used to hold the denture firmly.

Dr. Christian P. Segard of New York told delegates people were willing to follow advice on dieting by Hollywood motion picture stars but were loath to listen to experts on the subject. Dr. Segard termed the human mouth and teeth the centres of infection undermining entire bodily health.

Dr. J. N. Stewart of Hamilton, vice-president last year of the organization, was elected president to succeed Dr. R. S. Woollatt of Toronto.

THE STARS SAY . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Friday, May 20

The planetary operations for this day must be interpreted as rather adverse. Although there are signs of fairly encouraging financial prospects, yet there are indications of delays, disappointments, treachery and other intriguing and afflicting circumstances. Jealousy, quarrels and duplicity may enter into business and private affairs. Be very cautious with all writings, documents and also with speech.

If This Is our Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a year in which some form of adversity may strike some fairly auspicious financial conditions. A bereavement may bring delays and disappointments. Beware of deceit and jealousy and be very cautious with speech and writings, using utmost care in signing documents.

A child born on this day may have a very difficult nature to understand and develop. While it may be imaginative, visionary, quick at emotional upsets, yet it should be democratic and altruistic. But its prejudices and eccentricities, its treacheries and turbulence, may put it in the problem-child class, demanding the earliest analysis, discipline and direction.

EXPERIMENT ON WHEAT

HALIFAX—(CP).—Plans for conducting experiments on rust-resistant varieties of wheat are underway by Nova Scotia's Department of Agriculture. The studies, which will be conducted at the Nappan, N.S., experimental farm, will also concern the matter of obtaining and increasing distribution of improved seed grains.

White Man's Grave And Plane Reported On Guiana Wilds

Guide Tells Survivor Of Redfern Expedition Of Spot "6 Days Farther On"

GEORGETOWN, British Guiana, May 19—(CP Cable). — Story of a British Guiana guide-interpreter today struck at the mystery that has veiled the fate of Paul Redfern, United States aviator, since he vanished while on a south American flight 11 years ago.

The guide, Alexander Gilbert, said that when he accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Waldeck of New York to the Venezuelan border last winter, he had been told by Indians he would find the plane and grave of a white man six days' journey farther on.

Waldeck led an expedition into the British Guiana hinterland in search of Redfern last December. At Devil's Hole Isle, far up the treacherous Cuyuni River, the party's native porters deserted, leaving Waldeck, his wife, William Chanler, also of New York, and Dr. Frederick Fox, Ontario-born scientist, stranded.

Before a rescue party reached them Dr. Fox died and was buried on the lonely island. Chanler, weak from exposure and fever, returned to Georgetown by stages; the Waldecks accepted the offer of a passing boat and went on to the Venezuelan border only to be conquered by the jungle in the end.

Forced To Turn Back

Unsuccessful and weakened by privation, they too returned to civilization. Gilbert said he had been told to journey southwest for six days and the party would come to an Indian village where the airplane and grave of a white man would be found. They were unable to go.

The Indian, Gilbert said, was called "Lawson," either by or for some white man for whom he had worked. "Lawson" had not seen the plane or grave, but relatives of his in the village had told him of it.

Redfern, about whom legends have grown up, was declared legally dead by a Detroit court last winter. Expeditions have sought him vainly, their hopes aroused by stories that a "white man who had dropped from the sky" was being held a prisoner by interior tribes who believed him a god. Some of the tales said his legs had been broken so that he could not escape.

PIN BALL GAMES ARE NOT LEGAL SOLICITOR RULES

That the pin ball games in operation in Peterborough are illegal was the considered opinion of City Solicitor W. F. Huycke K.C. as expressed by him to the members of the Legal Committee at Wednesday night's meeting.

Mr. Huycke said that the judgments given in the Kingston and Chatham cases left no doubt that the machines were not legal. "The only way such machines could be operated legally would be if they were played for fun" said the Solicitor "and these games are certainly not played for fun."

"The Peterborough bylaw was passed about a year ago before the judgments were given in the Kingston and Chatham cases" he continued, "the law has certainly crystallized since that time."

"Are we to ask that action should be taken against the owners of places in which these machines are operated?" asked Mr. Gordon.

"I do not think it would be fair for us who licensed the machines to do that" said Mayor Hamilton. "The licenses should be cancelled before any other move is taken."

"We can't make a thing legal if it is illegal" commented Mr. Gordon.

It was finally decided to leave the matter to the finance committee, which is the licensing committee of the council, to deal with.

Damage Claims

A number of claims for damages to cars caused at the Water Street crossing of the Canadian National Railways last winter were considered briefly by the committee and were left to the chairman and city engineer to investigate and report. There is a dispute between the city and railway authorities as to the responsibility for the conditions which caused damage to automobile tires.

Chairman Gordon and the engineer will also investigate the claim of Gordon Saunders for $57.96 for repairs to his automobile as, the result of an accident on George Street south last February. Saunders claimed that one of the wheels of his car caught in the street railway tracks and as a result the machine skidded across the street and hit a Hydro pole. He told the committee that he was only driving 12 miles an hour at the time of the accident.

On motion of Ald Cotton and Bradburn, a bill for $4.75 for damages caused to the car of J. Lynch because of a hole in the pavement on Charlotte Street was ordered paid.

City Solicitor Huyeke reported that he had received complaints from a resident of George Street south about conditions around a refreshment booth there, a matter that had received the attention of the Board of Health the previous night.

A resolution was passed asking the Police Commission to see that the police patrol regularly the section around the corner of Lansdowne and George Streets until conditions there are improved.

MILLBROOK

Mrs. (Dr.) H. A. Turner's many friends will be glad to learn that she is making as good progress as could be expected toward recovery, following her operation at Nicholls Hospital, Peterborough.

Miss Frances Turner, B.A., of Toronto, and Mr. Gordon Scott, of Ottawa, Mrs. Turner's brother, have been here over the week-end, owing to the former's illness necessitating the operation.

Mrs. A. J. Scott, who spent the winter in Toronto, returned on Saturday and has reopened her home here for the summer months.

A pleasant surprise was prepared for Venerable Archdeacon William Simpson, B.A., on Saturday evening, when the wardens of the three churches of the parish of Cavan called at the Rectory and presented him with a substantial purse, as a gift from the entire parish in view of his approaching marriage to Miss Vivian Lough, of Ida. The event takes place at St. John's Church, Ida, on Thursday, May 19, at 3 p.m., Bishop Derwyn T. Owen, of Toronto, officiating.

Personal appreciation of the generous gift was expressed by the rector in the services at St. Thomas', St. John's and Christ Church on Sunday, when it was possible to come in touch with the congregations.

Mr. George St. Lawrence, of Toronto, was a visitor this week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Edworthy.

Miss Ella Elson, who has spent the winter in Florida, is at present the guest of her cousin, Mrs. W. W. Kennedy, and Mr. Kennedy. Miss Elson leaves for her position at Kingston on Wednesday.

Mrs. Harry Armstrong, of Toronto, was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Eakins at the weekend.

JAP GUNS READY TO BLAST SUCHOW

SHANGHAI, May 19. — (AP). — Japanese reported to-day that three of their rapidly advancing columns were within firing distance of Suchow, vital Central China junction, encircled by a tightening steel ring.

One column, the Japanese said, had occupied the village of Changching, eight miles west of Suchow, while other forces advancing from the north-west and the south-west were within 11 miles of the strategic city.

The vanguard of the column approaching from the south-west reported it had occupied positions on a low mountain range within sight of Suchow. It was "only a matter of hours" the commander said, until this force woulu unlimber guns on the city.

The Japanese came within striking distance of the Chinese stronghold after weeks of terrific fighting both north and south of the Lunghai railway, China's "lifeline." They are approaching from every side, hopeful of producing another "Nanking debacle" and destroying Chinese resistance "with one blow."

The Chinese continued to deny the invaders had severed the Lunghai and insisted that Suchow was not surrounded.

TWO R.A.F. FLIERS KILLED

LONDON, May 19 (CP-Havas). — Two Royal Air Force fliers were killed when two bombing planes collided to-day at Seletar, Straits SeSttlements, the Air Ministry announced.

The victims were two of the three occupants of one plane. The pilot was unhurt, as were the two men in the other ship. Those killed were Flying Officer Leonard Francis Stone, and Aircraftsman William John Ashton.

MARKET SCHEME BEEN POSTPONED BY COMMITTEE

The special committee of the city council appointed to study the question of improved market facilities has decided that for the present it is the part of wisdom not to push forward an ambitious program.

Ald. Gordon, chairman of the committee told the members at a meeting held Wednesday night why immediate action is not desirable.

"The Dominion government is willing to put up one-third of the cost of a market building but the Ontario government has failed to co-operate this year" said Mr. Gordon. "If we were to rush ahead with the thing now we would lose the chance of the assistance from the Ontario government that might be looked for a year from now. In addition there is the fact that the possible purchase of land on Charlotte Street, between that street and King Street would alter the situation."

It was moved by Ald. Cotton and Wilson that in view of the fact that the Ontario government had not passed co-ordinating legislation to market building construction and that the property committee was investigating the purchase of land bounded by Charlotte, King and Louis Streets that the scheme of a closed market be postponed for the present.

The motion was carried and that practically ends the market proposition for the time being.

Buck Outwits Pursuing Hounds By Joining Drove Of Cattle

(Examiner Correspondence.)

TWEED, May 19.—That enterprising little village of Enterprise, which is frequently in the limelight, reveals another interesting story of the animals of the wilds outwitting the domestic canines, when a large buck took refuge among a drove of cattle being driven by R. J. Dillon, well-known farmer of the Fifth Lake district, a few miles north of the village.

The drove of young cattle were on their way to the pasture ranch and when within a mile of their destination the farmers in charge of the cattle heard several hounds chasing a deer. Suddenly the chase took a turn in their direction, and in a short time the weary buck, his head low, and tongue lolling, came into sight.

White froth dropped from his mouth, and the dogs apparently knowing the buck to be tiring, came on faster. Then the tired stag saw the cattle and changed his course, jumped the fence along the road and fell in behind the trotting cattle. To throw the dogs off his track, he mingled with the herd and to the amazement of the drovers, he pressed into the drove until the cattle surrounded him. The strange procession kept steadily on.

Soon the foremost hound came up and the men drove him and his companion away. As soon as the stag came into sight of the gate, through which the cattle were to be driven, he leaped lightly to one side and was gone to life and liberty once more.

POOLING DISPUTES OF TWO RAILWAYS BROUGHT TO LIGHT

OTTAWA, May 19 (CP)—Reasons why the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Railways failed to pool their passenger train services west of Toronto to Sarnia and Windsor were before Senate railway committee members today as they continued their investigation of co-operative efforts.

John E. Armstrong, assistant chief engineer of the C.P.R. gave the reasons yesterday when he was on the witness stand at two committee sessions.

The C.P.R. official declared heavy advantages to the Canadian National and serious disadvantages to the C.P.R. would accompany the pooling. It had been impossible to work out an equitable arrangement for the division of burden and advantage between the two systems.

S. J. Hungerford, then acting Canadian National president, had written to Grant Hall, vice-president of the C.P.R., in January, 1934, urging steps toward pooling west of Toronto.

In reply Mr. Hall had said pooling in that area would cut out 530,000 train miles, almost all on C.P.R. lines, and would seriously affect the position of that company in the important industrial area of western Ontario. He asked Mr. Hungerford to suggest some means of equitably distributing burden and and advantage.

Later, Mr. Armstrong said, repeated efforts were made to solve the problem but all ended in disagreements between officials of the two companies. The C.P.R. had contended the proposal would destroy its identity in one of the most important traffic territories in the country. It would adversely affect its freight and steamship business through the closing of stations and the transfer of all passenger business to the Canadian National.

Causes Of Delay

Mr. Armstrong told the committee that district and conflicting interests of the two railways make for delay when they attempt to co-operate in effecting economies. He insisted, however, that the Canadian Pacific had done everything in its power to carry out the provisions of the act of 1933 which directed the railways to co-operate.

Senator Lucien Loraud (Con. La Salle), a former director of the Canadian National, asked the C.P.R. official whether the Canadian Nation had not entered pooling arrangements from Quebec to Montreal and Montreal to Toronto on the understanding they would be extended west of Toronto.

The Senator said in these agreements the C.N. gave up more than it received and withdrew from Quebec City entirely.

Mr. Armstrong said that was a fair statement of the C.N. position. But he added that in exchange for the C.N. withdrawing from Quebec the C.P.R. had withdrawn all its passenger trains between Agincourt, near Toronto, and Glen Tay, near Smith's Falls, Ont. There were no C.P.R. passenger trains now operating through Oshawa, Bowmanville, Trenton and Belleville.

Canada might do well to follow some of the practices adopted in Denmark, Mr. Massey said. The government should initiate a policy of educating the farm producers and take whatever steps necessary to stabilize prices.

Better Quality Helps.

"Attempts have been made to improve the grades and increase the consumption of certain of our farm products and the result has been an improvement in prices.

"I think I am correct when I say that the increase in the annual per capita consumption of butter in Canada was 4.06 pounds from 1925 to 1936. The fact that our butter was improved in quality had something to do with greater consumption in Canada. The fact we have had greater cossumption has had something to do with the fact prices have been better in recent years.

"There is always a question whether you can set a price for a product and maintain it. I presume if a country is sufficiently small and the product is sufficiently standardized, you might be able to do it, providing all the output is consumed within the country.

"But even a country as small as Denmark, which markets its products in Great Britain, is not able to say what price is going to be paid in Great Britain.

"The most they have been able to do is to stabilize their commodities and create a demand in a market that is more or less constant.

Varying Conditions Hard.

"I do not think there is any one standard that can be set in a country so widespread as ours in connection with price control or the standardization of products. However, we are doing the best we can to accomplish results under the varying conditions that exist in this country.

M. J. Coldwell (C.C.F., Rosetown-Biggar) suggested New Zealand was an example of a dairy producing country that exported the bulk of its products but managed to stabilize prices or guarantee a fixed minimum for several commodities.

Agriculture, "the oldest of human occupations," could be the most paying of all human activities in the opinion of J. A. Blanchette (Lib., Compton). But unfortunately it was not. He outlined the difficulties of the dairy industry and urged the Department to do all possible to enhance the revenue of farm producers.

Mr. Gardiner said bovine tuberculosis tests had reduced the infection in those areas which had been retested by one-half of one per cent. in the whole of Prince Edward Island, to the same extent in nine provinces of New Brunswick, 16 in Quebec, six in Ontario, one in Manitoba, 13 in Saskatchewan and one in British Columbia.

HORSE SHORTAGE

WEYBURN, Sask.—(CP).—It was tough sledding on the J. H. Newman farm in this southeastern Saskatchewan district this spring. Instead of having 22 horses, only six survived a hard winter and of these only three could be worked. Six were killed by a train, nine others died from spinal meningitis and one ran away.

MISS HELENA KENNEDY, R.N.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

DOURO, May 18. — The funeral of the late Helena Kennedy, Reg. N., took place on Friday from the residence of her brother, Wilfred, to St. Joseph's Church and Cemetery. Rev. J. J. McCarthy sang the Requiem Mass and said the prayers at the graveside. Father McCarthy also preached the funeral sermon.

Pall-bearers were the five surviving brothers of deceased, Daniel, Francis, and Wilfred of Douro, and Leonard and Vincent of Detroit, also a cousin, Victor Kennedy of Douro. Some of those from a distance who attended the funeral were: Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Kennedy, Leonard Kennedy and Mrs. John Kennedy of Detroit, Mrs. P. Dwyer, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Sullivan, Mrs. J. J. Shaughnessy, Misses Edna and Zita Kennedy of Peterborough, Mr. and Mrs. Martin of Kingston, and many others.

PHEASANTS FOR SHOOTING

TORONTO, May 19—(CP).—Between 25,000 and 30,000 pheasants will be released in the settled parts of Lower Ontario in July and August for the fall shooting, it was announced to-day by Hon. Harry Nixon, Ontario Minister of Game and Fisheries.

Mr. Nixon said there is a splendid natural hatch this year also, but between 25,000 and 30,000 birds are being raised at hatcheries and under contract with farmers.

with Russia and thereby cause a breakdown in the Italo-French phase of the plan for a general European settlement, Great Britain might have to proceed independently.

There then would be open a path for Great Britain alone to reach an agreement with Germany. So far the Franco-Russian alliance has been a particular barrier to British efforts to get Germany into a peace accord.

A New 4-Way Alliance?

Should France renounce the Russian alliance, it would mean Soviet absence from Western European affairs and possibly bring about an Italian - German - British - French pact.

Some observers pointed out, however, a simultaneous move by Premier Mussolini to increase Italian influence in French Tunisia might cause any such wish to fail, by strengthening Anglo-French co-operation for protection of their Mediterranean communications.

French circles suggested that in exchange for Italian support in the annexation of Austria and future action in Czechoslovakia, Hitler had promised to back Mussolini's desires for a North African empire.

France's orders yesterday to double her native North African troops were considered a strategic counter-move. It is thought possible that, as a result, Mussolini might feel it necessary to raise native troops himself, breaking a promise he made in the recent Anglo-Italian agreement.

C.P.R. TAKES BLAME

OTTAWA, May 19—(CP). — The Canadian Pacific took full responsibility for delay in moves for abandonment of its line from Shannonville to Darlington, Ont., in the Brockville-Belleville area, John E. Armstrong, assistant engineer of the Canadian Pacific Railway, told the Senate Railway Committee o-day.

The C.P.R. had already practically withdrawn its passenger services under pooling arrangements, but did not wish to abandon a freight service which represented a revenue of $2,000,000 a year.

"I congratulate you heartily."

"Thank you, my lord. And may I thank you, too, for that timely advice which I look back upon as the cause of all the happiness which has come to me lately. The little daily dose—it has worked wonders. I have forgotten what a headache feels like."

"And never again shall you remember. You have found good health for less than 1c a day. Stick to it!"

KRUSCHEN SALTS

relieve constipation and rheumatism

Kruschen is a combination of several mineral salts which your body must get, in some way, to keep the blood pure, the inside clean, and the system generally toned up, but which you can't get in Nature's own way without abundant exercise and fresh air. You should have those salts every day; hence the importance of the "little daily dose". Every drug counter sells Kruschen in 25c, 45c and 75c bottles. It's the little daily dose that does it.

Joseph Ellis Is Committed To Stand Trial On Charge Of Robbery With Violence

Brother Gordon Changes His Election And Consents To Summary Trial

After the evidence of five crown witnesses had been heard in police court this morning at the preliminary hearing of the charge of robbery with violence against Joseph Ellis, no fixed address, Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., committed the prisoner for trial.

An application for bail by his counsel, W. J. A. Fair, was bluntly refused.

"Not on that evidence," declared Magistrate Langley.

Mr. Fair somewhat angrily replied that in the case of Gordon Ellis, 500 Murray street, charged with the same offence, bail had been accepted. "Not only that, but counsel was allowed to put up bail himself and that is contrary to law and practice," said the defence lawyer.

"It's objectionable to me, too," admitted Magistrate Langley, "but the crown consented to it."

Changes Election.

Hon. G. N. Gordon, K.C., had appeared for Gordon Ellis, who was arraigned first this morning and who changed his election, consenting to summary trial.

He was remanded until Monday next, bail being fixed at $1,400 and one of the $700 securities was put up by Mr. Gordon.

Thomas Lansfield, proprietotr of Lansfield Cleaners at the corner of Charlotte and Louis street, was the first crown witness. He said that he had been told there was a man on the running board of his car last Saturday night and on investigation had found that the man who turned out to be Morris McCarthy was on the runing board of another automboile on Louis street. Just then Gordon and Joe Ellis came along and witness told them of the man on the car. Joe Ellis said something about "lead us to him," and then the two went over, helped McCarthy up and took him down Louis street.

Took Him Into Alley.

They took him into an alley and a short time after the three of them came out and ran down Louis street, McCarthy was calling something about "Hold them."

Had Been Drinking.

To Mr. Fair witness said that McCarthy had been drinking and had the appearance of a drunken man.

Joseph Murphy, Elm street, who was with Lansfield, gave much the same account of what he had seen on Louis street last Saturady night.

Morris McCarthy told of coming to Peterborough on Friday last after working at the Nephelene quarry near the Blue Mountains. He said that on Saturday night he had $52 on his person, four ten dollar bills in his hip pocket and the balance in his front trouser pocket. He admitted that he had been drinking and that he felt ill while walking along Charlotte street and sat down on the running board of a car. Later he was moved from there by two men, despite resistance on his part and taken down the street. He had felt a hand in his front pocket and had seized the man's wrist whereupon he was struck on the back of the head. He followed the two men down the street and Joe Ellis had stopped and come back. Witness went to strike Ellis and was hit several times in the face by the prisoner, losing consciousness for some time. He did not come to until the lights of the police car attracted his attention.

Admits Drinking

Mr. Fair cross-examined McCarthy closely as to his movements before the affair on Louis street and witness said that he had bought two quarts of whisky at the liquor store during the afternoon and had disposed of it with the exception of what drinks three friends who had droped into his room at the hotel had taken.

Constable Gordon Puffer described McCarthy's condition when he was brought into the police station. "He had been badly beaten up," he said. "There was a big lump on the back of his head, another over his eye, there was also a cut over his eye, his nose was bleeding and his lips swollen." Officer Puffer had administered first aid. To Mr. Fair he said that McCarthy gave signs of having been drinking.

William Clark, 306 Louis street, who said he knew the two Ellis boys said he was in the bathroom of his house on Saturday night when he heard a commotion. On looking out he had seen Gordon Ellis standing a little apart from his brother Joseph and another man who turned out to be Morris McCarthy. He saw Ellis knock the man down. McCarthy had got up and ran down Louis street after the two brothers and then Joe Ellis stopped and came back and witness saw McCarthy knocked down again.

In cross-examination Clark said that he did not see anybody taking money from McCarthy nor did he see any weapons in Joe Ellis' hand.

This closed the crown's case and Mr. Fair announced that he would put in no defence whereupon Ellis was committed. He will appear before County Judge Smoke to-day for election.

Narrowly Averts Serious Accident

Police eye witnesses give William James of 468 Bethune street, full credit for averting a very serious and perhaps fatal accident on Park Hill Road Wednesday afternoon when five-year-old Carl O'Donnell of 261 Park Hill Road, ran out in front of a car.

James had just made a turn from Reid street east into Park Hill Road when the little fellow unexpectedly darted out into the middle of the road. James slammed on his brakes with such alertness that he almost stopped the car before it hit the child, who as a result of the driver's quick action escaped with nothing worse than a bad scare, although he was pushed off his feet.

Sergt. Jack Thompson and P. C. Jack Stevenson had been investigating another matter and witnessed the narrow escape. They say only the alertness shown by James prevented a very bad accident.

A. R. STEVENSON DIES SUDDENLY

GANANOQUE, Ont., May 19 — A. R. Stevenson, assistant secretary of Cow and Gate Co. Ltd., was found dead on the floor of his home here by his wife, about midnight last night. He was born in Peterborough 37 years ago the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Stevenson who reside in Peterborough. After leaving Peterborough he worked in Toronto as an accountant before moving to Gananoque about a year ago.

Apparently in the best of health, earlier in the day, Mr. Stevenson attended the Rotary Club luncheon and was to have met his wife at a social affair in the evening. When he did not keep his appointment, his wife returned to their home and found him on the floor dead.

He is survived by his wife, Rosaline, his parents, two brothers, J. Walton in Peterborough and Dr. A. R. in Sault Ste. Marie and two sisters, Mrs. D. C. McLaren and Miss Marguerite both of Toronto.

Funeral services were held in Gananoque this afternoon at Christ Church by Rev. N. R. Stout before the remains were removed to Peterborough for burial on Saturday.

Collegiate Cadets Parade For Annual Inspection

Press cameramen had all kinds of competition on Wednesday when girl students at the Peterborough Collegiate brought along scores of cameras of all kinds, shapes and sizes to snap their boy friends on parade. Some of the candid camera enthusiasts are seen in (1). All told, there were almost as many cameras as guns on exhibit.

All commissioned officers received silver cups from the hands of Margaret Lundy (2) vice-president of the Students' Council, following the march past the reviewing stand. "B" company was cited the best on the grounds. The company is shown in (3) marching past Capt. Millette, arms swinging, feet out almost in goose step fashion. Prior to the march, the cadets were inspected rank by rank. In (4) Lt. Col. J. A. Dewart is seen accompanying Cadet Lt. Col. W. Wheeler along the lines while cadets stand rigid. The standard bearers, carrying the colours of the P.C.V.S. and the Union Jack are seen in (5). (Examiner Staff Photo.)

ANGLERS FAVOR SHORTER SEASON 'LUNGE FISHING

A special meeting of the Fish and Game Protective Association executive held last night in the Chamber of Commerce to "clear the air" was featured by much heated discussion and charges were hurled at Alex. Elliott, M.L.A., by F. W. Gravestock of Lindsay and Hy Wood to the effect that he had misled the members on the question of early opening of the 'lunge season. These two men contended he had not clearly defined the boundary lines between Northern and Southern Ontario.

It appears that there had developed in the minds of many members the idea that unless Peterborough sportsmen favored opening of the 'lunge fishing season on June 20th instead of July 1st, this section would have the later opening when all other surrounding districts would be starting ten days earlier. This led the men to believe tourist business would be lost and at several meetings they voted for an early opening.

Absolves Elliott of Blame.

Alex. Elliott, in explaining his stand, told the meeting resort owners in Northern Ontario had clamored for an early opening to meet competition from the State of Michigan. He said further he had no duty except to get an opinion from the sportsmen in this district on whether or not they favored such a move, which was done. He denied that he had ever stated Peterborough County would be the boundaries of the section not favoring the early season and this statement was not contradicted. E. A. Outram, deputy city clerk, in a letter which he read to the meeting, explained clearly and carefully just how the misunderstanding had developed and he absolved Alex. Elliott of all blame in the matter.

Mr. Outram then moved a resolution, seconded by Harry Kingan that the executive go on record as believing that Mr. Elliott made no misrepresentations either intentional or otherwise in the matter of the early opening of the 'lunge season. Ten of the sixteen voted in favor of this, and four failed to vote because they wished to have the exact wording of previous resolutions which were not available. Mr. Woods and Mr. Gravestock were the other two not voting.

The meeting then went on record as unanimously opposing the early opening of the 'lunge season, and will seek to have the law changed at the end of this year. This motion will be confirmed at the next general meeting of all the members, and will not be sent on to the Department of Game and Fisheries until the 300 members have had a chance to discuss it. They will also seek to have the 'lunge season close on September 30th, two weeks earlier than previously.

BLOOD TEST TAKEN FOLLOWING CRASH

As an aftermath of an accident early this morning on the Lakefield road near Gill's butcher shop, in which a car was ditched, William Hillis, 67 of Wilberforce was charged with drunken and reckless driving and remanded until Monday while Watson Coukell, 45 of Gooderham who was with him at the time of the accident, was fined $20 and costs or 15 days.

Coukell, arraigned first, pleaded guilty after some hesitation.

"I had a drink or two of beer but I wasn't intoxicated," he said.

"I can't take a plea like that," remarked the magistrate."

"Well I guess I am guilty then".

"I can't take a guess, either" replied the court, whereupon Coukell said "guilty" and got it over with.

His companion charged with drunken driving refused to plead guilty. "I had a drink or two, but I wasn't drunk", he said.

When a remand was mentioned however Hillis said he might as well plead guilty rather than "get hung up".

"I won't take a plea of guilty when you feel you are not guilty," Magstrate Langley said.

Crown Attorney McElderry said that a remand would be necessary because a doctor had taken a blood test to determine the alcoholic concontent in Hillis' blood and it would take some days for the result of that to be received. He said that the two men had had something to drink in Apsley and on reaching Lakefield had taken an hour to get through that village.

"Perhaps they met congenial companions", suggested the Magistrate. "I often spend the whole night there".

The Crown Attorney followed by stating that the car after leaving Lakefield had run for some time on the wrong side of the road and then had crossed to the other side and gone into the ditch.

Hillis and Coukell had been arrested by Provincial Traffic Officer Gordon Broughton.

Hillis also pleaded not guilty to another charge of reckless driving and was remanded on that charge also.

BABY CHICK EGGS?

PORT BURWELL, Ont., May 19 (C.P.). — Clarence Roesch was getting a lot of fun showing the eggs which he said his month-old baby chicks were already producing. A Doubting Thomas sneaked into Roesch's henhouse and found the explanation. They came from a sparrow's nest built in a cranny near the ceiling.

Collegiate Cadets Commended For Their Smart Performance

"B" Company Under Cadet-Major Bill Davidson Best On Parade

"What you have lacked in uniform you have made up in performance," Capt. P. M. Millette of Kingston, commended the cadets of the P.C.V.S. when he reviewed them at their annual parade on Wednesday afternoon. He complimented the commanding officer, Cadet Lt.-Col. W. Wheeler, for a splendid performance.

He lauded the corps for a sterling showing in spite of sketchy training, and chose "B" company, headed by Cadet Major Billy Davidson, as being the most outstanding in point of training. "A" Company, headed by Cadet Major James Harvey, was best on parade in his opinion. The smartly garbed band under Cadet Major H. Davidson, drew another round of praise from the inspecting officer.

In dazzling sunshine, the parade filed past the reviewing post, 386 strong, in perhaps the best showing in years. No serious mistakes marred the exhibition of the boys, whose performance reflected great credit on Capt. H. A. Craig, their instructor.

Inspecting Party.

At the reviewing post with Capt. Millette, were Lt.-Col. J. A. Dewart, commanding officer of the Prince of Wales Rangers; Major R. T. E. Hicks-Lyne, and Hon. Col. H. Morrow of the Prince of Wales Rangers. Both Col. Dewart and Major Hicks-Lyne deplored the condition of the uniforms the cadets were forced to wear, praised their performance in spite of lack of proper uniforms. The Prince of Wales Rangers, with which the cadets are affiliated, are proud of the officers and men of the corps, and look forward to the day when they will graduate into the militia, said Major Hicks-Lyne.

"We look to the cadet corps to be of real assistance to the Prince of Wales Rangers in years to come," said Lt.-Col. Dewart. He said that a place is waiting in the non-permanent militia for the boys who graduate from the cadet corps, and an opportunity to rise through the ranks of that organization to positions of responsibility.

Cups and Medals Presented.

The parade was watched by a crowd of several hundred people who jammed the borders of the Armouries' parade ground. The elaborate manoeuvres lasted more than two hours and included drill by the entire battalion, by companies, by a special first aid squad, and by the band. Drawing up in formation in the form of a square at the end of the perfomance, the battalion listened to the praise of inspecting officers, and some received cups or medals.

Margaret Lundy, vice-president of the Students' Council, presented all commissioned officers with a silver cup, assisted by Allan Park, president of the council. Cadet Captain Billy Davidson received a plaque from the hands of Dr. H. R. H. Kenner, principal, for the performance of his "B" company, declared best on the grounds.

In all, 32 silver cups were presented, starting off with the commanding officer and his company commanders, continuing down to each lieutenant. D.R.C.A. winter series match winners were presented with medals won in competition. Heading them was M. LeGros, with a special gold medal for the highest score. Other winners were V. Holland, R. Hallihan, M. Pakenham, K. Kidd, W. McKinley, N. Podd, S. Rogow, A. Moldaver, L. Glover, A. Marshall.

Leaders among the cadets under Cadet Lt.-Col. Wheeler, were Major Donald Duncan, second in command; Adjutant Barrie Jack, also major of "D" company; Major James Harvey, of "A" company; Major W. Davidson, of "B" company; Major Phillip Turner of "C" company; Major Tom Hooper of Headquarters company.

OBITUARY

MRS. MARY ELLEN BRADY.

Death claimed one of East City's oldest residents on Wednesday, in the person of Mrs. Mary Ellen Brady, 177 Douro street, widow of the late Bernard James Brady. In her 75th year, she had lived in this city all her life and had been in failing health for some time.

Daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Michael Sheehan, she was born here. She was educated at St. Mary's Convent and was a member of the Church of the Immaculate Conception and of the Catholic Women's League, the Altar Society and the League of the Sacred Heart.

Surviving are four sons, John, Rupert, Claire and Urban, all of Peterborough, and two daughters, Nellie, and Mrs. D. Campanaro, both of this city. Three grandchildren also survive.

The funeral will be held on Saturday, May 21, from the late residence at 8.45 a.m. to the Church of the Immaculate Conception for Requiem Mass at 9 a.m. Interment will be made at St. Peter's cemetery.

MRS. MARY A. HEENAN

Born of pioneer stock and a lifelong resident of this city, Mrs. Mary A. Heenan, 797 Water street, died on Wednesday. She was in her 83rd year and had been in failing health for some time.

She was the widow of the late Patrick Heenan, well known in Peterborough. Surviving are four daughters: Mrs. F. H. Kearney and Mrs. R. L. Donoghue, both of Peterborough; Mrs. Jack Anglesey of Detroit, Mich., and Irene, at home.

The funeral will be held on Saturday morning from the late residence to St. Peter's Cathedral for Requiem Mass at 9 o'clock. Interment will be made at St. Peter's Cemetery.

ARRANGE PROGRAM CIVIC RECEPTION LORD TWEEDSMUIR

Details of the program for the reception to be tendered Lord Tweedsmuir when His Excellency the Governor-General visits Peterborough on May 31 were completed at a meeting of the Legal and Reception Committee of the City Council Wednesday night, presided over by Ald. Hon. G. N. Gordon, chairman.

It was decided that as souvenirs of his visit here that an ash tray with a canoe engraved upon it and a book of Peterborough photographs, including some shots taken during the reception will be presented to the King's representative.

Associated with the City and County Councils in the welcome to be tendered Lord Tweedsmuir at the C.P.R. station on his arrival will be J. J. Duffus, M.P. and Alex Elliott, M.P.P., and it was decided that Mayor Hamilton should ride in the automobile with the Governor-General and Mr Duffus in the second car with Lord Tweedsmuir's secretary. The two will accompany then Lord Tweedsmuir on his trip to Lakefield.

The official program as approved Wednesday night is as follows:

11 a.m.—Received at railway station by Reception Committee. Inspection of Guard of Honour from Peterborough Regiment Prince of Wales Rangers. Proceed up George street to War Memorial. His Excellency will place wreath on War Memorial. Proceed to Lakefield. Return from Lakefield 12.30 o'clock noon.

3 p.m.—Leave His Excellency's car. Proceed via George street to Lansdowne street. Lansowne street to Monaghan Road and Monaghan Road to Weller street. (School children at Prince of Wales school); Weller to Park street; Park street to Hunter street; Hunter street to Water street; Water street to McDonnel street. (School children at Victoria Park); McDonnel street to Confederation Square. (Ex-Service Men, Boy Scouts and Girl Guides at Confederation Square.

It was decided that no special invitations will be extended for the reception; on the contrary all citizens who wish to be presented to the Governor-General will be given an opportunity.

READY TO START ON FISH HATCHERY

Construction of the new fish hatchery in Belmont township will likely be begun next Monday, A. L. Elliott, M.L.A., informed the Examiner today.

Two representatives of the Departments of Fish and Game and of Public Works were in the city this morning on their way to the township for the purpose of definitely locating sites of the proposed buildings and ponds, and revising details of the specifications. It is understood there will be a main hatchery building, a dwelling house and the rearing ponds, with about half a mile of pipe line leading from Deer Lake to the ponds.

Roland Payne of Warsaw has been appointed local foreman, and the work will be done by day labor.

"It is the intention to start construction next week," Mr. Elliott said, "a definite announcement which should be welcomed by everyone in the city and district who is interested in the new hatchery and its promise of an established source of supply of fish for restocking purposes in this area."

PUPS GET NEW MOTHER

OWEN SOUND, Ont., May 19 (C. P.). — When Peggy, a Boston bull belonging to Mrs. G. Hutchinson of Owen Sound, decided it was time for her family of four pups to shift for themselves, she refused to feed them. Ginger, Mrs. Hutchinson's Persian cat, took pity on the pups, and now the four pups and Ginger's own kitten all feed together.

WESTERN HOPES HIGH FOR RETURN OF BOOM IN GRAIN

REGINA, May 19—(CP)—A New Deal from Mother Nature appeared in sight today for Saskatchewan farmers and hopes were high for a return of the days of 1928 when agricultural products valued at $408,000,000 went out of the province. For the first time in eight years, spring moisture is adequate.

"Seeding in May keeps the bailiff away," according to the old farmers' saying. That's why the men who ploughed the rich prairie lands in the days of prosperity and have seen their crops wither and die year after year since 1930 aren't worried because seeding throughout Saskatchewan is much later than usual this season.

Kept off the land by heavy rains and high winds in recent weeks, Saskatchewan's farmers are going ahead with their seeding night and day. They expect to be finished within a week and hope that nature will compensate the late spring with a late fall.

Heavy winter snows and plentiful spring rains have provided subsoil moisture sufficient to last for weeks, something western farmers haven't experienced for more years than they care to remember. But adversity has tempered western optimism. Many farmers ask: "What effect has years of drought and soil drifting had upon the rich prairie land?"

Hon. J. G. Taggart, provincial minister of agriculture and a noted technical agriculturist, admitted the land is in poorer physical condition and is less fertile than in the "big crop" year of 1928. But he denied productivity of the soil has been impaired seriously.

RICH GRAIN TRADE

CHICAGO, May 19.—(AP)—Revival of the United States lucrative grain export trade was estimated by merchants here today to have put approximately $125,000,0000 in the American pocketbook since last summer.

They forecast $30,000,000 to $40,000,000 more would accrue to farmers, grain dealers, railroads and shippers by the end of the summer as a result of the booming export trade now under way.

CARDENAS INSISTS CEDILLO GIVE UP

SAN LUIS POTOSI, Mexico, May 19 (AP).—President Lazaro Cardenas is determined the strong man of San Luis, General Saturnino Cedillo, shall surrender his arms and peasant army to the government so that the Mexico's Socialistic program may go on without danger of internal revolt.

The President, entering San Luis with his soldiers to assure calm in the wage of insistent rumors of rebellion, made his demand in a speech last night.

Cardenas charged that his former Secretary of Agriculture planned a revolution, that he conferred with representatives of foreign oil companies whose property the government expropriated, and that with "the aid of agents, who toured the country and abroad," he engaged in "subversive activities." He said Cedillo feigned illness to avoid a term of military service in Michoacan, President Cardenas' state, and to mask its plans for revolution.

The General's resignation from the army, Cardenas said, was accepted upon his promise to remain at his vast estate of Las Palomas, near San Luis, upon which he has established his agrarian constituency.

But, President Cardenas insisted, Cedillo must surrender arms and ammunition, and his "private army" of possibly 50,000 men must be absorbed into the regular army as an auxiliary group.

St. James' Bantams Cop An Easy Win

St. James' Bantams, defending Church Loop softball champions, Wednesday night ran up a record score on the hapless St. John's squad of youngsters on the United's home diamond, beating them 44 to 13. The smaller Anglicans could do nothing right in this fray, while the smart St. James' gang had three 11-run innings, the first, second and fifth. The teams:

St. John's: Batten, c; Frank, p; Farrow, 1b; Mathias, 2b; Howard, 3b; Gray, ss; R. Glen, lf; Graham, rf; H. Glen, rf; Groombridge, cf.

St. James': Estlock, 2b; Welch, rf; Baldry, c; Leether, 3b; Wildman, 1b; Rutherford, ss; Murduff, cf; Lawson, lf; Ellis, p; Tarkington.

Umpires: R. Heard and G. Watson.

Large Fish Caught At Hastings Bridge

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HASTINGS, May 19.—Two largest pickerel reported caught here this year were landed last night from the bridge by local men. Arthur Nelson, Sr., and John J. Brether each caught a pickerel weighing four lbs., five ounces. Both fish were weighed on the same scales and were landed within half an hour of each other.

"Patience was the byword on the bridge last night. The fish were biting fairly good, but the mosquitos were very troublesome.

Lawn Bowling

By HERB MARTIN

Before we jump right into the lap of lawn bowling—and it won't be long—it might not be amiss if we should just hand out a little information regarding our club. It will be news for the general public and we feel satisfied that there are many of our own members who do not know:

That on May 29, 1929, the first sod was turned toward the building of the present greens.

That the present lawn bowling greens were once a pasture field and owned by the late Geo. Hatton.

That J. T. Braund and B. Chesler were the first pair to bowl on the new greens.

That we have 28,800 sq. ft. of grass to mow, water and keep in condition for bowling.

That we have 960 ft. of ditches filled with beautiful water worked pebbles.

That each night we bowl we use 24 lights, each 1,000 watts.

That we have the biggest lawn bowling club in the province of Ontario.

That 25 per cent. of our members are engaged on the different committees helping the organization along.

That 90 per cent. of the stock subscribed is held by men and women of the city of Peterborough.

That we are not here to get all we can out of it for ourselves, but to try to make the lives of others happpier.

George St. Defeated By Eastenders 10-8

Mark Street dropped a 10-8 Church Softball League decision to George Street Wednesday night in a nifty scrap. Four runs in the fifth and a pair in the sixth gave the winners their narrow edge over the losers. Davis struck out nine and walked 10 on the East City hilltop, while Routley of the uptowners fanned four and walked four. Both heavers had good support in the field, and the George Street thrower was nicked for 13 hits against six. Parnall clouted two homers and Eason one, as Scriver and Davis conked out doubles. The teams:

Umpires, G. Beauclerc and L. Agnew.

Lakefield Students Defeat Villagers

(Examiner Correspondence.)

LAKEFIELD, May 19.—Lakefield High School baseballers proved too much for the Village gang on Wednesday afternoon, and the latter lost by a one-sided count of 18 to 4. The winners secured a 5-run margin in the first inning and were never headed from then on.

F. Loyst did the hurling for the Students, and had 12 strikeouts to his credit, allowing but 3 hits for the full route. S. Loyst also contributed to the family honor by conking the pellet for two circuits. W. F. Munro, teacher and athletic instructor for the school, was successful in clicking for a two-bag safety. J. Blewett clouted a triple for the losers.

Fourteen pounds of opium was found concealed in 14 hollow cricket bats recently shipped from Calcutta to Rangoon.

3 BILLION DEFICIT SEEN FOR STATES

WASHINGTON, May 19 (A.P.).—Informed officials tentatively forecast to-day a $3,400,000,000 Federal deficit in the fiscal year beginning July 1, as a result of the huge spending-lending program before United States Congress.

That would be slightly more than double the anticipated shortage for the current year, but would be below the deficits of 1934, 1935, and 1936. The peak peacetime deficit, swollen by bonus payments, was $4,763,842,000 in the year ended June 30, 1936.

Roughly, the next year's expenditures have been set at about $8,900,000,000 and receipts at about $5,500,00,000.

The tentative estimate, it was learned, allowed for a $4,000,000 shrinkage in revenues and a $2,$2,050,000,000 increase in expenditures compared with preliminary figures submitted to Congress by the President in January. The January estimates contemplated a $950,000,000 deficit.

The figures remain uncertain because relief needs can not be predicted accurately at this time. The President has asked $1,250,000,000 to run WPA from July 1 to February 1. A total of $909,000,000 has been estimated as a probable cost for the remaining five months of the year, developments between May alter the estimates.

Another item that might upset the budget calculations is the potential $1,500,000,000 lending program of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

HAVELOCK CLUB ENTERS T.V.B.L.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HAVELOCK, May 19.—Plans for the coming season were made by the local bowlers at the annual meeting held in the Recreation Club room.

It was decided to again enter the Trent Valley League and teams are selected to play in the regular schedule with the first game being played at Norwood on May 20th. The first home game will be on May 27th, when Warkworth will visit Havelock, providing the local greens are ready by then.

The regular mixed jitney night will be on Monday instead of Thursday this year.

It was announced that due to the extra expenses entailed in fixing up the club house and greens that all bowlers will be required to have regular membership tickets, only costing $1 for the season.

Mrs. Jos. Hoffman was elected representative of the ladies and was asked to call a meeting and appoint their own committees. Tuesday was set aside as ladies' night for this summer. At the ladies' meeting held on Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Hoffman, Mrs. W. W. Hill was elected as president of the Ladies' Bowling Club. Other officers are: 1st vice-president, Mrs. Robt. Jones, and secretary-treasurer, Miss Minnie Williams.

Any new bowlers wishing to take part in this form of recreation this summer will be welcomed, should contact any member of the bowling committee, as follows: Messrs. Lou Hagerman, Eldon Pirie, Jim Hooper, Doug. Brennan, Rae Williams, Robt. Anderson, and Harold Mathison.

GROVE TEAM WIN BY 5 RUNS

Knox Bantams Gain 13 To 12 Victory

Knox Bantams nosed out a 13-12 decision over All Saints Wednesday night at Prince of Wales in a nifty Church Softball League struggle. With the tying run on base and none out at the last, All Saints were unable to push over the big marker. The Uniteds led all the way with Hamblin, Gardiner and Alcock doing some potent hitting. Hotrum, Kemp and Millar were blasting them for the losers. Hamblin and Kemp both hurled fair ball. The teams:

Knox: Gourley, lf; Crowe, lf; Braund, rf; Gardiner, 1b; Saunders, cf; Alcock, 3b; Gash, 2b; Shepherd, 2b; Gertley, ss; Doughty, ss; Hamblin, p; Parnall, c.

All Saints: Millar, c; Burns, cf; Edgard, rf; Blackwell, 1b; Kemp, p; Lacey, 2b; Reid, ss; Dyer, lf; Clapham, cf; Hotrum, 3b.

Score by innings:

DOUBLE MISFORTUNE

GREENBUSH, Ont., May 19 (C. P.). — Broken hearts and broken arms seem to go hand in hand for five-year-old Karl Armstrong. Yesterday, tears streaming down his face, he was showing his sister the burial place of his favorite pup, which had been killed the day previously. Following a strange path to the hidden grave, the youngster toppled from the top of a five-foot fence, fracturing his arm in two places.

TO SEEK REPORT EVERY MONTH FROM CITY TRUST

Ald. G. N. Gordon informed members of the Legal Committee Wednesday night that at the next meeting of the city council he will move a resolution ordering the city auditor to make a monthly report to the city council of the sales, purchases, investment and other transactions of the City Trust as disclosed by their books.

Mr. Gordon suggested that a motion to that effect might be passed by the committee but if such a motion were not forthcoming he would introduce his resolution when the city fathers meet.

There was no motion so that the matter awaits Mr. Gordon's action in council.

In discussing the question before his committee Ald Gordon said that the members of council were entitled to information as to the transactions of the City Trust.

"There is the matter of a $1,000 loan to Jim Hum while he was in arrears of $500 or $600 for taxes." said Mr. Gordon. "And there are such things as selling city of Peterborough bonds paying 5 per cent. and with 18 months to run and buying Quebec bonds paying 3¼ per cent. and doing so without asking for tenders."

Ald Cotton pointed out, and Ald. Bradburn agreed, that it often paid to sell bonds that were nearing maturity and replacing them by others with a lower interest yield.

"That may be so" commented Ald. Gordon "I have not had a chance to look into that angle of the question but I intend to do so. In any case I feel that we are entitled to monthly reports as to what is being done by the City Trust Commission."

DOURO

75 Years Of Service

Service of more than 75 years in the medical profession is the record of these two men, Dr. J. C. Smith of Lakefield (LEFT) and his father, Dr. James Frazer Smith. On Friday the senior Dr. Smith, a former medical missionary, was given the degree of Doctor of Divinity at Queen's University, the same college from which he graduated in theology and medicine in 1888. His son is coroner for the county of Peterborough, and a general practitioner in Lakefield. Dr. Smith, Sr., was a medical missionary in China and India for a decade at the close of the last century, has practiced in Canada since, and is now retired. He is the author of a book, "Life's Waking Part," published last fall by Thomas Nelson and Sons. The degree of Doctor of Divinity came in the 50th year of his practice.

DOWNEYVILLE

A very enjoyable social was held here in the hall Friday evening, under the auspices of the C.W.L., and a large crowd was present. During the evening a beautiful quilt was drawn for, and the lucky ticketholder was Miss Lillie McLaughlin of King's Wharf.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Maloney of Ellismore spent Sunday the guests of the latter's brother, Mr. and Mrs. John Perdue.

The seeding is all complete here, and everything looks well. It is thirty-three years ago since anyone around here had any grain sowed in April, and this year all the low land is in by May 15. The fall wheat looks splendid, and it is a wonderful sight to see fields of it waving in the wind. On Friday night there was a heavy frost, but no harm was done along the lake, but you could see peas and barley brown the next day

Orville Perdue has returned to work in Peterborough, after spending a week with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Pat Perdue.

HASTINGS Y.P. SPONSORS PLAY

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HASTINGS, May 19—In connection with the re-opening services of Trinity United Church and as a fitting close to the very special events the Woman's Association sponsored a bountiful dinner on Monday evening, May 16, which was an unqualified success, over three hundred people sitting at the banquet hour. The three long tables set in the newly repaired basement in its spotless condition, were filled and refilled and presented a very pleasing appearance with their snowy linen and gleaming crystal and silver. The floral centres at each table consisted of four silver baskets of snapdragon and summer flowers in pastel shade. Four tall pink tapers also added to their attractiveness.

A staff of capable attendants assisted the presidents, Mrs. H. Oliver, Mrs. A. E. Metcalfe and Miss Mae Huycke and their convenor, Mrs. W. Way, Mrs. C. Hoard, Mrs. G. Fox, Mrs. A. V. German, Mrs. R. Collins, Mrs. J. Oliver, Mrs. Montgomery and Mrs. W. Preston and a bountiful supply of good things assured the success of the banquet.

Following the repast almost two hundred gathered in the Hastings' town hall to see the comedy-drama, "Valley Farm", presented by the Dramatic Society of St. James' United Church, Peterborough. The proceeds, which netted a large sum, was encouraging to all who worked so faithfully to make this event a success.

Before the presentation of the play, the pastor, Rev. F. W. Newell, heartily welcomed everyone and expressed his personal appreciation and that of his congregation to their friends from Peterborough, who so kindly assisted them at this time. He moved a vote of thanks to them which was responded to by a hearty handclap.

Between acts Miss Palmer and Mrs. Turner sang a pleasing duet, "There's a Gold Mine in the Sky" and Mrs. Drysdale gave a humorous reading which caused just heaps of laughter.

The play, which had a splendid moral, carrying its full share of humour and pathos, was exceptionally well acted and run easily without prompting. The crowd chuckled and laughed its way through the four acts filled with entertainment. Much of the success of the play is due the director, Mrs. H. Turner, who herself took an active part as Alvira Holcomb.

The characters were: Silas Holcomb, owner of Valley Farm, M. Drysdale; Hetty Holcomb, his daughter, Miss D. Drysdale; Alvira Holcomb, his sister, Mrs. H. Turner; Harold Rutledge, a young New Yorker, E. Davis; David Hildredth, a New York lawyer, H. Turner; Perry Deane, a son of the soil, Eric Douglas; Isobel Carney, David Hildred's niece, Mrs. D. Williams; Mrs. Rutledge, owner of the Rutledge mansion, Miss M. Drysdale; Azairza Keep, Alvira's suitor, Mrs. Lawson; Jennings, the butler of Rutledge mansion, Mr. Lawson; Verbena, maid at farm, Miss Norma May; Lizzy Ann Tucker, who borrows but never gossips, Mrs. V. Kennedy.

BAPTIST MISSION RALLY IS OPENED

KINGSTON, Ont., May 19 (CP).—The 62nd annual meeting of the Women's Baptist Home and Foreign Missionary Societies of Eastern Ontario and Quebec opened in the First Baptist Church here last night with a gathering of women from Montreal, Ottawa and intermediate points.

Mrs. A. E. Walford of Westmount, president of the foreign mission section, presided over the meeting, devoted chiefly to foreign mission work. An address of welcome was given by Mrs. W. H. Ratcliffe, president of the Kingston Mission Circle, and was replied to by Mrs. P. E. Roberts of Montreal.

The main feature of the service was an address by Rev. A. Gordon of Palkonda, India, who spoke of the great mass movement among the common people of that land towards Christianity. He destribed the methods of reaching these people who throng the innumerable villages.

Mr. Gordon for a period had supervision of the work in a district with a population of about 1,000,000 souls.

Session today was largely taken up with the receiving of reports from various departments of the societies' activities and another address by Mr. Gordon. This afternoon the president's address was given by Mrs. Walford and an address was also given by Miss K. S. McLaurir of Cocanada, India.

LIGHTNING ROMANCE LEADS TO GRETNA ANVIL WEDDING

Sends Postcard to Former Husband—Mother Detained in Jail

"LIFE COMPLICATED"

Glasgow — Fair - haired Mrs. Thomas Reid, 23-year-old daughter of Mrs. Jessie Jordan, detained in Perth jail on an official secrets act charge, told a newspaperman of a lightning romance which led her to Gretna and an anvil wedding.

While living in Perth a few weeks ago, Mrs. Reid—then Mrs. Margaret Wobrock—met 25-year-old, 6 foot Thomas Thompson Reid, a traveller, of Glasgow. They went to a dance, fell in love, and suddenly decided to marry.

They dashed by car to Gretna and the ceremony was performed over the anvil by David Mackintosh. Now they are back in Glasgow planning their future home.

"Life is complicated," said Mrs. Reid, speaking slowly with a slight German accent. "I am married and I am happy. But again I am not so happy, for I must be concerned about my mother.

"Naturally I shall tell her about our wedding. I am able to send letters to her in prison, and I can visit her. We hope to do so and get her blessing."

Mrs. Reid was married about six years ago to Herman Wobrock in Germany. The marriage was dissolved.

With a smile she added: "I sent Herman a postcard from Gretna Green. I do not know what he will think. He is married again now."

As she talked Mrs. Reid caressed her four-year-old daughter, to whom she spoke mostly in German.

J. R. Bond, the Dundee lawyer who is acting for Mrs. Jordan, was surprised when told of the wedding.

"Mrs. Reid was a German citizen staying in Britain on an extended permit," he said. "She would have been allowed to stay in this country providing she did not work. As a British citizen she will be able to work if she wishes."

MUST NOT SMOKE DRINK OR GAMBLE

Two Wiltshire Boys Share in $273,445 Estate Conditionally

Devizes, Wilts. — Two Wiltshire boys will some day inherit the residue of a £54,689 ($273,445) fortune.

If they respect the wishes of its creator, their uncle, who had no children of his own, they will never smoke, drink or gamble.

Tom Herbert Smith, abstainer, left a country cottage to make his fortune as a builder in London.

He worked hard and lived carefully. He wasted not a penny, in the tradition of his industrious, God-fearing family.

When he died he left the residue of his fortune to his widow.

The nephews, Cyril William Smith, age 14, and Gordon Thomas Smith, age nine, who live in the Devizes, Wilts, cottage in which their uncle was born, receive the money on the death of their aunt.

"My husband's family never drank, smoked or gambled," said Mrs. Smith.

MAN IN HANDCUFFS CHASED 12 MILES

Broke Away From Police on His Way to Jail

Hull—A handcuffed man escaped from police here, outdistanced his pursuers, commandeered a car and drove it through the busy streets. He was eventually recaptured 12 miles from Hull.

The man is Clifford Cleminshaw, 22, of Heaton Park, Manchester.

Escorted by Bridlington police, who were taking him to jail in Hull, he arrived at Paragon station soon after two p.m.

He was wearing a sports coat and flannel trousers. Suddenly he dashed away from the police, ran through the station and disappeared down a side street.

A woman who got in his way was knocked down, and it is believed that he then mounted a bicycle.

The Hull police flashed a warning to all stations outside the city, and patrol cars were sent out.

Then came the news that a car was missing. Later the East Riding police at Hedon were informed that a car had crashed into a ditch on the Humber bank near Paull.

Hurrying there, they found the car abandoned and saw Cleminshaw running across a field. He was chased and soon recaptured.

EDUCATED POLICEMAN DRUNK DRIVING AUTO

"His Career Has Gone," Says Man's Lawyer

London—Police Constable James F. J. Macphail, who, after a public school education, entered the police force as a career and gained a reputation as a rugby player and sportsman, was fined £10 ($50) with 10 guineas costs, at Marylebone for being under the influence of drink while in charge of a car.

He was disqualified from driving for 12 months. "One may fairly say," said his solicitor, A. A. Rowain, "that his career has gone."

DIGS WELL ON FARM MAY BE GOLD THERE

Phosphates Also Believed on Bournemouth Farm

Bournemouth — After growing watercress on 16 acres of land at Fordingbridge, near Bournemouth, Bert Wootton has decided to bore for gold there. While helping to sink an artesian well he recovered several pieces of rock, which experts tell him contain traces of gold.

Specimen rocks which have been sent to the South Kensington Science museum are also reported to contain iron phosphates.

The rock is 45 feet down, and Mr. Wootton believes that it runs a course of fully a quarter of a mile along his land.

APPEALS TO PUBLIC AS DOG KILLS SHEEP

May Be Done Out of Master's Sight, Says One Farmer

Eastbourne—Somebody's fireside pet has turned killer on the Downs.

James Lory of Chalk farm, Willingdon, has lost nine lambs—worried to death by a dog.

They were found by his shepherds at Ringwood farm, near here, which Mr. Lory also owns.

Ringwood farm lies on the fringe of Eastbourne. Mr. Lory thinks that some dog from the town is responsible.

"People who come for walks on the Downs let their dogs run loose, and very often take no notice if the dog starts chasing a flock of sheep," he said.

"But the killing may be done while the dog is out of his master's sight.

"The police have been told about this killing, but it is the public who can really help. I appeal to them to keep their dogs under control."

PAINTER, ARCHITECT NAMED TO ACADEMY

A. R. Thomson and Edward Maufe Noted for Works

London — Alfred R. Thomson, painter, and Edward Maufe, architect, were elected associates of the Royal Academy.

Mr. Thomson, who is a deaf mute, is mural decorator, portrait painter and caricaturist. He was born in Bangalore, India, in 1895.

Mr. Maufe is the architect of the new Guildford cathedral. His plans were selected from 200 specimens submitted. He also designed the Joseph Chamberlain memorial in Westminster Abbey, the chapel in Broadcasting house, and additions to Oxford and Cambridge colleges.

CRIPPLE DIES OF BURNS

Clothing of 78-year-old Woman Believed Caught Alight

London.—A 78-year-old cripple was burnt to death when a fire broke out in the back ground floor room where she lived in Mildenhall Road, Clapton, E. She was Miss Laura Hughes. Her clothing apparently caught fire.

KING AND QUEEN TOUR EMPIRE EXHIBITION

Amid a scene of royal splendor King George VI recently opened the Empire Exhibition at Bellahouston Park, near Glasgow, Scotland, which has attracted people from all parts of the world. A hundred thousand voices cheered the royal carriage drawn by four postilions and preceded by two out-riders. After the official opening, their majesties toured the exhibition buildings. During their tour they were caught by the camera as Queen Elizabeth smiled and the King passed some comment to his companion.

ZOO CATCHER TO USE WOMEN'S HAIR NETS

Rainbow-Hued Tropical Fish Defy Capture in Ordinary Mesh

London—Overseer H. Vinall of the zoo aquarium, is leaving London this summer for the Red Sea to supervise a strange fishing expedition.

Instead of rods and lines, trawls and drag nets, Overseer Vinall and his assistants will fish with fine meshed women's hair nets, the strands of which are invisible to fish.

For they are going in search of tiny rainbow-hued tropical fish which defy capture in an ordinary net.

Often only a fraction of an inch in length, these fish are becoming increasingly popular as a drawing room decoration when kept in floodlit and electrically heated tanks. And the zoo does not intend to be outdone by private collectors.

In his search for new specimens Mr. Vinall will be helped by divers who will defy sharks in scouring the bed of the Red Sea.

ENGLISH FISHERMAN KILLS SHARK WITH POCKET-KNIFE

Thirty-Foot, Two-Ton Monster Had Been Destroying Nets

ONLY WEAPON NEAR

Weymouth — Fishermen report that they fought a long battle at Chickerell, near Weymouth, with a 30 foot monster which has caused a lot of damage in West Bay during the last few years.

Trapped in the fishermen's nets, the fish fought for two hours against the efforts of 12 men to haul it to the shore.

Fred Farn, a Chickerell fisherman, dived into the sea and stabbed it until its struggles ceased.

The monster, identified as a shark, weighs two tons, the tail if 5 feet across; the head is pig-shaped, but there is no dorsal fin.

"I just went into the water to make sure of him," Farn said afterwards.

"The fish has done hundreds of pounds worth of damage to our nets, and organized shooting parties have been trying to get him for years."

"We saw it basking in the sun a few yards from the beach and determined to get it.

"It got caught in our nets and we hauled it in so slowly that it was close to us before it tried to get away. My pocket knife was the only weapon I had handy."

GIRL FOUND DROWNED AFTER BEING JILTED

Body Found at Gravesend in Dance Frock

Gravesend, Kent.—Florence Beatrice Pettman, pretty 24-year-old Gravesend cinema cashier, who was found drowned near Royal Terrace Pier, Gravesend, in the dance frock she wore when last seen alive, was disappointed in love.

Though she said little to her family, she confessed to a friend at the cinema where she worked that she was heartbroken because a young man had broken off their friendship.

SNATCHES 'REVOLVER' FOILS $1,500 HOLD-UP

"Don't Be a Fool," Theatre Manager Tells Man With Toy Weapon

Southport, Lancs.—A toy weapon was used in an attempt to hold up a theatre manager and rob him of £300 ($1,500) in Lord St., principal thoroughfare of Southport, when it was crowded.

Charles Brown, manager of the Palladium Cinema, said: "I was on my way to the night safe of a bank in Lord St., only 200 yards from the cinema, with an attendant.

"A man who had obviously been waiting for us stepped out from shadows, wearing what looked like a silk scarf over the lower part of his face.

"He thrust a revolver into my side and said, 'Hand it over, boys.' I replied, 'Don't be a fool,' and snatched at the revolver and wrenched it from his hand.

"The man then struck me on the jaw with his gloved fist and made off."

MIGHT USE LONDON TUBES AS SHELTERS IN AIR RAIDS

But British Technical Adviser Warns of Danger of Flooding

MUSTARD DETECTION

London—The home office is to reconsider the question of using London tubes as air-raid shelters.

Major F. L. Fraser, chief intelligence officer to the air raid precautions department, made this announcement at a meeting of the society of engineers at Burlington house.

Col. W. Garforth, a technical adviser to the precautions department, said one of the objections to the use of the tubes as shelters was the danger of flooding. Underground accommodation should not be lower than the water mains or sewers.

In the event of an air raid the areas affected would get a warning of from seven to ten minutes. In most cases workpeople would have to be provided with shelter protection at their places of employment, for they would not have time to go home.

The government was already considering protective trenches in parks near shopping areas; alternative accommodation for inhabitants of dilapidated houses in such places as the East End, which could not be used to provide refuges. A special paint to detect mustard gas was to be placed on the market.

Sir Samuel Hoare, home secretary, stated in the Commons that he was examining the question whether public utility undertakings were prevented by the terms of existing legislation from proper expenditure on air raid precautions work. If necessary he would introduce amending legislation, he said.

ARTIST AND HIS WIFE START 3-YEAR DRIVE

Plan to Take Their Caravan All Over Europe

Chelsea—Sun glinting on the harness brass of the smart pair of piebalds in its traces, a caravan rolled down King's road, Chelsea, to start a three-year journey of adventure.

On the footboard, wearing stout corduroy trousers and strong nailed boots, were Reginald Braybrooke, young Chelsea artist, and his wife, Peggy.

"We are going to take the caravan all over Europe," said Mr. Braybrooke. "We are not coming back for three years.

"We are going to wander through France, Germany and down into the Balkans.

'I am going to paint, my wife will write."

Packed away amongst the stores of clothes, buckets, books, bottles and bric-a-brac, were a roll of canvas for Mr. Braybrooke and a typewriter for his wife.

DOG KICK COSTS $26.25

Was Trying to Separate Fighting Animals, Says Accused

Dartford—A kick at a black mongrel dog, which died as a result of it, cost John Harold Brewster, 31, of Heathview Ave., Crayford, five guineas ($26.25) at Dartford.

Mrs. Armitage, wife of the dog's owner, said Brewster kicked it when he was exercising two other dogs on a lead. Brewster said that he tried to separate the dogs, which were fighting.

YOUTHS TURN SIGNS AND CONFUSE POLICE

Sutton Coldfield — Photographs showing a road restricted on one side and derestricted on the other were produced at Sutton Coldfield police court.

The outcome was that a speeding case against Frank Arthur Boyce, a Birmingham traveller, was dismissed.

Mr. Boyce displayed the photographs, which showed a derestriction sign on the near side of the road and a "30" sign opposite.

Superintendent Stanley said children often turned the signs around, but Mr. Boyce should have realized from the lamp-posts that he was in a built-up area.

BLAME FOREST FOOLS FOR DISASTROUS FIRES

Cigarettes Said to Have Caused Mile Blaze on Heathland

Dorchester. — Lighted cigarettes, dropped by forest fools, are believed to have caused two destructive fires.

Bovington Camp, Dorset, the great town of wooden huts which is the home of the Royal Tank Corps, was in grave danger, when a terrific blaze swept a mile across heathland and forest.

The fire was fought by troops in gas masks and Dorchester fire brigade, and was checked when only 100 yards from the camp.

Outside a row of houses which stood in the path of the oncoming flames, troops rushed up a line of tall asbestos screens to protect the buildings.

Many of the fire fighters were overcome by dense fumes.

Several acres of Dartmoor gorse blazed fiercely for two hours near Tavistock, Devon.

POSED AS EX-MONK TO PREY ON WOMEN

Laborer Had Been Handyman at St. George's College

Manchester—Described by a detective as a "sanctimonious humbug," who had posed as an ex-monk and a "plausible rascal who preyed on women and the religious community," Norman Sebastian Dobson, 37, laborer, was sentenced to 12 months' hard labor by Commissioner Hemmerde at Manchester assizes.

Dobson, who appeared on an indictment containing two charges of bigamy, pleaded guilty to the first charge and not guilty to the second. This plea was accepted by the prosecution.

It was alleged that Dobson, who married his legal wife in 1926, went through a form of marriage with Emily Rosina Fox at Margate in 1929, telling her that he was a widower.

Detective-Sergeant McPhail stated that the man had frequently imposed on people of religious tendencies by representing himself as an ex-monk about to be converted to any religious sect to which his dupes belonged. At times he adopted clerical attire and represented himself as the Rev. Norman Sebastian Dobson, a converted monk.

He had preached for the Salvation Army and other religious organizations. He had never been a monk, and the only thing that the police could discover to connect him with any Roman Catholic order or brotherhood was that he had been employed as a handyman at St. George's college, Addlestone, Surrey, in 1932.

MYSTERY ENGLISH TRAWLER AROUSES DUTCH SUSPICION

Search Reveals No Fishing Equipment or Cargo But Powerful Wireless

CREW IS SILENT

Ymuiden, Holland.—An English trawler, Faithful Friend, was detained by the police here in strange circumstances.

It was alleged that the captain allowed a German and Dutch passenger to land without passing the customs or immigration officers.

The police then searched the trawler. There was no fishing equipment or cargo in her, they stated.

A powerful new wireless transmitter attracted their attention, and the police sealed it up.

The crew of five, all English, remained silent when asked for explanation. They were not allowed to leave the ship.

The mystery was increased later when an English yacht entered the harbor and began to tie up to the Faithful Friend. The police would not allow this, but gave no reason for their action.

After careful investigation, the police gave the Faithful Friend permission to leave. It was then revealed that she intended to proceed at once to Emden, in Germany.

As the meteorological institute reported a storm impending, the captain of the trawler decided to remain. As long as the Faithful Friend is in harbor, her wireless transmitter had to remain sealed.

The crew of the trawler did not give the impression of being fishermen, but spoke and behaved like well-educated men.

The police are reticent about their investigations.

EMPIRE PETROLEUM PREFERENCE SOUGHT

Trinidad's New Governor to Open Commerce Congress

Port of Spain, Trinidad—A resolution asking the British government to consider a preference to petroleum products produced within the Empire will be moved at the sixth congress of the West Indian chambers of commerce.

Sir Hubert Winthrop Young, Trinidad's new governor, will be invited to open the congress which commences in August. The petroleum resolution was passed at the last sitting of the Empire federation of chambers of commerce in New Zealand.

$300,000 PAINTING DUG OUT OF CLOSET

Needy Family Find Masterpiece at Critical Moment

Rotterdam.—A Dutch family living in Paris in modest circumstances has been astounded by the discovery that an old picture which has lain unframed in the linen cupboard for many years was a masterpiece by the 17th-century painter Vermeer, worth more than £60,000 ($300,000).

The value of the work would have been equally astonishing to Vermeer, who died in the utmost poverty.

The fact that the painting was a masterpiece was revealed when the family to whom it had belonged for 260 years had to sell some of their property.

ON WAY TO WEDDING GIRL TWICE INJURED

Halted by Train Wreck, Recovers and Is Again Crash Victim

Johannesburg, S.A.—"I'm finished with the railways," declared Miss Rena Burger, of Bulawayo, from her Johannesburg hospital bed.

And no wonder.

Within the first few hours her express ran into a goods train. Twenty-three passengers were killed, and Miss Burger was among the many injured.

In two weeks she was sufficiently recovered to travel again. As her train roared south across the veldt, she began to tell the only fellow-passenger in her compartment of her experience in the Rhodesian disaster.

Suddenly there was a shock. The engine left the rails, followed by the first two coaches.

Three were killed and 15, Miss Burger among them, were injured.

LIVING COSTS ALARM

South African Food Prices Are Reaching Famine Level

Johannesburg, S.A.—Food prices in South Arifca are soaring toward famine level.

The government is alarmed and is instituting inquiries to check the high cost of living. Butter is almost unobtainable, and many households have been deprived of this commodity altogether. Only hospitals are being fully served, while food lines are formed in various shops for small rations to regular customers

BRITISH FLIER MAKES 147 LOOPS IN GLIDER

But Russian Airman Said to Have Done 300 at Crimea in 1935

He was towed up to 15,400 feet, by an aeroplane, which carried two official observers representing the Egyptian Royal Aero club.

"I was so giddy that I landed two miles from the aerodrome," he said when he came down.

In April last year he looped the loop 67 times, and in May, 1934, he set up a British gliding duration record of 8 hours, 20 minutes, at Dunstable.

Herr Hirth, a German, had previously claimed the record by making 125 loops at Stuttgart in 1934. A Russian named Simonov was said to have made 300 consecutive loops at Kotobel, in the Crimea, in the following year.

DIES FROM HUMAN BITE

Manslaughter Charge Results From Use of Teeth in Miners' Scuffle

Georgetown, B.G.—Leslie Chilcott, young miner, has been sentenced to five years in prison after conviction for manslaughter. The charge arose from the death of William Jeffrey, fellow miner, who was bitten on the thumb during a scuffle with Chilcott.

REDUCE GRAIN ACREAGE

Moscow.—Encouraged by a bumper crop of grain last year—122,400,000 tons—the authorities have reduced the grain area for 1938, but will increase the area for hay and forage crops.

'ENGLISHMAN' ROBS ACTRESS ON STREET IN MONTMARTRE

Wife of Member of British Naval Family in Paris Hospital

SAYS BLOW TERRIFIC

Paris.—In a darkened ward in the British hospital here, Mrs. Joan Keppel, the actress wife of a member of the well-known naval family, told how early in the day in a Montmartre street she was struck down, badly injured, and robbed by a man who said he was "an Englishman on a visit to Paris."

Mrs. Keppel, suffering from a cracked rib, a deep cut over the right eye, severe bruises on the chest, and shock, was the second English woman to be attacked and robbed in Paris within five days.

"I met the man while I was having a sandwich in a bar in Montmartre," she said. "He apologized for speaking to me and explained that he felt lonely. He asked me where he could get something to eat, and I said I would show him.

"As we were walking along he suddenly turned on me and gave me a terrific blow over the eye. He kicked me, dragged my handbag from me and snatched a ring off my finger.

"The ring was given to me by my husband, Lester Keppel, and has on it the naval crown.

"I fell and was almost unconscious, but struggled to my feet. All this was going on in a brilliantly lit Montmartre street, in the centre of the night club quarter, where, of course, there were hundreds of English visitors.

"The man ran away, and another man, who was obviously an accomplice, flung my empty handbag in my face

TECHNICAL COLLEGE TRAVELS ON WHEELS

Vocational Training Is Brought to Rural Homes

Sydney, N.S.W.—The New South Wales department of education is building a travelling technical college in a railway coach.

The "school" will be used to instruct youths in rural districts, young men out of work, and persons in casual employment who want to qualify for more permanent jobs.

The train contains facilities for teaching motor mechanics, farm engineering, electrical engineering, Diesel engine mechanics and other skilled trades.

HEAD WINDS CAUSE AEROPLANE CRASH

Hard Going Depletes Supply of Petrol

Rome.—It is now learned that shortage of petrol caused the aeroplane, in which Signor Albertini and his three fellow Italians were attempting a new London-Capetown record, to crash in a military camp at Zuara, Tripoli.

Two African women and a child were killed. The fuel shortage was due to head winds across the Mediterranean.

German Girl Must Serve 60-Day Term

Aldershot.—A German girl who, according to the police, had made up her mind to acquire British nationality by marriage was sentenced at Aldershot to seven days' imprisonment with hard labor.

When her sentence is up she must leave the country.

Olga Perauer pleaded guilty to failing to report to the police within 48 hours of her arrival in the district.

"Her conduct," said the superintendent, "has given rise to some inquiry."

SHOWMEN SAVE FAMILIES

Run Gauntlet of Flames When Bristol Fair Ground is Wrecked

Bristol.—Running the gauntlet of flames which roared through roundabouts and side-shows, two showmen rescued their families when fire partly wrecked a fair ground at Bristol.

The men were Albert and Charles Heal. They had been awakened by the crackling sound of the fire.

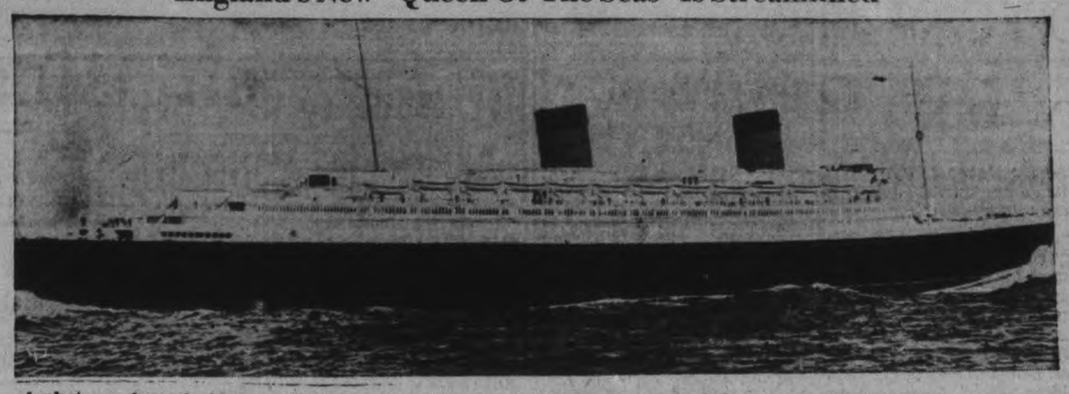
England's New "Queen Of The Seas" Is Streamlined



A photograph made from an 11-foot scale model of the 85,000-ton liner, Queen Elizabeth, which shows that there will be plenty of streamlining in the new vessel when it is launched at John Brown's shipyard, Sept. 27. Queen Elizabeth, after whom the vessel was named, will perform the christening ceremony. The vessel will have two pear-shaped funnels and two short masts. The bridge will be stepped back and streamlined. Between the bow and the bridge will be a streamlined breakwater to sweep water overboard. The bow is a semi-clipper design, slanting to the waterline.

LAKEFIELD

REV. JAMES SMITH RECEIVES HONORS

(Examiner Correspondence.)

LAKEIELD, May 19.—Dr. James Frazer Smith of Edmonton, Alberta, on whom Queen's University, Kingston conferred the degree of Doctor of Divinity, honors course, at the spring convocation in Grant Hall, Kingston. Dr. Smith is the father of Dr. Jas. Cameron Smith of Lakefield.

Dr. Smith (Senior) graduated from Queen's University, Kingston in Arts and Theology in 1887 and in 1888—just fifty years ago—received the degree M.D., C.M. (medical doctor and master of surgery) from the Medical Faculty of Queen's.

That same year Dr. Smith left for Honan, China, where in the capacity of medical missionary, he pioneered with Dr. Jonathan Goforth. After service in India, as well as in China, Dr. Smith retired because of poor health.

Since retiring he has taken a post-graduate course at the University of Edinburgh in Scotland.

About twelve years ago, Dr. Smith revisited his former fields in China and Indian and spent about a year among the people there and thus he was able to get a good knowledge of the differences between the China of his day and the China of today.

On his return he started work on the story of his life, and in November 1937, a delightful book entitled "Life's Waking Part" was published by Thomas Nelson and Sons of Toronto.

"Life's Waking Part" is the story of the doctor's life and work as written by himself. It is written in a most engaging manner and is "not merely a story of missionary enterprise, but a thrilling record of human experience and adventure."

Favorable Review

Hector Charlesworth in 'The Toronto Saturday Night" gave a fine review of the book shortly after it apeared, as did critics in the Globe and Mail and the Toronto Daily Star Book Review columns. "The Queen's Monthly" also speaks highly of Dr. Smith's work. Rev. Hugh A. McLeod of Edmonton referring to "Life's Waking Past" said: "I have been fascinated by the story. Here is an epic quality about the narrative which intrigues the lover of exploits. . . The book delivers missionary activities from the dullness which, strangely enough, has often surrounded the telling of one of the world's greatest stories."

There were two honorary degrees granted by Queen's at the spring convocation and Dr. Smith was one of those so honored. Lewis William Douglas, the newly-appointed principal of McGill University was the other.

At a dinner held for Dr. Smith and Dr. Douglas, the following telegram from graduates in Alberta was read by Principal Wallace: "Dr. R. C. Wallace, Principal Queen's University, Kingston.

"Graduates in Alberta gratified that Dr. Frazer Smith is receiving an honorary degree Friday convocation. Queen's is maintaining a notable tradition in singling out for distinction those like Dr. Smith who have rendered outstanding service to the cause of humanity.

'Teacup Gun' Rips Holes In Pipe Miles Under Ground

Gadget Comes Within Eighth Of An Inch Each Shot 5,300 Feet Down Oil Well

TULSA, May 19 (AP)—A warld record in marksmanship was claimed today by the light artillery of the oil fields, the queer "teacup guns" which shoot at unseen targets miles underground.

The score was six shots, all striking within one-eighth of an inch of the target 5,300 feet underground in an Oklahoma City oil well.

The target was an oil well pipe, or casing, whose operator wished it perforated at certain exact depths. The perforated pipe was shown here today at the International Petroleum Exposition.

This is strictly a peace time artillery, but its fire is done with remote control and one of its gun units looks like a motorized army outfit.

The gun is steel, painted black, about 10 feet long and four to six inches thick. Its ends are tapered. It has neither breech nor muzzle. In a row down its side, like immense buttons on a thin man, are the shining steel "teacups."

There are eight to 10. They are shaped like teacups and set deep into the gun barrel, their tops flush with its sides. These teacups are the real guns. Each contains one shot, a hardened solid steel projectile about half an inch in diameter.

Penetrates 2 Inches of Steel

Although the teacup is only three or four inches deep it shoots through nearly two inches of hard steel. On a small scale it has the penetrating power of a 20-foot long naval gun.

This gun is carried on a steel-hooded truck. Under the hood is housed the control room and the firing mechanism.

This mechanism is an instrument board facing a coil of steel cables two miles long wound on a huge drum in the rear of the truck. The operator backs his truck to some distance from the well. The gun is hooked to the cable and hung in the pipe at the mouth. The operator starts the drum unwinding.

His problem is to shoot holes through the steel pipe in the well at specified depths. The holes are carefully placed. Sometimes as many as 10 are needed within a single foot of piping. Again they may be 30 feet to half a mile apart.

From his control board the gunner can fire any one of the vertical row of teacup guns. When he has placed one of these teacups at the exact level, he signals the crew at the well mouth. They reply "ready." The gunner presses another button connected with an electric wire and the teacup fires down the well.

Strep Blood Donor Gets New Call

BRANTFORD, Ont., May 19 (CP)—Brantford's noted blood donor Ernest Vansickle, who recovered from streptococcus viridans, received another call for his services today on behalf of a victim of the deadly disease, this time in Philadelphia.

After an urgent call from a Philadelphia physician, Dr. Strugis, Vansickle prepared to leave tonight for Philadelphia. Victims of the disease are treated successfully only by a transfusion of blood from one who has already recovered from it.

The last sufferer to whom Vansickle gave a transfusion, in Rochester, N.Y., has been discharged as cured.

REVERSE POLICIES HON. EARL ROWE ADVISES LIBERALS

CORNWALL, Ont., May 19.—(CP).—Reversal of Federal Government policies to those in force when the Liberal administration took office in 1935 would put Canada "on a sounder basis" and result in a revenue increase of $800,000,000 annually, according to Hon. Earl Rowe, leader of the Ontario Conservative Party.

The present government is not dealing effectively with the day's problems, Mr. Rowe, Member of Parliament for Dufferin-Simcoe, told the Eastern Ontario Liberal-Conservative Association here yesterday. Its main task should be to maintain the Dominion's integrity, he said, adding: "We must see how far that government will go in permitting provinces to repudiate their honest debts and obligations."

The party leader was accorded a unanimous vote of confidence by the Association which elected James W. York of Ottawa president by a vote of 65 to 64 over George R. Webb, Gananoque. Mr. York succeeded John F. Sowards, who held office for seven years. The meeting also expressed confidence in Leopold Macaulay, Member of the Legislature for York South, as party leader in the Assembly.

Salvador reports it has no unemployed.

CHAPTER 40.

During the autumn and winter, Barbara had crossed town several times to the North river, to wave to someone who was sailing. The thrill of a sailing had never diminished. The smell of the salt, the flowers and fruit baskets that porters were lugging to the ship, the Western Union and Postal Telegraph boys hurrying in their uniforms, the people, gay or sad, who had come to sail or bid someone farewell — all were part of a pageantry that could be enacted every day and never lose its interest.

Yet, on a March day when the sun shone clear and cold and bright, and the wind blew with merriment in its wide tossings, she felt strangely like an outsider looking at the show, rather than a participant. She was going away. For only a month, an inner voice whispered. For longer, much, much longer, another voice answered.

That second voice puzzled her. It was so persistent.

She was glad when the taxicab came to the pier and she could give her attention to having her bags taken to the ship. Natalie and Julia Metcalf, to whom she had said good-bye at tea the day before, had promised to look in on her before the boat left. Ray Lipton had a host of gay friends who would be down because Ray was going away for a long time.

She was talking to Jack when she saw a familiar figure coming down the lounge. Garry. Garry had come to see her off. She took a step forward and her eyes met the steady blue ones of the man who was coming with swift, firm stride. Then she remembered that he might be coming to say good-bye to Ray, not to her. Remembered, too, that Wenda had entered his life again. With the memory she flung her head higher. When Garry reached her, she was gay and impersonal as she held out her hand.

"It was sweet of you to come, Garry. Isn't it glorious that I'm going to London?"

The sophisticated purple hat added aloofness to her face and shadowed her eyes. The soft woollen suit, whose color resembled crumpled violets, was svelte and lovely and oddly different than the blues and greens and greys which Garry remembered.

"It's marvellous, Barbara," he answered. "I wish I were crossing too. I'd like to show you London."

"It would be fun," this new, nonchalant voice answered. "But Ray has promised to do that before he tears off to Paris and the Spanish wars."

She must not cry! She must not let her voice falter! Garry must never, never know that she stood in the lounge of the ship and memorized his eyes, his chin, his nose forever. Memorized the features that were so deeply engraved in her mind.

She had given him her heart. He might not want it, but it was hers no longer. She was saying a long good-bye and somewhere, deep within, she was crying as she said it. Except, Garry did not know that the good-bye was the last milepost on the road of friendship—and for a while the road of love—that they had shared. While she was away she would conquer the tumult that he produced.

Yet, in this moment of long farewell, she was acutely aware that there were words which Garry wanted to say to her, away from other ears. Always and forever she was going to know when he wished to speak to her, she murmured miserably. Perhaps he wanted to explain the return of Wenda. She did not wish to hear. It was enough that Wenda had coma egain.

So Barbara was very gay, gayer than Garry ever remembered having seen her. There was something almost metallic in her laughter and her voice, as though the Barbara he had known had moved out and left a substitute whose sweetness was a little dimmed.

When Garry waved at her from the dock, as the liner began to leave the pier, he thought that he saw a small white handkerchief make a frantic dab at her eyes. The next moment that handkerchief was being waved gaily. He was a colossal fool—Barbara did not mind going away from him. And why should she? She was taking the same boat that Ray Lipton had chosen. Ray had liked her from the first. Oh, he, Garry Page, was the biggest idiot in Manhattan, and he should not have come to the boat!

He hadn't known, though, that Ray, too, was sailing that morning or that there would be such fanfare and drums. Last night, when he had called Natalie to find out where Barbara was, he had been told that she had left there not 20 minutes before. Natalie, though, did not know the boat on which she was sailing. He had called half a dozen hotels before he had given up.

Well, he might as well leave. The boat was turning toward the river. He didn't quite know what to do now.

Barbara did not go below when the boat swung away from the pier. She was glad that Ray left her to herself. She stood at the rail watching a tall figure which waved a grey hat, until that figure became indistinct and blurred. She did not move as the boat entered the bay, passed the Statue of Liberty, and headed for the open ea. Gulls, soaring above the bright green water, hesitated and began to drift back to shore. The wall of tall buildings became part of the past. The wind was cold and the sun was veiled. At last she decided that she would go in.

There were flowers and fruit and candy in the arms of the stewards she passed. Gift that had been sent to the boat were being taken around. She expected nothing, beyond the gifts that her friends had brought. A knock on the door, followed by a steward with a great white box, surprised her. She opened it, wondering if her letter to Ruth and Peter had reached them in time to let them wire flowers. There were yellow roses in the slim box—a couple of dozen of them, fresh and cold and dew-sprinkled in their bed of ferns. The card had just one name on it—Garry.

Oh, why had he done this? True he had meant to be kind, but the yellow roses were bringing back memories. Nights when he had bought the same flowers for her, at a florist's as he came across town, and she had placed them in the copper bowls and the blue vases. Sunny Saturday afternoons when he had stopped a flower vendor and bought her a handful for her coat collar. Across the miles of sea that were lengthening between the city she had left and the ship, her spirit went crying. If she had been on hand, she would have gone swiftly to the telephone and he would have come. Somehow, she knew in that moment with a crystal clarity as though she peered through a magic ball, that he would have come!

But he was far away. Even now he had met Wenda—. She must not think of him again.

Oddly enough, when her heart was so heavy within her, the days passed fairly rapidly. She smiled at times because one could give one's heart away, yet carry the weight of it along forever. There were deck games, long walks around the deck, tea in the lounge, dancing in the ballroom when her black skirt with its green-colored velvet bows whirled softly to the music, and hours and hours when she sat in her chair and pretended to read but watched the waves rising higher and higher.

Ray quietly respected her desire for silence at those times and did not come near. A pretty debutante and a college sophomore had been attracted by the glamo rof his newspaper assignments. He was off to the wars and his would be a Page One byline. Besides, he was young and merry and handsome, and there were not many young men on the ship.

Dusk was blowing over the ocean the last afternoon out when Ray sought her. He dropped into the chair by hers.

"Cold?" he asked.

"No." She smiled back. She was wearing her fur coat and the rug was wrapped around her securely.

His eyes studied her face for a moment. Then he, too, watched the blending of the sea and sky.

When he spoke his voice was low and studied and trod carefully. "Barbara, if it isnt any of my business—and it probably isn't—tell me, does Garry matter to you any more?"

Barbara had gathered poise and peace these days on the sea, so, when she answered her voice was quite calm: "No, Ray, thats all over for always. Garry and I just made the mistake of thinking we loved each other once. That's all."

For Trim Slim Lines Try Low-Calory Diet

Follow Easy, Healthful Program

"Sakes alive, I'm FAT!" cries Mrs. Plump.

Right away she grabs a calory chart. "Limit calories to 1,200 a day; lose 2 pounds a week"—that's her slogan now.

But you won't catch Mrs. Plump fussing with special dishes, or starving on the sidelines while others eat. Our sketch shows how smoothly she adapts her slimming regime to a typical family dinner.

By taking clear, instead of cream of (tomato soup, substituting zwieback for bread, and leaving whipped cream off her dessert, she saves 360 calories right there.

Pep-building salads are an important item on Mrs. Plump's reducing diet, but she avoids fattening dressings. She knows that 1 tablespoon of mayonnaise made with salad or olive oil has as many calories (100) as 2 cups with mineral oil.

Reduce in the healthful low-calory way. Our 32-page booklet gives 3-day liquid diet, complete reducing menus for 2 weeks, calory chart. Recipes for low-calory desserts. How to gain.

DOG GETS OWNER $90

GORE BAY, Ont., May 19—(CP)—Ranger, a collie dog, is a hero today and his master, William Campbell of Barrie Island, is $90 richer. Campbell heard a noise in the field and found the dog battling with a female wolf. The wolf escaped but Campbell found its den with nine little wolf cubs. He collected the bounty. Ranger is a hero because wolves have been threatening many sheep and chickens.

DOROTHY DIX

The Man Who Spends Everything He Makes Is a Wastrel and Is Doing an Injustice to His Family by Not Laying Aside Something for the "Rainy Day"

Dear Miss Dix—I am married and have three small children. My husband and I are very congenial and happy except for one thing, and our point of disagreement is about money. He makes a fair salary and provides well for us, but he will not put away anything for the future. He spends what he makes. Lends money freely that is seldom repaid. I am sure we could save something if only he would do so. This worries me a great deal, for we have an expensive future with children to educate. Also, if he should die and I were left with three children I would have nothing but a small insurance policy and I would have to go out and try to earn a living for them myself, which I am totally unprepared. What shall I do? Shall I stop worrying about the money proposition? Or shall I constantly nag my husband about trying to prepare for the future? MARTHA.

Answer:

I think that people who do not try to lay up something for the future are not only lacking in intelligence, but they are dishonest. There are two facts in life that no one can ignore. One is that rainy days are bound to come to us all. Sickness. Hard times. Bad business. Loss of position. A thousand misfortunes that are bad enough at best, but that are made a thousand fold worse if we have no money saved up to tide us over them.

And, finally, unless we die, there inevitably comes old age, when our earning power is gone and when, unless we have provided against it, we have to know the bitterness of dependence, and, as the old proverb, "How steep are another man's stairs." These things being true, how criminally foolish and stupid is the man who does not provide an umbrella for his rainy day when he has the opportunity to do so.

The second fact that stares us in the face is that the man who spends everything he makes as he goes along, indulging his tastes and denying himself nothing, is nothing better than a theif, because in the end he robs other people of the money that they have sweatd for and sacrifice to save. They haven't had good times. They haven't feasted and made merry. They have done without the things they wanted and the good times they would have enjoyed. Then Good Time Charlie comes along, after having spent all of his money, and they have to support him.

They have to pay his doctors' bills when he gets sick. They have to support him when he can't work. They have to educate his children. They have to take him into their homes when he gets old. And it isn't fair. It is nothing but robbery. It is stealing just as much as it would be to take csome one else's pocketbook.

But what Good Time Charlie's wife is going to do about it I don't know. If a man is not forward enough looking himself to see the necessity for providing for the future it is because he deliberately shuts his eyes to what he does not want to see.

If he befools himself into thinking that he cannot die or be stricken down with some disease that will make him helpless, or that he cannot lose his job, or that the depression cannot hit him, then he is a moron with whom it is hopeless to argue. If he cares so little for his wife and his children that he does not even try to protect them against being thrown penniless on a world that is hard on widows and children, then no appeal to his affections will have effect.

The wife's nagging will get her nowhere. It will only make quarrels that will alienate her husband from her. All that she can do is to try to turn his spending mania to some good purpose by getting him to go in debt for real estate or good securities on which he has to pay every month. And even that isn't a very hopeful prospect, because Good Time Charlie would always rather throw a party than put the money in the savings bank.

Dear Dorothy Dix—What chance has a marriage of success that has this set-up? The girl has always been babied by her mother. She married against her mother's will and the mother disapproves of the husband and refuses to receive him in her home. She will not recognize any good qualities in the husband and predicts a terrible future if her daughter continues to live with him. The husband feels that his mothr-in-law is trying to undermine his wife's affections for him and he objects to her seeing her mother. Is the husband justified in this? Should the girl give up trying to make the marriage a success, since there is no hope of giving in on either side and it is making her a nervous wreck? She's self-supporting.

Answer:

I do not think there is any chance of such a marriage being a success unless the girl's mother and her husband are willing to compose their feud and quit tearing her to pieces between them.

Presumably they think they love the girl and yet, in order to indulge their own passion and prejudice and jealousy, they are willing to wreck her happiness. They are not giving a thought to what is best for her, or her rights in the matter, or what she wants to do. Selfishness can go no further.

If the mother really loved her daughter she would accept the son-in-law and try to be friends with him just for the girl's sake, and if the man really loved his wife he would adopt the same concilliatory attitude toward his mother-in-law. Both realize that the girl loved each of them in a different way an dthat she could not be happy giving up either one of them.

Dear Dorothy Dix—Do men prefer a girl who openly shows that she likes and admires them or one who feigns indifference? PUZZLED.

Answer:

If Dear Lady Disdain was ever popular with the men that day has passed. According to tradition, men used to be intrigued by girls who flouted them, but the modern man wants to be petted and admired and made much of. He wants to be chased a bit, provided the girl doesn't do it too openly. He wants a girl to be willing, but not too willing. And that is natural enough, for we all like those who like us, and we think none have such good taste as those who admire us. DOROTHY DIX.

THE EXAMINER FASHION SERVICE

If you are size 14 or 46, you can wear this smart new cotton print shirt type frock. It has the soft look from the waistline up, that's so enviably becoming. The buttoned-down-the-front closing, gives a long line, that's flattering to everyone. The flaring skirt accentuates a tiny waist and has a marvellously slimming effect for the mature figure. A rayon sheer in grey with white chalk stripes is terribly attractive for town and summer week-end vacations. With same pattern, you can make a house coat with full flared skirt. You'll like the cool vee neck, especially if you make it of any of the gay popular cottons in solid colors or in peasant striped print with multicolored flowers, dotted Swiss, chiffon, dotted voile print, etc. The small price to make both the dress and the house coat, won't strain your clothes allowance.

Style No. 3391 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18, 20 years, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 ,42, 44 and 46-inches bust.

UNCLE WIGGILY'S DISCOVERY

"Help! Help! Help!"

These were the cries heard by the nature science class Uncle Wiggily had gathered in the woods near his hollow stump bungalow one day. He had told them how policemen's clubsc are made from the thorny locust tree. He has asked where Chattie Chipmunk was, not seeing her, when, all of a sudden, came cries for help.

"That's Chattie Chipmunk, I'm sure it is," said Uncle Wiggily looking up into the leafy trees whose branches made a roof for the outdoor school of natural science.

"But I can't see her," said Jen Wren, one of the rabbit gentleman's secretaries who, in calling the roll, had missed Chattie.

"Help! Help! Help!" was called again. "Please get me down, Uncle Wiggily.

"But I can't see you," said the rabbit gentleman. "If I could only see you I would help you."

Not Late

"Shall I mark Chattie late for class?" asked Jen Wren.

"No," answered Uncle Wiggily with a side twinkle of his pink nose. "She is here and yet she isn't here; at least I cannot see her. But do not mark her absent or tardy. What in the world could have happened to Chattie to put her up over our heads where she seems to be? If I could only discover her—"

"Unkie Wig. Unkie Wig!" all of a sudden exclaimed Baby Bunty, the orphan rabbit, very much excited.

"Yes, Bunty, what is it?" asked Mr. Longears.

"When Columbus discovered America he had a telescope or spy glass, didn't he, Unkie Wig? Isn't that how he looked and saw it?"

"Not quite right, Baby Bunty," said Uncle Wiggily, the nature science teacher. "Columbus had no telescope though he did discover a new land But that was in 1492 and telescopes were not made so they could not be used until after 1600. But telescopes are useful for seeing things that are far off and making them appear nearer."

"It's a funny name," said Buster to whom many things were queer. But then he was a boy rabbit.

"Telescope is a Greek word," said Uncle Wiggily. "Or, rather is two Greek words made into one, 'tele' meaning far off and 'scope' to look or see."

Sees Her

"If you could see chattie, up there wherever she is, you could help her, couldn't you, Unkie Wig?" asked Bunty.

"Yes, my dear. I could."

"Then I'll hop back to the bungalow and get your telescope or spy glass," offered the orphan rabbit.

"That's so. I have a spy glass," said Uncle Wiggily.

"Help! Help! Help!" again cried the undiscovered Chattie.

"We must hurry," said Mr. Longears. "Here!" he called to his secretary birds, Ray Robin and Jen Wren. "You two can fly swiftly. Please go get my telescope and I will discover Chattie."

The birds flew to the bungalow. Nurse Jane tied a strong grass string to the spy glass and Jen and Ray carried it between them to Uncle Wiggily and the nature class beneath the trees.

"Ha! Now I see Chattie," shouted Uncle Wiggily, looking through the telescope. "But she doesn't seem at all like herself. Anyhow I have discovered her and now to help her."

All of a sudden there was a big wind began blowing in the trees. Out of one tree sailed a boy's kite and now all the animal children could see poor Chattie tangled in the kite and being blown away. They called for Uncle Wiggily to save her.

"I will!" said the rabbit gentleman bravely.

And if the clothes pin will drum a march on the dishpan for the knife and fork to dance, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily saving Chattie.

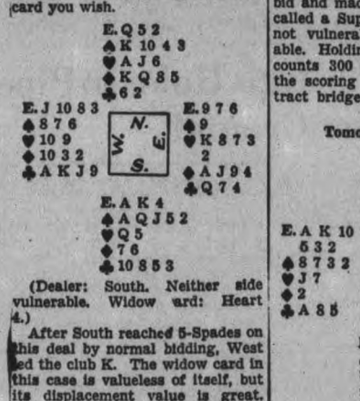
"The Authority on Authorities"

FIVE-SUIT BRIDGE

IF YOU ARE about to tackle the new game for the first time, be forewarned that you will find it cumbersome to deal the larger deck, go through the longer bidding which frequently develops, hold 16 cards if your fingers are short, and spend the extra time for 16 tricks instead of 13. But also be prepared for some delightful problems in decking where to place the face-up last card dealt, known as the widow. After the opening lead, you may put it in either your hand or dummy, discarding whatever card you wish.



(Dealer: South. Neither side vulnerable. Widow card: Heart 4.)

After South reached 5-Spades on this deal by normal bidding, West led the club K. The widow card in this case is valueless of itself, but its displacement value is great. By putting it in the dummy and discarding the club 2, South makes his contract certain, as even with a bad break he can lose only one trick in clubs, one in diamonds and one in hearts.

In Five-Suit, there are 16 tricks to a deal. Book is eight tricks, and odd-tricks scored below the line are all tricks beyond the first eight you take. Thus one-odd means nine tricks, three-odd means 11, and so on.

Game is 120 points below the line. From a scoreless position, this requires six-odd in clubs or diamonds, which count 20 a trick; five-odd in hearts or spades, which count 25; four-odd in the new suit, "Eagles", which count 30, or three-odd in no trumps, counting 40 a trick. Six bid and made is called a Small Slam with a bonus of 500 not vulnerable, 750 vulnerable. Seven bid and made is called a Grand Slam, paying 1,000 not vulnerable, 1,500 vulnerable. Eight bid and made, or all the tricks, is called a Super Slam, paying 1,500 not vulnerable and 2,000 vulnerable. Holding five aces in one hand counts 300 honors. Otherwise all the scoring is as in regular contract bridge, also the usual rules.

Tomorrow's Problem

At Five-Suit Bridge, if South bids 1-Heart, West 1-Eagle, North 2-Diamonds and East 2-Spades on the first round of bidding, what player or players should be considering the value of the widow card, the diamond A, when bidding?

WOMEN'S WORK AND INTERESTS

Gelatine Works Magic In Making Of Salads

The magic that gelatine works turning liquids into solids—drinks into foods—is always a trick for which I am grateful.

Many are the times fruit juices have become dessert when supplies and ideas were low and gelatine has been the magician.

And what is more important a reader says, "Your salad suggestions of a few weeks ago were simply grand, and I am wondering if you would enlarge upon the salad course by giving some of the jellied variety. If it is not asking too much I would appreciate a recipe for individual jellied veal moulds." Well, now, Kay M. how do you like these:

Jellied Veal Moulds

Two tablespoons granulated gelatine, 3 cups hot veal broth (or canned consomme or chicken broth), 1 cup cooked peas and chopped raw celery mixed, ⅓ cup cold water, ¾ teaspoon salt, 2 cups diced veal, 1 tablespoon each chopped pimiento and green pepper. Soak the gelatin in cold water 5 minutes. Add heated broth and stir until gelatine is dissolved, add salt and chill. Pour a thin layer of this mixture into cold wet mould (or individual moulds) and let it stiffen slightly. Add some of the vegetables and veal, more jelly, etc. continuing until all ingredients are used. Chill until firm, unmould on bed of lettuce and garnish with parsley or watercress and pass mayonnaise when serving.

NOTE: Of course you can see that that recipe can be changed about to use chicken or veal (or ham) and other vegetables such as diced cooked carrots or cooked green beans or asparagus could replace the peas and celery.

Last year we gave you

Oscars Mould of Vegetable Aspic

but it is such a perfect product all readers should have this second chance to file it.

Two cups water, 1 teaspoon salt, speck of black pepper, ¾ cup vinegar (or lemon juice if you prefer it), 1 bouillon cube (oxo or bovril), 1 medium sized onion, 1¾ tablespoons gelatine, 2 tablespoons cold water—and mixed cooked vegetables—little 1½-inch lengths of asparagus, green beans, carrots (all cooked) and peas, and slivers of pimiento for decoration. Add the seasonings and vinegar and thinly sliced onion to the water, cover and cook for about 10 minutes slowly. Then strain and to the 2-cup liquid that remain (make this up with water if necessary) add the bouillon cube and gelatin which has been soaked in the 2 tablespoons cold water. Stir until gelatine dissolves. Into individual moulds pour ¼-inch of this mixture, then add about 8 peas—let set. Fill mould half full of jelly mixture then arrange vertically and alternately asparagus tips, carrot strips, and string beans. Put aside until firm, and finally add enough of the jelly to fill mould and chill again. Turn out in centre of luncheon plate, surround with ring of mayonnaise at base and put a larger ring of overlapping rings of unpeeled cucumber and carrot as a garnish and accompaniment. Little sprigs of parsley may garnish this base.

Moulded Salmon and Cucumber Salad

One pound can of red salmon (or flaked cold boiled salmon), ½ tablespoon salt, 1½ tablespoons sugar, ½ tablespoon flour, 1 teaspoon mustard, few grains cayenne, yolks 2 eggs, 1½ tablespoons melted butter, ¾ cup milk, ¼ cup vinegar, ½ tablespoon granulated gelatine, 2 tablespoons cold water, diced cucumber. Remove salmon from can, drain and flake it. Mix dry ingredients, add egg yolks, butter, milk, and vinegar. Cook over boiling water, stirring constantly until mixture thickens. Add gelatine soaked in cold water. Strain and add to salmon and let cool, then add 1 cup diced fresh cucumber and pour into individual damp moulds and chill. Serve turned out on watercress, and garnish with sticks of cucumber and pass mayonnaise.

In the above recipe shrimps or tuna may be used in place of salmon, and celery in place of the cucumber.

We were taught to make Perfection Salad as our introduction to moulded salads in school and the shredded cabbage and olive combination have always been a favorite with me.

Perfection Salad

One tablespoon gelatine, 2 tablespoons cold water, 1 cup boiling water, 2 tablespoons sugar, 1½ teaspoons salt, dash of pepper, ¾ cup canned pineapple juice, ⅓ cup vinegar, 1 cup shredded cabbage, ¾ cup diced celery, 1 tablespoon chopped green pepper, ¼ cup chopped stuffed or ripe olives, lettuce mayonnaise. Soften gelatine in cold water, 5 minutes, add boiling water and stir until gelatin is dissolved. Add sugar, ½ teaspoon salt, pepper and pineapple juice and chill. Add vinegar and remaining salt to vegetables and olives. When gelatine has thickened slightly, fold in vegetables. Turn into individual moulds and chill. Unmould on crisp lettuce or slender endive and garnish with fancy cut strips of beets or slices of hard cooked egg. This makes six generous salads.

A new wrinkle for the good old standby Tomato Jelly Salad is to pour half of the mix while hot onto moistened flat pan. When it sets, place sliced hard cooked eggs, one inch apart all over the surface, and cover these with the remaining tomato jelly and let chill. When ready to serve cut into 3-inch squares, place on lettuce, and top with generous mound of fresh whole milk cottage cheese. This is very pretty garnished with watercress.

You should have this in your files all ready, but for those who have neglected it Big-hearted Mary gives:

Tomato Jelly

To one 2½ can of tomatoes, add 1 teaspoon each salt and powdered sugar, 1 slice onion, 4 cloves, ¼ leaf of bay, and let simmer for 10 minutes. In the meantime soak 1½ tablespoons gelatine in 3 tablespoons cold water, and when done strain hot tomatoes over gelatine and stir until gelatine is dissolved.

It is now ready to mould. Another suggestion you might like is to place whole sardines in the centre of the tomato jelly—this is very pretty when done in a ring mould.

Girls Must Know Their Apple Pie In New Training

OTTAWA, May 19—(CP). — Do you know how to clean piano keys? How to make a good pastry? The different methods of coffee-making? The silverware, cutlery, dishes and crystal necessary to set a table for breakfast, formal luncheon, and dinner?

These are just a few of the qualifications taught young women at the Ottawa Home Service Training Centre, where the Dominion-Provincial Youth Training program has shown remarkable achievements in turning out capable household assistants since its organization in January.

Five written examinations are given the girls during their 12-weeks training. Two questions on department, two on laundry and household duties, and two on cooking are set by the members of the household staff for each examination. "Trainees" failing to obtain the required pass mark of 70 are given oral reviews by the girls passing with highest marks before secondary trials.

These tests determine the ability of the girl and ratings are registered on her preliminary graduate certificate for information of her future employer.

The centre is responsible for the care and training of the girls during their sojourn there. They are placed in good homes at the end of the training and after three months' actual service outside the centre a report is made and, if satisfactory, each girl is presented with a graduation pin.

Adding to qualifications in domestic duties, sewing tests at a local machine company give the girls an additional standard. They are also well versed in emergency nursing, passing the St. John's Ambulance Association tests.

Some Pointed Exams.

Interesting to an outsider are the examination queries presented to the girls. Following are a few questions asked showing the wide ground covered by the short-period course:

How do you clean piano keys?

How do you clean combs and brushes?

How do you clean mirrors and pictures?

Give in detail your method of making and baking a two-crust apple pie. How would you address a lady calling? How a gentleman calling? How do you record a message? What is your approach to a guest? How do you direct him or her?

Give four precautions which must be taken in preparing a salad. When buying coffee, how can you be sure it is fresh? In what quantity should you purchase coffee? Why? What care should it receive in the home? List four methods of making coffee in the home. Give the general proportion of coffee to water. How do you make iced coffee?

Presbyterial Officers Hold Congress In City

A very successful event in the history of Peterborough Presbyterial was the congress of officers, held Wednesday afternoon in George Street United Church Sunday School rooms.

Presiding over the opening service of worship, the president, Mrs. W. H. Morton, was assisted by Mrs. Allan Pilling, of St. Andrew's Auxiliary, who read the Scripture lesson from the Psalms, and Mrs. F. B. Elliott, of St. James', who offered prayer.

A large representative delegation was in attendance, and entered heartily into the discussions of the various groups, which gathered under their respective Presbyterial leaders.

Many knotty problems were discussed and solved, and a better understanding of the work came to each Auxiliary official.

Conference Officers.

The meeting was graced by the presence of four officers representing the Bay of Quinte Conference Branch. These included the 1st vice-president, Mrs. A. I. Brown; the secretary of Christian Stewardship, Mrs. H. Morrison, Lindsay; the corresponding secretary, Mrs. J. Bradbury, and the Mission Circle secretary, Mrs. E. Mesley, each of whom contributed from her wider experience to the discussion groups.

When all were reassembled in the Sunday School auditorium, the findings of each group were presented by the leading officer, as follows: For the presidents, Mrs. W. H. Morton; vice-presidents, Mrs. Howard Clegg; for corresponding secretaries, Mrs. R. C. Hanbidge; for recording secretaries, Mrs. B. W. McClennan; for treasurers, Mrs. Wm. Zeihr; Christian stewardship and finance, Mrs. C. L. Brown; community friendship, Mrs. W. E. Packenham; Mission Bands, Miss Helen Bannister; Baby Bands, Mrs. H. Alton; associate helpers, Mrs. B. W. Tucker; literature, Mrs. Wm. Stevens; missionary monthly, Mrs. A. E. Metcalfe; temperance, and Christian citizenship, Mrs. J. H. Rowe; supply, Mrs. H. Rehill; press, Mrs. E. J. Wagar.

Greetings Expressed.

The branch officers brought words of greeting and prayer was offered by Mrs. H. Morrison. A few moments of silent prayer for our missionary, Miss Marion Coon, prefaced the closing prayer offered by Mrs. A. I. Brown.

Tea was served by the ladies of the entertaining auxiliaries, and the visitors made welcome in a social hour, after which their sincere thanks were voiced by Mrs. W. W. Yale and Mrs. Hugh Robb, and thoroughly endorsed by everyone present.

During the afternoon a sale of home cooking and hand-made articles was in progress under the auspices of the George Street United Societies, and was well patronized.

This first officers' conference for Peterborough Presbyterial of the W.M.S. was a decided success from every standpoint and it is hoped will become an annual affair.

There's No Need To Have Measles

WASHINGTON, May 19 — (CP). —That old wives' tale, that it is better to let the children have diseases like chicken pox and measles and "get them over with early" is due to be shot full of holes. The children's bureau took the occasion of Child Health Day, May 1, to do it. No child under four, says Dr. Marian Crane of the bureau staff, should have any of the "children's diseases."

While the pesky little "bugs" that produce dipththeria have been backed 'way into the corner in the last ten year sor so, other little bugs—like those of measles, mumps, whooping cough—are doing well, thank you. Swat the fly, and keep the screens up. Swat mosquitoes and other biting insects. They transmit some diseases by biting sick people and then biting healthy ones. When summer gets here, make the youngsters wear some kind of shoes or sandals. Bare-footed children can pick up certain germs through cuts or bruises on their feet.

★THE COLUMBIA ICEFIELD

From Jasper Park Lodge, in the heart of the Canadian Rockies, this stupendous glacial area is but a short motor drive along a spectacular newly-opened road.

Remnant of the Glacial Age—heretofore accessible only by pack train—the Columbia Icefield is a spectacular mass of ice and snow—source of those mighty rivers, the Columbia, Saskatchewan and Athabaska. Below towering Snow Dome, and set in a huge amphitheatre of snow-capped peaks, is the easily-reached Athabaska Glacier, one massive part of the great icefield.

Seven Nurses Graduate From St. Joseph's In Beautiful Ceremony

A large audience, including many prominent men and women of the city and district, attended the Graduation Exercises of St. Joseph's Hospital, Wednesday afternoon in the Collegiate Auditorium, when seven nurses received their diplomas and medals from the hands of the Rev. J. J. O'Brien.

Smiling and radiant in their crisp white uniforms and carrying their bouquets of roses, the graduating class for this year includes the Misses Jacqueline Gordon, Gananoque; Lois McCarthy, Keene; Veronica O'Leary, Indian River; Mary Scollard, Peterborough; Josephine O'Loughlin, Lindsay; Irene Raymond, Cobourg; and Irene Cavanagh, Ennismore. The young women, having successfully completed their training and about to cross the threshold into their professional life, received numerous public congratulations and expressions of goodwill from distinguished members of the audience, and later from many friends and relatives.

As chairman, Dr. E. M. Crough made appropriate opening remarks, congratulating the class, and taking the opportunity to pay tribute to the medical staff and the Sisters of St. Joseph's "who have guided that institution for the past fifty years."

The graduates were congratulated and wished future success by His Excellency the Most Rev. Denis O'Connor, Bishop of Peterborough. "These annual exercises give an opportunity to offer tribute of recognition to the hospital and the sisters for their work, and it is well too that this day in your lives should be marked by public ceremony, giving you an opportunity to share with others your gladness," said His Excellency.

Hon G. N. Gordon, K.C., representing His Worship Mayor Hamilton, who was out of town, offered congratulations, and expressed wishes for happiness, contentment and confidence, quoting twelve golden rules to follow for their attainment.

Read Valedictory.

The valedictory address, read by Miss Irene Cavanagh, expressed the sentiments of the graduates and their appreciation to their spiritual superiors and directors, and to their instructors, the doctors and Sister nurses of St. Joseph's. Worded with simple beauty, the valedictory eloquently compared the nursing school and graduation to Nature's growth and blossom time, the metaphor seeming particularly appropriate amid the profusion of apple blossoms, roses and other flowers that were banked on the stage. "Solemnly do we pledge ourselves to continue to cherish our trees of Nursing Experience so they may bear fruit in abundance for suffering humanity of every race and creed" ran the beautiful wording which closed with a note of sadness in saying farewell.

The diplomas and medals were presented by Father O'Brien, and several special prizes by Dr. H. M. Yelland, president of the medical staff. These were received by Irene Cavanagh, for highest standard in theory, donated by the medical staff; Jacqueline Gordon, for general proficiency, donated by the St. Joseph's Alumnae Association; and by Veronica O'Leary, for loyalty to the nursing school, donated by James Lynch. Other special prizes included: For highest standard in practical nursing—Senior class, donated by the Mother Superior of St. Joseph's, was won by Margaret McAuliffe; intermediate class, donated by Dr. W. S. Fitzpatrick, won by Joan McMurray; junior class, donated by Dr. Herbert Young, and won by Ruth Henderson.

Education Goes On.

The final address of the afternoon, delivered by Dr. G. S. Cameron, contained a number of suggestions for the graduates, concerning the various avenues open to different talents in the nursing profession of today. In congratulating the nurses, the doctor reminded them: "You have successfully completed three years of the work you have set out to do in life, three years are completed, but your education goes on." For those unsuited to home nursing, the oldest, and at one time the only form, the speaker recommended to the consideration of the class, such opportunities as are offered in the different departments of public health nursing, Red Cross, etc., and for which post-graduate training may be taken.

A program of entertainment was heard at intervals during the afternoon, and included a beautifully sung solo by Olga Westbye; a violin solo by Ruth Fisher; piano solo by Frances Wells, and an amusing recitation by June Graham, quaintly attired as an old lady. Miss Marion Best was accompanist for the musical numbers. A reception and dance was held for the graduates last evening in the Collegiate gymnasium.

Graduating Class of St. Joseph's Hospital

"The clouds I feared and worried about, and concerning which I wasted so much precious strength, lost their frown and revealed themselves as my friends. Other clouds never arrived—they were purely imaginary, or they melted away before they reached my threshold."—J. H. Jowett.

Dear Friends:

The other day one of my friends said to me, "Roberta, you have such faith. Faith in God, which I wish I had, and faith in yourself, which I lack so badly. I wish I could learn and have it."

And so I spent an hour telling her how my faith had to be renewed every day. That my belief in myself was not the big thing she thought it was, and that many times I hated to make decisions, especially if it involved any unpleasantness.

You don't just acquire faith and then it stays with you all the time. You see your faith justified in some things, and in other things you feel as if you were out on a limb, not knowing when it would break and let you down, and so you have to learn all over again.

You do what you think is the right thing, and often get more blame than praise for doing it, so that you begin to wonder if it were so very right after all, and if so why cannot others see it too. You show another in words how you have faith in God even although all looks dark to you, hoping they also will get this faith, only to find out that they expect you to use yours for them, then blame you for lack of results.

Every day there are new problems to be solved, and only one key to all these problems, so that you have trouble fitting the key to the lock, you have to file here, or fill in there, so that you begin to wonder if you will ever truly learn this business of living right.

Faith in God does not come to us full flowered, nor like a big tree. It comes as a seed, and must be tended carefully from the winds of doubt, the storms of fear from within and without. It must be shielded from adverse criticism, and covered from icy indifference, so you see that it must have attention every day if it is to live.

The belief in yourself can be knocked into a cocked hat by some careless words of another, by jealousy and belittling, by rough handling and selfish demands. You must constantly remind yourself that this life was given to you, as theirs was given to them, and that each one is responsible to God for that life whether wasted or successful.

And how can you be sure that you are right in what you are doing? You do not want to be old-fashioned, you want to meet people on equal ground, for if you live too much in the past, how are you going to know anything about present conditions. If you live altogether in the present, how can you blend both past and present into a livable life?

So that, every day is a battle ground in which you must fight, else you go around with the bitter taste of defeat in your mouth. It is very easy to agree all the time with others, they may like you for doing so, but do you like yourself when you do it?

When decisions must be made involving others, when you know they will not be pleased about it, all you have to fall back on for support is your own principle. We say of one we do not trust, "He lacks principle, or he is unprincipled," and it means that his inner core is twisted or rotten, so that he does what he wants for himself, no matter who suffers.

So, you must abide by your principles. They say, "Virtue is its own reward," but if, due to some virtue you have practiced someone you care for is annoyed with you, sometimes it seems a cold reward.

And so, if someone's faith in God and themselves seem marvellous to you, don't forget the struggle they undergo to hold this faith. Do not think it is as easy as it looks, nor that doubt does not poke its old head up to dishearten them. More later. Your Friend, ROBERTA.

"Here shall the Press the People's rights maintain,
Unawed by influence and unbribed by gain;
Here Patriot Truth her glorious precepts draw,
Pledged to Religion, Liberty, and Law." —Joseph Story.
(Motto of the Salem Register.)

Dear Friends:

This week I had a letter from a lady who signed herself "Mrs. Dee," in which she commented on one of my articles, and said she recognized the person I was writing about, as it fitted them to a T. She went on to ask if I would write another article about a woman she knew, and this is to tell you "Mrs. Dee" I will not do it.

If you want to tell your friend something along these lines go ahead and do it yourself, don't expect me to do your dirty work for you. Too many people want to use our Peterborough Examiner to try and get back at someone else.

This is neither the policy of The Peterborough Examiner, nor of Roberta, neither is it the policy of any reputable newspaper. I know there have been weekly papers (they call them tabloids in the U.S.A.) which printed nasty things about people, but it never got inside my home, and I have yet to see any good they did for anyone.

Everything I write is from my own experiences, so none who read it need think I am hitting at one particular person. Wouldn't that be a rotten thing to do, knowing the one I was hitting at could not hit back?

So, if you happen to see something that fits you, or fits some experience you have had, just remember we all have some similar ones as we go through life. And I have travelled far, and met many people, so that I know human nature pretty well.

I remember one day a lady telephoned and said gleefully, "Boy was I glad when I read what you wrote last night. I know the man you were writing about, he goes to such and such church." I told her she was utterly mistaken, I did not know the man, had never spoken to him, nor had I even seen him.

She seemed slightly disappointed, but laughed with me at her mistake. Believe it or not, I was told five times by different people after that, making six in all, that each one knew the man I wrote of. He went to six different churches, was there every Sunday, so he must have used wings to get around them all.

At first it was amusing, but afterwards it became annoying. Each one was so sure they were right, so let down when they found they were wrong. They could not understand there could be more than one with the same attributes. But human nature is human nature the world over, and we all have some of the same faults, some of the same manners, and this that I write might fit one in some respects, yet be utterly wrong in others.

So, when you read my stuff, don't jump so quick to conclusions that it may be this one or that. I have enough experiences to last me for articles the rest of my life, and God is continually sending me more.

In fact I am amazed myself at the ideas that flood my brain in the early morning, and that is when I write, but the credit goes to God who sends them to me. All I know is that I want to help you all to a fuller happier life.

I want you to get all the happiness, all the joy you can. To avoid some of the mistakes, and many of the pitfalls. To get along with one another with the least possible friction, and to master the thing that holds so many of us back, and that is fear.

But never under any circumstance will I hit at any of you through my column. I am not a woman like that. I will write along certain lines for those who request it, but I will not be a cat's paw for any one. So, hoping I have explained this fully, and that the same mistake will not be made again. I still remain,
Your Friend,
ROBERTA.

Janetville Play Decided Success

(Examiner Correspondence.)

JANETVILLE, May 19.—Despite the fact is was Friday, the 13th, the three-act farce entitled "His Uncle's Niece" which was presented by the Dramatic Club of the Presbyterian Church in the C.O.F. hall, was a decided success.

Rev. W. H. V. Walker, pastor of the church, extended a hearty welcome to the large gathering and introduced the cast as follows:

Richard Tate, a rising young lawyer, Grier Earle; Francis Felton, the cause of the trouble, Percy Hamilton; Dora Hale, very much attached the cause, Miss Ione Porter; Alice Malcolm, a girl friend, Miss Connie Earle; Simon Felton, the uncle, Leonard McNeil; Philander Pilmore, Jack Walker; Timothy Haye, gardener, Omer Capstick; Silas Sicklemore, constable, Hildon Johnston.

The play was a riot of fun from start to finish, each playing his or her part exceptionally well. Especially to be commended was the role of the niece, played by Percy Hamilton, principal of South Janetville school.

Congratulations were showered upon the members of the cast and their directress, Mrs. H. Johnston, on the outstanding performance.

The hall was well filled with a most appreciative audience and the proceeds were most gratifying.

Music between acts was rendered by Messrs. H. Wilson and W. Fitze, accompanied by Mrs. P. Hamilton and Miss Doreen Dunn was heard in two or three delightful vocal numbers, accompanied by Mrs. R. Armstrong.

Mrs. W. Herridge Buried at Coast

VANCOUVER, May 19.—(CP). — Mrs. W. D. Herridge, a leader among Canadian women, who died in New York last Thursday, was buried yesterday in Mountain View cemetery after hundreds had paid her tribute in St. Andrew's Wesley United church.

Federal, Provincial and Civic government officials attended the services which were followed by a lengthy funeral procession through residential Vancouver. The wife of Canada's former Minister to the United States, and sister of Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett, Federal Conservative leader, was laid to rest beside the grave of a sister, Mrs. Evelyn Coats.

Hundreds were unable to gain admittance to the church, where floral tributes from all parts of the Dominion rested and where Mr. Bennett, former Prime Minister of Canada, wept beside his sister's coffin. Mr. Herridge stood motionless nearby.

Rev. Willard Brewing paid tribute to Mrs. Herridge as a woman who left her mark on the domestic and public life of society.

"During the difficult days of the Great War, Mrs. Herridge made this city her home and in that period gave unstintedly her contribution to those services of encouragement and healing which so distinguished the womanhood of Canada."

Rev. Peter Bryce, Toronto, Moderator of the United Church of Canada, read the prayer.

Westwood W.I. To Give Prizes At School Fair

WESTWOOD, May 19.—The first meeting of the new year of Westwood Women's Institute was held on Tuesday afternoon in the town hall with the new president, Mrs. James Clysdale, conducting the meeting and the new secretary-treasurer, Miss Mary Barrie, in charge of the books. Three new members paid joining fees and Miss Barrie reported cash on hand to be $14.

It was decided to give prizes at the Westwood school fair of $2 each, to the boy and girl obtaining the higest mark in English composition at the High school Entrance examinations. A special prize of $2 will also be awarded the winner of the best pair of hand knitted men's socks, knit from 2-ply yarn, at the Norwood Exhibition. Contestants must be Institute members of East Peterborough district.

The feature of the meeting was a very intelligent address on "The Flag" by Mrs. Alex Brown of Hastings, who illustrated her talk with miniature flags.

Mrs. T. A. Walsh of Hastings, gave a unique demonstration of her own wardrobe in infancy, made by her mother.

A bird contest sponsored by Mrs. A. Wood, was won by Miss Irene Kidd. Prizes for attendance during 1937-1938 were awarded: Mrs. S. Graham, Mrs. W. Morris, Miss Edith Bray and Miss Mary Barrie.

District Annual May 27.

The corresponding secretary, Mrs. A. Wood, read letters of thanks from two Institute members for flowers received. Splendid current events were read by Miss Edna Clysdale. The report of the district executive meeting held at Lakefield was brought by Mrs. G. Elmhurst, who gave an outline of the program of the district annual to be held at Havelock on May 27.

Votes were taken to ascertain the feeling of this branch with regard to a local leader or a speaker service for this summer, the final decision to be made at the district annual when all Institutes of the district meet. A local leader proved most popular here, with the following choices of courses: 1, slip covers: 2, meat cookery; 3, care of clothing; 4, uses of whole wheat.

In case a speaker service is decided upon at the district annual, the courses favored were: 1, canning of meat and uses of canned meat; 2, house furnishings; 3 emergencies in the home; 4, local historical research.

Misses Edith Bray and Edna Clysdale, delegates to the girls' conference at Guelph, gave interesting reports of their visit there.

An interesting demonstration, "The Milky Way" was ably presented by Misses Kathleen Cameron and Irene Kidd.

The June meeting will be a special open evening meeting with a business session at 7.30 and an illustrated lecture at 8 o'clock by Leo Copp and an address on Reforestation by Mr. Patterson. The public are cordially invited.

At the close of the meeting dainty refreshments were served by the group of which Miss Marie Seaborn is convenor.

The Rhubarb Conserve I promised you is really a dandy—we made it ourselves this week—after not having had it for four years—and we are glad to recommend it highly.

Rhubard Conserve
(Containing Pineapple, too)

Three cups chopped rhubarb, 1 orange, ¼ lb. blanched almonds, 1 large pineapple, 1 lemon, 5 cups sugar. To the chopped rhubarb add the pineapple also chopped, the juice and rind of the lemon and orange, the sugar and the almonds. Place in a kettle and simmer gently for 1 hour, then pour into clean, hot, sterilized glasses and seal. Of course the almonds may be omitted but give this its fine touch..

The following recipe for Rhubarb Relish is practical for those housewives who have Rhubarb on hand in their gardens or whose pickle shelf is empty and needs refilling without too much cost.

Rhubarb Relish

Three quarts finely-chopped unpeeled rhubarb (12 cups), 3 onions put through grinder with 3 cups celery, 1 green pepper. Mix all these chopped or ground vegetables and to them add 1 cup brown sugar and 1/3 cup salt, 1 oz. mustard seed and 1½ pints best vinegar scalded. Mix well, stirr over low heat to boiling point and simmer 10 minutes and pour into sterile jars and seal.

With the Girl Guides

On Friday last a very enjoyable evening was spent when all companies Pack's met in St. John's to celebrate Mother's night. The program opened with a few remarks by the District Captain, Mrs. Whalon, and a poem to "Our Mothers" by Nora Whalon, which was her own composition. The Brownies put on a scene from Snow White. The Seven Dwarfs in their quaint costumes and cotton batten beards created much amusement; each company contributed items of singing, tap dancing, etc. and some amusing sketches.

A Brownie and guide enrolment was held when Amy Curtis, Jean McDonald and Lenore Simmonds made their promises. Guide service stars and proficiency badges were awarded, also pins and warrants to the following guides: Lieutenant G. Bridcott, Lieutenant H. Houghton, Lieutenant N. Stewart, Brown Owl (Mrs.) H. White, Tawny Owl, I. Houghton, Tawny Owl, D. Grady.

New 1st class pins for coat sleeve (for guiders only) were presented to Mrs. Whalon and Irene Houghton. A new International Souvenir pin has been issued by H. Q. to be given to friends of guiding, and Mrs. B. Ottewell, the badge secretary for a number of years, received one from First Company.

Joyce Bridcott read an address from the Brownies, and presented Mrs. Whalon with a beautiful bouquet of carnations, she was also presented with two others.

At the close of the program, refreshments were served in the ladies parlour.

There will be church parade on Sunday at 11 o'clock, St. John's, be on time, full uniform. This is for Brownies and Guides. Don't forget Cookie Day, Saturday 21, and remember, there is a good prize. Make this the most successful Cookie Day yet. Please try to have uniforms by May 31. Only those in uniform will be permitted to parade for the Governor General.

2nd Company attended the services on Tuesday at Sacred Heart, and acted as hostess's to the Lindsay Company, who also attended. The Scouts from Sacred Heart were responsible for the arrangements, we were glad to assist, and enjoyed the opportunity of a 'get-together."

Reception and Dance for Graduates

Two hundred and fifty guests attended the reception and dance which was held last night in the gymnasium of the Collegiate for the graduating class of St. Joseph's Hospital.

Receiving the guests were Lois McCarthy, Jacqueline Gordon, Irene Cavanagh, Irene Raymond, Josephine O'Loughlin, Mary Scollard and Veronica O'Leary, all members of the 1938 graduating class.

The tables were lovely with graceful bouquets of carnations and snapdragons in high silver baskets; lighted yellow tapers in silver candlesticks brought out the gleam of silver services.

D'Arcy Carter's orchestra supplied the music for eager dancing feet, which were celebrating the climax to three years of strenuous work and study.

Patrons and patronesses for the dance were Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Corkery, Dr. F. P. and Mrs. McNulty, Dr. F. C. and Mrs. Neal, Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Overend, Dr. W. S. and Mrs. Fitzpatrick, Dr. M. J. and Mrs. Roche, Mr. and Mrs. James Lynch.

Mrs. LaPlante was general convenor, assisted by Mrs. H. Crowley and a number of the nurses.

May Day Tea Ladies Aid Society

MILLBROOK, May 19.—An enjoyable and well-patronized event of Tuesday afternoon, from three to six o'clock, was the 'May Day Tea,' held at the home of Mrs. J. R. Eakins, under the auspices of Group 2, of the Ladies' Aid of Grace Presbyterian church, Mrs. R. J. McKnight convenor.

The door was opened by Mrs. (Rev.) H. R. Williams, and Mrs. A. S. Hall was at the cashier's table in the hall. The hostess, Mrs. Eakins, received in the living room, and was assited by Mrs. H. A. Kerr, who ushered the guests into the dining-room for tea. The home was lovely, as well as fragrant, with spring blossoms tastefully arranged throughout the large rooms, white lilacs, tulips in varying shades, daffodils, jonquils, and narcissus emphasizing the appropriate May Day atmosphere.

The tea table was covered with an ecru lace cloth, and centred with a silver basket of daffodils and tulips; the color scheme was further carried out in the tall golden candles burning in silver holders, and pouring tea, at either end of the table, which had a trailing vine of smilax about its edge, were Mrs. Elizabeth Armstrong, and Mrs. H. Jones.

Assisting with the service, and helping in other ways with the tea were Mrs. (Dr.) J. W. Wright, Misses Ruth Thorndyke and Gladys Coyte, Mrs. R. J. McKnight, and Mrs. H. C. Lord.

Halstead—McMillan

ROSENEATH, May 19.—A quiet wedding was solemnized at the Roseneath United Church Parsonage, by Rev. L. W. Scott on Saturday, at 8.30 p.m., when Lavigne Maud McMillan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Milton McMillan, became the bride of William Stewart Halstead, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Halstead, all of Roseneath.

The bride looked charming gowned in navy blue embroidered sheer, blue hat, shoes, gloves and bag, and grey coat. Miss Alma Thackeray, Roseneath, was bridesmaid. She wore blue and white sheer. Jack Arbor, Roseneath, was best man.

Following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Halstead left to spend a honeymoon at Detroit and Howell, Michigan.

Simpson—Colling

TWEED, May 19—The wedding took place in Talara, Peru, Tuesday morning of Helen Elizabeth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Colling of Bancroft, and Mr. Hugh John Simpson, son of Mrs. Simpson of Sarnia and the late Mr. Hugh Simpson of Petrolia. The marriage was held at the home of Captain Thomas D. Kelly and Mrs. Kelly and the bride was attended by Miss Margaret Thompson of Toronto. Mr. Hugo Holland, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Holland, Sarnia, attended the bridegroom as groomsman. The bride wore a travelling costume of beige rough tweed, with rosebud accessories and a corsage of orchids.

Following the wedding breakfast, Mr. and Mrs. Simpson left by motor for Plata, and sailed on the S.S. Rena del Pacifico for Panama and the West Indies. They will stay at Bermuda for a week and will arrive in Montreal early in June

Flowers Trim Small Girls' Bonnets
Hats for Young Follow Adult Styling

Little Juanita Quigley wears a spring bonnet of beige straw with poke brim, forget-me-not trim and dark blue ties.

By LISBETH

IT'S A TRITE saying that when a woman is low-spirited she can snap out of it by buying a new hat.

Buying a new and becoming hat always does raise one's spirits, I admit. But what a thrill is a new bonnet to the wee girl? Do you remember your own emotions when it happened to you? I do. Small girls, like their mothers and big sisters, very often go hatless these modern days. But that does not mean that they do not possess, or want to possess, smart chapeaux.

Little ladies follow their elders in hat trends, too, as you can see by looking at little Juanite Quigley, baby screen star, who is "all dressed up" in a pretty bonnet of beige straw with poke brim and some perky forget-me-nots under the edge. Dark blue ribbon ties this becoming hat under the little lady's chin and encircles the slightly raised crown.

Ensembles For Children.

The ensemble idea is as strong in children's fashions this year as it is for adults. And just as much style and interest, as well as sophistication, must go into the designing of these clothes as for those of grown-ups.

This ensemble idea is carried out in their play clothes as well as in their dress ones.

There are beach coats, boleros or jackets to accompany play suits, and often bonnets or beanies or other types of headgear as well.

The girdle is also as popular a type of frock for the little girl as it is for her elders. It is shown with square neck and buttons down the front; or with round neck and slide or button closing down the back. Very often these little frocks are shown with matching scarf, cap or bonnet.

Even the laced girdle is reproduced in play clothes for children. Skirts are full over shorts or snug romper panties. And the gayest of prints are used—with horses, cabins, mountains and trees, etc., in bright colors.

Pottery colors are favorites with the youngsters, too; and it is said that the more extreme the color and design the better liked these gay clothes are.

Council Addressed By Miss R. Young

The May meeting of the Local Council of Women was held in the Green Room at the Y.W.C.A. Wednesday afternoon, the date being changed from the usual Thursday afternoon meeting day.

A splendid attendance of members was presided over by Mrs. C. S. Thompson, 1st vice-president, following a new procedure in the Local Council, by which vice-presidentsw ill preside at a number of the meetings during the year. During the business period, Mrs. C. M. Scott, president, introduced and welcomed to the Council, representatives of the local Hadassah, latest Society to become affiliated with the Council, which now has a membership of 42. Thanks were expressed to the convenors and all who assisted in making a success of the Spring tea held the last week of April.

Miss Rachael Young, superintendent of the Children's Aid Society, was the guest speaker of the afternoon, and brought to her audience intimate and most instructive glympses of her work with the children. The efforts of the Society to know and understand its charges, and solve for them their problems, were discussed by the speaker, who emphasized the public's responsibility in this regard also.

Splendid reports were brought to the meeting by two convenors. Mrs. M. T. Breckenridge, Convenor of Laws for Women and Children, gave suggestions for the prevention of girls and children being on the streets at night. As convenor of Public Health, D. Agnes Moffat read the report of Dr. G. Murray Fraser, M.O.H. on the methods employed in dealing with the recent Scarlet Fever epidemic. It was announced that some suggestions may be presented to the public by the Medical Board at a later date. D. Moffat bringing some ideas of her own to the meeting regarding methods of presenting instruction in proper diet for families with small budgets.

Two vocal solos by Mrs. A. H. Radford, were much enjoyed. Accompanying herself, Mrs. Radford sang, 'Come Out My Deers" and "If You Are Asking".

Many Federal Jobs Filled by Women

WASHINGTON, May 19 (AP)—The United States government hires women nowadays to do everything from feeding mice to inspecting submarines and keeping lighthouses.

The civil service commission in a report today described marked progress for women in government jobs since 1867, when a contemporary writer indicated that for a woman to take federal post was like going to the poorhouse.

Among the unusual government positions now held by women, the report listed irrigation engineer, Blacksmith's helper, senior airplane mechanic, surveyor's Rodman-Chainman and "Stockman of Technical Stores, Bolts and Nuts."

More than 250 women rural mail carriers travel many miles daily by horseback or automobile in sparsely settled regions.

DISINTEGRATION FACING DOMINION MEIGHEN WARNS

OTTAWA, May 19—(CP)—Senators today will resume consideration of the government's relief bill after hearing a warning from Opposition Leader Meighen that Canada "is right on the edge of a crisis and the crisis means disintegration."

Speaking in the debate yesterday the former Conservative Prime Minister declared that if some of the money used for relief was applied to decreasing taxation on properties new construction would be made possible and municipal responsibility for relief could be maintained.

But even if that was done there would still be helpless people on the Prairies because a threat overshadowed them and no one would lend money there.

"What that threat is we all know," said Mr. Meighen. "Repudiation is rampant—and it is centred in Edmonton." For years Canada has been "off the track" on the whole principle of disallowing laws. Something had to be done to hold Canada together.

"If one part of the country can say 'we are going to live off another part, we are going to cast aside all obligations to the rest of the world, because it is popular, because a large number of people are going to live by it,' do you think civilization can survive on that basis?"

Mr. Meighen said the remedy was not to adhere to the principle that because a law was constitutional it could not be disallowed. The sheet anchor of Dominion authority must be preserved.

Calder Critical

The Senate also heard criticism of the proceeding of the Rowell Commission on Dominion-Provincial affairs from Senator James Calder (Con. Regina). He deplored the appearance before the Commission of "politicians who strive to get the fullest political advantage" from the situation.

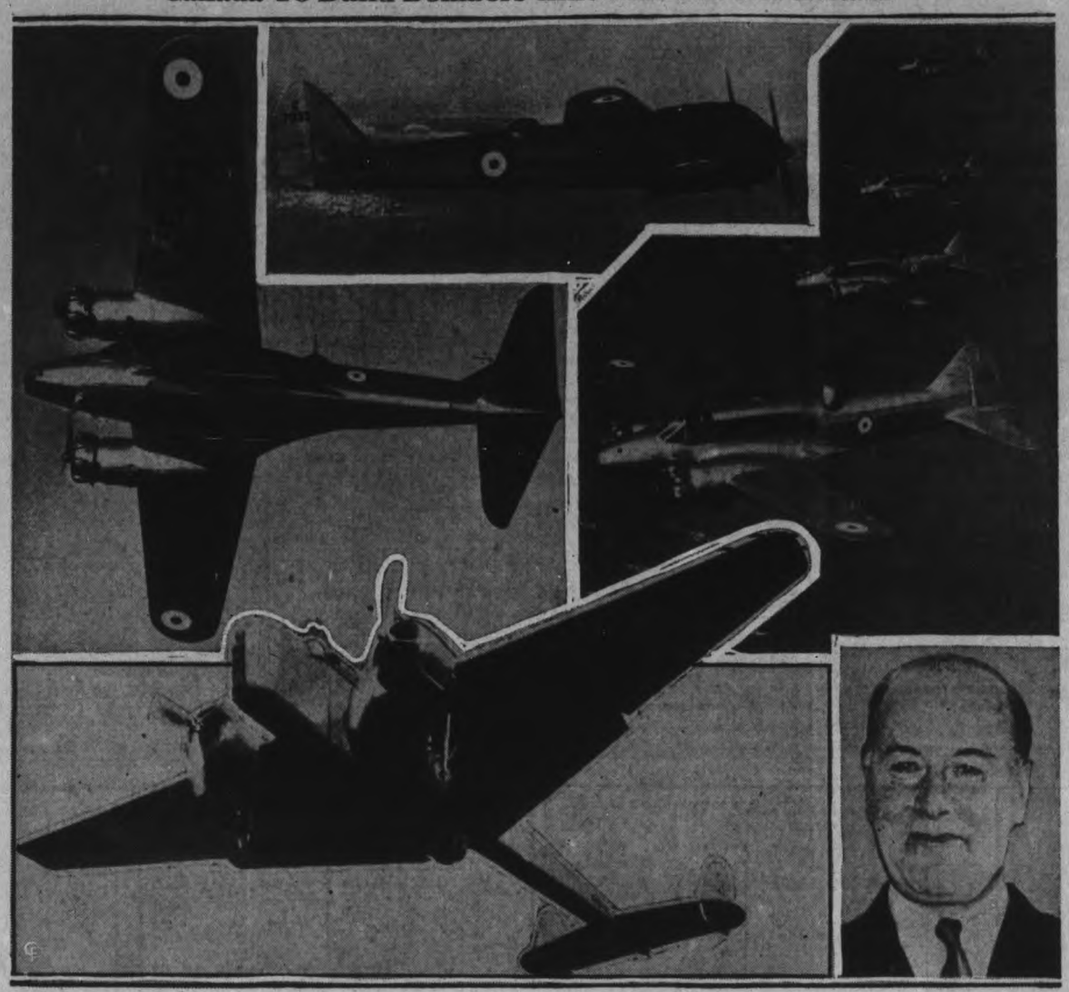
Senator Calder said the idea underlying the Commission was good. But he doubted it should have been appointed. The provinces competed in their demands before the Commission. If there was a desire to effect a change in the scheme of Confederation it should have been done in closed conference where all cards could have been laid on the table.

Employment would have been provided in Alberta for the construction industry if "confidence in the province had not been destroyed," Senator W. A. Buchanan (Lib. Lethbridge) said.

"With provincial legislation we created a situation that means a person in Alberta with some money won't invest in his own province and the person outside Alberta can't," he said. Homes that were needed in both rural and urban Alberta could not be built because money could not be borrowed.

The Lethbridge Senator suggested stimulation on the tourist industry by building of roads in the Rocky Mountains should be a policy of the government in spending relief funds.

Canada To Build Bombers Like This One For Britain



With Britain's furious drive for a larger air force already over taxing production, Canadian industry stands an excellent chance to secure contracts for the construction of heavy long-range bombers, as soon as the air mission, now in Ottawa, headed by Comm. J. G. Weir, INSET, has made its report to the British air ministry. Investigation of American production possibilites is believed to have revealed that prior private and government orders, plus the likelihood of neutrality entanglements in the event of war, ruled out the republic as a source of supply. Some of the heavy bomber types now being added to the R.A.F. are shown ABOVE. Top LEFT is a big Avro machine, and, Below, one of the heavily armed Handley bombers. Top CENTRE is the Bristol Blenheim, considered the most advanced machine among British bombing airplanes. At RIGHT a group of the airplanes are photographed during a trial flight. In the event of construction in Canada, patent rights now held by the British air ministry would be granted to Canadian manufacturers.

Life Of Pasteur Told To Group

(Examiner Correspondence.)

CAMPBELLFORD, May 19. — The regular meeting of the Salvation Army Youth Group was in charge of the Literary convenor, Miss Beatrice Pickering. An interesting program was presented following the opening devotional period for which Mrs. Captain Sharp presided.

The first was a reading on the Life of Lewis Pasteur given by James Clark, and Harry Bensinger then gave a number of interesting bits from newspaper clippings. Miss Betty Bennett gave a brief sketch of the Life of Sir John A. MacDonald, and Donald Haig followed with a poem. Following several interesting contests the meeting was brought to a close.

W. H. Senior and son-in-law, Edward Piotrowski, of Buffalo, N.Y., are spending a few days with W. I. Stillman, Front Street.

Miss Jessie Linn is spending a few days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Linn, Seymour Township.

SEED PRIZES OFFERED

FREDERICTON — (CP). — The New Brunswick Department of Agriculture, in co-operation with the Dominion Seed Branch, is again conducting seed grain competitions this year and will distribute about $1,500 in prize money.

Diplomas Presented Campbellford Pupils

(Examiner Correspondence.)

CAMPBELLFORD, May 19. — Eighteen members of St. John's Sunday School were presented with first-year diplomas and an additional thirty-six received second-year seals at the regular church service held on Sunday morning last. The Robert Raikes diplomas are presented to each of the pupils having a perfect record of attendance throughout the year. The seals placed on diplomas indicate a second year's accomplishment of perfect attendance.

Owing to lack of supplies some twenty-five diplomas and seals will be awarded next Sunday to others having a regular attendance at the Sunday School.

Those receiving first-year rakes diplomas were: Marion Bell, Thomas Fox, Joyce Scott, Eileen Simpson, Beatrice Post, Shirley Davidson, Nan Ingram, Helen Weston, Patricia Ironside, Paul Bennett, Douglas Robertson, George Parcel, Robert Parcel, June Ames, Jack Kimball, Jack Simpson, Ann Whittunx.

KEENE

A fair crowd attended an amusing and well-acted play entitled "Aunt Abbey Answers an Ad," presented by the Young People of Trinity Church, Peterborough, for the benefit of the Keene Girls' Softball Club. The crowd were entertained between acts by little Joan Fletcher, tap dancing and singing "Mickey Mouse's Birthday Party." Mr. Jack Flaeger sang "When the Mighty Organ Played Oh Promise Me," and "A Sailboat in the Moonlight." The Misses Ruth Brown, Dorothy Ferguson and Agnes Weir, in costume, sang "In the Shade of the Old Apple Tree." Concluded with all singing God Save the King.

Mrs. F. Driscoll of Peterborough has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. Ambrose Doris, during the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. George O'Brien were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Doris.

DEAFENED BY TWIG

SPRINGFIELD, N.S. — (CP). — Clarence Allen became deaf when his ear was injured by a twig. He turned around suddenly and the twig pierced the ear-drum.

JANETVILLE

OTTAWA SPEAKER TO ADDRESS W.I.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

JANETVILLE, May 19.—The May meeting of the local branch of the Women's Institute was held in the club rooms on the community park last week.

The minutes and correspondence were read by the secretary, Mrs. M. Armstrong. The latter included a letter of appreciation from Miss Evelyn Campbell for fruit received during illness. Following a communication from Mrs. Halliday of Brooklin $1.00 was voted to be paid to the convention area fund. Mrs. Halliday reported that the annual convention would be held in the Royal York hotel in Toronto in November.

Mrs. W. Campbell, treasurer, reported the receipts of the year to be $87.08, with a balance on hand of $30.86.

The convenor of the Flower committee, Mrs. Albert Heaslip, stated the total receipts of the year were $26.000, with a balance on hand of $7.47.

The president announced that the district annual convention would be held at Islay on June 22. Arrangements for transportation to this very much anticipated event were left over until next meeting.

Mrs. Oswald McGill invited the branch directors to meet at her home on Tuesday evening when the program for the year will be made out.

It was decided to have a three-day short course on "Meal Planning" in August, with "Home Utilization of Wool" as an alternative.

Mrs. Suggett, local leader of the "Vegetable Product," read a letter from Miss Gertrude Grey of the Department, announcing a "Summary Day" in Lindsay on May 26 when, during the afternoon at an open meeting Mr. Rush, a vegetable expert of Ottawa, will be the special speaker.

The following numbers comprised the program: Community singing; reading, "Mother," Mrs. W. Hanna; chorus, "The Maple Leaf Forever"; humorous reading, Mrs. Oswald McGill; reading, "Mother's Day," Mrs. B. McMullen.

At ths time a very interesting demonstration was given by Mrs. James Howe on making marshmallow candy.

At the close of the meeting afternoon tea was served by Mrs. T. McMullen and her group, and afterward the mashmallows were served as a special treat.

BIBLE RETURNED

BEAUMONT, N.B.—(CP). — Mrs. Florence O'Rourke lost her son in the Great War in 1917. Now, 21 years later, she has received the Bible she gave him before he went overseas. It was picked up from a battlefield by another soldier, and, among the latter's effects when he died, was sent to Mrs. O'Rourke.

8 Brantford Mohawks In War Regalia Take $50,000 In Silver To U.S.

Buffalo, N.Y., May 19 (AP) HISTORIC silver communion vessels, insured for $50,000, arrived here from Canada under heavy guard yesterday during the celebration of the 101st anniversary of the Episcopal Diocese of Western New York. Royal Canadian Mounted Police escorted eight Indians in full war regalia who brought the silver service from the Mohawk Institute at Brantford, Ont. Two battered brown suitcases in which the service was packed were delivered at the international peace bridge to an armored car crew.

The silver was sent to Mohawks in the United States in 1712 by Queen Anne of England and was taken to Brantford by Chief Joseph Brant after the Revolutionary War. It will be on display here during the church celebration.

Degrees Conferred At Apsley Lodge

(Examiner Correspondence.)

APSLEY, May 19—Orangemen to the number of more than twenty-five from Peterborough, Nassau and Lakefield visited the Apsley Lodge on Saturday evening and conducted the initiation of a new member, as well as the advancement of two members to the third degree of the Order. The ceremonies were performed by County Master R. Darling, the District Master, W. Roseborough, and other members of the Order. An interesting feature of the evening was the presentation to the Apsley Lodge of the county sword for having attained first place amongst the lodges in Peterborough County for the greatest percentage of increase in membership for the year 1937, namely, 150 per cent., and a personal award of a set of the new rituals from the Deputy Grand Master for the lodge's record, which the W.M. suitably acknowledged and also expressed on behalf of the lodge, deep appreciation to the visiting brethren for their encouragement and support, and for coming such a distance to attend the meeting.

COUNTY U.F.O. PLANS TO FORM CO-OPERATIVE

Executive Is Instructed To Proceed With Plans for Canvassing.

Organization of a Farmers' Co-operative was proposed at the meeting of the Peterborough county branch of the U. F. O. in Paragon Hall last night, and the executive was instructed to proceed with preliminary plans for canvassing local sentiment to attract support for the projected commercial enterprise.

Earl Tully of Smith, president, was chairman of the meeting, and the main speaker was Harvey MacDougall, of Toronto, educational secretary of the United Farmers of Ontario. About sixty farmers, including a number of ladies, attended the meeting which was unanimously in favor of making a determined effort to establish a co-operative buying and selling business in affiliation with the provincial organization.

It is probable that the local executive will nominate a provisional board of directors, and hold meetings throughout the county to explain to farmers the principles of the co-operative movement for the purpose of enlisting a large membership. Election of the directors to complete organization will be the next step, probably followed by the engaging of whatever staff may be needed to put the enterprise in motion.

Get Capital First

"If the farmers of this district decide to form a Co-operative," Mr. MacDougall said, "I would suggest first that you obtain the capital you estimate to be necessary for making a start. I don't like to use the word fail in connection with this movement, but it would be better to fail at the outset, that is not to proceed

QUEBEC FASCISTS EXPEL TWO CHIEFS

MONTREAL, May 20.—(CP)—Two leaders of the Fascist party in Quebec were expelled from the group last night along with several other members. J. E. Lessard, head of the "intelligence committee," of plainclothes fascists, and Dr. J. G. Lambert, chief of the "contact committee," which seeks new members, said they were among those turned out.

Adrien Arcand, Quebec Fascist chief, signed an order for their expulsion which declared them guilty of "insubordination, infraction of the rules and insurrection against the structure of the party." His two lieuntenants said they had been expelled because they protested "against the supreme authority being vested in any one man, contrary to the constitution of the party."

They declared a dozen in all had been removed, but Arcand declared later the order affected only seven.

40 DIVISIONS TRAPPED

Japanese Army Headquarters South of Suchow, China, May 20.—(AP).— The General commanding the Japanese army which advanced from the south to capture strategic Suchow told this writer to-night that 40 Chinese divisions were surrounded in the Suchow area without a chance to escape.

Kneels In Prayer Dead 2 Months

Montreal, May 20 (CP)

KNEELING at her bedside in an attitude of prayer, Miss Jessie Albiana Hamilton, 65-year-old former railway clerk, was dead for more than two months prior to the discovery of her body today. Coroner's officials believed death due to natural causes.

Mail dating back to March 7 was found in the letter box at the woman's home, indicating she had died about that time, according to police. Her purse contained $135, and there were no signs of violence.

Contests Will

Cut off by his father's will with $100, Elisha Huson Waterman, ABOVE, son of the late Frank D. Waterman, fountain pen manufacturer, has commenced legal proceedings to have the will broken. Estranged from his father by his marriage to a Montreal girl in 1923, Elisha claims that, according to terms of a will left by his grandfather, he was entitled to his father's share of a $5,000,000 estate after his death.

NEXT MOVE DUCE'S SO PARIS DECIDES IN EUROPEAN GAME

PARIS, May 20 (AP).—France, relying on her close understanding with Great Britain, has put the question of a pact with Italy squarely up to Premier Mussolini.

Political informants made it clear today that negotiations, deadlocked since May 11, will have to be reopened by Italy.

France seemed to have found the formula she hoped would checkmate alleged Italian efforts to use the Spanish civil war as an excuse to break France's alliance with Russia.

French acceptance of a British plan for ending intervention in the Spanish war assured her of Britain's support. Should Mussolini refuse to negotiate an agreement with France on that basis, Britain could not hold France responsible.

At the same time, France apparently has saved herself from offending Russia, as the British plan calls for equal withdrawal of volunteers from both sides.

France would not be obligated completely to shut down her frontier—crux of Russian interest in sending aid to the Barcelona Government — until withdrawals under supervision of the international non-intervention committee are ready to start.

Britain, in the role of mediator, is endeavoring to restart the negotiations between Paris and Rome on that basis and is expected to call a meeting of the non-intervention committee next week.

CHINESE FLIERS DROP LEAFLETS OVER JAP CITIES

Crews Fly 2,500 Miles; Ask Nipponese Citizens To Rise, Oppose War

HANKOW, China, May 20 (AP).—The Chinese crews of two big bombing planes were given a triumphal welcome today when they returned from what Chinese aviation headquarters described as a flight over Western Japan in which leaflets were dropped instead of bombs.

The airmen were said to have covered 2,500 miles, the longest non-stop flight ever made by Chinese fliers. Their enthusiastic homecoming occurred at Hankow airdrome, which presumably was their point of departure. The leaflets urged the Japanese people to oppose the invasion of China.

Premier H. H. Kung and War Minister Ho Ying-Ching headed the delegation of Chinese leaders who greeted them on their return.

It was understood they visited principally the district containing Nagasaki, 470 miles from Shanghai, and Sasebo, the great naval base 40 miles to the north from which many of Japan's transports and warships put out for the China coast.

Missed Tokyo, Osaka.

Earlier reports the planes had flown over Tokyo and Osaka, respectively Japan's capital and industrial metropolis, were denied by Chinese officials.

However, motor trucks cruised Hankow streets flying banners inscribed "confusion over Tokyo and Osaka." Reports were current that the plane cruised 20 minutes over Osaka.

Premier Kung declared the flight "made Japan realize that it is possible for Chinese aircraft to reach her islands."

He continued, addressing the fliers:—

"You did not drop bombs, as the Japanese air force is doing in China, but dropped leaflets because China champions humanitarianism."

Chinese sources said the leaflets assured the Japanese populace the Chinese felt no enmity toward the Japanese people or the Japanese Imperial house, but hoped the Japanese people would rise and oppose the Japanese military domination which had led to the invasion of China.

(In Tokyo the war and navy ministries ridiculed the Chinese announcement of the flight. "If Chinese planes could reach Japan they would drop bombs, not leaflets," said a spokesman.)

LIBERAL WOMEN ASK EQUAL VOICE IN PARTY DOINGS

OTTAWA, May 20.—(CP).— The National Federation of Liberal Women, opening a two-day convention here to-day, at its first session prepared to demand a large voice for women in party affairs.

This keynote was sounded by Senator Cairine Wilson, Acting President, when she said women candidates were generally nominated by Canadian political parties in ridings in which they had little chance of success.

"It is difficult for women to obtain nominations and we are still asking that we be given an equal voice in the choice of candidates," she said.

The unanimous report of the Organization committee, convened by Mrs. J. A. Marshall, New Glasgow, N.S., said: "The committee recommends that women work for equal voice with men in the selection of candidates and all party organizations and deplore the fact that women are not given equal opportunity with the men to contest Liberal party nomination conventions."

The report was adopted.

300 Voices Present

Three hundred women from all parts of Canada were on hand for the discussions of the party's program and future and the place women will take in shaping them.

Women in all parts of Canada felt keenly the successive defeats Quebec women have suffered in their efforts to obtain the provincial franchise there, said Mrs Wilson. She advised her hearers to read the brief presented by the Royal Commission on Dominion-Provincial relations by the League for Women's Rights of the Province of Quebec.

"You will learn there the very serious discrimination against women due to their lack of the voting power, for it is almost impossible to interest the members of the Quebec Legislature in any reforms which they bring forward," she said.

"It seems necessary to do some things for which we might be criticised in order to effect our ends, and those who criticise the militant suffrage movement must remember that our liberties have been obtained only at the expense of bloodshed."

Able Economists

Women, with their natural bent toward economy in the domestic affairs, might well bring about reductions in public expenditures if they had a proper share in national affairs, she said. It might be said that women have accomplished little in those place where they have the franchise. But in Great Britain numerous reforms have been written into the statutes because of women's agitation.

"It is scarcely to the credit of man that after so many centuries of supposed civilization, and with the great scientific discoveries which have been made, life today in most parts of the world is filled with fear, and that colossal expenditures on armanents are mounting on all sides.

"It is countries where the women have no voice in the conduct of affairs that are the danger spots of Europe today. One prominent woman has said we shall continue to be in dread of war until the mother element becomes embodied in political and economic policies. This mother element by its very nature can be contributed only by woman who knows what it means to bring life into the world, and that it should not be lightly valued."

FOREIGN GOLD BULGES VAULTS OTTAWA BANK

Treasure of 100 Million Pours in Amid Secrecy, Thought for War Credit

OTTAWA, May 20 (CP) — Gold coin and bullion is reported flowing into Ottawa from aboard to be stored in the vaults of the Bank of Canada and it is said more than $100,000,000 worth has been stored during the past few months in the new building on Wellington street, west of the parliament buildings.

Great secrecy shrouds the movement of the precious metal. Police guards meet it at the train and the express boxes are rushed in armored cars to the safety of the bank vaults. The reason for the importations remains a mystery. Bank officials will not comment on any aspect of the movement although it has been established the importations have been going on and may continue for some time.

Some monetary experts on Parliamentary Hill believe the gold is being sent to Canada so that it will be readily available for the purchase of munitions in the United States should Britain be involved in war.

Those who support this theory recall that during the Great War the entire gold production of South Africa was shipped to Canada for refinement and eventual credit to Britain for purchase of war supplies in the United States.

Other experts contend the gold is being stored with the Bank of Canada by the Bank of England for safekeeping, due to the unsettled state of Europe and the danger of retaining a large gold supply in London should a conflict break out. To have gold reserves scattered through the dominions would guarantee a credit backing even under the most extreme exigencies of war, they believe.

For Arms, Ammunition.

These authorities scout the original belief that the bullion came to the Bank of Canada from France as a reserve for purchase of munitions for the Republic. There is a possibility some of it might be used in Canada for English purchase of arms and munitions.

The gold itself is not the property of the Bank of Canada and does not appear on the weekly bank statement which lists the amount of gold coin and bullion held by the bank on its own account. This has carried in the past year only between about $179,000,000 and $187,000,000.

This week's statement gives the total as $181,287,000, an increase of $429,000 over the previous week.

During the Great War there was a movement of gold to Canada for making payments on purchases by Great Britain and the Allies of supplies and munitions in the United States.

At that time the Finance Department handled all movements of bullion by the Department, of which $546,000,000 was for the account of the Bank of England and $658,000,000 for the British Government.

NABBED IN STOLEN CAR

Dispute Likely To Spread, Be "2nd Spain"

Opposition Spreads Peasant Cohorts Over Hills As President Invades San Luis With 10,000 Troops and 10 War Planes

SAN LUIS POTOSI, Mexico, May 20. (AP).—General Saturnino Cedillo, former Mexican army general, spread his peasant army into the hills today to prepare for guerilla warfare with the army of President Lazaro Cardenas.

He would not start it but he was ready with arms to repel "all aggression," said Cedillo, 45-year-old Mexican Indian, rightist political opponent of Cardenas and for 20 years the dominant power of San Luis.

Cedillo was plotting rebellion, charged Cardenas, 42-year-old radical leader of Mexico's program of socialization of "Mexico for Mexicans," which was exemplified on March 18 by government expropriation of foreign-owned oil properties.

Their dispute was that between the right and the left, and many feared that if fighting began it might spread through Mexico and make Mexico another Spain.

The Cedillistas fixed their number at 18,000 to 20,000. Cardenas, invading San Luis in person to establish calm, had 10,000 troops in the state. Two regiments of cavalry were on the way from Chihuahua, ten observation-combat planes landed here yesterday, and probably 20,000 troops could be brought quickly from nearby states.

Attack Due Any Minute.

Cedillo said he had "trustworthy" information the President was preparing to "try to crush me by force of arms," and that attack might come today.

Bitterly, the leader of Mexico's last important private army, whose fealty he held by land allotments on his estate, denied he plotted rebellion.

He saw himself as the victim of efforts by his enemies to destroy him, carried on since his resignation as secretary of agriculture in a tilt with Cardenas last August.

Striking out at the President, Cedillo said in an interview with the Associated Press that the Mexican people was "tired of the infamous dictatorship, with Communistic trimmings, that is putting an end to all sources of wealth and submerging the country in ruin and misery."

EASTERN ONTARIO USES MORE POWER

TORONTO, May 20 (C.P.). — Decreases in the April loads in Niagara system and increases in the Eastern Ontario system are shown in the monthly summary of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission, issued to-day.

In maximum 20-minute peak hores-power, the Niagara decrease was 3.6 per cent., from 986,997 horsepower in April, 1937, to 951,876, while in primary and secondary loads the decrease was 1.4 per cent., from 1,149,598 horse-power to 1,132,976.

In Eastern Ontario the peak load increase was 1.3 per cent. from 110,194 horse-power to 116,014. In primary and secondary loads the increase was 17.7 per cent., from 124,631 horse-power to 146,742.

Georgian Bay system increase was 4.8 per cent. in both divisions. Thunder Bay system decreased 8 and 7.5 per cent. in the respective divisions, and Northern Ontario properties increased the peak load from 99,639 horse-power to 126,296 horsepower, or 26.8 per cent.

RADIO COMMITTEE ADVISES REVIEW OF LICENSE JUMP

OTTAWA, May 20.—(CP).—Advance).—Early establishment of a high power, short-wave broadcasting station by the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation was suggested in the report of the Radio committee submitted to the House of Commons to-day by Chairman Arthur Beaubien (Lib. Provencher).

The committee recommended that the incidence of the application of the radio license fee, recently raised from $2 to $2.50, should be carefully reviewed in the light of this year's experience with a view to effecting a reduction.

It is understood a majority of the members had in view particularly the provision that calls for the payment of the fee on each additional receiving set a licencee possesses. Some reduction might be made in this connection.

A short wave station, the committee beieved, would be of value in interpreting and advertising Canada abroad. It should be financed as a national project, operated and controlled by the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation.

All Sign But Lawson.

The report was signed by all members of the committee who took part in the final discussions. Hon. J. Earl Lawson (Con. York South) withdrew from the committee when he objected to a majority decision to call no witnesses other than officials of the corporation and members of the Board of Governors. Consequently he took no part in drafting the report and did not sign it. He wanted outside witnesses heard.

The report generally approves the policies followed by the corporation, its business administration and the corporation set-up which makes the Board of Governors responsible for policy and the management responsible for administration.

The report said:

"The bulk of the evidence concerned the program, technical and financial policies of the corporation. Your committee is of the opinion that these policies are well designed to carry out the purpose for which the corporation was created. Your committee is also of the opinion that the policies of the corporation are being executed in a business-like fashion.

"With respect to programs, the corporation's policy is to utilize Canadian talent in the development of Canadian programs of distinction and quality, and to make available to Canadians the best programs from the United States, Great Britain and elsewhere.

Satisfactory Service.

With resources at its disposal, your committee believes, the corporation can give Canada satisfac-

DIONNE'S DREAM TO BE REALIZED IN JOINT HOME

Plans to Begin at Once; Guardians Give Father Greater Say On Quints

NORTH BAY, May 20 (CP). — Oliva Dionne's dream has come true. His famous quintuplet daughters will be reunited with their parents and their seven brothers and sisters next September. They will live together in a home built for the most unusual family in the world.

The happy ending to years of controversy between Dionne and Ontario government-appointed guardians of the Quints, who will be four years old May 28, came yesterday when Dionne won a sweeping victory.

Since September 22, 1934, when the Quints were taken from the humble home where they were born to the newly-built Dafoe nursery, Dionne has fought to have them returned to him. Recently he asked Attorney-General Conant of Ontario for a judicial investigation of Quint affairs. It was refused.

But its sequel came in North Bay yesterday when a meeting of the guardians with Dionne, Duncan McArthur, Deputy Minister of Education for Ontario and Keith Munro, Quint business manager, reached an agreement. In effect the men who have most to do with the future of the Quintuplets decided it was time to stop fighting. They agreed to co-operate.

Gets Greater Say.

Dionne will be given a greater say in the conduct of Quint affairs. He has been a guardian but has taken little part in their activities. Now it is expected he will co-operate with other guardians. Seemingly satisfied, he said after yesterday's meeting: "Well, that's the first time I was given any satisfaction."

The Quints, their parents and their brothers and sisters are to live together in a home to be designed by

GIRLS STILL SEEK LONELY BACHELOR

WINSDOR, Ont., May 20.—(CP)—Springtime may have something to do with it, or perhaps the $13,000, but anyway there are plenty of romantic girls, apparently lonely, who seek the acquaintanceship of 29-year-old Reginald McLeod of London, Ont. Apparently they haven't heard Reginald has given up hopes of finding a bride.

Two weeks ago the lonely Londoner, who moved to that city from Kitchener, and was born in Summerside, P.E.I., wrote Mayor E. S. Wigle of Windsor, asking aid in finding a Protestant bride, between the ages of 19 and 21, who was a stenographer. He noted he had inherited $13,000 by his father's will.

A few days later he announced his intention of departing for Vancouver and suggested to Mayor Wigle in a letter that he was tired of the whole affair. He asked that he not be sent any more of the letters which had poured into Windsor in care of Mayor Wigle from lonely girls desiring to meet McLeod.

However, letters continue to reach the city hall. One of the latest, bringing the total up to 30, was from a London lass of '18 who said she was fond of sport, but wasn't a stenographer. A Cointown girl, 20 years old tomorrow, wrote that she was "supposed not to be bad-looking." She invited an exchange of photographs.

"I am a Protestant," she said. "What religion are you, and what is your occupation?"

BLAME WIRING IN WRECK

LONDON, May 20.—(CP Cable.)—Faulty wiring was advanced today as responsible for Tuesday's underground railway collision in which six persons were killed. The accident, in which one crowded train telescoped another, was the worst i nthe history of London's "tube" system.

The error had been made in rewiring done the night before. A test prior to the accident had not disclosed that it gave the effect of signalling the first train as leaving Charing Cross station when it should have shown the train as still stationary.

Rain itself does not cause poor radio reception. It is the thunder and lightning which create static.

Titanic Survivor Comes Home After 41 Years' Absence

Meets Sister In Nova Scotia Village Who Had Thought Him Victim Of Sea Tragedy

YARMOUTH, N.S., May 20.—(CP)—A brother and sister rejoiced today after a reunion that ended 41 years separation.

Although Mrs. J. V. N. Hatfield of Gavellton, Yarmouth county village, dismissed the reunion with a simple "it was quite a surprise to me," she was excited enough when the "stranger" came to her door and introduced himself as George White.

Since 1912 she had believed he had perished when the liner Titanic struck an iceberg off Newfoundland and foundered with the loss of more than 1,500 of her passengers and crew.

No word ever came to the village he actually was among the passengers drowned, but loss of all trace of his movements coincided with the disaster. It was known that just previous to the Titanic's departure, White had been in Austria and his family thought he had sailed on the ship.

After the flurry of "introductions" was over, he told Mrs. Hatfield that time after time he had intended to write but kept putting it off.

Then, after some years, he refrained because he didn't know if his family still lived in the same place or if they still lived for that matter. It was not until he returned he discovered his father, Isaac White, had died in 1912, a few months after his mother had been buried.

For years he travelled about the United States, finally settling in California. A month ago he and his wife decided to visit Price Edward Island where she was born. At Yarmouth he decided to look up his old home.

Run Over Whale Ship Springs Leak

Pictou, N.S., May 20 (CP)

THE Royal Canadian Mounted Police patrol boat Alachasse put in here today for repairs. The vessel's stem was damaged when she struck what officers believed was a whale while patrolling off the Gaspe coast Sunday. Damage to the stem and planking was not considered serious, but the patrol boat was leaking slightly.

Police Use Poison And Gas On Skunk But Burial Expert Prefers Gun

Picton, Ont., May 20 (CP)

POLICE had more trouble than they looked for in killing a skunk that invaded a Picton store.

The animal was chased from the basement into an opening beneath a sidewalk grating and Chief Bert Biddle cut off its chances of escape. He poured a liquid poison down the grating but the skunk didn't touch it.

Biddle backed up his automobile to the grating and directed a rubber tubing from the exhaust pipe to the compartment. A few minutes later, overcome by carbon monoxide, the skunk stretched out.

Chief Biddle took charge of the body and left it at George Farrington's at Sandy Hook for burial. George left the skunk in the yard while he entered the house for breakfast.

When he emerged the skunk was kicking a little, trying to recover its equilibrium. A rifle bullet finally despatched it.

"Pink" In Arm Fails To Settle French Affair Of Honor

Photographers And Newsmen Watch As Referee Halts Duel At First Stab

PARIS, May 20 (A.P.).—Edouard Bourdet, director of La Comedie Francaise, was wounded in the right arm to-day by Henry Bernstein, veteran playwright and duelist, in an "afafir of honor," that failed to settle their quarrel.

The principals left the duelling field without reconciliation. The attending physician said the wound was not serious.

The duel, with dull-edged but needle-pointed rapiers, took place on an estate at suburban Neuilly, and consisted of two two-minute rounds of fighting for which Bernstein, adjudged the injured party, chose the weapons.

It was Bourdet's first duel; Bernstein's ninth.

At the end of the second two-minute period the referee sighted blood trickling from Bourdet's right arm, and, upon examination, declared the contest ended.

Despite the protests of Bourdet and his seconds, the referee called

Has 2nd Broken Neck And Still Lives

Plattsburg, N.Y., May 20 (AP)

MOSS LEWIS, 56, of near-by Morrisonville, is suffering his second fractured neck, but that isn't half of it. Injured in an automobile accident Lewis, Dr. R. A. Rowlson said, also has several fractured ribs. And a check revealed he fractured his neck 25 years ago, suffered a broken leg when only 12 years of age, fractured a wrist several years later and fractured his skull a few years ago.

Horse Bolts, King's Driver Swerves Nearly Hits Cheering Crowd

Bolton, England, May 20 (AP)

THE LIMOUSINE of the King and Queen swerved almost into a mass of cheering people today when a frightened police horse bolted and darted in front of the car.

The chauffeur pulled the car straight at the edge of the crowd and Their Majesties' tour of Lancashire proceeded.

Because of another motoring incident earlier, the King and Queen had driven for miles without knowing they had lost their escort. A second car, containing Lord Stanley, minister in attendance on the King, and other dignitaries, ran out of gasoline.

50 OF 245 M.P.'S GET UP INTEREST TO GRACE DEBATE

OTTAWA, May 20.—(CP)—Important supplementary estimates upon which a fresh debate on relief may be based are expected to be tabled in the House of Commons today. They will indicate just what amounts will be spent for relief across Canada during the present fiscal year.

It is also expected the house committee on radio will present its report today. This committee, under the chairmanship of Arthur Beaubien (Lib. Provencher) considered the operations of nationalized radio under the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation. It is not expected there will be any radical recommendations.

Agricultural estimates were completed and progress was made with those of the transport and health departments in the House yesterday when the entire day was devoted to committee of supply.

Discussions ranged over a wide field as a small group of opposition members, mostly Conservatives, questioned the ministers in great detail on departmental activities.

As has been the case for the most part of the week, the debate was without any particular feature and seldom were there more than 50 members of the 425 that make up the House membership in their seats.

Agriculture Minister Gardiner saw the last of his estimates adopted. Transport Minister Howe made progress with his, the most debate arising on harbor board matters. The estimate for that branch was passed.

Gardiner Well Questioned.

Health Minister Power also made considerable progress when his estimates were presented.

Mr. Gardiner was questioned on a wide variety of his Department's activities, particularly with respect to experimental farms and operations of the entomological branch.

Some straight talking came from Dave Spence (Con. Parkdale) af-

Dr. Thierry de Martel from the sidelines to swab the wound with idione. The referee was Jean Joseph Renaud, himself the veteran of many a clash at arms.

Not Touched

Bernstein then stripped off his shirt to show he had been untouched by his opponent's blade and, with his seconds, followed Bourdet and his party into the house on the estate.

A note, signed by the referee, witnesses and the attending physician, formally announced the result of the encounter. It said:

"Conforming to the note previously issued (announcement of the duel) a meeting was held May 20 on the outskirts of Paris. After two exchanges, a body attack by Bourdet was halted by a thrust by Bernstein which touched Bourdet in the right arm, piercing the biceps and stopping at the bone.

"Bourdet wanted to go on but the physician and the witnesses were in full agreement with the director of the duel and stopped the meeting. There was no reconciliation."

Dueling is illegal in France but "affairs of honor" generally are disregarded by the authorities.

Bernstein, tall, hook-nosed survivor of eight previous duels, and Bourdet, director of the Comedie Francaise, fought their affair of honor on the Fauchot-Magnon estate at Neuilly, a suburb northwest of Paris. It was Bourdet's first duel.

The contest was watched by a large gathering of newspapermen and cameramen, admitted to the scene after climbing over surrounding walls by ladders.

Bernstein, charging Bourdet with failing properly to rehearse his current play, had withdrawn that work and his established repertory from the state-owned Comedie Francaise. Bourdet then had written Bernstein, "You acted without scruples, without honor and without loyalty."

DRIVER ARRESTED IN YEAR-OLD CASE

CORNWALL, Ont., May 20 (CP).—Joseph St. Amour of Eastview, Ont., near Ottawa, was arrested yesterday on a charge of criminal negligence in connection with an accident at Winchester, Ont., April 1, 1937, when one man was killed and two others received fatal injuries.

St. Amour was arrested on a charge of manslaughter a few days after the accident, but the jury reduced the charge to one of criminal negligence. He was freed by Judge G. F. McFarland when the jury disagreed. The judge, however, pointed out at the time that the Crown could, at a future date, lay another charge against St. Amour.

St. Amour will appear in court here at the next Supreme Court of Ontario sitting, probably next week.

tory broadcasting service, while at the same time enabling Canada to create programs worthy of exchange.

"With respect to the corporation's plan of national coverage, involving the ownership of high power stations and the extension of OBC coverage to reach all parts of Canada, your committee wishes to indicate its approval. It is considered that the development of this plan is of great importance in the national interest.

"Your committee considered carefully the present and future revenue requirements of the corporation. It is of the opinion that present sources of revenue should be sufficient to maintain and develop the projected plan of national coverage.

"With respect to revenue for capital purposes, your committee is of the opinion that consideration should be given to the provision by loan or grant, of sufficient capital funds to enable the corporation to complete its plan of national coverage at the earliest possible moment.

"Your committee is of the opinion that the present scale of licence fees of $50.00 for privately owned broadcasting stations of 100 watts or under is adequate, but believes licence fees should be increased on higher powered stations servicing densely populated areas.

Suggests Lower Fees.

"Your committee recommends that the incidence of the application of the licence fee be carefully reviewed by the Department of Transport in the light of this year's experience, with a view to effecting a reduction of the licence fees.

"Your committee was impressed with the importance of the establishment, at an early date, of a high power short-wave broadcasting station. Such a station, your committee believes, would be a great utility in interpreting and advertising Canada abroad and in facilitating an exchange of programs between Canada and other broadcasting systems. Canada, your committee was informed, is the only major trading nation without such facilities. It is submitted this should be financed as a national project, operated and controlled by the corporation."

DIONNE'S DREAM

Ontario government architects. Probably it will be built at Corbeil, two and one-half miles from the present Quint home.

What use will be made of the Dafoe nursery, which has cost the Quints $25,000, has not been decided.

Dafoe Stays in Charge.

While few details of the agreement were released, it is known Dr. Allan Roy Dafoe will continue in complete control of the Quints' physical health. The present board of guardians will plan the Quints' lives until they are 18 years old—under an act of the Ontario Legislature, which makes the children "wards of the King," and their guardians sole controllers of their future.

But Dionne, as a father rather than as a guardian, yesterday was given a fuller measure of control of their education and a voice in the selection of their teachers and nurses.

Devoutly Roman Catholic and a staunch French-Canadian, Dionne has frequently protested Dr. Dafoe's appointments to the nursing and teaching staff. The agreement reached yesterday gave him more control over these.

The four-point agreement provided:

1. That an Ontario government architect be set to work at once drafting plans for a home at Corbeil, five miles northeast of Callander, to house the Quintuplets, their parents and the other Dionne children.

2. That Oliva Dionne be given the right in future to reject or confirm appointments to the teaching and nursing staff.

3. That Oliva Dionne withdraw his protests against engagement of Louise Corriveau of Penetanguishene as the new Dafoe Hospital nurse.

4. That Nora Rouselle of Renfrew, at present the Quints' teacher, be released shortly after completion of a motion picture a Hollywood company soon will begin.

House To Be Dividable.

It was announced Dionne and the board were agreed the new home should so be constructed that it can be halved in case of sickness or other emergencies, with the Quints isolated from other members of the family.

The concession to Dionne that he be granted the right to deny or confirm future appointments to the nursing and teaching staff has limitations. The father will be able to use that power only twice. Then his recommendation of dismissal of any new member of the staffs will be approved only if the official guardian considers the grounds sufficient for such action.

HOOKED BY A COW

DUNDAS, Ont., May 19.—(CP).—Herbert Scott, street commissioner for Dundas, injured when gored by a gow, was in bed to-day with severe bruises. It is feared his rib may be broken.

When the cow attacked him, Mr. Scott succeeded in grabbing the animal by the horns, thus escaping more serious injuries. The attack occurred at the rear of the High school.

LAST LONDON RAID TOOK TOLL OF 48

LONDON, May 20 (C.P. Cable).—Twenty years ago to-day London counted 48 dead and 165 wounded in the last and biggest German air raid of the Great War. Over 1,000 buildings were damaged to the extent of £130,000 ($650,000).

Thirteen enemy bombers reached London of 49 which took off from near Ostend. Seven of the 13 bombers were downed, including one forced landing. Anti-aircraft guns fired 30,000 rounds, downing three and three were brought down by 84 British pursuit planes.

The population of the darkened city dwelt in terror for almost three hours. The sky was cut by searchlight beams and sprayed by the flashes of bursting shells. Thirty-six bombs crashed in Essex and 49 in Kent.

Defenders' guns caused part of the casualties and damage, but the Government claimed the defence barrage was successful, and raids ceased thereafter. But experts now say the raids achieved their purpose, keeping several thousand men, much ammunition, and many planes at home and away from the fighting front.

URGES ORANGEMEN CATHOLICS UNITE

LINDSAY, May 20.—What the audience expected to hear is not certain, but when I. E. Weldon, K.C., Toronto barrister, last night addressed a meeting that had been advertised "open to Protestants only," his remarks stunned the listeners.

Mr. Weldon exhorted the audience, which included many Orangemen, to seek harmony and unity with their French-Canadian and Catholic fellow-citizens, even at the expense of giving them concessions in regard to separate schools, and a distinctive Canadian flag.

The tenor of the address was that the French-Canadian people had certain definite rights and that the Protestant majority in Ontario, to use the speaker's words, "should go the limit to carry out not only the letter of this guarantee, but also the spirit."

Mr. Weldon pointed out that no political party could attain power in this Province when the united and solid opposition of the Catholic people was against it, and he asserted that this was the reason the Conservative Party lost the last election.

At the outset the Toronto barrister said he was a lifelong Conservative and an Orangemen and had never cast anything but a Conservative vote. He was proud of his Orange affiliations, he said, but the time had come when the two peoples should get together and forget their differences.

tators said the Germans are using their southern partner in the Rome-Berlin axis to keep France so involved in the Mediterranean she would be unable to block German plans in Czechoslovakia.

Among the welter of reports was one extraordinary rumor—heard in several quarters — that Germany actually was aiding the Barcelona Government in an undercover effort to prolong the civil war.

The reasoning behind this was said to be that so long as the war is continued Mussolini's efforts to aid the insurgents would keep France involved. Supporters of this fantastic theory pointed out it also would keep Mussolini's attention strictly on the Mediterranean, leaving Central and Eastern Europe alone.

Despite Premier Daladier's warning yesterday against circulation of reports damaging to France, rumors of all sorts continued. One was that large detachments of German troops had been ordered up to the Rhineland frontier. One morning paper which published this dispatch in the first edition withdrew the story from the next.

Dummer Woman Is Allowed $756

TORONTO, May 20.—(CP).—Mr. Justice W. E. Fisher in Court of Appeal Thursday decided Mary Ellen Clysdale, Dummer township, Peterborough county, was entitled to $756 for services rendered to the blind 80-year-old father of her husband for three years. The court reversed the judgment of Judge Smoke of Peterborough, confirmed by Mr. Justice Urquhart, who refused to allow the claim.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

Independent strength of Winnipeg May wheat featured quiet dealings today and materially aided in keeping the July and October firm in late sales. Final quotations were 1¼ higher to ⅜ cent lower, May $1.15⅝, July $1.03a, October 84 to 84⅛ cents.

Prices moved irregularly in early stages when lack of interest developed after gains of as much as 1½ cents were posted. Liverpool's failure to hold opening advances, light rains in sections of the southwest and more favorable growing conditions in Western Canada were factors that induced early buyers to withdraw.

LINDSAY PAVING IS WELL UNDER WAY

(Examiner Correspondence.)

LINDSAY, May 20.—Determined to make the Central Exhibition grounds among the most beautiful in the province, the directorate has outlined a plan of beautification, which will be continued from year to year. This spring fifty silver maples have been planted in various locations on the grounds. In addition a plot has been levelled in front of the stage on which is featured special attractions, and two flower beds will be placed therein.

Paving operations will be carried on quite extensively in Lindsay and district this year. Yesterday the Warren Paving Company started work on their contract for paving several streets in town, and on Friday another company will start work on paving a stretch of the Lindsay-Fenelon Falls Highway between Cameron and Fenelon Falls.

The Liberal-Conservative Association at the close of its meeting on Wednesday evening elected the following officers for the year President, Clayton Hodgson, Haliburton; first vice, R. Worsley, Cameron; second vice, Miss B. Heard, Fenelon Falls; third vice, John Alton, Hartley fourth vice, Mrs. J. L. Sutton, Lindsay; treasurer, A. McFadyen, Cameron.

Death came to Mrs. E. Sweet, of Beaverton, in a startling manner on Tuesday. Housekeeper for Rev. Father Flannigan, and who was well known in the district Mrs. Sweet had just turned off the radio for the night, when she dropped to the floor. It is believed a blood clot on the brain was the cause of death. An adopted son, Jerry, of Toledo, survives.

The local Hydro Electric Commission has engaged a man to canvass the farmers of this district with a view to the extension of electrical service to rural homes. Many farmers, it is understood, are ready to take the service.

The Department of Highways, it is announced, will not undertake any construction work on the Lindsay-Newcastle Highway this year. The Department recently assumed this highway.

HAVELOCK ENJOYS "MUSIC SUNDAY"

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HAVELOCK, May 20.—The annual "Music Sunday" observed on May 15 at the Havelock United Church attracted large congregations to both morning and evening services. Music was the subject of Rev. S. A. Kemp's sermon at both services.

The choir, under the able leadership of Mrs. R. Campney, rendered the following program:

Morning service: Anthem, "Awakening Chorus"; solo, "What If It Were Today," by Mrs. F. Clarke; solo, "The Stranger of Galilee," by Jack Grant, with trumpet accompaniment by Grey Kemp; quartette, "Crossing the Bar," by Misses M. Williams and E. Russell, and Messrs. Jack and Grey Kemp; anthem, "Praise Him Who Reigns."

Evening service: Anthem, "Bells of Sabbath Chime"; duet, "Lead Me Gently Home," by Messrs. Wm. McBurney and E. Chiles; trumpet duet, "Whispering Hope," by Nelson Chiles and Grey Kemp; quartette, "The Wayside Cross," by Messrs. Jack Grant, E. Chiles, W. Platt, and G. Kemp; solo, "Ivory Palaces," by Miss Winnifred Gillespie, with violin accompaniment by Fred Hill; saxaphone trio, "The Old Rugged Cross," by Messrs. F. Dorie, L. Brown, and R. Spalding; solo, "My Task," by Jack Grant; anthem, "Praise Ye the Father."

Duke Of Devonshire Buried In Country Churchyard

Leading the line of mourners at the funeral of the Duke of Devonshire are the Marquess and Marchioness of Hartington, who succeeded to the ducal title at his death. The duke's body was borne to its grave, in the churchyard of the little village of Edensor, upon a farm wagon. The casket was made by carpenters on the duke's estate from wood grown on the grounds.

Car Crash Kills Essex Girl

WINDSOR, Ont., May 20.—(CP).—Injured in an auto accident Saturday approximately 20 miles south of here, Eva Darling, 23, Essex, died in hospital Friday. Miss Darling suffered internal injuries when the car in which she was riding collided with another car on a curve. Miss Darling was a native of Chatham.

Mrs. Margaret Schooly, 27, Essex, sister of Miss Darling, also injured in the crash, remains in hospital. Her condition is not serious, however. The sisters were occupants of a car driven by George Battle, Essex, which crashed into another machine driven by A. J. Grouillard, McGregor. Both cars were badly damaged.

HAVELOCK Y.P.L. HONORS MEMBER

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HAVELOCK, May 20. — The Young People's League of the United Church met on Monday evening in the church basement with their president, Miss Edna Haig, in the chair.

The meeting opened in the usual manner with Rev. S. A. Kemp leading in prayer.

A most interesting address was given by R. W. Goheen, guest speaker of the evening, who chose as his topic "Citizenship," and very thoroughly described the details which combine to make a good citizen.

Following the address group games were played and a social period enjoyed.

Special feature of the evening was the presentation by the members of the Y.P.L. and choir, of a pen and pencil set and a toilet set to Miss Winnifred Chiles, a valuable member of both organizations. Miss Chiles leaves next Monday to enter as nurse-in-training in the Kingston Hospital. The presentation was made by Mrs. R. Campney, and the address read by Miss Edna Haig. A suitable reply was made by Miss Chiles.

Refreshments were afterwards served by the committee in charge.

MAY LEASE CHORLEY PARK

TORONTO, May 20 (CP). — Cabinet members will consider the question of leasing Chorley Park, former residence of Ontario's Lieutenant-Governor, at their next meeting.

"We have received no bids yet for purchase of the property," Hon. Colin Campbell, Public Works Minister, said to-day. Several offers to rent the mansion will be submitted to the Cabinet, Mr. Campbell said, but in the event of acceptance extensive repairs and maintenance would have to be considered.

ALL DANCES BANNED

VALPARAISO, Ind., May 20 (AP). —W. C. Kickemeyer, president of the Lutheran University Association, announced today all dances will be banned at Valparaiso University next year to co-operate with an official stand taken by the Lutheran Church.

MARLBANK MAN IS HELD IN JAIL

(Examiner Correspondence.)

TWEED, May 20.— Albert Whiteman, Marlbank merchant, was arrested in his home by Chief C. J. Hayes of Tweed, charged with a serious offence laid under Section 292 of the Canadian Criminal Code yesterday. Whiteman was arraigned before a Justice of the Peace and remanded to the custody of the county jail at Belleville, bail not having been offered.

According to Chief Hayes the arrest was made following reports and complaints received from the parents of children in the village of Marlbank protesting as to the alleged actions of Whiteman in the village of a recent date. Whiteman will appear in the County Police Court at Tweed a week from Thursday.

Two Tweed young men were summoned to appear in Police Court on charges of discharging fire-crackers on the street, which constitutes a serious offence.

Said to have been responsible for the loss of some sheep of the district, a large black bear found prowling on the farm of James Clemenger, Cordova Mines, was shot by James Barron, Cordova resident, this week. The bear was in fine shape and weighed 280 pounds. Two more are reported in the same district.

Meteorologists believe wind velocity during a tornado reaches 250 miles per hour.

ARREST FARMER IN FATAL SCUFFLE

PRESCOTT, Ont., May 20 (CP).—Victor Baynham, Augusta Township farmer, will appear in court here today on a charge of manslaughter in connection with the death of Thomas Noonan after a scuffle between the two on the farm of Baynham's brother May 10.

A coroner's jury investigating the fatality last night found Noonan died from blows received in the scuffle or by striking his head in a fall. The jury added it believed Baynham was defending himself, and that no serious harm was intended.

HAS BALDWIN'S PIPE

CHALVEY, England—(CP).—One of Earl Baldwin's famous pipes now is honored in the home of James Herbert, railway sectionman who remarked to the former premier when the latter's train stopped near him, "I see you have a new pipe, sir." Baldwin's old one reached Herbert by next mail.

They Both Go To Jail

Courts are not wasting much time quibbling about drivers who are charged with being drunk. London, Ont., court disposed of such a case in a novel way.

Two men were in a light truck. They stopped for beer and then later on stopped again at a farm house where they drank gin. Then they did some more driving of the gin and beer variety. It took them 300 feet along a ditch and snapped off a couple of poles before it ended.

The owner of the car was not doing the driving, but he was drunk as was the man who was driving. It looked very much as though it had been decided they would tell the court that the driver was drunk while the owner was not and one man would take the rap.

Instead of that easy way out the magistrate decided that the driver should go to jail for 30 days because he was drunk, and the owner by reason of his proprietorship of the car was held to be the one in charge, and he being drunk was also given a 30-day sentence. Court said he was just as guilty as the man who was sitting behind the wheel because he permitted his car to be driven by a drunk driver. That sort of very sensible logic in court is the kind which will make a decrease in the ranks of drunk drivers.

His Great Possessions

The Marquess of Bute is reported to have turned some of his real estate into cash, and when the Marquess starts selling he sells a great deal because he has a great deal to sell. This latest transaction is reported to have accounted for one-half of the city of Cardiff in South Wales, and the deal is said to have called for the payment of $100,000,000. Included in the sale were suburbs, shopping districts and the docks from which South Wales exports its coal. The transaction involved 20,000 houses, 1,000 stores and 250 saloons.

The Marquess comes from an old Scottish family of tremendous wealth. He holds three Earldoms, three Viscountcies, and six Baronetcies, so he is a titled man a dozen times over. And besides the titles he also owns 117,000 acres of land. Likewise eight castles.

During the war he enlisted under the name of Private John Crichton-Stuart and received the usual 2s 9d per day. Private John should make a good soldier for he would undoubtedly attend strictly to business knowing full well that he had more at stake than the average soldier if the fortunes of war were to turn against his side .

Aberhart Stepping Out

As a rule the people in Ontario or for that matter in the other provinces of the Dominion would not be much concerned with the announcement that a provincial election was to be held in Saskatchewan. In Ontario we would take it as a matter of fact; we might know in a general way the standing of the parties in the last Legislature and the names of the political leaders, but beyond that we would not be particularly interested. The same would go for the other provinces.

This time it is different. Saskatchewan is going to have an election on June 8 and already it is receiving notice from papers across the country east to west. And all because Premier Aberhart of Alberta and a number of his ministers and Social Credit speakers have moved over to Saskatchewan for the election. The political waters are now stirred to their depths although we are assured Social Credit is not a political move at all.

Saskatchewan has been good stamping ground for the Liberals for years. Two members of the present Dominion cabinet, Hon. C. A. Dunning and Hon. James G. Gardiner have been premiers of the province. When the first Legislature was elected in 1905 it was Liberal and it has been that way ever since with the exception of the period from 1929-34 when the Conservatives were in power. When the last Legislature was dissolved there were 50 Liberals and 5 Farmer-Labor members. The Legislature started with 25 members and grew as all governing bodies do to a strength of 63, which has been brought down to 55.

There are five Social Credit members in the Manitoba Legislature; there are 17 of them in the House of Commons and in Alberta they dominate the situation to the point of saturation. Premier Aberhart of Alberta has not yet made one move to put Social Credit in operation, and yet he says flatly he is going to carry the war into Saskatchewan. It may be he is wise enough to know that theories regarding financial reform flourish best in hard times, and Saskatchewan is a hard-times province, and has been so for years. That is undoubtedly the reason why the country at large is so concerned about the contest in Saskatchewan. We do not believe Aberhart could apply his theory in that province: we are certain he could do nothing in a no-crop country which has not already been done, but we are not so certain that people will not vote for him. It's like this—when a man is hard up, stuck or very sick he will try things which in normal times or in good health he would not for a moment entertain. That is what the Aberhart campaigners will try to do—point the way out to people who are stuck. We doubt whether he can carry that province, but do not be surprised if he elects some members. A period of hard times has always been a rather good season in which to attack a government.

The Farmer Who Retired

A gentleman who now resides in a village not far from Peterborough was in the Examiner office today, and conversation turned finally to his own affairs. For 43 years he operated a farm, having taken over the property when he was 24; so for 67 years he was on the land. He had two sons and two daughters, but there was no one in the family who wanted the farm, so he finally parted with it and moved to the village.

His experience is interesting. He had always been able to save a little money as there was no debt on his farm. His savings he had always invested in the bonds of a trust company, so he feels they are secure and from that he receives some income, although the amount is not sufficient to keep him. When he sold his farm he took a mortgage on the property, but from this he has received very little interest money and nothing on the principal. We do not think that experience is unusual.

This ex-farmer says he finds it costs him more to live in the village than he had anticipated. His experience is interesting:

"I have a plot of ground at the back of the house but it is not what I would call large, but we grow quite a bit of produce there, and we keep chickens as well. The difference is that when I want some chicken feed now I have to go and buy it. We have to buy butter and milk and pay cash for such things. We cannot go back to the bush lot when we want to put in the winter's fuel and so I have to buy it. We cannot kill a pig in the fall because we have no pig to kill, and so it is necessary to buy the meat in small quantities and pay a good price for it. We have no maple trees to tap and if we want any syrup we have to buy it. We never realized before what it was to have to pay out cash for so many things. If I had it to do over again I think I would put up a little house on the farm and have a couple of acres there. It would have seemed more like home. When it comes time for spring and seeding I find myself wanting to get out in the country and see what is going on. I always liked seeding time as it seemed like the start of a new year, but we just make the best of what we have although I am ready to admit we have not come to the point where we have ceased to be surprised at the number of things we have to buy and pay for in the village. I guess I lived too long on the farm."

It is not necessary to make much comment about that plain statement. Other retired farmers in other places have had exactly the same experience.

The Use Of Statistics

Prof. Norman W. DeWitt of Victoria College in Toronto goes in for statistics. Of that we are quite certain because he has been giving the reasons why there are depressions. He turned to United States to get his figures, and United States being a friendly nation will not object. And it may be that people in that country will not care if another critic arises to tell them what's wrong. They have become hardened to it.

The Professor blames the women. Every time they want to reduce a little more they bring on a depression. Years ago when they began flinging away petticoats they started the thing, and every time they whack off another few inches from the length of a skirt they make another depression in the textile business.

Getting down to statistics Prof. DeWitt says there are 26,000,000 women in United States who want to weigh less. When they get under way with their slimming process each one eats two pounds less of food per week, and that means a direct loss in sales of 52,000,000 pounds per week. And if that was kept up for three or four years we dare say it would represent a sizeable amount.

Of course when a man begins discussing such a question it has the effect of making one wonder what it all amounts to. Take it this way: If 26,000,000 women were to lose 5 pounds each that would mean a total reduction of 130,000,000 pounds—of women. In order to avoid working out the problem in fractions we will be content in the interests of easy calculation to allow that a woman weighs 100 pounds. So the reducing process has actually done away with sufficient poundage to make 1,300,000 more women. And if such a thing came to pass and all these new women started to eat and be clothed they would consume so much that producers of victuals and apparel would be working long hours and every person would be happy. One can prove almost anything by using statistics.

Depending On Governments

While the world is passing through the stage where it depends on governments to keep business moving there is always the move ahead which must be anticipated. The point is well illustrated by the announcement from London that the British Government is now looking forward to the time when the present rearmament program will have been completed. Then it expects that a large number of men will be out of employment. They are at present working in shops which are all laid out for the manufacture of armaments, and such shops are not readily adaptable to any other kind of work.

For that reason the British government is making plans to have in readiness a housing and road-building program and on this it is talking of spending two and a-half billion dollars. The plan is a distinct departure from the days when business used to employ people and where private enterprise was expected to keep on developing new industries and enlarging old ones.

The tendency in the world for a number of years has been to make guns, vessels of war, fighting planes, etc. The steel and iron of the world has been going into that form of fabrication, and nothing comes out of it by way of return production. It is the very opposite of using steel and iron for the manufacture of implements of production. The possession of armament does not pay dividends to any nation; on the other hand it calls for a constant outflow of money for its care and operation.

Britain faced a somewhat similar situation at the close of the world war. There were thousands of men returning daily and being discharged from the army. The country was then in a somewhat similar position to what it is today. Many of the factories had been providing war material, and they were not fitted for anything else. So there was nothing for the returning men to do. Then it was that the dole was started.

Britain now sees where the end will eventually come to its rearmament program, and it knows the government must have something else ready for the workers to do, so roads and houses are being planned. Whether the government is anxious to build roads and houses we do not know, but there is that degree of urgency which demands that they must be built in order that people shall be employed. When a government becomes the chief centre of employment in any country it is liable to have to continue in that capacity.

NOTE AND COMMENT

To use the language of the air Lord Swinton has bailed out of the British air ministry.

A burglar in Edmonton who tried to rob a reporter was given a year in jail. A mental hospital might have been a better place.

A Toronto paper wants to know if the Queen city is a city of jaywalkers. Not altogether—there are a few folk who ride in cars, we believe.

Ontario's falling birth list is causing alarm but not among relief bodies which are at their wits' end trying to find shelter for those already born.

The announcement that Mr. Hepburn has gone to hospital with a sprained ankle throws light upon the fact that he is still premier of Ontario.

If folk do not quite drinking and driving, a lively building campaign to provide new jail accommodation would seem to be needed.

The bill to widen the causes for divorce in Canada passed the Senate by only four votes. We imagine it will have a difficult time in the lower house.

The daughter-in-law of John D. Rockefeller has been presented with twins and off hand we would say she should be able to care for them without applying for mothers' allowance.

Pedestrians are charged with many faults by Toronto traffic officers but at that the first case has to be found of a pedestrian crashing into a motor car and killing the driver.

According to a news heading Liberals are throwng out a challenge to those backing provincialism and that would seem to be headed directly at the provincial capitals of Quebec and Ontario.

Police state there have been no signs of bad swamp whiskey this year. They mean by that perhaps that no person has been seen climbing trees and playing about on the top branches.

REGRETS

(By A. R. K.)

¶ I wish my legs were very long, and that my knees were smart and strong, so I could move quite sharp; I'd take five feet then in a stride, I'd walk forth then in manly pride, my steps quite far apart.

¶ My Uncle Eben's built that way, and he walks miles most every day and never does he puff; his legs are longer far than mine, to where they hitch around his spine, and made of goodly stuff.

¶ When Eben goes to cross the street, he just picks up his goodly feet, and swings into his stride; it doesn't take no time at all, he never seems to stop or stall, he's on the other side.

¶ When cars start bearing down on him, he just exerts his walking limb, they may be very near; but Eben's legs take him so far, he can't get bumped by any car, he'll leave them room to clear.

¶ When I cross where the traffic's bad I always feel a little sad, this trip may be my last; I'm not a long swift moving man, and I can't step like Eben can, nor am I very fast.

¶ When I start walking out with him, his legs seem built so long and thin, I almost have to trot; and I could dodge the cars that fly, if I had legs so long and high—like Uncle Eben's got.

Our Statesmen At Their Tasks

From Parliamentary Reports)

Mr. MACKENZIE (Vancouver): He is a man of excellent reputation, the president of one of the ex-service men's organizations in Vancouver, and, I think, very acceptable generally.

Mr. BROOKS: But the minister said that if those who applied had the necessary qualifications they would be taken on, and I am asking if there were any special qualifications.

Mr. MACKENZIE (Vancouver): There would be trade qualifications, so many carpenters, so many of other trades, and so on.

Mr. BROOKS: No politics?

Mr. MACKENZIE (Vancouver): No.

❖ ❖ ❖

NO POLITICS?

Mr. GREEN: I hesitate very much to bring it up; but personally I am certain that all these men had to pass a representative of the government, and that is the belief in Vancouver. Of course, if the minister says that is not the case—

Mr. MACKENZIE (Vancouver): They were sent up by the various veterans' organizations.

Mr. GREEN: But after they were sent up, they had to pass a representative of the government. If the minister says that is not the case—

Mr. MACKENZIE (Vancouver): I say that in both instances on Vancouver island and in Victoria, we had an employment officer who was an ex-service man whose duty it was to see that ex-service men got employment.

Mr. GREEN: Who were these men who were the employment representatives in Vancouver and Victoria?

Mr. MACKENZIE (Vancouver): Richard Stanton in Vancouver and Alexander MacFarlane in Victoria.

Mr. GREEN: And the only reason they were chosen was to see that the men who got work were returned men?

Mr. MACKENZIE (Vancouver): And general supervision because general principles were laid down in regard to the secrecy of these works, and that only ex-service men and members of the militia should be employed, and it was their duty and the duty of commanding officers of units to see that these instructions were carried out.

Mr. GREEN: What salary did Richard Stanton receive?

Mr. MACKENZIE (Vancouver): $175 a month.

Mr. GREEN: He had only forty-eight men to choose for work.

Mr. MACKENZIE (Vancouver): At times they wanted more.

Mr. GREEN: He is still getting $175 a month?

Mr. MACKENZIE (Vancouver): I assume so if he is working.

Mr. BROOKS: Were any special qualifications required?

❖ ❖ ❖

LETTERS ALL THE SAME

Mr. HAYHURST: I have received about five hundred letters from dairy farmers in the northern section of Alberta, and especially from my own constituency, dealing with the problem of the importation of vegetable oil. I have no doubt other hon. members have received similar letters. In order that hon. members may be familar with the situation I should like to read one letter.

Mr. McLEAN (Melfort): Is the hon. member referring to letters or only to circulars which came though the mail?

Mr. HAYHURST: They are circular statements signed by individual farmers.

Mr. McLEAN (Melfort): But they are not letters.

Mr. HAYHURST: They are letters in the respect I have indicated.

Mr. ROWE (Dufferin-Simcoe): If they are signed by individual farmers they are letters.

Mr. HAYHURST: And they are signed by individual farmers.

Mr. McLEAN (Melfort): Handed to them to sign.

Mr. HAYHURST: Signed by individual farmers who object to large importations of vegetable oil.

Mr. McLEAN (Melfort): Propaganda.

Mr. HAYHURST: Propaganda it may be, from your standpoint; but at the same time the dairy industry in Alberta and in other provinces must be protected.

❖ ❖ ❖

BRITISH TRADE PACT

Mr. CAHAN: Is the hon. member insinuating that sharp practices were applied to the British delegates at the conference?

Mr. DEACHMAN: The leader of the government of that day was emphatic in the statement that he was going to bargain in a tight, hard way, there is no question about that. Were it not for that fact, where did the phrase, "blast our way into the markets of the world" originate?

Mr. CAHAN: I ask my hon. friend either to make his reflections clear or to retract them.

Mr. DEACHMAN: I am making my reflections quite clear. We drove a hard, tight bargain.

Mr. CAHAN: If the hon. gentleman will allow me to interrupt, I should like to say that there was no hard, tight bargain driven. I was at every conference between the British and Canadian delegates. If we had given all that the British delegates demanded, it would have been such a hard bargain for this country that industry could hardly have survived.

Mr. BAKER: I think the hon. member should be asked to withdraw the words "sharp practices."

Mr. DEACHMAN: Here is the record of the bargain. Exports to the United Kingdom in 1930 stood at $283,000,000.

The CHAIRMAN: I think this discussion is taking in a rather wide field. I would request hon. members to confine their remarks to the item before the committee. We are now on item No. 7.

A Bit of Nonsense

THE SPOILSPORT

Father: Hello, Freddy, how did you like your first day at school?

Sonny: The fellows were grand, but I don't think much of the old fellow at the cash desk!

• Good Weather For the Whiskers

(From the Regina Leader-Post)

THE STRONG silent men of the neighboring city of Swift Current are growing beards for a Frontier Day event on July 1 when men will be men again. Even a pair of Swift Current editors are reported to have entered the lists and can no longer be referred to by their friends as a couple of bare-faced rascals. This beard-growing business, which, no doubt, will include the moustache, the mutton chop, the Van Dyke, the long, straight Ontario drop, the chin whisker, and the Bavarian roll, has been under way for something more than a week and early reports are regarded as satisfactory by the committee in charge. Moisture conditions have been good, the seed-bed has been well worked, and rough cultivation around the fence posts and the weedy corners is said to have produced a well-rounded effect that our French friends call by the name of the toot ensemble.

The Leader-Post extends best wishes to Swift Current hay and alfalfa producers. We suggest that prizes be awarded for length, texture, percentage of clover, freedom from weed seeds and tobacco, and yield per acre, and that Hon. Mr. Gardiner Minister of Agriculture, be appealed to set up a marketing board to ensure orderly marketing of the crop.

As a sideline, we have always taken an active interest in whiskers. In Ontario in our youth we have seen audiences of men at Farmers' Institute meetings where the whiskers rose and swayed and tossed like the waves on the sea; one might have launched a boat on the billows of whiskers (note to printer: don't make it whiskey) and have sailed from the platform right through to the back door.

Those were whiskers that were whiskers. Many a weak chin hid behind a mass of foliage that was camouflage even before the boys discovered it in the Great War. Many a weakling talked with authority to his wife and children because they couldn't really see what was talking to them. Men lost something when they gave up whiskers. Gone, gone are the old familiar faces. At least what we could see of them.

But the best whiskers story, that may not be equalled at Swift Current, has to do with an Ontario farmer who meditated deeply on the things of this world and the world to come, as he "drove" the milk to the cheese factory in what was known as a milk wagon, a second cousin of a prairie buckboard. He was a man who held the district senior championship for whiskers.

One day as he drove to the factory his beard caught the hub of the front wheel and after a time his reflections were interrupted when he got a pull on the chin. The story is that neighbors who came to release him had to back up the wagon half a mile before his whiskers were unrolled from the wheel hub.

Swift Current may do better than that, but we doubt it. But at any rate we wish the boys nice even growing weather and good returns on the long haul.

• When The Shops Closed Down

(Chatham News)

THE INTRODUCTION of the Dominion Budget—when it comes—will be scanned anxiously by the citizens of the town of Tilbury. Budget Day is usually the time for revealing such tariff changes as the government has in view, and it is this feature of the annual Dominion statement which will hold the greatest interest for Tilburyites.

Until a short time ago Tilbury was a live automobile centre, due to the manufacturing activities of the automobile industry. But things are different today, since the industry decided to do its manufacturing in Detroit, and supply the Canadian trade with imported cars. The tariff laws of Canada provide a 17½ per cent. duty on cars coming in; and apparently auto firms can pay this duty, and still market American cars in Canada more economically, than by manufacturing them in this country. The object of the tariff of course is to encourage Canadian industry and Canadian employment, and thus the tariff on cars is apparently failing in this purpose.

This has naturally meant employment in Tilbury. It is claimed the town had 80 families on relief, after the factories closed down, and merchants there are said to declare that their business has suffered a reduction in some instances as high as fifty to seventy-five per cent. Tilbury is a motor town, and without this industrial activity, it is severely handicapped.

Dr. James W. Rutherford, M.P., Paul Martin, M.P., Norman McLarty, M.P. and Hon. A. St. Clair Gordon, M.L.A., in company with Mayor T. C. Odette of Tilbury have been active in making representations to the Dominion government on behalf of the town, asking the cabinet to give consideration to the plight of Tilbury, when tariff adjustments are made this year. It is felt that only an increased tariff on American-manufactured cars can remedy the situation—hence the anxiety with which the people of Tilbury are watching the developments at Ottawa. It is hoped that something will be done to revive industry in the progressive town of Tilbury. It means much not only to Tilbury but also to all the surrounding district.

A Bible Message For Today . . . .

NO MAN can serve two masters: for either he will hate the one, and love the other; or else he will hold to the one, and despise the other. Ye cannot serve God and mammon.

Therefore I say unto you, Take no thought for your life, what ye shall eat, or what ye shall drink; nor yet for your body, what ye shall put on. Is not the life more than meat, and the body than raiment?

Behold the fowls of the air: for they sow not, neither do they reap, nor gather into barns; yet our heavenly Father feedeth them. Are ye not much better than they?

Which of you by taking thought can add one cubit unto his stature?

And why take ye thought for raiment? Consider the lilies of the field, how they grow; they toil not, neither do they spin: and yet I say unto you, That even Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed like one of these.

Wherefore, if God so clothe the grass of the field, which to-day is, and to-morrow is cast into the oven, shall he not much more clothe you, O ye of little faith?—Matt. vi, 24-30.

Knees Went Stiff In His Sleep

Agony to Move Them When He Awoke

"For three years," writes this City man, "I suffered with pains across the lower part of my back In the morning, I awoke with knees so stiff that it was agony to move them. Special treatment would make the pain a little easier —but that was all. Then a friend recommended Kruschen, which my doctor said I might take. I began with about a coffee-spoonful first thing in the morning. To my surprise I found my rheumatic aches and pains disappearing. I kept on with Kruschen, and although I am more than middle-aged, I have been free from pain for two years, and able to go to my office every day."—A.W.

Rheumatic conditions are often the result of an excess of uric acid in the body. Two of the ingredients of Kruschen Salts have the power of dissolving uric acid crystals. Other ingredients assist Nature to expel the dissolved crystals through the natural channels.—Advt.

Inspecting Officer Praises Millbrook Cadets In Drill

Corporal Max Challice Section Awarded Prince Of Wales Cup

(Examiner Correspondence.)

MILLBROOK, May 20. — Inspecting Officer Captain P. N. Mallett, of Military District No. 3, Kingston, spoke in highly complimentary terms of the fine showing made by the Millbrook Cadet Corps, No. 403, at the annual inspection held on the school grounds on Thursday morning.

Captain Mallett took the salute at the inspecting base, other officers present including Colonel Bounsell of Bowmanville, Colonel J. W. Odell, P.S.I., and the Cadet Instructor, Lieut. B. B. Dawson.

Smartness and efficiency in appearance and in the promptness and precision with which marching and other orders were carrid out characterized the Corps, as in previous years, in the various movements, which included ceremonial, platoon, rifle and section drill, under Cadet Captain Ken Kidd, and Cadet Lieutenant Orville Wainman, as second in command, as well as in the physical culture exercises under Cadet Instructor Lieut. B. B. Dawson. Other officers of the corps are Cadet-Sergeant Robert Theobald and Cadet-Corporals Jack Arundel, Lloyd McMahon, William Kerr, and Max Challice.

Outstanding Acts.

"We get the best things in smaller quantities," Captain Mallett stated in his address at the conclusion of the inspection. "Two things were outstanding in the manoeuvres this morning—your physical culture, and your arms drill; these were far above the average Cadet Corps, referring to them in general. You should keep right on, because it is good for every one of you. I have been asked to choose which of the four sections made the best showing in their drill, and admittedly it has been a difficult task. It has been between No. 1, Cadet Corporal Jack Arundel in command, and No. 4, Cadet Corporal Max Challice at its head. We have decided to give the place to the last-named."

Colonel Bounsell, O.C. of the Midland Regiment, presented the silver cup, which was originally donated to the local Corps by the Third Prince of Wales' Dragoons, to Corporal Challice, and in his remarks expressed his personal congratulations on the excellent showing made, and the pleasure of his regiment in having the Millbrook Cadet Corps now affiliated with it.

Proud of Millbrook.

Colonel J. W. Odell, who retires at the end of August this year after nineteen years as Public School inspector for East Durham, declared he was singing "his swan song," but it was one of joy and happy memories and not of sadness. "I am proud of Millbrook, for it is the only school of which I have knowledge that has common sense enough to see the value of Cadet training for its young men and boys, and not to be carried away with the bugaboo of preparation for war. It is really a preparation for life; and if war should happen then these young men will be the best asset a country could have."

Colonel Odell presented the medals to the best dressed Cadets, Melville Wood in Section No. 1, and Hugh Williams in No. 2, though he and Brentin Dawson of No. 3 were so close the decision had to lie on the flip of a coin, the former winning.

Cadet-Lieut. Orville Wainman was presented with the Strathcona Medal for his standing as the best shot in 1937.

Declare Half-Holiday.

Representing the School Board, ex-Warden Percy Stinson, said that body "is one hundred per cent. behind the Cadet movement," and Miss Flora E. Morgan, B.A., Continuation School principal, also heartily congratulated the boys and their instructor on the excellence of their performance throughout the inspection. A half-holiday was granted to the pupils on request from Captain Mallett, and after rousing cheers for the King, the inspecting officer, and the Cadet instructor, Lieut. Dawson, the Cadets paraded back to the Armouries for dismissal.

The day's activities were concluded with a banquet at the Armouries at 6.30 p.m., and a dance which was well under way shortly after nine o'clock, with a swing band from Peterborough providing music.

SUGGEST SWEEPSTAKES

CHARLOTTETOWN — (CP). — Holding of a Prince Edward Island sweepstakes has been suggested here. After operating costs had been taken out and a proportion alloted for the benefit of hospitals and a sanatorium, the balance would be divided in prizes. It has been suggested the stakes would be on a mile and a half handicap race held once yearly.

Well Known Here

W. F. (BILL) DUGGAN

A graduate of the Peterborough Normal school and former member of the Examiner editorial staff, who died in Grace hospital, Windsor, on Tuesday evening from pneumonia.

WILLIAM DUGGAN DIES IN WINDSOR

William Francis (Bill) Duggan, former member of the Peterborough Examiner's editorial department and later of Windsor Daily Star, died on Tuesday evening at Grace Hospital, Windsor, after an 11 days' illness with pneumonia. The late Mr. Duggan was widely known in this city and district, having attended the Normal school here from where he graduated and later being a member of the Examiner staff around the year 1925. He then moved to Windsor and joined the Border Cities Star as a proof reader, later being transferred to the editorial department. Over a period of eight years he was a police reporter, a position which he held until a few weeks before his death, when he became sub-editor.

In 1926 Mr. Dugan married Miss Lucille Rose, of this city, who predeceased him 10 years ago. Following the death of his wife, Mr. Duggan sent his son, William, to live with his wife's parents at Belleville, and his baby daughter, Catherine, to live with his own parents at Ivanhoe. A year ago Mr. Duggan brought his son to live with him in Windsor and it was his intention to bring his daughter here this summer.

Mr. Duggan was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Duggan, of Ivanhoe, Ontario. He was born at Cooper, Ontario, July 26, 1901. Surviving are his parents; one son, William, at home; one daughter, Catherine, at Ivanhoe; and two sisters, Mrs. John Creig, Shannonville; and Mrs. Stephen Mahar, Crookston, Ontario.

Mr. Duggan attended public school at New Liskeard, White Lake, and Ivanhoe. He graduated from the high school at Madoc and the normal school here.

Reporting His Ambition.

Though qualified as a teacher, Mr. Duggan's ambition had always been to get into the newspaper game: One of the big thrills of his years in school had been when a feature story he wrote was accepted for publicataion by a Toronto newspaper.

When he left school, as a result, he sought and obtained employment with the Peterborough Examiner, where he worked for several years, obtaining a wide experience in newspaper work.

Seeking a wider field for his work, Mr. Duggan came to Windsor 13 years ago, finding employment with The Star as a proof reader, with the understanding that he would be transfered to the editorial staff as soon as possible. During several election campaigns, while on the proof desk, he was given night assignments by the city editor and his work soon resulted in his transfer to the city staff.

HIGH TRIBUTE PAID.

WINDSOR, Ont., May 20 (C.P.). —Citizens of all walks of life gathered here last night to pay tribute to William F. Duggan, 35, member of the editorial staff of the Windsor Dail Star far the past 12 years, who died on Tuesday. Following the service, the remains were shipped to Ivanhoe, Ont., home of Mr. Duggan's parents, for burial on Sunday. Duggan was police reporter of the Star for eight years.

COTTRELL HEADS BIBLE SOCIETY

(Examiner Correspondence.)

MARMORA, May 20.—The annual meeting of Marmora branch of the Upper Canada Bible Society was held in St. Andrew's United Church on Tuesday evening with the president, H. W. Sabine in the chair. Following the opening hymn prayer ,the annual report of the branch was furnished by W. J. Cottrell, secretary-treasurer.

The election of officers for the ensuing year resulted as follows: President, W. J. Cottrell; vice president, H. B. Smith; honorary presidents, Revs. A. B. Caldwell and C. W. Hollingsworth; secretary-treasurer, H. W. Sabine.

Five reels of moving pictures entitled "The Romance of the Bible Society" were then shown by Rev. F. B. Allnutt, B.D., Toronto, secretary of the society. The film showed scenes around Bala, where Mary Jones in walking twenty-five miles to secure a Bible was the inspiration of the formation of the British and Foreign Bible Society. Other scenes were of the society's headquarters on Queen Victoria street, London.

The benediction was pronounced at the close by Rural Dean A. B. Caldwell.

DOMINION'S NAVY IS ASSET ABROAD

WINDSOR, Ont., May 20.—(CP)—Canadians, who look with some disdain on their small navy should live in Panama to appreciate its significance to the country and its interests, according to W. J. Riddiford, Canadian government trade commissioner at Panama City, a visitor to Windsor.

When Canada's four modern destroyers appear in the canal, it is an occasion of importance, not only for Canadian expatriates, but for all the foreign element in that busy, tropical, United States dominated zone. Canada's importance in world trade and her prominence as a world entity is greatly enhanced by the smart appearance of these boats and their crews, who are lavishly entertained on their visits, Riddiford said.

"We regard the appearance of these boats as one of our greatest assets in selling the country and its advantages,' Riddiford pointed out. "The natives look upon the visits of these ships as events which demonstrate the stability and international importance of Canada. These trim, smart, modern ships, manned entirely by Canadians, are a sight which every Canadian would be thrilled to witness, he added.

Born in London, Ont., educated at Woodstock College and McMaster University Riddiford entered the Canadian trade service in 1928, the occasion of his last trip to Windsor as a junior. Thereafter, he was sent to China, where he served in Hong Kong and Shanghai. Returning from the Orient, he was stationed for two years in New York, and from there took over his present position, which he has held for three years. He is married and has a 19-month-old son.

HASTINGS GIRL SOFTBALLERS OPEN SEASON WITH 5-1 WIN

EARLY BAT WORK GIVES HOMESTERS EDGE ON VICTORY

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HASTINGS, May 20.—The Hastings' girls softball team opened the season with a win, when they defeated Warkworth girls 5 to 1 here last night (Thursday).

Hastings scored 2 in the first innings, 2 in the third and 1 in the fifth. Warkworth got their 1 run in the fourth innings.

M. Thompson, Hastings' twirler, pitched a nice game as she held Warkworth to 2 hits, struck out 4 and walked 3. V. Peterson, the Warkworth pitcher, allowed 7 hits while striking out 2 and passing none. P. Scriver with two singles and M. Thompson with a triple and a single led the batters. The teams:

Warkworth: V. Peterson, p; A. Dobbs, 2b; P. Johnston, 3b; T. Isaac, lf; A. Grant, 1b; M. Taylor, ss; D. German, rf; B. Meiklejohn, c, and M. Dudley, cf.

Hastings: J. Scriver, 3b; B. Dainard, c; P. Scriver, 2b; M. Thompson, p; M. Phillips, cf; B. Sargent, 1b; B. Wilkins, ss; L. Dodd, rf; I. Fowlds, lf.

BOY SCOUTS LOSE TO NORWOOD 12-5

(Examiner Correspondence.)

CAMPBELLFORD, May 20.—In an exhibition game played at Crow River Bridge on Wednesday afternoon, the Campbellford Boy Scout softball team lost to the Norwood Scouts, with whom they were holding a get-together, by a score of 12 to 5. L. Bongard, on the mound for the winners, proved himself to be just as good at the bat when he completed the circuit four times out of four times at bat. Jim Seguire pitched for the locals and showed promise of developing into a good hurler. In the first inning Buck, Bongard, Gill and Johnson scored for Norwood, with Bongard, Gill and Roussou adding three more in the second. The visitors didn't score again till the fourth, when Buck, Bongard and Gill put them out in front by a score of 10 to 0. Two more in the fifth by Buck and Bongard placed the final score at 12.

For the locals, Seguire scored twice, one in the sixth and one in the seventh with four times at bat. Poulton and Lambert also scored in the sixth, the former on a double and two errors and the latter on two singles and a double by Storie and Tinney. Storie came in on Tinney's double for the final run of the inning and Seguire's double and two errors gave the losers the total score of 5. Line-ups:

Campbellford: J. Little, c; J. Seguire, p; D. Poulton, 1b; D. Lambert, 2b; J. Storie, 3b; Bradbury, ss; W. Greenshields, cf; B. Hendricks, rf; J. Tinney, lf.

Norwood: W. Buck, c; L. Bongard, p; F. Gill, 1b; L. Johnson, 2b; A. Shore, 3b; A. Godin, ss; T. MacNeil, lf; S. Roussau, cf; L. Lockhead, rf.

Seagram Stables To Carry Colors

TORONTO, May 20.—(CP). — Determined to see the black and yellow colors of the Seagram stable, long a power in Canadian racing, carried in the 79th running of the King's Plate Saturday, J. E. Frode Seagram of Waterloo, Ont., Thursday bought Tabhim, a four-year-old, from Jim Fair of Brantford.

When nomination blanks were mailed to Seagram he didn't have a horse to name and it appeared the famed colors would not be carried in the race for the first time since 1889. Fair nominated Tabhim, Tabmark and Troublemark for the mile-and-a-furlong event.

Tabhim was given a trial to-day at Woodbine Park and the deal transferring the gelding to Seagram was closed.

Two Tilts Staged Watercraft Loop

Comets defeated the Falcons to the score of 22-20 last night at the exhibition grounds in a Canadian Watercraft Softball League tilt. G. Johnson got two homers and Payne and G. Stenner one each for the winners. Miller pitched good ball and Jones and Curtis of the Falcons went well most of the route.

In a second game of the doubleheader staged by this loop at the Fair Grounds, Venetians copped a 31-13 win over the Admirals. Though both squads were well-matched, the Admirals lacked the punch in the pinches to put them in the win column. The next games on Thursday will be—Falcons vs Admirals, and Comets vs Venetians.

NEW YORK, May 20 (A.P.). — Art Cartier, sports editor of the Chatham (Ont.) News can be officially added to the list of those who picked Lawrin in the Derby.... Whizzer White, Colorado's great footballer, is paying a lot of attention to Latin these days....Now, where is the guy going to need that most—as a Rhodes scholar or playing pro football with Pittsburgh Pirates?....Clarence Stewart, sports editor of the Colorado Springs Evening Eelegraph, says the "Whizzer" will not make up his mind on Art Rooney's $15,000 pro offer until Brother Sam, now winding up a hitch at Oxford, comes back and gives him the low-down.

They're telling it around that Bill McKechnie sent Hank Gowdy out with instructions to corral old Ray Benge and bring him in to bolster the Reds' young pitching staff.... "Bring the guy back, dead or alive," wired Bill...."How can I tell the difference?" Gowdy retorted—collect.

You have often seen the familiar picture caption: "Local Boy Makes Good."....Boston papers claim it originated back in 1913 when Francis Ouimet, captain of the present Walker Cup team, beat Ted Ray, British veteran, and Harry Vardon in the play-off for the national open title on the Brookline (Mass.) course where Ouimet started as a caddy.

Charlie Grimm is seeing to it that Larry French is getting plenty of rest this spring. Larry has twirled great ball in his time, and still can, but he can't go in there every three or four days and mow 'em down as he once could....Last year he went great in the spring, but bogged down in the stretch drive when the Cubs needed him worst.

George St. Buzzers Take 18-12 Victory

George St. Buzzers took an 18-12 victory over the George St. Majors last night at the Oval in a senior Church Softball League encounter. It was a surprise win and a keenly-contested tilt, the loss shoving the Majors back into fourth place, with Knox and the Buzzers tied for second. Mark St. leads. Hough of Deseronto was batted out in the second, Akers replacing him and also being batted around. Griffith and Wellman led the Majors at bat. Burnham pitched well and also clouted the apple for the winners, Manager Lloyd Parnall also hit hard. The teams:

Majors: Roberts, 2b; Dunkerley, ss; McClelland, 1b; Heard, c; Gatfield, lf; Wells, cf; Griffith, p; Wellman, rf; Akers, p; Hough, p.

Score by innings:
Buzzers	481 011 3—18
Majors	051 321 0—12

Woodbridge Here In Lacrosse Tilt

Lacrosse starts its 1938 Peterborough season here tonight (Friday) at 8.30 o'clock, under the lights, in the George St. arena. The Woodbridge intermediates clash with the Petes in an exhibition game and it should draw a big crowd of fans. Lacrosse followers have been turning out regularly for practises and inquiring when they would have a game, so there ought to be a bumper gang on hand tonight to inaugurate the gutted-stick sport this season. Woodbridge is reported to be a strong intermediate crew of experience lacrossers, while the Petes—who went to Provincial semi-finals last year in O.L.A. competition—are believed stronger this season.

Referee Ed Fisher will get the squads away at 8.30 and plenty of lively lacrosse should result. The locals are in fine shape and looking to start the summer off with a victory. Red Creighton and Meyette will split goalie duties, while Westonfelt, Jerry Creighton, Chute and Miller are the defencemen. Two lines of forwards include: King, Dundas, Hendy, Whitton, Worthy, Magee, Crowe, Emmett Creighton, with extras probably being Loucks, Dallin and Pammett. Dit Clapper may line up with the team but is not expected at tonight's tilt.

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two

By CEC PERDUE

NO DOUBT the lacrosse moguls here felt Woodbridge would bridge the gap between practice sessions and the first scheduled match here—and they are probably right. There hasn't been an organized game of anything in the line o flacrosse, baseball or softball here since last year. Folks are ripe to turn out in biggish numbers now to see an outdoor sports spectacle in Peterborough, and the lacrossers wisely decided to dish up a game. They haven't their grouping arranged yet, so they go out and get a smart squad to play the Petes an exhibition tilt. For a guarantee, of course. And thus we have Woodbridge versus the Petes tonight (Friday) at 8.30 o'clock in the George St. arena—under the arcs. And a right lively dish it ought to be, too. No punches pulled in the manly art of lacrosse.

* * * * * *

QUITE an impressive roster the local gutted-stick squad has this semester. The whole gang of good players who went to Ontario semi-finals last year, plus three or four nifty newcomers. List includes: Red Creighton, Meyette, Westonfelt, Chute, Miller, Jerry Creighton, King, Hendy, Dundas, Dallin, Worthy, Magee, Crowe, Emmett Creighton, Pammett, Loucks and Whitton. Maybe Dit Clapper, also. With manager Frank Randle in charge and a real live executive. Plus a first-rate arena. Yeah, they have about everything, except grouping. And they'll get that soon. Meantime, drop around and see this smart squad in action tonight.

GIRLS' SOFTBALL LEAGUE opens tonight, weather permitting, in Lindsay with Westclox playing the Supremes at the public park there. First tilt in Peterborough will be next Wednesday when C.G.E. and Westclox meet at the Bowl over Ashburnham way. Lindsay and Keene have a game next Friday in the Bowl, and first game in Keene is May 30th when the Armour Hill maidens journey east. First half of the schedule winds up in less than a month, on June 17th, with top two teams playing off. And then the second half starts. The Lovely Lindsayites will be tough before the finals, we hear, and the Winsome Westclox will be easily as strong as last year—when they won the title. And the Eager Electrics have bolstered a whole lot and this may very easily be their year to cop the bunting. The Curious Keenesters have us stopped like a transport on the highway at night. We dunno how to figure 'em, so we'd better say they'll be tough, too.

* * * * * *

DON'T THINK SOFTBALL is declining here, 'cause it isn't. And don't think that all the good players, men we mean, are in the City League. The latter loop has a flock of the better ones, but that Southend Circuit has a bunch, also. Uptown fans will remember Chuck Butcher and Frank Shine, no doubt. This pair of pitchers, who won plenty of games in the organized league, are now hurling in the independent loop down south. They hooked up in a hurlers' duel last night, and it was a pip. Quakers beat Leafs by a 3-1 count, with Shine fanning 14 and Chuck breezing 'em by nine. The latter allowed but four hits—and wasn't wild—while Shine was nicked for seven. Pretty nice going and we are glad this pair are doing so well in their new surroundings.

* * * * * *

DESPITE the loss of Bill Calladine, the Petes may yet plug the third-base gap—allowing Whatley to do the catching. Last night, a guy turned out who looked to be quite a third-sacker. Not sure of his name but it sounded like Dawe or Dodds or Doul or something. Short and chunky, and wearing specs, he yet looked like a ball player. Gees who follow the game up can spot a natural ball player within half an hour. And he looked like one. Could field, throw, move around and nail the apple on the nose. We may hear more of him soon—and we may find out where he hails from and the rest.

* * * * * *

THEY certainly can't get the pitching in Toronto senior ball circles that C.O.B.L. hitters have to face. It has been shown time and again when leading Toronto clouters began playing for the Central Loop teams, and immediately their batting average slumped around .100 points. We see by an account fro mToronto today where G.W. Grads took an 8-1 win over Findlays yesterday and the leading hitters were Jeffers and Ken Long. The latter didn't do much with the willow last year in Napanee, and Long hit just .236 with the Petes. Both got three hits yesterday, and both have been getting a couple or three every tilt so far this season. And when George Blazetich can step in there and twirl winning ball—well, we know doggone well that the C.O.B.L. is still keeping up its reputation as having the best amateur hurlers in Ontario. With memories of Goyer, Williams, Oulette, Allen, Gallagher, Dainty, Heckman, et al.

* * * * * *

OSHAWA SCRIVENER suspects plenty of trouble in Kingston with homebrews deserting senior company to play intermediate, being envious of imports and what they may be getting. And he sees friction locally, too, with Starr and Calladine on the holdout list. While adding: "Locally, all is hunkory-dory. The boys work out regularly and there are plenty of aspirants trying to break into the senior ranks. Several may meet with success, too, for they're showing plenty of fielding and hitting ability and Coach Art Legge is more than ready to put a little new blood into the roster." Careful Art, better not bust up a winning combination, or is there a trifle of trouble in Oshawa ranks, too? Tip Miller and missus have a baby gal, we hear.

TOMMY MUNNS in the a.m. sheet writes: "Peterborough's J. Percy Bond still is aholidaying. As Past President of the O.H.A., he's quite a hockey fan in the winter, but for the rest of the year he is an ardent devotee of racing. Hence it's not surprising to receive a letter from him with a Columbus, Ohio, dateline—because that's where Beulah Park is. Percy has turned reporter. He writes that Calico Miss, well-known to Canadian racing fans, was destroyed recently to end a long siege of shipping fever; and that George Palmer has taken over the duties of presiding steward at Beulah. There's also his little story of an uncashed ticket at Beulah Park, a ticket which will be worth $723.60 if turned in to the cashier. It is on a daily double coupling Jean Andrews and Civil War and the price is the second largest for a double in the history of the track. 'Oh, boy, were the stoopers busy all afternoon when this news got out,' concludes Reporter Bond."

GUTTA PERCHA TIRES

FORMER RUGBY STAR SUCCUMBS

TORONTO, May 20 (C.P.). — Hugh Gall, 49, one of Canada's most famous footballers in pre-war years, died in the General Hospital on Thursday after being stricken with pneumonia.

Gall was captain of the University of Toronto football team of 1910 that won the Dominion championship against the Tigers at Hamilton.

He was an engineer and factory superintendent, and served overseas in the Great War.

Billy Foulds, chairman of the Rules Committee of the Canadian Rugby Union and who played quarterback on Varsity teams with Gall, termed Hughie the "greatest backfield player I have seen in Canadian football."

Gall specialized in drop-kicking while with Parkdale High School here. But when he entered University he concentrated on accuracy in punting and learned to kick from close behind the scrimmage line.

In 1908 he starred with the Blues when a tragic blunder lost them the Dominion title to the Tigers at Hamilton. Warren Coryell of Varsity tossed the ball to an official, mistaking him for a teammate, and Tigers took possession to core the winning touchdown. The following year the University team captured the Intercollegiate and Dominion championships.

University of Toronto and Hamilton used only one substitute each when Varsity won the Dominion title in 1910 under Gall's captaincy. His kicking played a major part in the 16-7 victory that retained the championship.

Gall took part in canoeing, baseball and hockey activities in his school days and turned to badminton, curling and golf in later years.

In 1915 he became a lieutenant with the Canadian Engineers and served overseas with the 257th Construction Battalion and the 7th Railway Troops and was at Ypres, the Somme, and Cambrai.

Park St. Juveniles Swamp All Saints'

Park St. Juveniles of the Church Softball League swamped All Saints 21-4, last night at King Edward with hard, steady slugging. The Baptists played smart ball behind Sanderson's nifty hurling, the latter's high hard one breezing by eight rivals. Martin, Durry and the Ainslie boys pounded the pellet consistently for Park St., while Ackford was the only loser to get two safeties. The teams:

All Saints: Robinson, 3b; Ackford, 1b; Reid, c, p; Hill ,2b; Morley, rf; Abraham, p, ss; James, lf; Spooner, cf; Lacheur, ss, c.

Park St.: B. Ainslie, 1b; Durry, c; Campbell, 3b; Martin, ss; J. Ainslie, 2b; Weaver, rf; Anderson, cf; Briscoe, lf; Sanderson, p.

Lawn Bowling

By HERB MARTIN

The main reason for distributing the schedule books before May 24 is, that each member may have ample time to read it and become acquainted with the different rules. And this is important as some of the rules are changed annually. The book contains a complete list of all the club's activities for the coming season—it gives the dates of all the competitions, the personnel of all rinks, ladies and gentlemen, also will be found.

On the third page the greens committee is making a strong appeal to the members to co-operate, and by so doing show the committee they appreciate their efforts.

A few pages further on you will read all about the new rules—the one about the subs, the change in the penalty system, the recording of games on the blackboard and a host of other suggestions that will be useful to the individual member.

All the Board and the different committees asks is this—when you receive your schedule book, take a few minutes off and read it from cover to cover—there has been a lot of time and work put into the preparing of this book, and all for the benefit of you bowlers. Read it carefully and remember, "ignorance of the rules is no excuse."

Quakers Win 3-1 Over Maple Leafs

Making their initial start in the Southend Softball League last night, Quakers nosed out Maple Leafs, 3-1, in a tidy tussle. Chuck Butcher hooked up in a fine pitchers' duel with Frank Shine, and the latter allowed the Leafs but seven hits as he fanned 14, though walking seven. He was tight in the pinches, the losers having the bases loaded in each of the last three frames with none out, only to have Shine fan the side each time. Butcher went great and turned back his rivals five frames without a hit, allowing but four altogether and fanning nine as he walked three during the fixture. Hits by Shine, Cournyea and Starr, along with two costly errors in the sixth gave Quakers their edge. Cournyea hit a triple and Webb got a double. Holdor hit the Leafs' lone two-bagger, but Ashmore had three singles in four. Scriver's catch of Butcher's drive was a fielding feature and Conley had two neat grabs for the Leafs. The teams:

Leafs: C. Corbett, 3b; Conley, ss; Ashmore, c; J. Corbett, 1b; Butcher, p; Anthony, rf; Holden, cf; Hatton, lf; Kitchen, 2b; Giardino, 2b.

Score by innings:	R.	H.	E.
Quakers ..... 000 003 0—3	4	5
Leafs ..... 000 000 1—1	7	4

Umpires—Coursey and Payne.

Next game will be Wednesday when Quakers meet Hawks at the Quaker diamond, and Leafs and Cardinals are due to clash at the Brinton field.

No Softball Loop For Campbellford

(Examiner Correspondence.)

CAMPBELLFORD, May 20.—After holding the second softball organization meeting of the year without any response or hope of forming a town league President George Free and Secretary Harold Dunk decided to call it a day and abandoned the idea for the time being at least. There was only a small turnout at tonight's meeting held in the Armouries and since no one there was willing to shoulder the responsibility of managing a team the chances for much organized softball this summer look slim. The picked team sponsored by F. G. DeCarrol and organized several weeks ago with a view to entering the O.A.S.A. playoffs will, unless three other teams are formed, be the only local outfit playing on the school lot during the summer. There is however some talk of this team lining up in a league with Hastings, Norwood and Havelock.

Bill Lee Goes 10-Frame Route To Shade New York Giants 1-0 Herman's Single Helps In Win

Bees Take Second Straight From Pirates—Indians Back On Top

NEW YORK, May 20.—(CP)—Eight-inning Lee is 10-inning Bill now, and things are perking up for Cholly Grimm's galloping Cubs from Chicago.

It had been so long since Bill went the route that the folks were beginning to think he didn't know there were nine innings in a ball game. Someone must have tipped him off yesterday, however, because he not only lasted the regulation distance, but added one inning for good measure and handed the Giants a 1-0 setback.

This victory set a lot of precedent for the 1938 season, but most of all it changed the folks' mind about Bill. In six previous starts this year, Lee hadn't lasted. In his last five trips to the post in 1937, the same situation prevailed.

Hurls 5-Hit Job

But, after a streak of 11 times in which he failed to finish what he started, Bill's right arm looked as classy as ever. He pitched a five-hit job in his "comeback," didn't walk a man, and grew stronger and faster inning by inning.

While the Cubs' second-in-a-row over Terrible Terry's lads was the big baseball news of the day, such other things were happening here and there as the return of Cleveland to the top of the American League; the second straight overtime victory for Boston's Bees over Pittsburgh Pirates, and the end of Boston Red Sox's eight-game winning streak, as well as the finish of their stay on the top of the American League.

The Pirates dropped a 4-3 decision to the Bees in 11 frames yesterday, which boosted Casey Stengel's boys, riding a five-game winning streak, into third place in the National League.

Tough on Home Grounds

Back home after a costly road trip, the Indians are about-facing as usual. No matter how they totter around the circuit, they're always rough, tough and nasty in Cleveland. Yesterday they bashed the Washington Senators 15-3. The Red Sox, after having won eight straight and taken over the pace, were blanked 4-0 by Johnny Whitehead and the White Sox in an abbreviated seven-inning affair, and dropped back to second.

Hugh (Losing Pitcher) Mulcahy fooled the boys and girls in Philadelphia by pitching the Phillies to a 5-4 win over Cincinnati. Brooklyn Dodgers trounced the St. Louis Cardinals 8-4. Rudy York and Hank Greenberg each contributed a homer and Detroit Tigers topped the Athletics 6-2. The Yankees and Browns were rained out.

CHANGE IN PILOTS NO HELP TO CHIEFS

SYRACUSE, May 20 (AP).—The sovereign remedy for a ball club's slump, a change of managers, isn't what it used to be.

Syracuse Chiefs, deep in the ruck of the International League, tried it yesterday, getting rid of Jim Bottomley and replacing him with Dick Porter. Then the Chiefs went out last night and were thumped 7-3 by the champion Newark Bears.

All this activity (or non-activity) on the part of the Chiefs detracted somewhat from other events as the league opened its night baseball season. At Baltimore Pitcher Tom Baker revived the wobbling Jersey City Giants with a 2-2 victory over the Flock, and at Buffalo, Montreal Royals treated themselves to an 18-9 win over the Bisons.

The Chiefs had won only six games under Bottomley, and were nestled comfortably in the cellar. And Jim, who had found his aging legs couldn't carry him through the season, saw no pleasant summer ahead as a bench manager.

So Bottomley is out and Porter, a veteran outfielder with a hitch in the big time behind him, is in. He has no easy task ahead.

Soccer Notes

The opening of the local soccer season takes place on Saturday afternoon, when the Canadian General and the Brinton Athletic, meet in an exhibition game. Kick off at three o'clock. Referee Tom Foster.

A special meeting of the P. and D.F.A. will meet on Monday evening, at eight o'clock, to draw up the schedule for the league. It is expected that Deloro executive will be present to meet the board about their entry fee and guarantee fee for the season.

It is expected that the dressing room on King Edward Park will be ready for the game on Saturday, also open for the visitors that will be here on the holiday.

The Canadian General A. A. executive of the soccer team have made arrangements for the entertainment of the visitors in the Canadian Legion Hall after the game when a banquet will be held; also the usual versatile enjoyment thereafter.

According to the new rules, a half-circle will be made around the penalty area of ten yards so that will facilitate the freedom to the kicker when taking the kick from the penalty spot.

Although the "gullible" American Indians are said to have sold Manhattan Island for a hatchet and a few trinkets, they also sold a strip of land in New England six times.

SEAGRAM PAYS $1 FOR PLATE ENTRY TO CARRY COLORS

TORONTO, May 20 (C.P.) — Fourteen thoroughbreds, the best Ontario-bred fillies, geldings and colts eligible, were expected to be named to-day for the 79th running of the King's Plate on Saturday.

All candidates for the $7,500 added purse and 50 guineas, donated by the King, have been tuned to perfection and declared fit to battle over a mile-and-a-furlong. The race is open to three and four-year-olds which have never won a race other than those for juveniles.

Bunty Lawless, the favorite and pride of Willie Morrissey's stable, was guarded closely from prying eyes as post-time neared. Stable hands took more than usual care with bedding and diet to forestall any possible mishap.

Care was also the watchword in other stables. Suffern and Caracole, H. C. Hatch's threat to win the classic for the third straight year, were constantly in attendance of grooms. Hatch won the race in 1936 with Monsweep and Goldiure won the event last year.

Seagram Back.

Enthusiasm rippled around Woodbine Park when word was received the famed yellow and black colors of the Seagram racing stable of Waterloo, Ont., would be carried in the race by Tabhim.

Until yesterday the stable was not scheduled to have an entry. When nominations were released last month the usual Seagram representative was absent. J. E. Frowde Seagram, son of Edward Seagram who died more than a year ago, didn't have a horse to name.

The colors have been carried without a miss since 1889, and during that period won the plate 20 times. Phillip Seagram, brother of Frowde, felt, as did all horsemen, that the classic would not be the same without a Seagram color-bearer.

Gentleman's Agreement.

Phillip Seagram closed a deal with Jim Fair of Brantford, who owned three eligible horses, to "buy" Tabhim for $1.00. Under the arrangement Tabhim will be delivered to the Seagram Stable on Saturday morning. Then after the race the four-year-old gelding would be returned to Fair. Any winnings—and experts agreed it was unlikely — would be divided between Seagram and Fair.

CATTLE STEADY, HOGS GO UP 25 ON WEEK'S SALES

TORONTO, May 20 — (CP). — A liberal run of cattle was cleaned up at steady prices on Toronto Live-stock market this week, the Dominion Livestock Branch reported. Calves were steady to firm. Hogs gained 25 cents. Top feed-lot lambs were up 35 cents, while Spring lambs and sheep sold a little lower Exporters took about 700 steers for overseas during the week, but the greatest demand for killers came from Toronto packers and butchers.

Weighty steers ranged from $5.50 for common up to $7 for choice, with a few heavies up to $7.50. Butcher steers and heifers sold from $5.25 to $6.75, and four loads of 1000-K lb. steers brought $7 cwt. Butcher cows were $3.75 to $5.50, with canners and cutters $2.50 to $3.50. Good light butcher bulls sold at $4.50 to $5.25 and bologna bulls brought $4 to $4.50. Fed calves ranged from $6 to $7.75 according to quality with four tops at $8 cwt.

Light stockers of common to medium quality sold at $4.50 to $5.50. Milkers and springers were unchanged at around $70 for tested tops.

The market will be closed Tuesday, May 24.

Calves were $8 to $8.50 for choice vealers with occasional tops at $9. Common to medium calves were plentiful at $4 to $7 cwt. About 400 head were shipped to United States.

Hogs Touch $10.40.

Hogs opened 10 to 25 cents higher at $10.10 to $10.25 off trucks for bacons and strengthened to a general $10.25 on Tuesday and Wednesday with some going to Montreal at $10.40. Sows were sold at $6.25 to $6.75 cwt. off trucks. The market closed steady at $10.25 to $10.40, with most sales at $10.40.

Lamb receipts included 410 from the west. The westerners made a new high for the year of $11.35 cwt. Ontario feed-lot lambs were sold at from $7 to $11 cwt. according to quality. Spring lambs eased off after the opening with sales ranging mostly from $5 to $9.50 each and a few up to $10. Some spring lambs, weighing 70 pounds, were sold at $12 cwt. For best light ewes with heavy, fat sheep at $3 to $4. Culls closed at $1.50 to $2.50 cwt.

if you do not get in the capital you need, than to go ahead and fail later because of lack of working capital. It is also advisable to sell at competitive prices, and try to put the business on a cash basis if you can possibly do so.

After all credit is a costly proposition. If you have to wait for some of the money to come in for goods sold, study the credit union as a possible solution. We have two credit unions in Bruce county that are really little co-operative banks for the purpose of saving and lending. The week before last I visited a certain Co-operative that made a net saving of $600 in April. Their business amounts to $8,500 and their capital is just $400. Most of their financing has been done on notes of $35 discounted at the bank. Now they realize they have to put the business on a cash basis because their interest payment in April was $42.

Like Planting Orchard

I am not criticising the bank. They are willing to extend the credit, but you soon realize that it costs too much. A Co-operative is like setting out an orchard. You don't expect the trees are going to bear fruit the very first year. You know very well that they have to grow and develop and in due time you get fruit. So, if you invested $15, for example, in a Co-operative, your do so in the hope that it will be a good investment, but you have to take a certain chance just the same as if you bought a cow. There is the possibility that a cow might die on you before you got returns from it equal to what you paid for it.

There is no magic about a Co-operative. It may develop faults in management or in disloyalty of members. It is nothing more than using your united buying power and selling to yourselves, and the real benefits accrue when the number of Co-operatives and their members build up a strong and flourishing organization throughout the province."

It was also stated that if Peterborough farmers decide not to proceed with the proposed Co-operative the main group to be affected will be themselves in losing the advantages of co-operation, and especially the other farmers of Ontario who are hoping that Peterborough will build up a branch to add strength to the entire Ontario co-operative movement.

SCARED OF PRAYING

NEW YORK, May 20—(AP). — North American men like to "throw a bluff at being bad because they're afraid to be caught being good," Father John Bernard Kelly, the poet-priest, said to-day on the eve of his silver jubilee. In reality the American man is inherently religious, said Father Kelly, but "scared of his life he'll be caught praying, because he fears it shows an emotionalism which he feels belongs in a woman's province."

AWARDS ARE MADE AT MUSIC FESTIVAL

COLBORNE, May 20.—First day of the Northumberland County Music Festival which opened here Wednesday and will close today, drew a large number of contestants from all over the county.

Thirty-eight children under ten years of age took part in the boys' solo in class 5, the contestants in general being complimented by Dr. A. H. Fricker, the adjudicator, for the quality of their voices. The winner of the piano class for children under ten years was Bert Bowen of Castleton, seven years of age. In second place was tiny Doris Ames of Codrington, six years of age.

Ninety-two singers competed in the vocal duet class and 42 girl soloists under 13 years of age were heard also. The marking is scaled 80 per cent. for a gold medal; 75 per cent. for a silver medal, and 70 per cent. for a bronze medal. In some of the classes the awards are challenge shields and trophies. Following were yesterday's results:

Class 1, piano (under 10 years), Bert Bowen, Castleton; Doris Ames, Codrington, and Franklin Churchley, Frankford. Class 5, boys' solo (under 11 years), Robert Dixon, Carrying Place; Frank Moynes, Carrying Place, and Bruce Curtis, Centreton. Vocal duet, Lora Oliver and Betty Bruce, Hamilton Township; Margaret and Isobel Hayes, Murray Township; Joyce and Wilma Kay, Warkworth.

Class 8, girls' solo (11 to 13 years), Norma Potter, Oak Heights; Isobel Hayes, Muray Township, and Jeryne Brown, Trent River.

CARE OF CLOTHING REVIEWED BY W.I.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

WARKWORTH, May 20. — The Percy Women's Institute held a special meeting on Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Joe Greenly, with an attendance of 13 members. At this meeting, Mrs. Lorne Evans gave a review of the lectures and demonstrations that she has given to the Institute members during the last four months on care of clothing, moth control, mending, darning, etc. Also to make arrangements for Achievement Day, which is expected will be held at Warkworth; the date to be announced later.

A fine display of the work done by the different members for Achievement Day was on exhibition. Amongst them was a very pretty garment bag, shoe holders, hat racks and many others.

A vote of thanks was tendered Mrs. Lorne Evans for the great interest she has taken in this work; also to the hostess, Mrs. Greenly, for her fine hospitality.

The hostess served home-made candy and popcorn at the close of the meeting.

ter several members, including members of his own party, had urged stabilization of prices of farm products. "That's the bunk," Mr. Spence declared. It was impossible to fix prices on perishable commodities.

Transport Minister Howe was called upon to defend charges the new eastern port charge schedules issued by the National Harbor Board late in March would drive business away from Montreal and place an additional burden on grain producers. W. A. Walsh (Con. Mount Royal) brought the charges.

The ministers reply was that the new rule, putting the elevator loading charges on owners of grain instead of on the ocean vessels taking it and who had borne it for 50 years, would not be effective until the end of the present St. Lawrence season. By next spring new freight tariffs would be issued by the steamship owners lowering their rates to the extent of absorbing the $4 per thousand bushels elevator charges.

The change was made because the Harbors Board had no authority to levy charges on the vessels and to put Montreal and other St. Lawrence ports on a parity with all other ports in the world. It would make no difference to the grain business nor to the grain growers.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

TWEED, May 20—After a lengthy illness, William Wesley Purdy, passed away at the residence of his brother, Mr. F. S. Purdy, on the 1st concession of the Township of Thurlow, on Wednesday morning.

The late Mr. Purdy, who was in his 74th year, was born in the 5th concession of the township of Tyendinaga, and resided there for many years. For the past fifteen years he made his home in Thurlow township. He was a member of the United Church, and well respected in the community.

Surviving him are three sisters, Mrs. S. Ray, Ivanhoe; Mrs. Bert Gill, Belleville, and Mrs. Edward Barber, Rochester; three brothers, Hiram Purdy, Washington; Norman Purdy, Windsor, and Francis S. Purdy, Thurlow township.

The "seven dimensions of intellect," according to a Chicago university professor, are: Memory, induction, word fluency, number facility, verbal reasoning, perceptual speed and visualizing ability.

SCOUTS HONORED W. J. HICKEY ON 82ND BIRTHDAY

WELLAND, May 20.— Twenty-nine years ago a resident of Welland, W. J. Hickey of Burgar street was recently felicitated on attajning his 82nd birthday. He has enjoyed a life full of activity and responsibility, and 38 years ago as general superintendent for the Spanish River Pulp and Paper Company laid the foundations of what is to-day the busy little town of Espanola in the Soo district. For nearly 30 years he has been a contractor in Welland and this year is busily engaged in operations at Central school where important building renovations are in progress.

Possibly dearest to Mr. Hickey's heart is his association with the Boy Scout movement. A pioneer worker in this cause in Welland, Mr. Hickey directed local scout activities for many years and was also a valued member of the provincial executive. His service for scouting was impressively recognized a few years ago when he was awarded the Silver Acorn, the movement's highest honor. It was Mr. Hickey's distinction to be the first worker in Canada honored with this award.

The Scouts remembered Mr. Hickey. An all-embracive gesture from the youngest cub to the highest member, was a handsome bouquet of flowers sent to Mr. Hickey with the scouts' best wishes on his birthday.

Speaking on general conditions 30 years ago as compared with these of to-day Mr. Hickey said that wages were lower but life was more stable. Trends of civilization were more even and it was an undoubted fact that 35 years ago civilization was a very real thing, with no Communism, no Fascism, no Nazlism to disturb the world's equilibrium. It was impossible to-day to estimate the world's future even a few months ahead. Forty years ago it could be estimated years ahead, he said.

On May 9, Mr. and Mrs. Hickey were wedded 57 years.

Mr. Hickey was born in Peterborough in 1856 and was for many years a resident. Three sons and a daughter reside here: P. J. Hickey, 335 Reid street; E. H. Hickey, 160 Simcoe; J. J. Hickey, 304 Maitland Ave., and Mrs. J. Roach, 561 Elm street.

TRAVELLERS PLAN GOODWILL PICNIC

At a meeting of the various committees, held recently, the proposed program for the Traveller's Goodwill Picnic to be held at Victoria Park, Cobourg, July 6, was carefully planned.

President Thurston predicts that this year's picnic will eclipse all others, in the entertainment of their customers and employees with their respective families.

The day will be studded with nothing but feature attractions, clowns, music, games, sing song and vaudeville, with a host of talent and prizes galore.

In the morning the travellers will again be hostess to little children, this year they will entertain about 100 underprivileged children from Peterborough and Oshawa.

Among the feature attractions will be the Cobourg Kiltie Band, under the direction of the Band Master Mr. Goldring, vaudeville will be in the same capable hands as last year.

OBITUARY

MRS. JANE GRIFFITH

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HAVELOCK, May 20.—The funeral took place on Monday afternoon of the late Mrs. Jane Eliza Griffith, whose death took place in Haliburton last Thursday. The service was held at the resident of her son, W. E. Griffith of town, interment taking place at Maple Grove Cemetery

Mrs. Griffith was in her 88 year. She was the eldest daughter of the late James and Mary Patterson, and was born on September 4, 1850, in Durham County, Arthabasca, Quebec. She moved with her widowed father, a brother James Edward, and two sisters to Norwood in 1864, and lived there until her marriage to William Griffith of Seymour Township in 1877. With her husband, who died in 1894, she moved to Belmont in 1891, and lived there until she moved to Haliburton in 1931 to reside with her son, Mr. George Griffith.

Besides her son George she is survived by her son, W. E. Griffith of town, Nellie, a daughter, Mrs. Hamilton of Tilney, Sask., and her only brother James Patterson of Norwood.

MRS. WILLIAM G. READ.

Stricken suddenly with a heart attack while she was working in her garden on Thursday afternoon, Mrs. William G. Read, 604 Gilmour street, died shortly after five o'colck. She had been in poor health for some time, but her death was an unexpected shock.

Born at Oak Hills, Ontario, sixty-six years ago, she was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. David Cummings. She had lived here for the past thirty-one years and was well known throughout the city, where she had a host of friends. She was a member of St. Andrew's United Church and an ardent worker in its Womens Missionary Society.

Surviving are her husband, William G. Read, and one son, W. C. Read, Peterborough; four daughters, Marjorie at home, Mrs. W. C. English, Peterborough, Mrs. W. Bastedo, Toronto, Mrs. J. B. Bastedo, Newmarket; one brother, Fred Cummings of Akron, N.Y.; and three sisters, Mrs. A. B. Lord, Alberta, Mrs. J. R. McIntyre, Edmonton, Mrs. W. Curtis, Cobourg.

The funeral will be held on Saturday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock from the late residence, Rev. E. W. Young of St. Andrew's Church, officiating. Interment will be made at Keene cemetery.

GOVERNOR-MAYOR ORDERED JAILED

WATERBURY, Conn., May 20.—(AP)—A general bench warrant for the arrest of Frank Hayes, lieutenant governor of Connecticut and Mayor of Waterbury, and 26 others, charging "rampant corruption" in the city's administration, was in the hands of a special prosecutor today. County Detective Edward J. Hickey was instructed to round up the 27 men.

The warrant, charging a "conspiracy" to defraud the city of money, "in excess of $1,000,000," was issued last night after a special grand jury had charged Waterbury had been "under the domination of a small but powerful, ruthless and corrupt group of men who managed the affairs of the city for personal and political advancement."

A highway-accident hospital has been established near Hackensack, New Jersey. It is staffed with four policeman-nurses.

Cadets Inspected

Millbrook high school cadets received high praise from Captain P. M. Millette of Kingston when they marched in their annual parade on Thursday afternoon. The cadets are seen here lined up on the parade grounds ready for inspection. Cadet Captain Ken Kidd and Lieutenant Orville Wainman are at their posts in front of the troops. Inset at RIGHT is Captain Millette and at LEFT is the cadet instructor, Lieut. B. B Dawson.

TO OBSERVE LIGHTS.

The members of Port Hope town council are planning to visit Peterborough for the purpose of observing this city's street lighting system. Probably residents and business men on Hunter street east might suggest that visitors should not be encouraged to cross the bridge into the comparative outer darkness that marks the Ashburnham section of the street from the bridge to the Western Clock Company's plant.

290,000 MUSKIE FRY

The Kawartha district has received 290,000 maskinonge fry this week, distributed from Rice Lake to Buckhorne Lake. The deposits were as follows: White Lake, above Stoney, 25,000; Lovesick Lake, 50,000; Stoney Lake, 25,000; Little Lake, 15,000; Otonabee River, 50,000; Little Mud Lake, 25,000; Buckhorn Lake, 50,000; Deer Bay, 50,000. Charlie Kingan assisted the representatives of the department in the work of placing the tiny fish in waters where many of them may grow up to be fighting muskies.

MADE FAST TIME.

It is possible to have a bouquet for wedding purposes sent from California so it will be fresh when it arrives in Peterborough. There was one such which arrived in the city on Thursday via C.N.R. express and the shipping tag gave a complete record of how it came. The flowers were addressed to Miss Joyce Alcock, 577 Chamberlain street, and the understanding was that they would arrive in Peterborough at 2 o'clock on Thursday. Shipment was made from Huntington Park, California, on Tuesday at 2.30 p.m. From there the packet went by air express direct to Chicago, and then by air again from Chicago to Detroit. From Detroit the rest of the trip was by train, arriving in Peterborough at 11.59 Thursday, and being cleared through customs and delivered at the house at 1.20 p.m., which was 40 minutes ahead of the date of delivery set when the parcel left California. The flowers were so well packed that when opened they were found to be as fresh as though newly picked. So the time for such shipment from California to Peterborough is now established at 40 minutes less than two days.

The collections will be made from the street letter boxes as usual, and all mail posted will be despatched as usual.

CATCHES BIG PICKEREL

Allenby Curvin, son of Tom Curvin, is evidently a chip off the old block when it comes to fishing and his latest stunt of landing a pickerel weighing 8½ pounds at the Young's Point locks, is setting the pace for his father. Not many pickerel have been caught in that district and anyway one that weight and measuring 28½ inches in length is a nice fish to catch anywhere.

HAS TURNED UP.

However, later in the evening word was received that the missing youth had turned up safely.

TRIAL IN COBOURG.

Two charges against Maurice Tolton, following a highway accident near Fraserville last Friday night will be heard in Cobourg Police Court to-morrow. Tolton's truck was involved in a collision with a car and two women were injured in the crack-up. He is being charged with drunken driving and reckless driving, and a number of Peterborough witnesses will have to go to Cobourg for the trial.

ONE NIGHT JOB.

People who left the Elite Cafe on George street late one night this week and returned early the next morning were astounded at the change in the restaurant's appearance. For between the hours of midnight and eight in the morning, the entire interior had been repainted. It took a staff of 15 men from Coleman Brothers only eight hours to complete the entire job. It wasn't a simple paint job either, but a four-shade combination. When Owner Louis Yeotes arrived at eight in the morning he was amazed at the alternation that had taken place in his absence, and was loud in his praise of the workers.

LIFE INSURANCE NOW SPECIALIZED

The regular monthly meeting of the Peterborough Life Underwriters Association took the form of a luncheon Thursday noon at Hooper's Palm Room where they listened to D. L. McDougall, Superintendent of Agencies of the Confederation Life Association. The business of life insurance was described as four-fold, with Manufacturing, Merchandising, Banking and Educational Functions. The speaker stressed the modern trends of selling Life Insurance to fit the needs of the individual purchaser and of his dependents by using the various settlement options to provide maximum benefits should the assured die too soon or live too long. One of the most important duties of the efficient Life Underwriter is to assist his client in drawing up plans so that the proceeds of his Life Insurance policies meet the requirements of last expenses and family maintenance as well as adequate retirement income for sunset years.

Mr. McDougall criticized agents who, in avoiding opportunities for service, are Application, Rate Book or Company conscious. The average policyholder or prospective policyholder is interested fundamentally in "What Life Insurance will do for me and mine" and to accomplish this, the speaker stressed the advantages of each agent fully qualifying through careful preparation and study.

For many years in charge of the Group Department of his Company, Mr. McDougall briefly outlined the history of Industrialism, the prevailing tendency to co-operate on the part of employer and employee and the resulting growth of Group Insurance and Group Pensions due to the necessarily close association between capital and Labour in industry.

Speaking of the Trusteeship of Life Insurance, Mr. McDougall drew attention to the fact that, contrary to the "die to win" attitude frequently adopted by the public, it is interesting to learn that of all monies paid out last year in America by Life Insurance companies, 60 per cent was paid to living policyholders in maturities, cash values, dividends, etc.

In moving a vote of thanks to the speaker, Mr. C. N. Hall, secretary of the local association, commented on the alarming shrinkages which occur in the estates, large and small, where careful plans have not been made by the assured during his lifetime. He pointed out the vast field of service open to agents who equip themselves for this branch of life insurance.

W. A. J. Giles, president, was in the chair and E. L. Sackville announced the visit of A. J. Irving, Dominion President, to the local association next Friday, May 27th.

SCREAMS OF GIRL GIVE ALARM

Loud screams from the direction of the river late on Thursday night aroused residents in the neighborhood of Dublin and Waterford Streets and on hurrying to the foot of Dublin Street they saw a young girl standing on the boom stretching out into the Otonabee from that point. She had taken off her coat and was screaming that she would throw herself into the river. A hurried call to the police station brought a police car and the girl was arrested.

This morning she faced a charge of attempted suicide before Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., in Police Court.

"I wasn't trying to commit suicide," she said in surprise when the charge was read to her.

However, when she was asked to plead she said, "Guilty."

"I though you told me just now that you were not trying to commit suicide," said Magistrate Langley. "I will not take a plea guilty now."

At the request of Crown Attorney McElderry, K.C., the girl was remanded until Monday morning.

Y.W. PAGEANT IS TO BE PRESENTED AT BROCK STREET

A gorgeous, sparkling and quite novel "Fantasy of the Sea" features the 1938 Y.W.C.A. Pageant, to be staged in the Brock Street Gardens on Friday, May 27.

Careful study of the lovely sea colors, the waves, the sands, and the vast army of sea creatures, has resulted in what promises to be a spectacle of unequalled beauty and charm in color, added to the talented performances of the dancers and the pretty little story that accompanies the whole.

A little sand child, becoming separated from her companions, falls asleep, to be awakened by a magnificently robed and imposing figure, who turns out to be none other than Father Neptune himself, come to show her the marvels of his kingdom. First come the mysterious and lovely Spirits of the Sea, the winds and the waves and the mermaids, to introduce the delightful procession of the inhabitants of the deep.

The black and white penquins, solemn and stately, arrive and are followed by the oysters, at least forty of them, with their most ingenious shells and cute little half pearl caps. The color scheme grows as the dancing seaweeds appear, in their lovely trailing mauves, tans, pinks and greens. Glittering dragon-flies with long silver antennae, dance with pretty little colorful sea anenomies, the loveliest little things, and then by way of contrast, the absurd oysters, red and shiny complete with claws, will march into the picture to demonstrate just how tricky can be a lobster tap-dance.

Probably one of the most fascinating touches will be the performance of those gorgeous little creatures, the baby goldfish, all glistening goldy-yellow, following their imposing leader, and finally hiding away among the seaweeds. Blue and white costumed sailors, straight from Davey Jones' Locker, come into the picture, too, and do a most spirited hornpipe, and last come the lovely glittering white seagulls. Can you imagine the lobsters inveigling Father Neptune into dancing the Big Apple. That is just what happens. But probably the most beautiful bit of all is the lovely Blue Danube waltz by the green and blue Spirits of the sea, and the little lost Sand child becomes a glittering white seagull too.

The Ballet will be preceded by a grand review of the gym work, which is a splendid exhibition in itself. Massed classes will demonstrate the rhythmic exercises for Health and Beauty; the Babies' nursery rhyme action work; skipping rope exercises, wand drill and lovely medau rhythmics, in which large silver balls are used. His Worship, Mayor Hamilton, will speak at the commencement of the program.

SIXTEEN NAMED FOR KING'S PLATE

TORONTO, May 20.—(CP) — Headed by the favorite, Bunty Lawless, 16 horses were named today to start in the 79th running of the King's Plate at Woodbine Park tomorrow.

Seeking his third straight victory in the historic race, H. C. Hatch of Toronto entered Suffern and Caracole. Hatch won the race last year with Goldlure and was victorious in 1936 with Monsweep.

The race, over a mile-and-a-furlong, carries a $7,500 added purse and 50 guineas donated by the King.

Grand Dame, a three-year-old black filly, was named to carry the brown and yellow colors of G. M. Hendrie of Hamilton. Aldwych, another favored filly, was entered by R. W. R. Cowie of Toronto.

Horses entered and owners follow: Slycat and Tokay, J. E. Smallman, London; Wicklow, Riverdale Stable; Suffern and Caracole, H. C. Hatch, Toronto; Troublemark and Tabmark, J. G. Fair, Brantford; Tabhim, P. Seagram, Waterloo, Ont.; Bunty Lawless, W. F. Morrissey, Toronto; Mona Belle, Cosgrave Stable, Toronto; Red Pirate and Bucharest, R. S. McLaughlin, Oshawa; Grand Dame, G. M. Hendrie, Hamilton; Thirty Below, R. H. New, Toronto; Cabin Gal, H. Giddings, Toronto; Aldwych, R. W. R. Cowie, Toronto.

Sixty Examined By Chest Clinic

(Examiner Correspondence.)

CAMBPBELLFORD, May 20—Being held here since Monday the Provincial Travelling Chest Clinic examined some thirty patients in their temporary offices established in the Armoury Building on Tice Street. Approximately the same number as were given examination last year applied for an appointment through their local doctor or through the local M.O.H. Dr. F. de F. Free. It requires three days to complete the data compiled by Dr. G. G. Brealey in charge and D. Wise, x-ray technician with whom he will return to Belleville on Thursday when the clinic closes here for another year.

LILAC TEA HELD AT CAMPBELLFORD

CAMPBELLFORD, May 20.—A profusion of white and purple lilacs, yellow tulips and ferns greeted the one hundred and fifty ladies who attended the Lilac Tea held under auspices of the Women's Missionary Society of St. John's United Church Thursday afternoon. In the words of the president, Mrs. E. C. Roberts, who welcomed the gathering to the tea, the decorations of flowers in large vases on the stage and in banks at the end of the hall and their arrangement on the tables was "simply beautiful." Mrs. Roberts then proceeded to thank all those who had assisted in arranging the affair which was the "one day in the whole year when the W.M.S. was at home to all their friends." The decorations were in charge of Mrs. E. H. Greig and Mrs. M. Mowatt and the group leaders who arranged the program were: Mrs. H. B. Neal, Mrs. A. L. Malcolm, Mrs. W. H. Ashton, Mrs. G. A. Kingston and Mrs. A. D. Bennett.

The program included vocal solos by Miss Alva Mowatt, Mrs. A. G. Watson, Miss June Burgiss, and Miss Jean Tubbs. Miss Helen Nicholson and Miss June Burgiss offered the only vocal duet and the concluding number was a piano duet by Gladys Stephens and Dorothy Henson.

INSURANCE MEN HOLD CONFERENCE

Representatives of the Peterborough and Kingston Divisions of the Confederation Life Association with their managers, W. A. J. Giles and G. R. Sinclair, held a joint educational conference at the Empress Hotel today. D. L. McDougall, Superintendent of Agencies, in addressing the conference, referred to the association's increased business over that of 1937. In Ontario the new business to date is almost 24 per cent greater than in the same period of 1937.

"The sale of life insurance is an excellent barometer. Our business all over Canada is up 16 per cent over that of last year, and all indications are that 1938 will be a very good year," declared Mr. McDougall, who was accompanied by J. K. Macdonald, executive secretary of the Confederation Life Association, and grandson of the founder, and also by A. E. Wall, Inspector of Field Service.

CONTEST WINNERS RECEIVE PRIZES AT SEYMOUR W. I.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

CAMPBELLFORD, May 20—Winners of last year's membership contest Mrs. E. Fairman and Mrs. Howard Clark were presented with glass bowl sets at the meeting of the Seymour West Women's Institute held at the home of Mrs. Arthur Rutherford on Thursday afternoon. Mrs. James Waters, the president, presided for the meeting, and following the reading of the annual statement it was decided to pay the transportation fee of the girls of the Home Making Club who will attend the Achievement Day program. It was also arranged to offer a special prize to the School Fair for the pupil collecting the most woodchuck tails.

Mrs. Waters announced the Rylstone District annual which will be held in Rylstone on June 17 and then proceeded to thank the members for their splendid co-operation during the past year.

The program of the afternoon was in charge of Mrs. Frank McElvie and opened with a brief period of community singing. The topic "Things Money Can't Buy" was ably presented by Mrs. Garnet Curle following which a report of the Guelph Girls' Conference was offered by the Misses Beatrice Rutherford and Irene Curle. As a gesture of appreciation the retiring president, Mrs. Waters, was presented with a table reflector for which she thanked the members in a few well chosen words. Following the National Anthem a buffet luncheon was served.

12 More Warships Asked For U.S.

WASHINGTON, May 20 (A.P.).—Chairman Vinson (Dem.-Georgia) of the United States House of Representatives Naval Committee, apparently with administration support, advocated to-day an immediate appropriation for 12 ships, a dirigible, and a "mosquito fleet" authorized by the $1,000,000,000 Naval Expansion Act.

The vessels include two light cruisers and a 20,000-ton aircraft carrier. The other nine are auxiliary ships — the category in which the Navy is most deficient.

The new construction program, exclusive of the tiny torpedo boats, would bring to 93 the number of ships now on the ways or for which money has been appropriated.

CHAPTER 41

Barbara and Ray Lipton sat in their steamer chairs, on the deserted deck, as the dusk came quickly. Barbara's words stayed in the air a moment before they drifted out to sea.

"Garry and I just made the mistake of thinking we loved each other once, that's all."

Yes, that had been their mistake. But it was one that she would carry with her always. Oh, she would reach a place where it would not hurt so deeply but even when she was quite old she would know when he was near, when he spoke, when he smiled. None of this was in the qiet voice or the glance that she gave to Ray.

"I wish you were going with me, Babrara," Ray said.

"If you don't mean it, Ray, you had better not say it. Stray words can get a young man into a heap of trouble."

He looked at her quickly. "They aren't stray words, darling. I think we would be good for each other. We'd both laugh more if we were together. I've a hunch you aren't feeling very gay and I'm going to be lonesome as the deuce."

"Therefore, if we laugh and not be lonesome ,you think we ought to get married?" Her voice was laughing a little, trembling a little.

"They are two mighty good reasons. Besides, my dearest, I happen to love you."

Barbara spoke quietly. "I appreicate it, Ray, more than you'll ever know. It's very wonderful, being loved. But you see I don't love anyone. I like you very, very much. It's funny, Ray. I like you better than any man I know and I'd rather be with you."

Her eyes were puzzled with the knowledge. Ray laughed.

"Oh, may darling, don't you see what a grand foundation on which to build? It would be up to me to make you love me. Do you think you might some day, Barabara dear?"

Some day—some day in that nebulous future in which there would be no Garry...yes, some day she might.

She turned restively in her chair. "I don't know, Ray. Perhaps."

He flashed her a swift smile but he made no move to touch her. "That will be good enough for me, Barbara. I'll wait. It's up to me now."

Barbara was up early in the morning to watch the passengers for Cherbourg off in the little tender. The low hills of Normandy were green, and the colored sails of fishing vessels bobbed up and down, like painted corks, on the water. The sea gulls came out to the boat. Then the hours passed quickly while she packed and prepared to land at Southampton. Ray had not alluded all day to the previous afternoon's conversation. He had taken a last promenade around the deck with the sophomore on one side, and the debutante on the other. First he had asked Barbara, though, but she had been tired.

She was in bed, that night, at the old hotel near Buckingham Palace, where her editor had arranged for her to stay, before she let her thoughts come and march before her. In the distance Big Ben was striking. Outside the palace the guards would be walking. She was in London—and Garry was over the sea.

The walls of the room began to close in. She flung back the covers, slipped into her clothes and her fur coat and a beret, and went to the lift. It was self-operating so no one need know she was slipping out. She almost laughed at that. There was no one to know but Ray and he was in a hotel blocks away.

Outside the streets were quiet and deserted. She felt at peace, as though the pages of an old story book had opened to accept her and closed again. She would walk to the Thames and watch the river. But the Thames was a long distance, and she gave up before she reached it. She went into a lunchroom for a cup of coffee, for the fog was rolling in and the night was growing cold.

"Ah, lass, and you are alone?" the pleasant faced, plump proprietress of the lunchroom asked.

Barabara nodded.

"From over the seas you are, I'm thinking," the woman continued. "For what is it you are looking for at this hour?"

"I couldn't sleep so I thought if I should grow very tired, maybe I could." The hot coffee was soothing and the woman's sympathy was balm.

"You were looking for a bit of peace, my dear, I take it."

Barbara nodded. "It comes with forgetfulness.'

"It's a man, then, isn't it?"

Again she nodded. "What made you think so, though?' She could talk to this strange, understanding old woman.

"Ah, my lass, when you have seen as much of the world as I have seen you will know when a pretty girl droops there is is a longing in her heart for a man."

"And how does one get over this —this longing in her heart for a man?"

"She could marry him—"

"No, he doesn't care about her any more, you see."

The old lady laughed and her ample person shook with the merriment. "Then I would say, my blessed one, get another lad. The whole world isn't going to end because one boy has no eyes in his head. Let him go, the dumb one!"

"I was thinking about that very thing," answered Barbara. "The other man is very nice but, you see, I don't love him."

The old lady was entering into the spirit of the romance. "Bring him in tomorrow evening for me to see. Then I'll tell you. Have some more coffee. It's a cold night and a bitter one."

When Barbara was again in her bed, the foggy air rolling in from the sea, and the clock chiming as she went to sleep, she laughed softly. Life might still be fun. Adventure wasnt done. What was it Ray had said? Oh, yes: "Well laugh and not be lonesome."

The old lady was most laudable when Barabara brought Ray to meet her the next night. She explained to him that she had stopped for a cup of coffee and promised the talkative old lady she would come again. The woman found a chance, before they left, to murmur a few words to Barbara.

"He's a fine young man, and a handsome one. You should be taking him in a hurry, my dear."

But the subject did not come up between them as the days went by. Ray had obtained a 10-day leave of absence from his new duties, before he would cross the channel to France, and Barbara's office was most generous in allowing sightseeing time during her first two weeks.

Together Ray and Barbara went riding on the trains and explored London Tower, Fleet street, and the Strand. London Bridge became a reality instead of two words in a childish song, and Westminster Abbey added to the dramatization of history.

They went, too, to Stoke Pogis churchyard and sat on a tombstone while they tried to remember the lines from Gray's Elegy, and they told the time of day by the old sun dial in Warwick Castle, Stratford-on-Avon, with Shakespeare's church and school and birthplace and the cottage where Ann Hathaway waited for him to come back, took another day.

At first Garry's ghost went with them. Barbara would look at something of historical interest or beauty and find herself wanting him to share it, or wondering if he had seen it. Something she remembered he had mentioned, and she sought these with added fervor.

But gradually Garry's voice and smile and profile faded. Ray was a good companion. She wakened one morning after a sightseeing expedition, with a thrill because she was young and in England and she was meeting Ray for breakfast after which they were going to a funny little town where the houses leaned against one another, as though they all had secrets to whisper in the chimneys' ears, and where they would lunch at a quaint tavern.

To marry Ray did not seem so improbable now. Before he went away she would tell him.

Then swiftly, it was the night before he would sail. Long before he would come back from his assignment she would be in America. Unless—she caught her breath at the thought. Unless she married him and waited in London. She was fairly sure that the American office of the magazine would arrange for a transfer.

New York without Garry, without the apartment that she loved, without Ray, seemed lonely and terrifying. London was comfortable and old and understanding. She could not love Ray and she had loved Garry. Maybe if one did not expect ecstasy, one ran no danger of hurt in the days to come. At dinner that night she leaned across the table.

"Ray, I've made up my mind at last."

Perfect Table Manners Bring You Good Times

Make HIM Proud of You

"You can take Dot anywhere," Jim says. "And she'll never let you down."

Sweet praise indeed. Let's tag along and see what it is that makes Dot such a popular dinner date.

First of all, her gay self-assurance puts her escort completely at ease. She waits for him to pull out her chair, smiles her appreciation as he helps her off with her wrap.

Second, she makes a man feel important. "What do you recommend, Jim?" she asks as they examine the menu. She always tells her date what she wants, lets him give their order to the waiter.

Third, she avoids all the little slips that offend fastidious people. She touches her napkin to her lips before taking a drink of water if there is risk of a greasy smear on the glass. She puts salt for celery on her plate, not on the tablecloth. She never drops olive pits in the ash tray.

Check YOUR table manners against the easy rules in our 32-page booklet. Formal and informal meals. Unusual foods.

Send 15c in coins or stamps for your copy of GOOD TABLE MANNERS to Examiner, Home Service, Peterborough. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, and the NAME of booklet.

THE WRONG MAN

SIMCOE, Ont., May 20—(CP).—Mrs. Martin O'Brien of Mimico, whose husband was shot and killed a year ago at Mimico, told Simcoe police to-day an Indian held here on a vagrancy charge, is not the man wanted for the shooting.

Mrs. O'Brien, witness to the shooting, came here this morning, accompanied by a police officer, to see George Adams, of the Six Nations Reserve, who was arrested last night by Simcoe police while watching a softball game.

Expression of Appreciation for Favors Is One of the Stepping-Stones to Success, Be It in Business or in the Home; Don't Neglect It With Your Family

THE Most productive and the least practiced of all the virtues is appreciation. "Thank you" are the magic words that are not only a love charm that wins and holds affection, but that have only to be uttered to unlatch doors and open purses and make every one give you the glad hand and push your forturnes. Yet not one person in a thousand ever takes the trouble to speak them.

No other human effort returns such a percentage as gratitude and recognition of a kindness that has been done one or the help that has been given one in their hour of need. Such being the case, and the rewards of appreciation so great, it is a strange thing that people should be so loath to show it. No one can explain it except upon the theory that many of us are self-conceited that we think that no matter what others do for us, it is no more than what was coming to us; that a few of us are so mean and greedy that we will take everything that others will give us and belittle their gifts by showing them that we do not think them worthy of any acknowledgment.

Perhaps there are some who do not realize what a part appreciation plays in life. They have not analyzed their own emotions enough, for instance, to know that it is the basis of love. It is the thing above all others, above sex attraction, above suitability that draws men and women together.

John falls in love with Mary not because she is pretty or sweet or a good cook, but because she appreciates him. Because she makes him feel that in a world that has somehow never discovered how wise and witty and good looking he is, she has seen him as a paragon. And Mary falls in love with John for precisely the same reason. Other men may have passed her by and not seen that her sandy hair covered a clever brain, or what a perfectly beautiful soul resided in her overweight body. But John appreciated that if she wasn't Miss America she would make him the kind of a wife who is a queen in the home circle.

Nor do many husbands and wives realize that whether a marriage is a success or a failure depends altogether upon the mount of appreciation they show each other. Every marriage is found to be full of work and worry, sacrifices and disillusionment, and whether in the end these become a burden too great to be borne or just something that they take in their stride as part of the adventure of matrimony is determined by how often they say "thank you" to each other.

For it is so easy and such a pleasure to do things for those who appreciate them, and so hard and so bitter to do them for those who take your toil, your self-denial and your weariness for granted without ever making a sign that you are martyrizing yourself for their benefit.

If every wife told her husband every day how much she appreciated all he did to keep her and the children soft and safe, and that she thought that the man who slaved to support a family and went without vacations so that she and the youngsters might go South in the Winter and North in the Summer deserved to be canonized as a saint, there would be no more disgruntled husbands. And if every husband told his wife how fine and wonderful he thought her and what a help she was to him, and that he thanked God every night for giving her to him, there would be no more ladies whining over the monotony of domesticity and pricing tickets to Reno. The thing that is the matter with marriage is that husbands and wives don't say "thank you."

And, if you want to get along in the world, appreciation is your best talent. A cynic has defined gratitude as a lively sense of favors to come. Perhaps it is. But even if it is only a come-on, it works. For certainly very few of us ever put ourselves out to do a second kindness for any one who has not appreciated the first one.

The man you don't mind lending money to when he gets in a jam is the one who is still grateful for the help you gave him before. The guests you like to invite to your house are those who speak every now and then of what a good time they always have at your dinners.

Those to whom you give a hand up are those who do not forget your boost. So appreciation pays even materially, besides being a lady's and a gentleman's gesture for favors received.

Bedtime Story

By HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY SAVES CHATTIE

High above the trees poor Chattie Chipmunk, a cousin to Johnnie and Billie Bushytail, the squirrels, as being blown away tangled in a boy's kite. The kite itself had broken loose from the long string by which the boy had been flying it.

If the string had still been fast to it Uncle Wiggily could easily have pulled down the kite and also Chattie.

"But as it is I am going to have a hard time saving Chattie," said the rabbit gentleman as he continued to look through his telescope at the kite-flying chipmunk girl.

"You will save her though, won't you, Unkie Wig?" asked Baby Bunty.

"Of course I will!" promised Mr. Longears. "But I wonder how in the world Chattie ever got tangled in that kite?"

"If she only had a microphone up there with her she could radio down to use and let us know by wireless how it happened," said Buster. "I have a little radio set home—"

Megaphon

"That will never help Chattie to tell us what happened," said Jingle.

"Oh, save me! Save me!"

"If she had a megaphone like those the cheer leaders have at football games it would help," said Jangle.

"I can make a megaphone out of a piece of birch bark," said Uncle Wiggily. Quickly he stripped off a sheet of thin bark and rolled it up into shape like an ice cream cone. It was like the bark horns the hunters in Maine or Canada use to imitate the call of the moose.

"I can make Chattie hear me," said Uncle Wiggily as he put the birch bark megaphone to his mouth "But I don't see how she can make us hear her to explain how she got on the boy's kite and is now being blown away."

Loudly the rabbit gentleman called through the bark horn:

"Hi, Chattie, what happened? How did you get on the kite?"

They waited for Chattie's answer. And, strangely enough, it came The wind suddenly ceased and then began blowing Chattie back over the trees toward the nature school. The kite's paper surface acted like a sounding board in some churches.

Then Chattie was heard to say:

"Oh, I was in a hurry to get to Uncle Wiggily's nature school to learn some facts for my note book. I saw the boy's kite on the ground and I thought maybe it would take me up in the air and fly me quickly to the woodland school.

To The Rescue

"But when I sat on the kite, my tail got tangled in the sticks and strings. Then the wind swooped me up and dropped me down in a tree over the school. And now the wind is blowing me away again. Oh, save me! Save me, Uncle Wiggily!"

"I shall," bravely promised the rabbit gentleman. "I will hop to my bungalow to get my airship. You children animals keep watch through the spy glass which way Chattie is blown on the kite."

It did not take Uncle Wiggily long to get into his airship. It was made of a clothes basket with toy circus balloons to make it rise in the air. It had an electric fan for a propeller.

Soon the rabbit gentleman was chasing through the air after the kite with Chattie tangled in it. Faster and faster flew the kite but faster and faster Uncle Wiggily in his airship flew after it.

At last he caught it and then he took Chattie in it with him, pulling her loose from the kite which flew away. So Chattie was saved and Mr. Longears flew back with her to the nature school.

And if the dandelion doesn't scratch the covers off the flower bed so the pansies catch cold in their faces, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the freezing lesson.

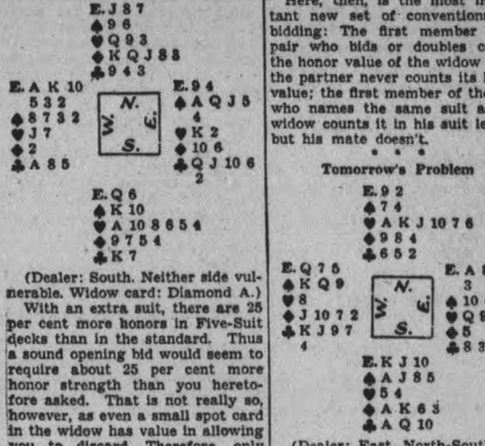
WRITTEN FOR THE EXAMINER

By SHEPARD BARCLAY

"The Authority on Authorities"

FIVE-SUIT BIDDING

INTRODUCTION of the Eagle suit influences all departments of your tactics, though the same general principles apply. Besides having more tricks to play, you have more cards to bid and hence require somewhat different conventions. Since the ultimate declarer can add the value of the widow card to his hand or dummy, thus making possible a discard, there must be some way to protect a side from having both partners count it. Otherwise it will get counted twice and cause overbids.



(Dealer: South. Neither side vulnerable. Widow card: Diamond A.)

With an extra suit, there are 25 per cent more honors in Five-Suit decks than in the standard. Thus a sound opening bid would seem to require about 25 per cent more honor strength than you heretofore asked. That is not really so, however, as even a small spot card in the widow has value in allowing you to discard. Therefore, only very slightly enhanced honor strength is needed. And if the widow card is a high honor, you may not need any more.

On the deal shown, the diamond A may be safely treated by the dealer as if he held it, so he can bid 1-Heart. West also can count on its value if he becomes declarer, so he can without hesitation overcall with 1-Eagle — which, of course, he could do even without it. Fine players have already got together on the idea that the first member of a pair to bid or double counts the honor strength of the widow card for the side. If the partner now bids, such as North calling 2-Diamonds, he may be considering the widow as adding to his length in diamonds, but should not count its honor strength in his calculations.

Here, then, is the most important new set of conventions for bidding: The first member of a pair who bids or doubles counts the honor value of the widow card; the partner never counts its honor value; the first member of the side who names the same suit as the widow counts it in his suit length, but his mate doesn't.

* * *

Tomorrow's Problem

(Dealer: East. North-South vulnerable. Widow card: Diamond Q.)

At Five-Suit, if West leads the club 7 against South's 3-No Trump contract, should South place the widow card in his hand or the dummy, and what should he discard?

THE STARS SAY . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Saturday, May 21

A very enterprising and lively day is forecast from the predominant sidereal activities. Sudden and surprising changes loom in connection with very important propositions, which will require much initiative and constructive effort. If these be brought to bear with energy, attention to details and intensive application, there will be excellent results in stabilizing the affairs. Personal associations also have aspects for solidity and satisfaction.

If This Is Your Birthday.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year of much surprising activity, with new matters and much initiative developing in connection with solid projects or new undertakings having important bearing on stabilizing the future. Unexpected travel and change are in order, and worthwhile achievement depends on a constructive grasp of sound opportunities.

A child born on this day may be energetic, constructive, persistent and responsible, while at the same time being friendly, congenial, and popular.

Free distribution of beef, pork and milk to the poor will be started in Denmark.

JUST BETWEEN US WOMEN

"How foolish it is to try to cure by argument, what time will cure so completely and so gently if left to itself. As I get older, the anxiety to prove myself right, dies out. I hold my time, and time vindicates me, if it is possible to vindicate me, or convicts me if I am wrong."
—Mark Rutherford's "Deliverance."

Dear Friends:

How many like to argue about trifles, and how many more like to prove that they are right. Sometimes two have a quarrel, and immediately they try to prove how right they were in what they said and what they did.

I used to be like that, but I have found time to be my best ally. I like a friendly argument, it's a good way to learn things you don't know, but when it begins to get serious, I say "let's change the subject."

Sometimes in a case like that, the other will retort, "oh you can't take it eh?" I can take it if it will do me any good, but if it only serves to ruffle me, if it strains the friendship, then I do not want to take it. So I tell the other we will leave it to old Mr. Time, and if I am wrong, then I will take my medicine.

Many's the love that has been strained to the breaking point because someone wanted to prove how right they were. Many's the friend who has been alienated because the other made no concessions to the friend's point of view.

It's like the different forms of religion, each is right as far as they know or see, but trying to make the other see from their side can not be done, so why argue? Not so long ago, a person said to me, "Roberta, you're slipping. You let that one go away thinking she was right, and you know she was utterly wrong."

And I told this person it didn't affect me one way or the other, and if it gave the one who thought she was so right any satisfaction to think like that, why she was welcome. But time would show how very wrong she was.

There are times and places when we must have an argument, but there are lots of times when the subject could be dropped with benefit to everyone concerned. After all there is nothing so exasperating as one who argues about everything and anything, just to hear their own voice.

And there are people who would say black was white, just to be contrary, They know you are right, but they don't want to give you the satisfaction of admitting it, so why get all hot and bothered about it? Lowell tells us this: "There is no good in arguing with the inevitable. The only argument available with an east wind is to put on your overcoat."

So, if you have an east wind among your friends or relatives, don't argue with them. Put on your overcoat of indifference, let them blow off all the steam they want to, and in a little time they will boil dry. But if you keep putting in a little more water as your side of it, it will take them all the longer to get dry.

A fire needs more fuel if it is to keep burning. An argument needs the fuel of more words if it is to keep alive, so if the thing is not worth all the bother but just to prove how right you are, let it die out. Time will take care of it for you, and best of all, you will not lose your friend or your love.

I overheard a man tell another on the street last week, that he had not spoken to so-and-so in years. The other man asked "why?" and the first one said "Oh we had an argument," but when pressed to tell what they argued about, he could not remember.

If it was so unimportant that he had forgotten it, then why had he let the years slip by without speaking? He hadn't been able to prove he was right. Let time do the proving for you. Your Friend,
ROBERTA.

Archdeacon Simpson of Millbrook Weds Margaret Vivian Lough

St. John's Anglican church, Ida, was the scene of a very pretty early summer wedding, that attracted wide interest, on Thursday, May 19, at 3 p.m., when the most Rev. Derwyn T. Owen, Archbishop of Toronto, Primate of the Anglican Church in Canada, united in marriage Margaret Vivian Lough, of Ida, to Venerable Archdeacon William Simpson, B.A., rector of the parish of Cavan.

The interior of the church was fragrant and lovely with apple blossoms and lilacs, tastefully arranged, and the altar and reredos were banked with whtie tulips and white narcissi. The guest pews were marked off with white blossoms and white satin ribbon, and the sacred edifice was filled to capacity for the ceremony. Mrs. L. H. Winslow played the wedding music.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Roy Lough, of Ida, was becomingly gowned in pearl gray Chantilly lace, floor length, over matching taffeta, and wore a large hat of Baku straw in violet shade, gray shoes and accessories, and carried an arm bouquet of Madame Butterfly roses and orchid sweet peas.

She was attended by her sister, Miss Jean Lough, who looked very dainty in cornflower blue chiffon, over taffeta of the same shade, blue felt hat trimmed with pink roses, silver slippers, and whose bouquet was of Briarcliffe roses and pink sweet peas. The groom was supported by Archdeacon Moulton of Barrie, and the ushers were Alfred Lough of Peterborough, the bride's cousin, and William Simpson, the groom's son.

The processional hymn, when the bridal party entered the church, sung by the combined, surpliced choirs of the three churches of Cavan parish, was "The Voice That Breathed O'er Eden," and during the signing of the register, the choir sang, "O Perfect Love."

Following the ceremony at the church, a reception attended by about sixty guests, was held at the bride's home, Ida, the large rooms being attractively decorated with seasonable blossoms. The bridal party received in the living-room, and buffet refreshments were served.

Tea was poured by Mrs. Robert McCamus, a sister of the bride, and looking after the guests were Misses Marjorie and Isabel Brand, of Toronto, Miss Jane Simpson of Barrie, Miss Eileen McCamus of Toronto, Mrs. Willis Hall and Miss Margaret Simpson.

Archbishop Owen proposed the toast to the bride, and reply was made by the groom, Archdeacon Simpson. Later Archdeacon and Mrs. Simpson left by motor on their wedding trip, the bride choosing for travelling a dress of navy taffeta, with redingote of navy sheer trimmed with white, navy hat of Baku straw in small sailor design, trimmed with white and with navy veil, and matching accessories. Upon their return, they will reside at the rectory, Centre street, Millbrook.

Guests from out of town points who attended the wedding included: Archbishop and Mrs. Owen; Dr. and Mrs. Henry Brand and the Misses Isobel and Marjorie Brand; Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Douglas; Mrs. Bishop; Miss Eva Fordyce; Miss Muriel Staples; Mr. and Mrs. H. McMahon; Mrs. Towler; Miss Gwen Thomas; Mrs. Percy Heeney; Miss M. Simpson; Miss Eileen McCamus; Mrs. Charles Stapleton, all of Toronto; Mrs. Robert Neill, Mrs. R. G. Kingan, Rev. Canon J. D. and Mrs. Paterson, the Misses Denne, Mrs. Charles Lough, Miss Gwen Lough, Mr. A. Lough, Miss Edna Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Baptie, of Peterborough; Colonel and Mrs. Everett Birdsall, Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Elmhurst of Asphodel; Archdeacon Moulton, and Mr. Thomas Simpson of Barrie.

A community shower was held on Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Beecher Matchett, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander McNaughton, who were recently married. A large crowd of friends and neighbors were in attendance. W. Dawson was chairman for the occasion. An address was read by F Savigny and the gifts were carried into the room in a prettily decorated basket by Betty Stewart and Jack Matchett, dressed as bride and groom to the strains of the wedding march played by Mrs. Harold Dawson. Mr. McNaughton made a suitable reply, after which "For they are jolly good fellows" was sung by all. Another interesting feature of the evening was the presentation of a picture to Mr. and Mrs. Rose, a bride and groom who have recently moved into the neighborhood. Miss Margaret Chambers read the address and Mr. Ross made a reply. After the shower gifts were opened, lunch was served.

Peterborough Presbyterial W.M.S. Holds All-Day Session in Cobourg

The largest number of delegates for some years attended the Peterborough Presbyterial Women's Missionary Societies annual meeting held all day Thursday in St. Andrew's Church, Cobourg. Mrs. A. Glen Thompson of Campbellford, presided throughout the sessions, at which were present members from Peterborough, Lakefield, Norwood, Hastings, Keene, Campbellford, Warkworth, Brighton, Colborne, Cobourg, Port Hope, Newtonville and Bowmanville.

An address by Mrs. W. A. McLennan, Council Executive President, was the highlight of the afternoon. Likening missionary work to "a great adventure" in which all are shareholders, whether in cities or small villages, at home or in foreign lands, Mrs. McLennan went on to describe some of the fine work being accomplished throughout the world.

In these days when divisions are being stressed nationally, the different peoples are yet being drawn together by the church, said the speaker, and mentioned the International Conference to be held in Madras, December 13-30, attended by 450 delegates from all parts of the world, including six from Canada.

Speaking of the work in India, where the emancipation and education of the women, begun by the missions, has now been taken up the Government, the speaker mentioned several of those who have been ardent workers in the field, notably Dr. John Buchanan, in the Bhil field and Miss Stringer, who both report a greater eagerness than ever before on the part of the people to hear the Gospel. Dr. Buchanan will address the General Assembly in Calvin Church, Toronto, in June.

The remarkable work being accomplished in Formosa was described. 57 native congregations, 20 of which are self-supporting, are the result of the Presbyterian missionaries work here. For many years the Presbyterian church has been the only one active, in either North or South Formosa. Speaking of Manchuria, the speaker mentioned two new missionaries, who will sail in August, Mrs. Gehman and Miss Gibbs, to be designated at Simcoe and Brantford respectively.

In British Guiana, where the mission stations formerly cost $40,000 annually, the expense to the home fields is now only $12,000, the Government having here also seen the value of the educational work being done, and sharing in it. Mrs. McLennan spoke also of the new ten-bed hospital, in the Rocky Mountains, where Miss Cuddy has been appointed as superintendent, with an assistant.

The morning business sessions included the minutes of the annual meeting and January executive meeting read by Miss F. Galbraith, and the Presbyterial reports, including: Mission Band, Miss Pittick; Young Women's Auxiliary, Mrs. J. B. Rhodes; Welcome and Welfare, Mrs. J. Rorke; Home Helpers, Mrs. J. M. Simpson; Supply, Mrs. D. Jordon; Life Membership, Miss N. Davidson; Glad Tidings, Mrs. J. W. Foote; Students and Exchange, Miss Gertrude Harvey; Press, Miss F. Galbraith; Library, Mrs. J. Eakins; Literature, Mrs. W. Purvis; reports of Auxiliaries, Y.W.A., Girls' Organ, and M.B., led by Mrs. J. Storie.

The afternoon session was opened by the Rev. J. B. Rhodes of Cobourg, with scripture and prayer. Financial reports were given by Mrs. Morgan, treasurer, and Mrs. Rowan, finance secretary; corresponding secretary's report, Mrs. J. Storie. The dedicatory prayer was given by Mrs. A. T. Barr.

The report of the nominations committee was brought by Mrs. J. W. Foote, convenor. Following the election and installation of the officers for the coming year, a closing message was heard from Mrs. Thompson.

Officers for Coming Year

The officers for the 1938-39 season are as follows Honorary vice-president, Mrs. C. Head, Colborne; president, Mrs. A. Glen Thompson, Campbellford; 1st vice-president, Mrs. David Ewart, Cobourg; 2nd vice-president, Mrs. A. T. Barr, Peterborough; 3rd vice-president, Mrs. L. T. McLaughlin, Bowmanville; 4th vice-president, Mrs. C. Melklejohn, Warkworth; recording secertary, Miss F. Galbraith, Bowmanville; corresponding secretary, Mrs. John Storie, Campbellford; treasurer, Mrs. H. W. Morgan, Peterborough; finance secretary, Mrs. F. H. Rowan, Peterborough; young women's secretary, Mrs. J. B. Hughes, Cobourg; girls' organization secretary, Mrs. D. K. Perry, Hastings; Mission Band secretary, Miss Ethel Pittuck, Cobourg; Home Helpers secretary, Mrs. J. M. Simpson, Lakefield; Exchange and Student secretary, Miss Gertrude Horsey, Cobourg; library secretary, Mrs. J. Eakins, Millbrook; literature, Mrs. W. Purvis, Port Hope; welcome and welfare, Mrs. H. Tait, Centreville; supply, Mrs. D. Jordon, Peterborough; assistant supply, Mrs. J. Anderson, Peterborough; life membership, Miss N. Davidson, Peterborough; Glad Tidings, Mrs. J. W. Foote, Port Hope; press, Miss F. Galbraith, Bowmanville; members without portfolio, Mrs. Blewett and Miss E. Walker, Peterborough.

Miss Gwen Lucas Gives Trousseau Tea

A charming trousseau tea was given by Miss Gwen Lucas, Thursday afternoon, and for which her aunt, Mrs. W. Boddison lent her home, 546 Wolfe street, owing to the illness of the bride-elect's mother, Mrs. H. Lucas.

The many guests were received by the hostess and her aunt, with Mrs. H. E. Connolly assisting also in the afternoon, and Miss Meta Hart in the evening. Little Eleanor Carroll and Peggy Boddison made attractive little door attendants.

The tea table was beautifully arranged with a lace cloth, a central bouquet of sweetpeas and lilies-of-the-valley in a rose bowl, lighted pink candles in silver holders and the silver services. Presiding in the afternoon were Mrs. G. T. Melton and Mrs. F. T. Hart, and in the evening, Mrs. J. M. McCulloch and Miss Mabel Carroll. Tea room assistants included: Mrs. G. R. Melton, Mrs. C. Farewell Gesture Students, Normal School

A delightful garden party and tea was the happy farewell gesture made by Dr. and Mrs. J. A. Bannister, Weller street yesterday afternoon to the student body of the Normal School, when the members of the school staff were also guests.

Dr. and Mrs. Bannister were assisted in receiving their many guests by Misses Helen and Doris Bannister, in the lovely garden where wild flowers ran riot. Small tables and garden seats dotted the garden which ended on a lilac crest. The tea table was a lovely central feature, done in lace cloth, and a profusion of lilac, apple blossoms and wild almond. Tea was poured by Mrs. Adrian Macdonald and Miss Florence Morgan of Millbrook, while the students were most efficient in serving the dainty viands provided as refreshment.

A pleasing feature of the afternoon was the gift of Mrs. Bannister of a lovely bouquet of rose carnations from the Normal students, in whose behalf, Lorne Johnston made the presentation, expressing their sincerest appreciation for gracious hospitality.

After a merry hour of games and intercourse between the students and the staff, the final gathering of the year dispersed in both joy and sadness, and the goodbyes were said with real regret.

BORN

DAVIDSON. — To Mr. and Mrs. Robert (Bob) Davidson (nee Donna Sharon), at St. Joseph's Hospital, on Wednesday, May 18, a son, William Edward.

RUTHERFORD. — At St. Joseph's Hospital, on Friday, May 20, to Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Rutherford, a daughter.

JOHNSON.—At Nicholls Hospital, on Monday, May 16, 1938, to Mr. and Mrs. Percy W. Johnson, 362 Simcoe street, a son.

DIED

READ, Mrs. William G.—On Thursday, May 19, 1938, at her home at 604 Gilmour street, suddenly, Nellie Cummings, beloved wife of William G. Read. Funeral on Saturday, May 21, from her late residence at 2.30 p.m., Rev. E. W. Young of St. Andrew's United Church officiating. Interment at Keene Cemetery.

STEVENSON.—Suddenly at Gananoque on Wednesday, May 18, Allan Rankin Stevenson, husband of Rosamond Carter, and son of Lieut.-Col. and Mrs. Arthur Stevenson of Peterborough. Funeral service, St. John's Church, Saturday, 2.30.

BROWN, Mrs. (Rev.) Hugh. — In Havelock, Friday, May 20, Esther Jane Patterson, beloved wife of Rev. Hugh Brown, in her 80th year. Funeral from family residence, Havelock, Monday, at 2 p.m. Interment Maple Grove Cemetery, under auspices of Prosperity Chapter 63 Order of Eastern Star.

IN MEMORIAM

HEGARDORAN.—In loving memory of my dear Husband, Harry Hegardoran, who passed away one year ago to-day.

Those whom we love go out of sight,
But never out of mind;
They are cherished in the hearts
Of those they leave behind.
Loving and kind in all his ways,
Upright and just to the end of his days;
Sincere and true in heart and mind,
Beautiful memories he left behind.

—Ever remembered by his Wife and Family.

HEGARDORAN. — In loving memory of my brother Harry, who passed away a year ago to-day.

His life was earnest, his action kind,
A generous hand, an active mind;
Anxious to please, loath to offend,
A loving brother and faithful friend.

—Ever remembered by his Sister, Edna and Brother-in-law, Lorne Hartman.

FRANCIS.—In loving memory of our little Daughter and Sister, Anne Francis, aged 3, who died May 20, 1937.

She was only a little white rosebud,
A sweet little flow from birth;
God took her home to Heaven
Before she was soiled on earth.

—Ever remembered by her Parents and Sister Helen.

HEGADOREN.—In loving memory of Harry Hegadoren, who died one year ago to-day, May 20, 1937.

I cannot say and I will not say
That he is dead. He is just away.
With a cheery smile and a wave of his hand
He has wandered into an unknown land,
And left us dreaming how very fair
It needs must be, since he lingers there.
And you—oh you, who the wildest yearn
For the old-time step and the glad return:
Think of him faring on, as dear,
In the love of there, as the love of here;
Think of him still as the same, I say
He is not dead—he is just away.

—Ever remembered by Howard and Pearl.

SASKATCHEWAN'S DEBT CURE SEEN IN SOCIAL CREDIT

REGINA, May 20—(CP).—Three Saskatchewan party chieftains stepped into the hectic Saskatchewan election campaign last night with accusations and denials as they pleaded for support in the June 8 voting. Liberal, Co-operative Commonwealth Federation and Conservative leaders placed their pleas before the electors.

Hon. W. J. Patterson, head of the Liberal government, spoke at Maple Creek, J. G. Diefenbaker, K. C., Conservative leader, appeared at Bladworth and G. H. Williams, C.C.F. leader at Spalding.

Mr. Diefenbaker, whose party failed to gain a seat in the 1934 elections, accused the Liberal government of throwing its whole machine into the fray with civil servants engaging in political work. Liberals realized defeat was imminent, he said.

He said "every man or woman in civil service, regardless of political belief, creed or race, has a right to security of tenure, if efficient, but I warn those who participate in politics that they are thereby endangering their position, and not only their own position, but those of their superiors who stand by without objection and permit participation by their subordinates."

"The excuse by senior departmental officials that their subordinates participate without their knowledge actively in this election will not be accepted," he said. "I think all fair-minded people will agree that to insure efficiency the civil service must be rid of politics."

End of the Liberals?

Mr. Williams before the Spaulding audience maintained that Premier William Aberhart of Alberta had stated if given a choice between the Liberal party and the C.C.F. he would vote for the former. Such a statement drove the last nail into the Liberal coffin, he said.

(In Edmonton recently Premier Aberhart conferred with A. J. Macaulay, C.C.F member of the Saskatchewan legislature. The premier later said he told Mr. Macaulay "that a good Liberal was more in line with his views than the C.C.F. with their ideas and religious beliefs." He explained he meant socialistic platforms and other plans).

This utterance alone, Mr. Williams continued, should be sufficient reason for wavering Liberals, who had not progressed far enough to join the C.C.F., to vote Social Credit. The government was so afraid that Social Credit would take large numbers of voters from the Liberal party that Attorney-General T. C. Davis was conducting a campaign on the meddling of Social Credit in Alberta.

"These are the very chaps who asked Social Credit to come into the province in 1938," said Mr. Williams who headed five members against 50 Liberals in the last house.

Before the Maple Creek meeting, Premier Patterson denied charges that persons supplying feed grain or fodder to the government were required to contribute to Liberal party funds. No preference was displayed to political friends in purchasing these supplies, he added. They were obtained in every part of Canada and parts of the United States.

The Cure For Her Debts

Mr. Aberhart spoke at Radisson and Rosthern as he continued his tour in support of Social Credit candidates. In Rosthern Rev. F. Peters, nominated as Social Credit candidate at a previous meeting, refused to permit his name to go before the convention which selected three names to be passed upon by the advisory council which will approve all candidates before nomination day, June 1.

Mr. Peters maintained he was nominated at an "official" convention but refused to say if he would run as an Independent Social Credit candidate.

Saskatchewan can "pull herself out of her debt hole" through Social Credit practices, Premier Aberhart said.

Although Saskatchewan is the third wealthiest province per capita, its funded and unfunded debt has been climbing rapidly, Mr. Aberhart said. Alberta's Social Credit government had the debt situation "by the tail" because it stopped borrowing as it knew it could not repay the money.

Governments that keep borrowing and know they cannot pay back are "dishonest."

Urging a Social Credit victory, the Premier said:

"I would just love you to take the front pages of all the world papers June 8 with the announcement Saskatchewan joins hands with Alberta. Wheat prices would jump two points as people of the world would say 'let us have some of that wheat.' You would be well advertised like Alberta."

The premier said he "hated" politics but was "driven" into public life because he saw the present economic system was not absorbing the students leaving the high school in Calgary of which he was principal. The old line parties refused to listen to his suggestions.

URGE BOYS 15-17 BE ALLOWED PASS

OSHAWA, Ont., May 20—(CP).—Boys of 15 to 17 years of age should not be forced to repeat senior grades in Public school but should be allowed to enter secondary school "for their own sake," in the opinion of Duncan McArthur, Ontario Deputy Minister of Education.

Mr. McArthur told the Urban School Trustees Association of Ontario yesterday, at the closing sessions of the Association's annual convention, that the probem was acute and that "if we paid less attention to examinations and more to the welfare of the boys and girls, it would be better."

"You are justified in inducing secondary school principals to take these pupils from Public school and place them in suitable courses," the Deputy Minister said. He told delegates the Department hoped to change examinations as an aid to solving the problem, and added: 'We are doing a serious injustice to these boys in forcing them to repeat the senior grades of Public school."

Mr. McArthur told delegates he was in sympathy with efforts of education, but warned that local control of education might thereby shift toward the government.

If by the substitution of larger grants, greater control of education at Queen's Park should be the result, the purchase of the increased grants would be at too great a sacrifice," said the Deputy Minister. He suggested efforts rather should be made to have more effective local rather than government control.

Trustees elected R. H. Foster, business administrator of the Hamilton Board of Education, as president and decided to hold the 1939 convention at Ottawa.

Industrial diamonds are the only gems in demand in Belgium's diamond market, and the need for these is said to come from war idustries.

HALIFAX BINGO BAN STIRS HOWL

HALIFAX, May 20.— (CP).— A public meeting last night appointed a committee of 12 to interview Mayor Walter Mitchell and request him to lift the order which banned bingo games and lottery tickets in Halifax. The meeting was composed chiefly of women.

Police shut down on bingo games here a week ago and at the same time placed a ban on baseball pool tickets, and "try" candy, penny candy whose wrapper contained different colored tags. Certain colors entitled the purchaser to a five-cent chocolate bar. Police Chief Judson Conrad said all violations of the criminal code insofar as gambling was concerned would be prosecuted.

The edict played havoc with bingo fans in Halifax—but more than doubled attendance at the games in Dartmouth, across Halifax harbor, where they remained unmolested.

Increase Noted In Truck Sales

WALKERVILLE, May 20.—During April over 68 per cent. more Studebaker trucks were sold by the factory to dealers than in the corresponding month of 1937, according to a report issued today by M. S. Brooks, President The Studebaker Corporation of Canada, Limited. In analyzing the figures for the year to-date, Mr. Brooks stated: "In the first four months of 1938, the constantly growing popularity of Studebaker trucks has enable us to sell 59.6 per cent. more units to our dealers than in the same four month period of last year. The last few weeks have witnessed an even more impressive advance, for in the month of April we sold 98 per cent. as many units as in the entire first quarter of this year."

SOCIAL CREDIT ACT RULING RESERVED

CALGARY, May 20—(CP). — Mr. Justice W. R. Howson in Alberta Supreme Court yesterday reserved judgment in the action seeking to have declared ultra vires the Alberta government's Social Credit act and the licensing of trades and businesses act.

Mr. Justice Howson indicated it would be probably more than a month, before he delivered judgment. The action was brought by the Motor Supply Company Limited against Premier William Aberhart at Attorney-General of Alberta.

W. S. Gray, K.C., senior counsel for the Attorney-General's Department, maintained the Alberta Supreme Court had no jurisdiction to deliver declaratory judgments in the action. The company which started suit after being called on to take out a wholesaler's licence under the trades and businesses act, was a Dominion incorporated firm.

H. G. Nolan, K.C., representing the company, declared the legislation was "an attempt to regiment the people to conform with the doctrine of Social Credit."

ACCIDENTAL DEATH

PRESCOTT, Ont., May 20—(CP)—Death of three-year-old Robert Gartshore, triplet son of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Gartshore of Prescott, was accidental, a coroner's jury decided here yesterday. The child was struck by an automobile May 10 and died a few hours later in a Brockville, Ont., hospital.

CZECH FRONTIER GUARDS SHOOT TWO GERMANS

BRITAIN FEARS CZECH ELECTION LEADING TO WAR

Nazi Troops Reported Assembling on Frontier Ready to Aid Sudetens

LONDON, May 21 (C.P. Cable).—Fear was expressed here to-day that if there is serious bloodshed in to-morrow's elections in Czechoslovakia Germany will intervene with force.

The German plea will be that the German minority has been intimidated. It is significant that the Sudeten Germans have declined to negotiate with Praha "so long as peace and order are not guaranteed in the German Sudeten regions."

Praha reports say Nazi storm troopers are assembling in unusual strength in the German districts bordering Czechoslovakia.

The German press is taking a sharper tone towards Czechoslovakia as though preparing the German public for eventualities.

In Paris it is recalled that Germany undertook to respect the independence of Austria.

Britain Asks Questions.

BERLIN, May 21 (C.P.-Havas).—The British Ambassador, Sir Nevile Henderson, called on Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop to-day in connection with reports of German troop movements toward the Czechoslovak and other frontiers.

It was Sir Nevile's second British visit to the Wilhelmstrasse within 24 hours.

Police Appear Armed.

PRAHA, May 21 (C.P.-Havas).—Police appeared on the streets of the capital to-day with gas masks at their belts and rifles on their shoulders.

Police thus equipped went to newspaper stands to confiscate publications printing alarming reports.

LONDON, May 21 (C.P.-Havas).—Viscount Halifax, Foreign Secretary, hurried back to London from Oxford to-day and went immediately to the Foreign Office, believed over the Czech crisis.

JAP RUNS AMOK SHOOTS 27 DEAD

OKAYAMA, Japan, May 21—(AP)—A deranged youth killed 27 persons with a shotgun and then committed suicide in a forest today. Police identified the killer as Mutsuo Toi, 22.

The youth, according to police, left his bed during the night and went through his home town, Kamomachi, killing sleeping men, women and children.

Oldest Fireman Capt. Taylor Dies

MONTREAL, May 21.—(CP)—Believed to be the oldest fireman in any department in Canada, Captain John Taylor, 77, head of the salvage corps here, retires this month after more than 57 years service.

Born in Kingston, Ont., Captain Taylor was on the volunteer force there before coming to Montreal. He joined the Montreal fire department May 2, 1881, as hosereel man. Later he became an engineman, and in January, 1900, was appointed captain of the salvage corps.

Although every state in the United States has suffered a tornado of some type, the Mississippi Valley has been peculiarly susceptible.

Last Minute News Flashes

PRAHA.—Two reserve army classes were called to the colors and modified martial law decreed for the frontier town of Graslitz to-day as the Czechoslovak government took a series of precautionary measures following the killing of two Sudeten Germans by Czechoslovak frontier guards this morning.

BERLIN.— Propaganda Minister Joseph Goebbels' mouthpiece, Der Angriff, to-day described Niklas Boehm and George Hoffman, Sudeten Germans killed in Czechoslovakia, as the "first martyrs."

17,000 More Licenses Are Ordered

Guelph, May 21

HEAVY DEMAND for automobile license plates in Ontario this year has brought a request for an additional 17,000 sets of markers to be made at the Ontario Reformatory, it was disclosed yesterday by Dr. J. D. Heaslip, Reformatory Superintendent. Ontario Highway Department figures reveal 585,000 motor vehicle licenses have been taken out so far, more than 61,000 above the number issued in 1937. No figures are available on the total number manufactured at the Guelph institution.

McGEER-DUNNING CLASH STIRS FUN FOR 25 MEMBERS

OTTAWA, May 21—(CP)—Liberal members of parliament eagerly scanned the pages of Hansard today for details of one of the liveliest clashes of the session between two members of their own party.

They had to go to Hansard because most of them were absent attending a party banquet last night when Finance Minister Dunning and G. G. McGee (Lib. Vancouver North) gave vent to their varying views on monetary reform.

At one stage of the night's proceedings only 27 members, including 10 Liberals were in their seats as Resources Minister Crerar piloted his estimates for national parks through committee of supply.

This provided the occasion for Mr. McGeer to make a few sharp references to the policies of the finance department and draw from Mr. Dunning a challenge to put his theories of monetary reform to the test of a vote in the House.

The minister expressed the conviction Mr. McGeer spoke for no substantial number of members nor for the people of Canada. In any event there was still responsible government in Canada and the policies of the government had to be guided by the views of the majority in parliament and in the country. As Minister of Finance he was discharging a heavy responsibility according to his conscience.

Garibaldi Park, a mountain area near Vancouver, now owned by the provincial government, set off the discussion. Angus MacInnis (C.C.F. Vancouver East) suggested it be made a national park and developed as a tourist attraction.

Mr. Crerar thought this would come eventually but regarded it as

(Examiner Correspondence.)

LINDSAY, Ont., May 21.—Miss Mary McClory, who resides on Mill Street, was found dead in bed this morning by her sister. The deceased, who was a member of one of the oldest families in the district, retired last night in her usual good health. She is survived by two brothers and four sisters.

FORTY MILLION PUBLIC WORKS IS ROGERS' AIM

Estimates by Dunning Total Over 106 Million; Housing Plan Announced

OTAWA, May 21 (C.P.). — Employment, direct relief, and various forms of economic rehabilitation account for half the supplementary estimates of $106,509,000 which Finance Minister Dunning will ask Parliament to vote for the fiscal year ending March 31 next. Work producing outlays to be voted total to more than $40,000,000.

Main estimates tabled early in the session called for expenditures of $425,000,000 and yesterday Mr. Dunning tabled the first supplementary estimates, giving indication of the Government's proposals to deal with unemployment.

In addition to those projects associated in one way or another with economic relief the supplementaries tabled yesterday by Mr. Dunning provide for $44,413,714 chargeable to Government-owned enterprises including the Canadian National Railway deficit estimated for the calendar year 1938 at $42,000,000.

Accompanying the estimates was a statement by Labor Minister Norman Rogers that the Government would bring down shortly legislation designed to stimulate low cost and low-rental housing and also legislation empowering the Federal Treasury to lend to municipalities on self-liquidating projects.

Expenditures provided for in the main estimates coupled with those announced yesterday, bring total money to be spent on relief, works projects, and agricultural rehabilitation and associated policies to around $100,000,000.

Grants in aid to the provinces will be provided to the extent of $17,500,000, a $2,000,000 decrease from last year.

Public works items involving buildings and works on harbors and rivers, will call for an additional $13,731,000 which brings the total votes for that purpose to more than $25,000,000 for the year ending March 31, 1939.

9 Million for Agriculture.

Main agricultural estimates, of which the final items were adopted on Thursday, totalling $9,160,000, were increased in the supplementary estimates yesterday by $6,742,000. Of that amount $5,965,000 will go for prairie farm rehabilitation, feed and fodder relief in the dried out areas and freight on live stock movements in Alberta and Saskatchewan.

Labor Department expenditures, for which the main estimates provided only $963,000, will be increased by $24,000,000 of which $17,500,000 is for grants in air, $1,750,000 for youth training, $1,075,000 for joint works projects, $1,870,000 for contributions to farm employment plans, and $500,000 to provide, in cooperation with the provinces, for rehabilitation of unemployed persons.

Fisheries will be assisted by a $500,000 grant for rehabilitation of those engaged in the industry and

Liberals To War On Fascism

Premier King Sees Nation Being Threatened; Calls On Party for United Fight

OTTAWA, May 21 (CP).—The Liberal party is ready to wage war on "subversive doctrines from within and without" that threaten national unity, Prime Minister Mackenzie King said last night.

Mr. King and three of his ministers, speaking at a banquet of the National Federation of Liberal women, made it clear the "national unity" theme will be the keynote of the government in its next appeal to the people.

A few days ago, said Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Justice, in the first speech of the night, a western Canada political leader in a province not his own advised Western Canada to band together. Certain statments made in the east were not much better.

"It is a challenge to Canadians," said Mr. Lapointe. "The flag of national unity must be at the top of the Liberal mast."

Defence minister Mackenzie, Labor minister Rogers and Mr. King pursued the unity theme first enunciated by Mr. Lapointe.

Dictators Sprouting

Canadians might well ask themselves if species of dictators were not beginning to function in Canada, said the Prime Minister. His hearers would know whom he meant. They were in the minds of Canadians.

"These tendencies must be checked or we will have at work disintegrating influences that will take an endless time to overcome," said Mr. King.

The 300 Liberal women earlier heard Mrs. J. P. Ferguson, Trochu, Alta., reporting from the women Liberals in Alberta, say that that province had a "dictatorship by amateurs."

There was evidence of an increasing desire for unity among those opposed to the Aberhart Social Credit government, she said, but there was no agreement on the methods of achieving this unity.

There was a delicate International situation to-day, said Mr. King. The scale hovered between peace and war. Canada's contribution of good-will might conceivably mean the balance would go to forces of progress instead of towards war

FASCISTS CHARGE FRANCE BY-PATH FOR LOYALIST AID

LONDON, May 21.—(CP Cable.)—Paris to-day reflected a more encouraging attitude towards the Franco-Italian talks.

The newspaper Figaro commented that "after French and British contacts the impression gained in official circles is that the outlook is more encouraging for a resumption" of the conversations between Count Galeazzo Ciano, Italian Foreign Minister, and Jules Blondel, the French Charge D'Affaires.

In Spain, however, General Franco is meeting tenacious resistance between Teruel and the sea. Fascist circles in Rome charge the Spanish Republicans are getting wholesale assistance through France.

They declare that within the past few weeks there crossed the Pyrenees from France to Catalonia 5,000 Czech volunteers, 50,000 Mauser rifles, 792 machine guns, five wagon loads of munitions, 1,200 tons of high explosives 75 Schneider-Creusot guns, 1,500 Hotchkiss guns, and 500 trucks.

300 Planes From Russia.

Russia, it is alleged, sent 150 planes by sea and 150 were flown direct with a stop in Czechoslovakia for gasoline. Russia also is said to have sent heavy consignments of gasoline and wheat.

For weeks past the Republicans have charged Italy and Germany with direct help for General Franco.

Two hundreds tons of Spanish gold and silver are now crossing France by road for Le Havre. The precious consignment is to be shipped to America for payment of Spanish Republican purchases.

Praha Cabinet Meets in Emergency Session At Serious Turn Eve of Sunday Vote; Warns Any Border Violations Mean War

BUDAPEST, Hungary, May 21.—(AP).—Reports reaching here today said sandbag barricades have been thrown up on Czechoslovakia's Pilsen-Eger road, the military gateway to western Czechoslovakia.

All strategic points in and near Eger were said to have been occupied by Czech troops who strung barbed wire protections and set up machine-guns.

PRAHA, Czechoslovakia, May 21 (CP-Havas).—A grave situation in central Europe flared today when Czech frontier guards shot and killed two Sudeten Germans attempting to cross the border into Germany.

The Czechoslovakian government immediately ordered military precautions taken at the German frontier. Certain categories of reservists were called to the colors. Trucks and taxis were requisitioned by the authorities.

A rumor Germany had dispatched an ultimatum to the Czechoslovak government was denied by authorized sources.

The Czechoslovak cabinet met in emergency session.

Rudolf Beran, leader of the most powerful political party in Czechoslovakia, warned that war will be "inevitable" if any attempt is made to invade the country.

The two Germans, Niklas Boehm and George Hoffman, were slain at Cheb when they failed to halt when ordered to do so by the Czech guards. They were riding motorcycles.

(In Berlin it was charged that German residents of Cheb had been prevented from aiding Boehm in hospital, where according to the German version he died two hours after the shooting. Praha reports said both men were killed instantly.)

The killings followed widespread disorders preparatory to Sunday's municipal election in which the 3,500,000 Sudeten Germans hope to gain control of local government in their own districts for the first time since the founding of the Czechoslovak republic after the Great War.

Experts, Spare Officers Called.

The precautionary military steps taken included the calling to the colors of younger reserve officers and technical experts. Guards were thrown about bridges, viaducts and public buildings.

Beran, head of the Agrarian Republican Party, whose membership includes Premier Milan Hodza, made the following statement:

"I firmly declare that at the first step taken to cross the frontier, by no matter whom and no matter where, the invader will find himself confronted by an organized defence ready to act.

"The entire people will rise against the invader to defend the Fatherland—and a conflict will be inevitable. There is no divergence of view on this point among the Czechoslovaks. The Solvak Autonomist Party itself is in entire solidar-

HUNGRY, JOBLESS FATHER MURDERS HIS 2 DAUGHTERS

PATERSON, N.J., May 21 (AP)—A 25-year-old unemployed father, quoted by Acting Detective Captain James Smith as saying he killed his two young daughters today because he "didn't want them to starve," was booked on a murder charge.

Smith said Alfred Schwartzenbach, jobless silk dyers' helper, confessed he crushed the skulls of Lorraine, one, and Alberta, three, with a machinists' hammer and then sought to burn their bodies on the living room sofa.

Schwartzenbach covered the bodies with a blanket and then, Smith said, set fire to the sofa by igniting an oil lamp with a cigarette. Meanwhile, Mrs. Hilda Schwartzenbach, 22, was asleep in a bedroom. She was detained as a material witness.

David Platt, a neighbor, saw smoke emanating from the Schwartzenbach's third floor flat and turned in an alarm. A few minutes later, witnesses told police Mrs. Schwartzenbach appeared on the sidewalk and excitedly inquired as to the whereabouts "of my husband and the babies."

Schwartzenbach then appeared on the sidewalk, Smith said.

"Where are the children?" his wife asked.

"They're upstairs," he replied.

Battalion Chief Michael Comer said firemen came upon the children's bodies accidentally and at first thought they were dolls.

The bodies rolled out when they turned the blazing sofa upside down.

FOUR MILES AND DONE

BRANTFORD, Ont., May 21 (C.P.). — John Scott Byers of Brantford probably has a record for "breaking in" a newly purchased motor car. He bought a second-hand machine and hadn't travelled four miles before he lost control of the car, wrapped it around a tree, and wrecked it.

BERLIN BEATS DRUMS OF WAR AGAINST CZECHS

Press Whips Feelings To "White Hot" Pitch With Tales of Attacks

BERLIN, May 21 (AP). — Page-long descriptions of reported troop attacks on Sudeten Germans in Czechoslovakia were featured by the German press today, whipping anti-Czech feeling to a white glow.

Under large red headlines like "Praha, where do you go," "Unbearable challenges," and "Czech provocation creates serious situation," Berlin newspapers gave their entire front pages to disturbances in Praha Brno and Komotau where according to their version several hundred Germans were injured in provocative clashes.

In German official quarters it was said "There must be men even in Praha official circles who prefer police clubs to negotiations and intimidation to reasonable settlement."

The official German news agency, Deutsches Nachrichtenbuero, said approximately 100 Sudeten Germans were injured at Komotau as a result of an attack by Czechoslovak soldiers.

Commenting on these reports, Field Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering's newspaper, National Zeitung of Essen, said: "These incidents indicated they were planned and promoted by responsible Praha circles for certain reasons. Incidents in towns and villages inhabited by Sudeten Germans, in Praha and other places cannot be blamed upon Sudetens."

Praha Minimized Reports.

Meanwhile, Praha authorities and government circles minimized the German reports of disorders, which they termed the "usual pre-election scuffles without bloodshed."

The gravity of the situation, however, seemed to have been recognized by the Czechoslovak Cabinet, which, after cancellation of its usual Friday session, hurriedly convened to discuss the day's happenings.

Although it was officially admitted, informed circles believed the cabinet met to consider Germany's assurance that German troop movements, in Saxony especially, were only routine transfers from their winter garrisons into summer camps.

Praha official sources said the government is convinced of the honesty of the German assurance which also was given to Sir Nevile Henderson, British Ambassador at Berlin.

Preparations for to-morrow's Czechoslovak elections in 232 districts proceeded in an atmosphere of anxiety. The districts include Praha and Aussig, one of the biggest German towns, where the present mayor is a Nazi.

The Sudetens expect to gain control of 66 towns and villages. Germans in Eger and other towns were ordered to fly Swastika flags tomorrow on pain of serious penalties.

Party officials will see that all Nazi shops display photographs of Sudeten Leader Konrad Henlein. The elections will give the Sudetens their first chance of assuming power in local councils.

6,000 Quebec Textile Workers' Wages To Be Set May 28

Government Ordinance Replacing Company Pacts Also Fixes Working Conditions

QUEBEC, May 21.—(CP).—Wages and working conditions of more than 6,000 workers in Quebec's textile industry will be set by a government ordinance a week from to-day when their collective wage agreement with three employing companies expires.

The ordinance drawn up by the Provincial Fair Wage Board and published yesterday goes into effect May 29, replacing the collective agreement reached last year just after the end of a long dispute which had brought the sutdown of six mills of the Dominion Textile Company and affiliated firms.

The disagreement between the companies and their employees, most of them members of the National Catholic Textile Federation, ended August 28 after the industry had been torn by four weeks' strike.

Since the settlement and signature of the agreement peace reigned in the mills but as far as last March, trouble arose between employers and the Federation when the companies announced the agreement concluding May 29 would not be renewed.

The employers proposed to set up work councils in all the plants for negotiation with employees and the Federation seeking a new agreement finally asked the government for a wage ordinance for the industry.

Ordinance No. 8 of the Fair Wage Board, announced yesterday, met the demands of the Federation. The companies had declared they had no objection to an ordinance.

Veteran 90, Jailed For Swinging Axe

Quebec, May 21 (CP)

JOSEPH Louis Plante, white-haired veteran of two wars, who said he was 90, was convicted here today of grievously injuring Mrs. Lazare Paradis with a meat axe, and sentenced to six months in jail.

The erect, aged man was found guilty of the charge by Judge Laetare Roy, who had reduced it from attempted murder yesterday just before Plante was tried in session court. In his defense the old soldier had declared Mrs. Paradis, a boarder at his home, had tried to rob him with two other persons.

"Plante seems to be a man who when he is not at war, is picking a quarrel with some one," remarked the Judge. "The series of previous convictions against him proves this."

Banker Finds Ancient Gun In Cellar, Dies When It Goes Off

Toronto, May 21 (CP)

POLICE said today the death of Archibald W. Campbell, bank manager killed by a shotgun's discharge last night, was accidental.

Campbell and Edward Callan, an employee of the Canadian Bank of Commerce branch managed by Campbell, came across the shotgun while tidying the basement of the manager's home. Callan said Campbell had sent him upstairs to get a ramrod with which to clean the ancient gun when he heard a report. The shell entered just below the chest killing Campbell instantly.

The banker's widow and a young daughter survive.

B.C. Jobless Play At 'Squatter', Seize Three Buildings

Over 1,000 Holding Post Office, Art Gallery, Hotel Lobby Till "Work Provided"

VANCOUVER, May 21.—(CP). — The lobbies of three downtown buildings were still temporary homes to-day for more than 1,000 single unemployed who said they would not be satisfied until the Federal government instituted an "adequate relief works program."

City police said they planned to leave the men in the ground floor lobbies into which they marched yesterday. The unemployed spent the night on the carpeted floor of the Georgia Hotel, and the stone paving in the civic art gallery and the central post ofice.

All but one exit was closed in the post office after the men refused a request by Postmaster Arthur Clark they vacate the building. One door was left open to permit any of the men inside to leave if they wished.

The people in the Georgia Hotel and the post office squatters had coffee and sandwiches last night but those staying in the art gallery went hungry.

Police refused to permit food or coffee to be taken into the building but said the men might eat outside. The sit-downers refused, however, when informed they would not be allowed to re-enter the building.

In Naniamo Hon. George S. Pearson, British Columbia Labor Minister, said the province had offered to send unemployed from other provinces back to their homes.

"If they refuse to accept that offer, our responsibility ends," he said. "I have no further comment to make."

SALVAGE workers have recovered most of the $370,000 consignment of jewelry aboard the Tirana-Rome plane which crashed May 1 killing nineteen persons. The jewels were part of a shipment sent on approval to King Zog of Albania to select gifts for his bride, the former Countess Geraldine Apponyi of Hungary.

STOCK BUYER DIES

TORONTO, May 21.— (CP). — Richard Carter, 79, former member of the Toronto Livestock Exchange, died yesterday after he suffered a heart attack in a street car here. Mr. Carter, who had acted as a livestock buyer for more than 30 years here, was born near Guelph, Ont.

His widow, a son and a daughter survive.

Hits Police Car, Ends In Show Window, Law Decides Driver Drunk

Brockville, Ont., May 21 (CP)

DRIVING westward over King street today a car in charge of Wilfrid Belair, Eastview, Ont., swerved into a police commission car driven by Sergeant E. A. Forsyth, puncturing its gasoline tank. It then collided with another machine driven by H. M. MacLean, Brockville, which was leaving the curb and rebounded into two show-windows of the Canadian Department Stores.

Belair faces a charge of being intoxicated in charge of a car in Magistrate's Court this morning. Harry Culbert, Ottawa, a companion, will be charged with public intoxication.

RALLIES ARE WEAK PRICE TENDENCY SLIPS ON STOCKS

TORONTO, May 21 (C.P.). — The stock market did little this week to revive the drooping spirits of the financial district. Despite a couple or minor rallies, the price tendency was downward and volume of trading dropped to the smallest figures of the year to date.

Continuance of the slump of the metal prices took the life out of an upward sally in the base metal shares, started by news of an important new ore discovery in the Waite-Amulet property. Waite-Amulet advanced about $1.00 in three days before encountering the inevitable profit-taking rush that carried the price back from a high of $2.45 to $2.18.

Noranda at the close yesterday showed a decline of $5.00 from its recent high and a loss of $1.75 in the week, while Consolidated Mining and Smelting had the same setback and Nickel and Hudson Bay weakened $1.35 to $1.50.

Electgolytic copper was quoted in London yesterday at £39 10s per long ton compared with £80 a little more than a year ago.

Dome Jumps

In the golds Dome leads with a gain of $2, McIntyre is up $1, and Lake Shore and Hollinger have 35 to 50 cents to the good. The gold share list of the Toronto market shows an index advance of .20 for the week, while all other indices are down.

Selling pressure gave Kerr-Addison a setback of 24 cents, most of the loss coming on Friday on the news that the company was being forced to defend in the courts its claim to some of its mining properties in the Larder Lake district.

There were no changes in the liquor shares apart from the loss of $1 for Walkers Common. Industrial Alcohol A has been under noticeable accumulation at $3.50, presumably in anticipation of completion of the deal involving transfer of the property to the Hiram Walker Company.

Utilities and foods displayed heaviness and the steels held about steady. Bell Telephone was a highlight with a net gain of $3 in the week.

LIBERALS TO WAR

that would destroy society as it is built to-day.

Must Be Unity.

For this reason, the government would set its face against Fascist tendencies in Canada. It would seek by all means to promote co-operation between the Dominion and the provinces and between province and province.

"In matters so obviously of national concern one wonders how their status as such could be questioned, is there evidence of this co-operation," said Mr. King.

Home and nation were "threatened from within and without by subversive doctrines threatening those things that have builded our society. They are threatened by disintegrating forces and above all by a paralyzing fear because of what is happening in other parts of the world."

The whole world was in a maze. To turn right or left or keep ahead was a problem. None could say with certainty what the outcome was to be. But Liberal principles of goodwill and co-operation and brotherhood would show the escape. Liberal governments controlled by men of Liberal principles could offer the only leadership.

Foes of Canada

Preachers of disunity are foes of Canada, said Mr Lapointe. Hatreds and strifes would not develop any nation. Canadians should battle those who "would sacrifice some of unity's principles to attain a measure of political success.

The Liberal party will seek renewal of its mandate on a national unity policy, said Mr. Lapointe. Every man and woman would be asked "are you a Canadian?"

There might be rumblings of discontent in Canada but never was the Liberal party so united behind Mr. King as it was today, said Mr. Mackenzie.

The Liberal party did not and could not "stand pat," said Mr. Mackenzie. Such a policy would doom it. It must keep "right down the fairway to progress believing neither in the bureaucracy of socialism nor the regimentation of mankind."

Canada needed a restoration of faith in free institutions, said Mr. Rogers. The Liberal party had a mission to bring it about and in so doing to bring about national unity that would make Canadians of a nation that was marching ahead.

THE WRONG HOUSE

LAKE CITY, Mich., May 21.—(AP).—Elias Gray was sure he had sold his country house to Mrs. Cora Armstead, who wanted to move it to her town lot. After the movers left, he found his house still there. But Herbert Green, a neighbor, discovered his wasn't. He trailed it to Mrs. Armstead's town lot. She forthwith arranged to buy Green's house —since she had it. Gray is still hunting a purchaser for the house he thought he had sold.

OBITUARY

MRS. WILLIAM J. ALLISON

Death came to Mrs. William J. Allison at her home at 593 Bethune street on Friday. In her 60th year, she had been ill for some time.

Well known throughout this city, where she had lived for thirty-two years, Mrs. Allison was born in England, daughter of George Evans and the late Mrs. Evans. She had lived in Toronto before coming to Peterborough. She was a member of George Street United Church.

Surviving besides her sorrowing husband are four sons, George, Howard, Fred, and Harvey Allison, all of Peterborough; one daughter, Mrs. John Hunter of Kemptville, N.S.; and one brother, George Evans, of Toronto.

The funeral will be held on Monday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock from her late residence, Rev. M. C. Parr of George Street United Church officiating. Interment will be made at Little Lake Cemetery.

MRS. WILLIAM JAMES LITTLE

(Examiner Correspondence.)

LAKEFIELD, May 21.—The funeral of the late Mrs. William James Little (formerly Sarah Richardson) of Lakefield was held from the Lakefield United Church, Regent street, on May 17. Mrs. Little passed away in Peterborough on May 14, after an illness which lasted six months. She was in her 84th year.

Born in Belmont Township near Havelock on October 14, 1854, deceased was the oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Richardson. She spent her early childhood and youth here, and at the age of 16 years married James Miles of Clarina and moved with him to Stoney Lake, where she lived until Mr. Miles' death in 1900.

Shortly after the death of her husband, Mrs. Miles moved to Norwood, where she lived until March 10, 1908, when she married William James Little, and moved with him to the home on Prospect street, Lakefield, where she has resided practically ever since.

Although Mrs. Little had no children by either marriage, she raised Mr. Little's family of five children and lavished upon them the love and affection of a true mother.

On February 8, 1928, W. J. Little died.

During the last five years Mrs. Little has been in failing health and owing to this was in the habit of spending the winter with her stepdaughter, Mrs. G. E. Orr, and the summers at her home on Prospect street.

Last November, Mrs. Little was removed to Nicholls Hospital, Peterborough, suffering from an illness from which she never fully recovered. Her death in Peterborough on Saturday brought a long and active life to a close.

The late Mrs. Little is survived by one sister, Mrs. George Byram of Oberon, Man., and on brother, John Richardson of Traill, B.C.; three sisters, Mrs. Foote (Mary), Mrs. McKay (Elizabeth), and Mrs. Robert Miles (Lydia), and two brothers, Robert and Archie, predeceased her; four step-children, Mrs. G. E. Orr, (Mabel), Lakefield; Mrs. William Steinkrauss (Florence), Peterborough; Mrs. T. Buchak (Nina), Manitoba; and Fred H. Little of Troy, New York, also survive. One stepchild, Edith Little, died on Dec. 5, 1924.

Rev. G. F. Kelly, pastor of Lakefield United Church, conducted the funeral service. Pall-bearers were, J. Nelson and Wm. Steinkrauss of Peterborough; W. A. Richardson of Norwood; Archie Miles of Stoney Lake, and F. H. Richardson and Richard Fairbairn of Lakefield.

Interment was in St. Mark's Cemetery, Warsaw.

Addressing Conference

Just back from China are Rev. Verent Mills and his wife, shown here in Chinese costume, Mrs. Mills as a bride, Mr. Mills as a merchant. Both are speaking at a missionary conference at the Pentecostal Church that ends with Sunday evening's service. Eight missionaries have been present, representing five different countries—China, Japan, North India, South Africa, and Liberia.

DRIVER INJURED HASTINGS CRASH

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HASTINGS, May 21.—Provincial Constable Gordon Campbell of Campbellford was in the village yesterday investigating an accident which occurred Thursday night on the outskirts of the village.

A car containing six persons was said to have overturned on the Cobourg road resulting in injury to the driver.

Dr. J. A. MacDonald, Hastings, attended the injured man, said to be from Stouffville.

Nominations for the position of trustee of Hastings separate school were held at noon today (Saturday) in the school rooms. The new trustee is to fill the vacancy left by Felix Turcotte, who moved to Penetang recently.

On applications from Arthur Fleming and Max Humphries, 35,000 lung fry were placed in the Trent river near here yesterday by men from the Department of Game and Fisheries. Mr. Fleming had 25,000 placed near the second island, west of the village, and 10,000 were placed near Mr. Humphrie's property. Shipments of bass are expected.

Local girls' softball team are scheduled to play a return game at Warkworth Tuesday afternoon, May 24. A local mens team will enter the Havelock tournament that day.

Ordinance No. 4 of the Board which went into operation this week wage increases and fixing working conditions for most of the thousands of unorganized workers in Quebec will play a part in the textile industry under the new decree in that its minimum rates will apply to lowly-paid textile employees.

General pay schedules will be those set under the expiring collective agreement and they will be effective at least until September 30 when the three-month lease of ordinance No. 8 is up. During its operation the wage board may make changes as seen necessary or to meet any justified complaints.

What the new ordinance will set though are many conditions of work. A basic minimum work week of 50 hours for day and night workers alike was decreed. And a maximum 55-hour week for maintenance men was fixed.

TORONTO CHEESE

TORONTO, May 21 — (CP). — Wholesale cheese prices were steady to-day, with dealers buying large, colored, paraffined and government grades at 15 cents.

Wholesalers offered cheese to retailers at the following prices:—New, large, 16c; twins, 16¼c; triplets, 16¾c. Old, large, 20c; medium, 19c.

TORONTO POULTRY

TORONTO, May 21 — (CP). — Wholesale poultry prices were unchanged to-day.

FRUIT AND VEGETABLES

TORONTO, May 21 — (CP). — Wholesale prices on fruit and vegetables were unchanged to-day.

TORONTO PRODUCE

TORONTO, May 21 — (CP). — Wholesale prices (United Farmers Co-operative Co.) to-day were:

Eggs.—Grade A-large, dozen, 22c; grade A-medium, 21c; pullets, 18c; Grade C, 17c.

Churning Cream.—No. 1 lb., 27c; No. 2, lb., 25c.

Potatoes f.o.b. in Toronto.—Ontario, 45 cents.

Mill Feed. — Bran, 28; shorts, 28; middlings, 31.

MONTREAL PRODUCE

Butter was quoted at 26c a pound nominal for No. 1 in carlots or less with lots to retailers at 27c for solids and 27½c for prints. Receipts: None.

Graded egg shipments in carlots or less were 24½c a dozen for A-large, 23½c for A-medium, 22½c for B-large, and 21c for C. Receipts: 886 cases.

Cheese was 15c a pound nominal for Ontario white and colored. Receipts: 245 boxes.

Potatoes.—Quebec whites, No. 1, 80's, 55 to 60c; New Brunswick Mountains, No. 1, 80's, 65c; New Brunswick Cobblers, No. 1, 80's, 60c; Prince Edward Island Mountains, No. 1, 90s, 85 to 90c; Florda, No. 2, 50-lb. crates 75c; South Carolina, barrels, new, $6; South Carolina, No. 2, $5.50; South Carolina, No. 1, 100's, $3.25; South Carolina No. 2, 100's, $3; Bermuda, No. 1 crates, $2.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, May 21 (C.P.). — Independent strength of Winnipeg May wheat featured quiet dealings yesterday, materially aiding in keeping the July and October firm in late sales. Final quotations were 1¼ higher to ⅜ cent lower, May $1.15⅝, July $1.03a, October 84 to 84¼ cents.

Prices moved irregularly in early stages when lack of interest developed after gains of as much as 1½ cents were posted. Liverpool's failure to hold opening advances, light rains in sections of the southwest and more favorable growing conditions in Western Canada were factors that induced early buyers to withdraw.

Chicago finished unchanged to ⅝c down, and Buenos Aires non values were unchanged to ⅛c off.

Indications drought in Australia might soon be broken and forecast of a Kansas winter wheat crop of 201,000,00 bushels, almost 50,000,000 higher than last year, were bearish factors.

Most cash prices were unchanged except Durums which eased fractionally. July flax futures tumbled five cents on light sales at the close. Export buying of July barley future and domestic purchases of oats were bright spots of a slow coarse grain market.

The Robinson Elevator Company, a recognized trade authority, issued a forecast that Kansas would harvest 207,508,000 bushels this season, as against the latest official estimate of 193,000,000 bushels. The Robinson forecast assumed normal weather would prevail, and that black rust developments would not be of a serious nature.

Contributing to bearish sentiment was word from Sherman, Texas, that some small fields of wheat near there have already been cut and shocked, the first in the United States this season. It was added that if weather conditions permitted, additional fields would be cut by Monday.

WHEAT FUTURES MOVE DOWNGRADE

WINNIPEG, May 21 (C.P.). — Winnipeg wheat futures, after a few days' firmness, moved downgrade again this week through lack of support caused by unusual bright prospects in Northern American wheat belts.

Prospects of a United States south-west winter wheat crop probably more than 754,000,000 bushels the estimate of the United States Government, and improved moisture conditions in the Canadian and U. S. spring wheat areas overshadowed overseas bullish crop news.

The market closed a quiet six-day period with wheat futures ¼-⅜ cent down, May at $1.16⅜, July $1.03 and October, which established a seasonal low of 83¾ cents, at 84-84¼ cents.

Indication of a possible tight situation in the May wheat future steadied prices on Friday and another bright spot was slightly improved export demand. Export sales were estimated in excess of 500,000 bushels. Traders, however, believed most part continued their hand-to-mouth practice.

GOLDEN WEDDING DAY

WINDSOR, Ont., May 21—(CP)—Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Longley, Windsor, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary today with a reception for members of their family and friends. Members of the Essex Scottish regiment for 53 years, Mr. Longley joined the regiment in 1885 at the time of the Riel rebellion. The regiment, known as the 21st battalion at the time, later became the Essex Fusiliers.

Biblical Thoughts For The Shut-Ins

By Rev. E. R. James
Toronto

THE LORD JESUS, after He had spoken to them, was received up into heaven and sat down at the right hand of God. —St. Mark 16:19 (R.V.).

How would your friends know your favourite chapter in the Bible? The page would show signs of use, the edges frayed and thumbed. So you can understand how through frequent use the last page, if you may call it, of the Roll of St. Mark was broken off. The original Gospel ends at verse eight. See Margin R.V. "They were afraid." A horrible ending for a Gospel written for Romans priding themselves on their courage. The ending in your Bible was added very early in the succeeding copies of the Mss. Tradition says that it was written by Aristion, a famous teacher living about 75 A.D.

In this verse we have for the first time the title "Lord." It is a title that is never used as a direct address to the Lord by the Apostles according to this Gospel. They had not risen to that knowledge. Perhaps it is a proof of the early date of the Gospel.

Where is heaven? Being what we are it is impossible for us to think of heaven except as a place which is above. In that sense heaven is a place in the spiritual world.

But heaven is God and God is everywhere, especially in the heart of a man who loves God. Heaven is here and now. It is not necessary to die to enter heaven. If you believe that Jesus Christ is the unique Son of God and you obey the voice of His Spirit dwelling in you then here on earth you are in heaven. The peace, the sweetness, the gentleness, the atmosphere of love is seen by your relations and friends. They know that heaven is in your heart and in your home, for Christ is being formed in you.

Jesus Christ has won heaven for you and me through His perfect obedience even unto the death of the Cross. He is the well beloved Son. He is the Way. He through His perfect humanity has opened to us the gate of heaven.

Moreover, when He ascended into heaven He took with Him that which had never been there before —His Perfect Humanity. When the Father looked upon Him He saw fulfilled all that He intended to be when He said: "Let us make man in our own image." Through His ascension He has taken up into heaven our human nature. There stands the Father the Incarnate Man, the God-Man, Jesus Christ, Our Lord and Saviour.

"A cloud received His from the sight of the disciples." He has passed into the spiritual realm so that He can be with you all the days. "Lo I am with you all the days."

But heaven can be very far away from you. If you soul is at emnity towards God and your fellows. If your heart is full of evil desires surely there is a gulf between you and God. Heaven is far from you —about you, in the truest sense of the word.

The Lord Jesus has passed into the spiritual sphere. Perhaps you will be able to understand this by thinking of the swimmer. The man swimming has a body without head to the fishes in the water. It is because in the water he is headless that in the water he lives. Our spiritual Head, The Lord Jesus, has been exalted into heaven. We live because He lives.

"The Lord has sat down at the right hand of God." He is on an equality with the Father. He is in the place of authority. "All power is given unto Me in heaven and in earth" is His own statement after His resurrection. He is truly "THE LORD."

"MY LORD AND MY GOD"
All hail the power of Jesus' Name;
Let angels prostrate fall;
Bring forth the royal diadem
And crown Him Lord of all.

Let every tribe and every tongue
Before Him prostrate fall,
Join in the universal song,
And crown Him Lord of all.
—Rev. E. Perronet.

A National Message

(By the late Rev. W. Pascoe Goard, LL.D., F.R.G.S., F.R.E.S.)

Read the twenty-fourth and twenty-fifth chapters of St. Matthew. First there is the matter of the reward of the faithful servant (Matt. xxiv., 44-47). The punishment of the Lord's servants who say in their heart: "My Lord delayeth His coming," and who begin to beat their fellow-servants, and to eat and drink with the drunken. (Matt. xxiv., 48-51.)

Then comes the marriage supper of the Lamb. (Matt. xxv., 1-13.)

A close study of who is the bride of the Lord, and a close study of the teaching of the parable will probably lead the student to the conclusion that, whereas the Church is the Body of the Lord, and Israel is the Bride of the Lord, therefore the marriage will be the formal union of the Church and the Nation in spiritual bonds in Christ Jesus. With a regenerated Nation married to a sanctified Church it shall be no more necessary to say to our neighbor: "Knowest thou the Lord?" for all shall Him from the least to the greatest. Thenceforth, the Nation shall be as holy a thing as is the Church, which was the purpose of the Lord from the beginning.

Then comes the reckoning with His servants (Matt. xxv., 14-30).

To those He on His departure committed His money and His Kingdom with the instruction: "Occupy till I come."

Thereafter shall be the judgment of the nations (Matt. xxv., 31-46).

Those who have served humanity shall go into the kingdom. Those predatory nations which have served themselves of humanity shall go into everlasting fire prepared for the devil and his angels.

Then ensues the entrance into the kingdom, and the life everlasting.

It will be readily recognized that all these threads find a common meeting-place in our Lord's return.

That the time of His return is near, the progress of the great sequence of prophetic events shows, and the signs of the time indicate.

Let us therefore gird up our loins and be as those who wait for their Lord. Not indeed as those who wait for their Lord. Not indeed as those who await His coming in idleness, but as those who are busy in preparation for the coming of the Great and Terrible Day.

Our Lord declares that the nations shall be swept as with a flood. The ungodly will perish as in the days of Noah, "when the flood came and took them all away." Let us therefore multiply our efforts at missionizing and evangelizing the nations and the unchurched masses of our own lands, for it is as true as never before that the King's business requires haste.

Bazaar Conviction Is Upheld

TORONTO, May 20—(CP).—Conviction of Rev. Thomas J. McCarthy of Sarnia was upheld today by the Appellate Court in a judgment delivered at Osgoode Hall.

Father McCarthy, convicted of conducting a scheme or contrivance contrary to the provisions of the code, paid under a protest a fine of $10 and costs levied by Magistrate C. S. Woodrow of Sarnia. He appealed on the grounds the Magistrate erred in ruling the bazaar held by him was not bona fide.

Acting Chief Justice W. E. Middleton, who wrote the judgment, found the Magistrate was right in deciding the bazaar was a "colorable affair." He found the articles raffled in a keno game were offered for sale at a different time and ran the game contrary to the provisions of the Criminal Code.

"BRASS TACKS" ON THE SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By DR. ALVIN E. BELL.

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for May 22 is Mark 12:13-17; 28-34, the Golden Text being Mark 12:31, "Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself.")

"POLITICS MAKES strange bed fellows," but never stranger than on that Tuesday of our Lord's last week, when Pharisees, Herodians and Sadducees made common cause against Jesus "that they might catch him in talk."

The Political Question.

They concluded that the most likely question on which to catch him and discredit him either with the people or with the powers of Rome, was the question, "Is it lawful to give tribute to Caesar or not?" No question was so loaded with dynamite a sthis one. And they thought they had clevely shut him up to a "yes" or "no" answer, where "yes" would at once alienate the people; and "no" would as surely throw him liable to the charge of sedition against Caesar, and Rome would take care of him to their satisfaction. But Jesus surprised them, not by evading the question, but by asking them a question more fundamental than their own, and by asking it he tactfully removed them from the offensive and put them on the defensive, and forced them to judge themselves. Not having any money of his own, he asked them for a piece of the money in question, and they promptly produced it from their own purses, thus condemning them for accepting and using in their business the benefits of Rome's government, while unwilling to support the government they used. Therefore, Jesus said to them, "Render unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's, and unto God the things that are God's." We talk much of our civic rights, but are not so keen about having our civic duties pointed out. We expect the government to do everything for our government. Caesar cannot always be rendering unto us; we must at times "render unto Caesar."

Church and State.

Nor need "the things that are Caesar's" be arrayed against "the things that are God's." Civic duties and religious duties need not clash with one another. The state is God's institution to minister in things civic and political and the church is God's institution to minister in things spiritual. In these days when, under different forms of government than ours, dictators are restricting and persecuting the church, we should thank God as never before for our American system of absolute separation of church and state, which enables each citizen to whatever faith to follow the dictates of his own conscience in rendering unto Caesar, in the state, the things that are Caesar's and unto God, in the church of one's own free choosing, the things that are God's.

The Legal Question.

After answering the political question regarding tribute and a doctrinal question of the Sadducees regarding the resurrection, there came to Jesus a scribe with a legal question: "What commandment is the first of all?" There were hundreds of chances of going wrong here, so the scribe must have thought. But Jesus enunciated the basic command that includes all others, the law of love—supreme love of God and man: "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart (emotionally), and with all thy soul (spiritually), and with all thy mind (intellectually), and with all thy strength (actively), and they neighbor as thyself (socially). There is none other commandment greater tha nthese."

The Leading Question.

Having answered all of these questions he put to them the leading question, "What think ye of Christ? Whose Son is he?" And he accepted no answer that denied him the unique Lordship of deity.

CATHEDRAL MUSINGS

There is not, nor can there be, any true approach to the spiritual mysteries from the intellectual side alone. Man may reason as much as he likes about God; he may prove or disprove to his own satisfaction the existence of a Supreme Being, but he is no further ahead. All that study of any or all of the world's Scriptures can do is to make him familiar with the thoughts of the ages upon these matters, and this but lays a partial foundation in his mind upon which the inner self can build. Hence, all argument about religion is futile. All discussion between "modernist" and "fundamentalist" is worse than useless, especially as both base their cause upon the literal text and not upon the spiritual meaning. For arguments and disputes are of the outer self, and have nothing whatever to do with the world of the spirit. God cannot be intellectually known to man, for He is everything that the outer intellectual man is not, and the finite cannot comprehend the Infinite. But God can be realized within the inner heart of man for the inner man is made in His image and so is akin to Him. We largely ignore the spiritual value of meditation. Our waking hours are spent in being busily occupied, and our lives and thoughts are governed and stimulated from without. The craving for this outer stimulation grows upon us so much that most people would almost lose their reason if they were shut off from it. They have no resources within themselves. Their inner faculties have become atrophied and dormant. Yet meditation and contemplation are vitally necessary to the spiritual self. In fact, it might be truly said that no one can ever begin to come "alive" in the spiritual sense unless they can spend at least one hour a day alone in meditation and communion with God. For, as in the story of Elijah, God is not to be found in the outer turmoil. He speaks to us today as He spoke of old to the Prophet with the still small voice within us. "Be still and know I am the Lord" is as true today as ever it was and this stilling of the foolish clamor of the outer self is one of the vital preliminaries to any approach to the Holy Mountain.

Wesley Converted May 24th 1738

The services in St. Andrew's church on Sunday next will have a special reference to the bicentenary of John Wesley's conversion, which is being celebrated by the United Church of Canada on May 22nd. Special forms of service have been issued by the Book Room at Toronto and will be generally used. The United Church is the recognized Canadian member of Ecumenical Methodism, and sends its delegates to the various conferences in the United States and Britain.

John Wesley was converted on May 24th, 1738, at a little meeting in Aldersgate street, London To use his own words 'his heart was strongly warmed,' but of that warmed heart came a divine energy that sent him through England, Ireland and Scotland a flaming evangelist. We may look with suspicion to-day upon emotion in religion, but there is no real religion without it. Our emotions are a legitimate part of us, just as truly as intellect, will and conscience. Men express their emotions in the stock market, the horse race. Why not in our churches. Wesley had marvellous industry, courage, a cool judgment, and an unshaken faith in God. Historians like Lecky, Green and others have declared with conviction that he saved England from a bloody revolution in the 18th century.

Why do we celebrate this event? Is it to boast or brag, or make denominational capital out of it? Certainly not. It is to try to recapture Wesley's inference for our own day. What God has done that God can do. We might also add what man has done that man can do.

DROWNS OFF RAFT

WOODSTOCK, N.B., May 21 (CP) — William Hadfield, son of W. S. Hadfield, Milton, Ont., fell from a raft and was swept to death yesterday in swift current of the Meduknakeag River.

Gathering greens with Percy Grant, Hadfield was thrown into the river when a raft they were poling ran against a rock. Grant was able to cling to the frail raft and guide it close to the bank.

In Defence of Faith.

A close and penetrating view of religion as it stands to-day in the civilized world will show at once that the aim of those who aid in the present world-wide attempt to wreck—not any particular faith but all faith in the supernatural is founded upon disastrous misconception. Man cannot provide his own explanation of the universe or of his destiny in it. If, however, he tries to do so and would bring everything including himself down to the level of his own reason and thus set up a religion of his own he undertakes to comprehend and to declare what is or what ought to be the plan of that which is beyond the grasp of the human mind even as nature herself is. Why therefore do these people not let it alone? It is possible for us to find ways of obeying nature but not of appropriating it to our own control and explanation. To give the youth of the world such an idea is the greatest disaster that can befall mankind.

HAVELOCK

Pot Luck Supper Sponsored By W.A.

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HAVELOCK, May 21 — Members of the Junior Women's Auxiliary and the Church Boys' League of St. John's Anglican Church were entertained on Tuesday evening by the Senior Women's Auxiliary to a pot luck supper.

During the afternoon games and sports were held and prizes were won by Robena Rice, Veleta McQuigge, Marilyn Hutchinson, and Myril Clarke and Marvin Cury.

After supper, Rev. R. E. Lemon presented the J.W.A. members who successfully passed their examinations this year with certificates. They were Reta Fleming, Helen Clarke, Marion Isaac and Robena Rice. Pictures were presented to Marilyn Hutchinson, Betty Davies, and Lois Chase, who pased oral tests. Miss Reta Fleming had a perfect examination paper, having received 100. Special silver W.A. crosses were presented eBtty Holdcroft and Elsie Fleming, who have passed successfully for three years.

The members of the Church Boys' League, who all recently passed the tests of the St. John's Ambulance Corps, were presented with their pins by John Evans their instructor.

This was the concluding meeting of the J.W.A. for this season. The meetings fill commence again next fall.

839 Still Suffer Of Paralysis

TORONTO, May 21—(CP).—The Provincial Department of Health announced today that 839 victims of last summer's provincial-wide infantile paralysis epidemic still are paralyzed to some degree.

The report, presenting the first complete analysis of the 1937 epidemic, states the outbreak was the worst in the history of Ontario. Including probable unreported cases the official estimate is that there were more than 3,100 cases.

Of the 2,634 cases studied, 113 died. More than half the victims either died of developed paralysis. Of the 1,314 developing paralysis, 475 recovered.

Serving Through Christian Citizenship ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By the Rev. Alvin E. Bell And Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—Mark 12:13-17; 28-34

Tuesday of Holy Week was the great day of opposition as Jesus taught in the temple. Among the questions asked him was, "Is it lawful to give tribute to Caesar or not?"

Jesus asked for a coin and inquired whose image was on it. They replied, "Caesar's". "Render then unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's and unto God things that are God's," said Jesus.

Then a scribe asked him to name the great commandment of the law. He answered, "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, soul, mind and strength and thy neighbor as thyself."

After their questions were answered Jesus said, "I will ask you one question, what think ye of Christ? Whose Son is he?" This is the leading question of all for each of us to answer aright.

Picking Up Strangers

Hitch hikers are becoming fewer in number because fewer drivers are now willing to take a chance on picking up people whom they do not know. Nor is the reason hard to find.

One of the chief reasons is contained in a story from Paris. G. W. Black of that town stopped along the highway and took on a young fellow who wanted a ride. He sat in the front seat with the driver and after a short time produced a sawed-off weapon from beneath his overcoat and ordered the driver to turn into a sideroad.

Mr. Black had no intention of doing that, so they fought it out in the car and the hitch hiker was put out. On reaching Paris the driver notified police and they found and arrested the young fellow with the gun.

That is not an isolated case. It has happened a good many times. Events of that sort may explain to a good many honest and decent folk who want a lift why it is that drivers are inclined to keep right on going. And that of course is the safest and best policy to follow.

One Point Corrected

A correspondent who says he is not writing for publication but rather for our benefit says he finds it impossible to agree with some of the things he reads on this page. With that view we have not the least quarrel. The truth is we do not expect that all readers will be constantly in agreement with views expressed here. It would be an impossible situation to try and bring about and also an intolerable one.

This reader cannot see any reason why this paper should not speak out plainly in defence of Haile Selassie. The writer argues this way:

"Here was a ruler of a small nation, a man justly in his place, who desired nothing but peace. But he could not have it, and now you tell us that recognizing the King of Italy as the emperor of Ethiopia is the right thing to do."

Without wishing to be unduly critical we think it might be well to correct a view which this reader holds. Selassie was not the rightful ruler of Ethiopia. He came into control by taking the rightful ruler and putting him in prison for life. Selassie himself did better for when it came his turn to be attacked he was able to escape and take considerable of his possessions with him. This paper has already given its views of the recognition of the conquest and it is not necessary to repeat them. They remain the same as when previously stated.

Wants A New Car

Chief Constable Draper of Toronto has a car as part of his equipment of office and it is provided for him by the city. The Board of Control is getting rid of some of its fleet of cars and there is a good 1937 model which it is considered would answer the purposes of the Chief.

But the Chief shakes his official head and he says "no." During the discussion he seems to have said it several times. He wants a new car, one which costs $2,500 and will carry seven passengers in style and comfort. He is not going to have what he calls a "castoff" worked off on him.

Mayor Day is certain the 1937 sedan which has gone but 9,000 miles, has only been fairly well broken in; it's as good as new; purrs like a kitten and is quiet as a lamb. But the more the Mayor talks about it the louder becomes the way in which the Chief says "NO." The Mayor says if the Chief had the interests of the ratepayers at heart he'd jump at the chance of taking the 1937 sedan, but once again the Chief said the same thing —"NO!"

Looks as though the Chief would eventually win, after which the people who pay the bills will continue to drive cars of ancient vintage and get along as best they can.

They Prefer Safety

It has happened before and it is happening again. A few days ago the Dominion Government announced a loan of $140,000,000 much of which would mark the retirement of existing obligations by issuing new securities, and the rest would be cash subscription. The story of what happened is already a matter of current history; the loan was taken up in half an hour.

We remarked that something had happened before and it is happening again. Just this: Generally there has been newspaper comment saying that the manner in which the loan was taken up was evidence of the financial stability of the country. The same has been said again in several ways and places.

We believe the truth is that there is too much money in this country waiting for a chance to make itself felt in purchasing government loans. The interest rates are not sufficient to attract money in the usual sense of the word; they are away down compared with former years. The situation indicates that people are in the frame of mind where they prefer safety and low interest rates rather than accepting commercial risks and making their money get out in the world to do a day's work.

Of course it is in the interest of the people of the Dominion that their government should secure money as cheaply as possible because the people themselves have to pay the interest charges, but taking the long look at it the people will be better off when money is in such demand for commercial and business operations that governments will not be swamped with offerings when they announce the opening of a new loan at low rates.

No Winter Feeding

H. B. Cowan of Peterborough, Secretary of the Canadian Council of Agriculture, has returned from Australia and New Zealand where he was attending a conference of Empire Producers. Mr. Cowan has not yet submitted his report but from what he told an Examiner reporter it is plain enough he has a high regard for Australia and also New Zealand.

The methods of farming in Australia are entirely different to those in Canada. The Canadian farmer knows that for certain months in the year his stock will be on pasture, and he also knows there will be many months when there will be no pasture and he has to spend much of his time, energy and capital in providing for the months of barn feeding. And that all costs money; money for land and work and money for barns. A good deal of the work of our farmers is actually taken up in summer with providing for winter.

In Australia and New Zealand it is different. Mr. Cowan says it is not a land of big barns because they are not needed; it is not a land where they have to grow grain and roots for feed because there is pasture 12 months of the year, and the pasture is so well cared for that in many places it is possible to keep one cow per acre, although that figure is not maintained. There are many farms of 100 acres where from 60 to 75 cows are kept. If a farm of similar size in our country is keeping 15 milking cows it is doing well. To have 15 cows milking it would be necessary to maintain a herd of about 20.

Attending to pasture appears to be the chief work on the Australian farm. It is so fenced and placed in rotation that there is always a new field ready for use. Actually there is much in that condition which would bring joy to the heart of the Canadian dairy farmer. Compared with Australia and New Zealand his costs of production would be high; his crop hazard would be greater; his investment in barns and equipment would be much larger. When one looks at the picture in the light of costs of production it is easier to understand why the dairy farmer of this country does not take kindly to the idea that he should be forced to compete with Australian dairy products when they are shipped to Canada. They are being produced under conditions which are not possible here.

No Answer Forthcoming

Following the evidence and comments made at the Senate's inquiry into the railway situation there is always one stubborn question which has so far defied answer.

It all comes back to this: The people of the country are called the owners of the C.N.R. The fact is they are owners in so far as they are responsible for paying the interest on the bonds of all the companies which were gathered together to make the CN.R. So through the efforts of the government we own a railway for which we have never paid.

And when people are tied up in that kind of ownership they have to pay interest charges. Just the same as a person has to pay interest on the unpaid balance of a car, a home, a farm or anything else.

As things have been going lately the C. N. R. can pay its way and earn some money for us as an operating unit. That is, the receipts are more than what it costs to run the road. It means that if we actually owned the road we would not have a railway problem about which to worry.

Our real problem is that we do not own the road but have to pay the interest on a sum of money which is greater than the actual value of the property, and that's how it comes we are asked to contribute an amount which runs close enough to a million dollars a week.

If our two railways were amalgamated tomorrow we would still be liable for that interest debt. If we turned the C. N. R. over to the C. P. R. with no questions asked we would remain just as we are, saddled with the consequences of an unpaid ownership. The manner in which the constituent parts of the C. N. R. were all gathered in by our government in other years regardless of their earning ability or value as railway units is where the problem started. It was admittedly a blunder of major size and we are living with the blunder today. So far we have not seen one single suggestion which will let us out of our financial obligations.

We Wish Them Well

For three years William Wilson, his wife and family of one son and three daughters have been on relief in Toronto. The head of the family is a carton maker but he could not find work. His wife came from the farm before her marriage.

The Wilsons became tired of living on relief. They became certain there must be some better way to try and earn a living. It may have been the suggestion of the wife and mother which prompted them to take a trip. It was a long trip too, 336 miles of it into New Ontario not far from New Liskeard. They had no money for railway tickets. They gathered together what they could carry and started. If they could get a ride at any time they were glad of it. If not they walked. At night they put up as best they coud where night found them.

Latest reports indicate the family is on an abandoned farm, and neighbors hearing of the struggle they had to get there have joined forces to try and make them comfortable. Bedding, a stove and food supplies were donated so the new family could make a start. There is enough cleared land to operate a good sized garden, and William Wilson believes he will be able to earn some needed cash by working on the road.

It would be easy enough to think of a number of reasons why a family of six should not start off on such a trip. Going empty-handed into a new unknown country is taking a pretty big risk; it is cutting off entirely from the assured source of income at the relief office; they would not know if they could make a go of it or not.

And yet every person who reads this will actually wish that William Wilson and his family meet with some degree of success and find they will be able to do for themselves in their new district. It is not any wild adventure. We prefer to look upon it as the determined effort of courageous people to get out of the blind alley into which they had been driven. They are willing to take all the risks instead of remaining indefinitely upon the charity of the relief office. It's a privilege to be able to publish a story like that now and then.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Wilfred Heighington, K.C., says the votes are due to swing back behind the Conservative party. That will be a change from swinging at it.

One thing that the Rowell Commission must realize by this time is that there are a lot of matters in Canada that require fixing.

Girls of sixteen need parents' protection, a news story heading says. The difficulty of course is in making girls of sixteen seen that.

The Bank of Canada is bulging with foreign gold but foreign orders would seem a great deal more to Canadian business and industry.

A Royal Canadian Mounted Police patrol boat has run into a whale and been damaged. That kind of thing was not even dreamed of when the Scarlet riders of the plains were organized.

One reason why the Sunday evening congregations are smaller may be found in the fact that 61,000 more car licenses have been issued in Ontario than last year.

Farmer near Burgessville lost his watch two years ago and a few days back he plowed it up. It had of course missed Hitler's entry into Austria and several other important events.

Papa Dionne says he was not consulted when a new nurse was hired to look after the quints so he wants her fired. Does Mr. Dionne desire to pick them himself?

L. M Frost, M.L.A. for Victoria, says both parties are spending too much at election times. And might we add that the successful party generally spends too much in between elections.

Single unemployed men in Vancouver prior to accepting transportation back to their homes in prairie provinces want guaranteed jobs there. And this Dominion which licked up a $140,000,000 government loan in about one hour cannot give the guarantee!

COUNTRY AIR

(By A. R. K.)

¶ My Cousin Jake drives fast indeed, and nothing pleases him like speed, and slowness turns him sour; he scoffs at travelling nice and slow, when he starts out he likes to go, at eighty miles an hour.

¶ Jake called for me the other day, we went two hundred miles away, I thought 'twould do me good; the day was sunny like and fair, so I would sniff the country air, and see the grass and wood.

¶ I'd see the flowers that bloom in spring, and note the babbling little spring, admiring Nature's plan; I'd watch the men at honest toil, who plant things in the friendly soil, I'd note the frisky lamb.

¶ But when Jake struck the open road, he worked his own sweet driving code, he went from here to hence; and phone posts with their heads held high, they flashed as we went sailing by, like pickets on a fence.

¶ I guess the brooks were there all right, I saw not much at left or right, nor were the blossoms grand; for I kept looking at the ditch, and wondered when we'd start to pitch, and just where I would land.

¶ I shook when I got out at home, there was an aching in each bone, but Jake was full of glee; he said that he got quite a thrill, when coming down that crooked hill—for he touched eighty-three.

They Talk About Several Topics

(From Parliamentary Debates)

Live stock and poultry, $829,170.50.

Mr. SPENCE: What is the reason for this excessive increase of $95,000? Is there going to be no end to increases in the amounts voted to the Department of Agriculture? No one can understand it. It is difficult for the taxpayers to be continually contributing to other things when in the meantime they are losing money themselves. Items of this sort should receive mature consideration, and money should not be wasted on such matters, if it is wasted. Is this because of an attempt at marketing, or what is the reason for it?

Mr. GARDINER: The increases are all explained later.

Mr. SPENCE: You can explain them faster than I can read them.

Mr. GARDINER: Well, it has nothing to do with marketing. This is the production end. We have covered all the marketing activities to date. In permanent salaries the increase is $12,438.

Mr. SPENCE: Does the minister think increasing salaries is justified in these times? They should be decreased instead of increased.

Mr. GARDINER: The increases come under the regulations of the civil service commission, and by the return of the five per cent. deduction. The increase in temporary salaries is $2,175; in telephone, telegraph and postage, increase $3,000; equipment, increase $16,093.

Mr. SPENCE: What does the equipment consist of?

Mr. GARDINER: Such equipment as cars, typewriters—

Mr. SPENCE: Limousines for the stenographers!

❖ ❖ ❖

HE'S OUT OF ORDER!

Mr. GARDINER: Moving the cattle out of the drought area was a policy decided upon by the federal government entirely. We asked the province to assist us in carrying it into effect; but no responsibility for the policy rests on the province; it rests entirely on this government.

Mr. PERLEY: Well, that makes it all the worse. I suppose the minister would say it would be impossible to get feed to maintain any more than the number allowed to be kept; that is, four on a farm. I made certain investigations with respect to feed that could be procured, in Manitoba particularly; individuals and representatives of rural municipalities had gone down there and were putting up feed, and I also drove through part of the country myself. I think if proper steps had been taken at the right time of the year feed could have been procured, and many of the smaller herds would have been saved to the extent that farmers would have been allowed to have kept three or four more cows than they were allowed to keep. This is a serious matter, and I take this opportunity of expressing my disapproval of the policy carried out last fall in this respect. We know the importance of dairying; we know what it means to the farmer who has been milking eight or ten cows, and who must meet grocery bills and other expenses. It has meant considerable to him to have had a reduction in stock.

Mr. GARDINER: We have spent the greater part of the week discussing marketing, and have disposed of the item. But at this time the hon. member is again talking on the subject. I would ask the Chair to keep the hon. member within the limits of the item under discussion.

Mr. Perley: We are on the item having to do with the production of live stock. If the production of dairy cows does not come within that item, then I must ask the Chair to give a ruling. I am discussing the production policy carried out by the government, as it affects the production of dairy cows in the province.

Mr. BOTHWELL: Does the hon. member object at this time to the removal of cattle out of Saskatchewan last fall to the feeding grounds in other provinces?

Mr. PERLEY: No, not at all; what I object to is the almost complete removal of dairy cattle from the southern and south eastern parts of the province. Farmers who had in the neighbourhood of ten or twelve dairy cows, which they were milking, were forced to reduce their herds to not more than four. Since that time, owing to the fact that they have not sufficient feed, there will be no dairy production in the area this year. Every farm—

The CHAIRMAN: Order. I believe the hon. member for Qu'Appelle is now discussing a matter pertaining to agricultural distress, a subject which has been before the house for a considerable length of time this session, and one the discussions of which lasted a great many days. I have listened carefully to the hon. gentleman's observations, and I must ask him to confine his remarks to the item under discussion, namely live stock and poultry, production services.

Mr. PERLEY: If the Chairman rules that the production of dairy cattle does not come under this item, then I certainly am out of order.

HE DROPS 100 WIVES.

(Sarnia Canadian Observer)

DEPRESSION is no respecter of persons. There is news from Pnom Penh in French Indo-China to the effect that King Sisowath Monivong, ruler of the ancient kingdom of Cambodia, has been compelled to make drastic reductions in his household expenditures and he is going to try to accomplish this by getting rid of 100 wives of the 200 whom he normally supports. If he is to maintain the Monivong tradition to a degree at all worthy of Cambodia he will have to stop his economies somewhere, and so he has concluded that a sweep of fifty per cent. among the wives will give the household purse a chance to get its second wind.

The King, who is sixty years of age, finds that the encroachments of civilization are quite debilitating to the royal treasury. Things are not what they used to be. The "good old days" are departing from Cambodia with a rush. When a Monivong parts with a hundred wives the going must be getting tough. But the King is still a few laps ahead of the average citizen of the western world who finds that the family revenues are somewhat strained by the maintenance of one wife.

OVERSUBSCRIPTION OF THE French armament loan may seem paradoxical to those who remember that a couple of weeks ago France was apparently shaken to its financial foundations by a crisis of the franc. Others will see in the rush to invest a sign that the Daladier program has revived confidence in French finance.

Both observations are in a measure justified. But each requires qualification. The plethora of funds where so recently there appeared to be not a sou is in itself no more paradoxical than the fact that people will invest in unproductive armaments even when they will not take shares in productive enterprise. Armaments create no new wealth out of which dividends ordinarily are expected to come, and for that reason should be a less attractive investment than a new factory for wealth-producing purposes.

There is another reason for investing in armaments, however, which is well known to everyone—that is, fear. And while this reason rushes investors into oversubscription of armament loans, the rush cannot of course be wholly attributed to a return of confidence in internal conditions. It has been observed over and over again how quickly France can forget internal troubles when external trouble threatens.

In the last few days, the French armament loan has been aided by no less an arms salesman than Premier Mussolini himself. Annoying the French in Tunis, and aggravating them with his Genoa speech, Il Duce unwittingly helped to shake more money out of French stockings than the Government could immediately stuff into cannon bores. But it must be reassuring to Frenchmen, as it is surprising to some others, that given a certain reason for going to their financial cupboard they still do not find the cupboard bare.

A Bible Message For Today . . . .

AND THE LORD said unto Moses, Hew thee two tables of stone like unto the first: and I will write upon those tables the words that were in the first tables, which thou brakest. And be ready in the morning, and come up in the morning unto mount Sinai, and present thyself there to me in the top of the mount . . .

And he was there with the Lord forty days and forty nights; he did neither eat bread, nor drink water. And he wrote upon the tables the word of the covenant, the ten commandments.

And it came to pass, when Moses came down from mount Sinai with the two tables of testimony in Moses' hand, when he came down from the mount, that Moses wist not that the skin of his face shone while he talked with them. And when Aaron and all the children of Israel saw Moses, behold, the skin of his face shone; and they were afraid to come nigh him . . .

And till Moses had done speaking with them, he put a vail on his face. —Exodus xxxiv, 1, 2, 28-30, 33.

❖ ❖ ❖

But if the ministration of death, written and engraven in stones, was glorious, so that the children of Israel could not stedfastly behold the face of Moses for the glory of his countenance; which glory was to be done away: how shall not the ministration of the spirit be rather glorious? . . .

Now the Lord is that Spirit: and where the Spirit of the Lord is, there is liberty.

But we all, with open face beholding as in a glass the glory of the Lord, are changed into the same image from glory to glory, even as by the Spirit of the Lord.—II Cor. iii, 7, 8, 17, 18.

POLITICAL FOOTBALL.

(Brantford Expositor)

THE AGRICULTURAL implement industry has been the football of Canadian politics for the last quarter of a century. The duties were left in a sound condition by the Macdonald and Laurier Governments, but ever since that time changes have been made which have been detrimental to the industry, and probably to the farmers also. It is claimed that if adequate protection were given the manufacture of these implements in the Dominion, so that the Canadian companies would have the benefit of the entire Canadian market, prices could be reduced, and there is reason in that argument.

Mystery Team To Start Petes Off On 1938 C.O.B.L. Front

Kitchen Likely To Get Starting Mound Assignment Against Oshawa

What sort of an outfit have the Petes for this year's C.O.B.L. campaign? Are the Oshawa GM-men as good as ever, or will their veterans start to crack up this year? These two questions will be answered, at least in part, at the opening of the Central Ontario Baseball League schedule in Riverside Park on Tuesday, May 24th, when Oshawa and the Petes clash.

While the GM-men, C.O.B.L. winners the last two years, Ontario champions in 1936, and finalists in '37, are practically intact from last year, the Petes will have several changes in their line-up. Officially, their lineup has not been announced yet—and a few changes from the one list above on this page are possible by Tuesday—but a fair idea of the 1938 starting local squad may be had.

Three hurlers are ready to start for the Petes, and a fourth, Spook Scriver, is waiting an O.B.A. transfer from Toronto. Russ Kitchen, Joe

RUSS KITCHEN

Jakafby and Gunner Whitehill are all in good shape and ready at a moment's notice. Kitchen is liable to get the starting assignment. With Eddie Starr unsigned yet—and saying he would not play this year—Cy Whatley and Doug. Mowry are the local catchers.

Since Bill Calladine also is unsigned to date, and not sure if he'll play at all or not, Whatley is likely to fill in at third base for the first game, leaving Mowry to do the catching. Cliff Cadd seems the logical man for first base. Manager Eddie Murphy expects to hold down second, but will not be reinstated till June 4th, and in the meantime, Bun Kingdon (first-rate utility infielder) will fill that position. Al Clark is a cinch for the shortstop berth. Outfielders will be Les Burton, Leo Deadey and Chuck Kearns, with Len Hollingsworth the extra gardener.

EDDIE WHITEHILL

The Petes should have good fielding again, and their pitching staff is expected to be considerably stronger than last year. Just what they'll do in hitting remains to be seen. They lost Ken Long and Fred Ash of last year, but neither hit extra well. Starr and Calladine, if they remain out, will be real losses—both hitting over .300 in 1938. Some of the locals are expected to hit up to form this year, while Deadey and Cadd may supply a real punch. But time will tell the tale.

Manager Legge will trot out a good Oshawa team, composed of his 1937 veteran stars and a few junior graduates as spares. Lefty Biddle and Jack Turner are main hurlers, with Ogden and a junior to fill in. Buzz Bennett is the mainstay in catching, Normoyle—junior grad—subbing for him. Lefty Wallace is on first, Red Jubenville at second, Tip Miller maybe at short and Doug May at third. Moose Matthews may or may not be in the starting lineup in the outfield, Tommy Foley, Peg Hurst and Doc Rowden being more likely starters. This looks like the lineup but last-minute shifts might throw it out. No doubt the GM-men will be as tough as ever this year.

WESTCLOX OPEN GIRLS' SOFTBALL LEAGUE WITH 22-18 WIN

LINDSAY GIRLS FAIL TO MAKE GRADE IN FIRST

Westclox defeated Lindsay Supremes 22 to 18, last night in Lindsay to open the Girls' Softball League schedule, the game being terminated at the end of the sixth inning for darkness In opening ceremonies, Dick Butler, Jack Baker and Bill Langdon participated to start the softball season for the ladies.

Marg Snowden and Barb Blade divided hurling duties for the Armour Hill maidens, the former fanning four and walking four in the four and two-third frames she worked, and the latter striking out three. Jean Hickson of Lindsay issued six walks and lasted but one inning, Jean Corlen finishing up by fanning four and walking five. The locals got but 10 hits to 12 for the visitors, several of them extra-base blows, the fielding being sloppy in the chilly weather.

For Westclox, L. Chartren was the leading clouter with a triple and two singles, while M. Hawthorne and G. Mortimer had a pair of singles apiece. For Lindsay, M. Campbell, J. Corley, D. Botting and D. Lees had two singles each, and E. Campbell a two-bagger. There were no outstanding fielding features in the abbreviated contest. The teams:

Westclox: I. Pavy, c; M. Ferguson, ss; M. Allison, 2b; M. Hawthorne, 3b; G. Mortimer, 1b; D. Merrett, lf; A. Sturgeon, cf; L. Chartren, rf; M. Snowden, p; B. Blade, p.

Lindsay: F. Mark, ss; M. Mackey, rf; J. Corley, p; D. Botting, 1b, c; E. Campbell, 3b; D. Sexsmith, lf; J. Hickson, p, rf.

Score by innings:		R.	H.	E.
Westclox	570 253—22	10	6
Lindsay	030 582—18	12	7

Kawartha Golfers Start May 24th

The official opening of the Kawartha Golf and Country Club will be held Tuesday, May 24th, at nine a.m. There will be a men's kicker handicap for both nine and 18 holes. At two p.m. a mixed two-ball foursome competition "catch as catch can" is listed. As many members as possible are asked to turn out and make it a memorable opening day.

There have been several improvements made to the course and more will be added. New bunkers have been added to No. 7 fairway to catch the slices and hookers. Approximately 350 young trees were planted at various points on the fine course. These are nursery stock and growing good. The six new greens have had their first cutting and look in excellent shape. The course appears in the best shape in its history. Play on the 18 holes will be possible about the middle of July.

HAVELOCK WINS 22-4 VICTORY

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HAVELOCK, May 21—The Havelock "Wreckers" handed the Deloro softball squad a severe trimming Friday evening when they defeated them by a 22 to 4 score in an exhibition game.

The local boys had little trouble in taking the visitors and were never seriously threatened after gaining a seven-run lead in the first inning.

Moore on the Havelock mound pitched a very steady game and received good support. However, after a three run rally by Deloro in the fifth, Brunton was given a chance at hurling, replacing Moore and collected six strikeouts in the next two innings, retiring Deloro without a run.

McColl pitching for Deloro was hit hard and often but many of the runs were due to poor support in the field, quite obviously due to lack of practice. "Shorty" Gray replaced McColl on the Deloro mound in the sixth and was a bit luckier, allowing the locals only one more run.

Ketchen, catcher for the Wreckers took the batting honors with a homer, two doubles and two singles out of seven trips to the plate. Cliff Kennedy also collected a homer and two doubles, and Joe Peters had a good turn at the bat with four doubles to his credit.

The lineups:

Havelock—McMullen, 1b; Ketchen, c; Pollock, ss; McCutcheon, cf; Peters, 3b; Harnden, 2b; Bedford, rf; Kennedy, lf; Moore, 6; Brunton, p.

Deloro—Richardson, c; Ginnion, cf; McInroy, 2b; P. Gray, ss; Townson, cf; W. Gray, rf; Loveless, 1b; Wright, 3b; McColl, p.

Score by innings:

Havelock	712 290 1—22
Deloro	001 030 0— 4

Umpires—K. Hill at plate, C. Haggerty on bases.

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two

By CEC PERDUE

SINCE TUESDAY, MAY 24TH, sees the opening of the 1938 C.O.B.L. schedule—Oshawa playing the Petes here at three p.m.—maybe we'd better bat out a bit about baseball. A brief summary of the players, for instance. Take the outfield. It'll be Les Burton in left, Leo Deadey in centre, and Chuck Kearns in right. If this trio hits up to form, we'll have as good an outfield as any in the league. They are all fast, smart gardeners and full of fight. Burton batted over .300 last year, and Deadey is expected to hit in that neighborhood. Kearns is due to begin bingling as he should again. He is a scrappy, smart fielder and one of the best base-runners in the league, but he only patted the pellet for a .221 average last season. We think he will do a lot better this summer. It looks like a good outfield, with Len Hollingsworth a capable utility gent in the garden.

* * * * * *

PROVIDED the Petes get Bob Doll passed by the O.B.A. in a hurry, we ought to have just about the best defensive infield in the circuit. No kidding, either. Doll is a dandy for third and fans, if they see him there, will soon agree with us. A nifty fielder and hard hitter, he hails from the other side and has a real rep. Al Clark was the best shortstop in the loop last year and should be tops again this semester the way he is going in practice. Eddie Murphy will have no peer at second, we'll bet. And Cliff Cadd is shaping up as a good first-sacker. Not flashy but steady and efficient. With Bun Kingdon a first-rate fielding utility man. Hasn't been hitting as he should but may improve a lot if he gets into enough games. Cadd used to hit hard and often in intermediate company and he fears no hurler—he ought to do okay. Murphy is a timely clouter and his pro experience should help him a lot. Clark is death to righthanders but has been weak against southpaws. Doll is said to be a good hitter. So, if things break right, we'll have a darn' good infield.

* * * * * *

AS FOR THE BATTERY, it'll be Cy Whatley and Mutt Mowry for catching—the latter doing the receiving if Whatley has to fill in at third. Cy should return to his good hitting form this year and he is well known as a capable catcher and infielder, lots of moxie and color. With all due respect to such scrappers as Cy and Starr, we think Mowry has more real aggressive spirit than any Peterborough catcher since the days of Swanston. Yeah, what he lacks in inches he more than makes up in fight. Short and stocky he belligerently crashed his way into senior company three seasons ago and has been up there ever since. Fears no one and never quits battling. These two receivers should fill the bill in Central Loop company.

* * * * * *

WE HAVE three pitchers to date, and maybe Spook Scriver if he gets a transfer. Possibly a southpaw yet, too. Russ Kitchen is a fine steady righthand curve-baller, and the Ponies and GM-Men have much respect for his slants. Joe Jakafby, after a bad midseason slump last year, came on fast at the finish and was one of the best hurlers in the loop. The big righthander needs a lot of warming up but once he's right he is almost unhittable. And Gunner Whitehill, after a slump last summer, should hit his old form and that change of pace, along with his curves and control, ought to win several struggles at least for the locals. We have had pretty fair pitching and good fielding the past two summers, but lacked hitting. If we get it this year, watch out for the Liftlockers!

* * * * * *

IN THE CHURCH Softball League last night, George St. Juveniles beat St. James 14-7 at Central and Knox Seniors copped a 14-6 nod over Murray St at King Edward. Up at the Oval, Mark St. Seniors edged out a 12-8 win from All Saints. St. John's play George St. Bantams Monday at Central. Not a thing else listed till a flock of fixtures May 25th. All Saints and St. John's open the junior schedule that eve at Central. So far there have been 23 games played, about a third of the schedule, with four tilts rained out. All the teams have played at least two games and most of 'em three. Mark St. Seniors, George St. Juveniles and George St. and Knox Bantams are still unbeaten. Four teams have yet to win a game. All Saints and Murray St. Seniors, St. James Juveniles and St. John's Bantams. This loop is running along in its usual efficient manner. Standings are in tonight.

* * * * * *

AND YOUSE FOLKS who, like ourself, loves a doggone good fist fight, shouldn't ought to forget that there is a big mitt show here on May 30th, which is a week from Monday. It's at the lacrosse arena and sees four Toronto pugs mixing it with local talent, three all-local cards and an amachoor rasslin' bout. If the Riverview A.C. stage another show this time like they did in their two previous efforts—at the Brock and in the Armouries—we will be prepared to nominate that club as being the best fight club this city has seen in a great many years. The sour science is always regarded with suspicion, and rightfully so. It is a very sour sport at times—especially in the pro game—but this gang look to have something worth while this time.

* * * * * *

LAST NIGHT we ankled down to see some lacrosse, being something of a gutted-stick enthusiast. The only time we tried to play the game we took a dandy pass but somehow it missed the stick and bashed in our beezer! However, we have always tried to learn a little bit about every game at first hand, and we learned quite a little about lacrosse that time. It is a rugged game, decidedly! The Petes started off on the right foot last night with a 15-5 exhibition win over Woodbridge here, before about 300 cold fans. Not that they were cold on the game, nossir. They yipped and yelled most of the way. But the weather was colder than a farewell from the mother-in-law. Yet it was a pretty fair game, though a trifle one-sided. The locals looked good. They passed, checked and shot well for so early in the season.

* * * * * *

TWO OF THE NEWCOMERS to the team, Norm Worthy and Jack Westonfelt—the former with Brampton seniors last year and the latter with Orillia juniors—almost stole the show. They'll fit in like a lady's No. 7 in a No. 5 shoe. Quite easily, and they'll help a whole lot. Worthy was in on five goals and so was Westonfelt. Crowe went well, too. And several of the others. It's a good team. Meyette played a dandy game in goal. Red Creighton didn't appear, being quite sick, and Owen Hendy got a busted thumb in a softball game. Dunno where Chute was. Ned Vitarelli won't be playing, having a soft drink concession out of town. And Cadd is out with the senior baseballers, so won't likely play lacrosse. But we have no worries so far about the Petes in lacrosse; they'll be hard to lick.

* * * * * *

HITHER AND YAWN: Still not a word on the Oshawa ball lineup this year by the Motor City scribe—must be feuding with the club .... The Oshawa juniors plan to play home games in the stadium instead of the park ... Alex Weir is coaching Belleville intermediates and is getting good turnouts .... Lacrosse Club has three dozen sticks for youngsters here and will sell 'em cheaply, starting today .... Westclox men softballers have a workout today at three in the Bowl .... Art Scarlett, good Napanee outfielder last year, has headed north and will try out with Hollinger Mines .... Ye Westclox gals nudged out the nod in Lindsay last eve in an abbreviated softball struggle .... Ken Colling and Don Thomas will umpire here Tuesday; C.O.B.L. umps this year must wear blue suits, white shirts and bow ties—trying to look like gentlemen, we suppose! .... Summer sports really start locally this coming week, a flock of 'em swinging into action .... A sock with a rock in it kills 'em all right but everytime ya swing it ya knock off the plaster—so better buy a fly-swatter this spring at the start!

Oshawa And Petes Open Here May 24

The 1938 Central Ontario Baseball League series opens here on Tuesday, May 24th, when Oshawa GM-men meet the Petes at three o'clock in Riverside Park. An official opening-day ceremony will be held at 2.45 o'clock, and the game will commence on time. Neutral umpires from Belleville will be sent here and a big holiday crowd is expected to usher in the baseball season. Neither Coach Art Legge or Manager Eddie Murphy of the rival senior clubs is certain as yet of the starting linups, both teams having important practices today and Monday to decide on the squads to be used.

The C.O.B.L. championship Oshawa club for the past two years—Ontario winners in '36 and Provincial finalists last year—will be as strong as ever. They have all of last year's players, plus several good junior graduates as spares. Either Lefty Biddle or Jack Turner will draw the first flinging assignment. The Petes have re-shuffled their team considerably since last season, and they are expected to be stronger. The starting hurler is uncertain yet. Both clubs will be after this important first victory to start them off right in the short schedule, and the game promises to be a peach.

George St. Wins Over St. James

George Street Juveniles took a 14-7 win over St. James' last night in a Church Softball League game at Central. The winners climbed to the top of the standing by this win. A nine-run splurge in the fifth cinched the tilt for the victors. Aside from this frame, Gregson pitched good ball and he deserved a better fate. Routley coasted along on his fast ball with the big lead his buddies built up. Shea and Henry turned in some nice fielding. Bedford and Roberts were the best hitters with Parnall and Freeman also clicking at bat. The teams:

St. James' — Gregson, p; Stanley, 3b; Gillespie, 1b; Shea, lf; McMahon, 2b; Roberts, c; Freeman, cf; Welbourne, rf; Joiner, ss.

George Street — Hamilton, 1b; Willshaw, cf; Saunders, ss; Parnall, c; Bedford, 3b; Woodgate, lf; Henry, 2b; E. Routley, p; L. Routley, rf.

REDMEN BLANK GIANTS 4 TO 0 CUT N.Y. LEAD

NEW YORK, May 21.—(AP). — Sparked by Johnny Vandermeer's five-hit job of whitewash pitching and Ernie Lombardi's big bat, Cincinnati Reds handed the Giants their second straight shutout Friday, winning 4-0 in a National League baseball game.

The setback shaved the Giants' league lead to 3½ games over Chicago Cubs, and stretched their losing streak to three in a row. It was the Reds' third win over the pennant holders in four meetings between the two clubs this year.

Vandemeer pitched air-tight ball all the way. Only one Giant got as far as third base, and only five reached second, as the young southpaw fanned eight and chalked up his second win of the season.

Meantime the Reds got to Hal Schumacher and Clyde Castleman for nine hits, one of them Lombardi's third homer of the year, which came with Ival Goodman on base in the seventh inning. Lombardi also drove in another run, again scoring Goodman, with a single in the first, to set the pace in handing Schumacher his third defeat.

DODGERS WHIP PIRATES 7-5

BROOKLYN, N.Y., May 21.—(AP).—The Dodgers took a liking to some mediocre Pittsburg pitching yesterday and whipped the Pirates 7-5 with a twelve-hit attack.

Although Van Mungo was knocked out of the box during a three-run Pittsburg rally in the sixth, he took credit for the victory, his second of the season. The defeat, charged to Red Lucas, was the Pirates' fourth straight. Babe Phelps clouted a homer with a mate aboard to feature a three-man Brooklyn rally in the second.

LEN WADSWORTH LOSES HIS TITLE

OTTAWA, May 21 (C.P.).—Climaxing a brief but victorious march through the middleweight ranks Ray McIntyre of Woodstock, N.B., last night won the Canadian 160-pound boxing championship by taking a 12-round decision from Len Wadsworth of Hamilton, Ont., defending titleholder.

Except for brief exchanges in the middle rounds and a desperate and furious attack in the last two, Wadsworth looked like anything but a champion against the New Brunswick negro, who forced the fight from the opening bell.

Caught off balance with a right swing at start of the tenth round, Wadsworth went down, but was up without a count. It was the only knockdown of the fight. Twice the defending titleholder winced and his knees sagged when McIntyre landed a low blow in the seventh and butted him accidentally in the eleventh.

PLENTY OF HITS AS CHICAGO WINS

PHILADELPHIA, May 21 (AP).—Chicago Cubs, clouting twenty-two hits off three pitchers, came out on top of the Phillies 16 to 7 Friday in a wild slugging ball game.

Stan Hack hammered out four hits and Billy Herman and Carl Reynolds three each to lead the assault on Bucky Walters, Wild Bill Hallahan and Tom Reis. The Phils collected fifteen safeties, one of them a homer by Pinky Whitney, and had some satisfaction in belting the Cub starter, Tex Carleton, out of the box.

SIZE 80 SHORTS

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 21.—(AP).—Step right up, ladies and gents, and see the biggest undies in these parts. Earle A. Goodenow, Oklahoma City knit garment dealer, was showing them off to-day—a pair of size 80 shorts, made especially for a Beaumont, Tex., man. Goodenow heard the Texan's wife had worn her fingers to the bone stitching home-made models, so he came to her aid.

Inside Sportin' Dope

BY A. WISE CRACKER

Mister Sporting Editor:

Well Mac, we are on the eve of another ball season with the Oshawa GM-men coming in Tues. to celebrate Victoria Day in our midst. They should oughta be a real old-time crowd out to see Manager Eddie Murphy's talent tangle with the League champs and they should oughta see a lively battle. They is 1 thing about this year's edition of the Petes. They may have been disappointed in a number of reinforcement getting hung up in the wires and in a couple of the local stalwarts withholding theirselfs from the fray, but the lads that has been turning out has been working their heads off to get into shape and they got plenty of fight in their makeup. Mister Murphy promises to have a peppery, battling squad and they will be hustling all the way. They will be a couple new faces in the lineup and it should be a interesting ball club, giving the home fans a lotta good baseball this season.

Nice Going, Lads.

Our congratulations is extended to Mister Bill Prindible and others associated with him in getting minor league ball going again. With a bunch of junior teams lined up it is going to mean a lot of new interest in baseball among the youngsters and that is needed if a supply of material for future teams is to be available. Last year or 2 they has be nothing at all for the kid what wanted to play baseball and the result was they was all being driven into softball.

I'm Still Sticking.

The big Leagues, Mac, is moving along without a great deal to get excited about this week. My 2 New York selections is still up around the head of the parade and so far I aint seen no reason to crawl on my prediction that the world serious this fall will be another nickel affair. Of course I am ready to admit the Yanks is having a lot more trouble in the American loop than for a long time. That Boston Red Sox outfit is been going along as smooth as silk and the Cleveland Indians when they get on their home lot, is plenty tough opposition. If them babies could do as well on the road I would be half inclined to give them a real chance to nose out the Yanks but they seem to crumble away from home cooking. Boston is probably the real threat to the Yanks' chances. They gotta plenty of power and have been getting good pitching as well.

In the National circuit, old timer, I still call the Giants, even if the Cubs has handed them a couple trimmings this week. Over the long journey, Mac, they got what it takes and I think along about September you'll admit I was right.

Anyway that's my pick even if I'm stung with it.

Sportfully yours,
A. WISE CRACKER.

LEAFS SHADE REDWINGS 3-2

TORONTO, May 21.—They said Bobby Porter couldn't hit left-handed pitching, but the husky product of the Beach district labelled that statement a fallacy yesterday afternoon at Maple Leaf Stadium. Porter collected two triples and a pair of singles, pacing the Leafs to a 3 to 2 triumph over Rochester Red Wings, and three of those drives came off the southpaw slants of Oscar Judd, London-born resident of Ingersoll, who achieved fame with Guelph Maple Leafs.

It was fortunate indeed that Porter managed to come through as he did, because the lack of hitting on the part of other members of the team almost nullified a beautifully pitched game by John Berly. As it turned out Porter and Berly formed an unbeatable combination.

Cobb's Double Scored Two.

The veteran Texan had his crossfire delivery working to perfection, although it crossed him up in the eighth when the visitors scored both of their runs. For seven innings Berly served a baffling brand of ball, which held the visitors to five scattered singles.

TANNERS MEET FIRST SETBACK HASTINGS LOOP

(Examiner Correspondence.)

HASTINGS, May 21.—The Tanners suffered their first setback of the season in the Hastings Softball League last night (Friday) when they were defeated by Elgin 12 to 11. The Tanners held a one run lead going into the last of the seventh but Elgin scored twice in their half to cop the decision.

Elgin outscored the Tanners two to one in the first innings to take an early lead. They each scored twice in the third to make it 4 to 3 for Elgin. The Tanners forged to the front in the fourth innings when they sent four across on four hits, one being a long home run to deep left field by G. Scriver. They added three more in the fifth on three singles and McCoy's long triple.

Elgin scored six times in the last of the fifth on five hits, two errors and a walk to tie up the game at 10 all. The Tanners managed to take the lead in the seventh when they scored one, but J. Preston's triple with two on cinched the game for Elgin.

G. Scriver of the Tanners and J. Preston of Elgin, each with three hits in four times up led all batters. J. Richardson, Elgin's pitcher allowed 13 hits while striking out two and walking one. McCoy on the mound for the Tanners was hit safely 14 times. He struck out five and passed two. On Monday evening its the Outlaws and the Clerks.

The teams:

Tanners—C. Scriver, lf; Thompson, ss; G. Scriver, c; Hahn, 2b; Sargent, 3b; Brinklow, 1b; McCoy, p; Kelley, cf; Faux, rf.

Elgin—J. Richardson, p; E. Preston, 2b; J. Preston, c; G. Richardson, 3b; M. Scott, 1b; Fleming, lf; B. Scott, ss; R. Richardson, cf; R. Scott, rf.

DANGEROUS forties —and Fifties —and Sixties

Men past forty can no longer take chances with health and "get away with it," because the body has less resistance to disease and its powers of recuperation are lower.

Common sense must dictate the mode of living, including diet, exercise and habits. A precautionary health check-up should be made at regular intervals by a good physician.

PETERBOROUGH LACROSSERS WIN EXHIBITION TUSSLE 15-5

INDIANS RETAIN AMERICAN LEAD WITH FIFTH WIN

CLEVELAND, May 21 (A.P.). — Cleveland Indians, determined to stay in first place in the American League, bunched six hits for five runs in the second inning against Washington on Friday for their fifth consecutive victory. The score was 6 to 3.

Both squads made 10 hits, but Johnny Allen was tough in the pinches and turned in his fourth victory of the campaign for the Tribe.

Mel Almada and Johnny Stone both hit home runs for Washington, but the bases were vacant. Earl Averill produced a superfluous homer for Cleveland in the eighth.

Emil (Dutch) Leonard, who handcuffed the Indians two weeks ago with six hits in 13 innings when he won a 1-0 decision, didn't last longer than that fast second inning yesterday.

Elon (Chief) Hogsett went the rest of the way, granting only four hits in 6 1-3 innings.

A'S SCORE 5-2 WIN.

DETROIT, May 21 (A.P.).—Banging out eight hits, Philadelphia Athletics scored a 5-2 victory on Friday that squared their series with Detroit Tigers.

Until the eighth, the game was a pitcher's battle between Schoolboy Rowe, of Detroit, and Luther Thomas, of the A's. The Macks then staged a four-run uprising, getting four unearned runs after Rudy York committed a two-base error on Wayne Ambler's liner to left.

Doubles by Dick Siebert, Dario Lodigian and Sam Chapman, and walks to Bob Johnson and Earle Brucker kept the rally going. Rowe was lifted after the fourth run scored and George Coffman and Roxie Lawson finished. Nels Potter relieved Thomas for the A's after the latter walked the first two men up in the Detroit eighth.

GRAND DAME UP AMONG FAVORITES

TORONTO, May 21.—(CP).—Declared fit and ready, 16 Ontario-foaled thoroughbreds were prepared to-day to battle over a mile and a furlong for 50 guineas, donated by the King and the major portion of a $7,500 added purse, feature awards of the 79th running of the King's Plate.

When a shrill bugle note calls the field on the track at Woodbine Park, a gallant little colt, Bunty Lawless, will rule the public's choice to romp to victory. Bunty Lawless, owned by Willie Morrissey of Toronto, was installed favorite shortly after he came from winter quarters and held the favored spot throughout the long training period.

Despite Bunty Lawless' favored position, turf experts predicted a battle between the Morrissey colt, G. M. Hendrie's Grand Dame, Riverdale stable's Wicklow, R. S. McLaughlin's Red Pirate, and J. E. Smallman's Slycat.

Grand Dame, an ebony-coated filly, survived the gruelling training period in fit condition. During her two-year-old campaign she went to the post six times, won three, finished second twice and third once.

300 Chilly Fans Brave Weather To See Woodbridge Defeated

See Homesters Sweep Through To Win In Big Second And Third Frames

The local lacrossers opened their season here last night with an exhibition tilt in the George St. arena, taking a 15-5 victory over the Woodbridge intermediates in a fair tussle.

Barely 300 fans braved the chilly weather to view the 1938 edition of the Peterborough gutted-stick athletes in action. It was a good game, fast most of the way, fairly clean but somewhat one-sided through the second and third quarters.

The count was 2-0 for the homesters in a rough, exciting first frame. The locals had a 7-1 bulge to end the speedy but cleaner second session. They were in front 13-3 to start the slower final stanza. There were but four penalties drawn throughout, the teams dividing them. Only in the fourth quarter did the visitors hold their own in scoring but they kept trying all the way.

It was a neat early-season effort by the new Petes' team and they clicked in good fashion before the home spectators. Their passing, shooting and checking was extra good for a May showing. Meyette shone in goal with some grand stops in every quarter to keep down the score. Worthy and Westonfelt, two newcomers, played outstanding roles and proved valuable additions to the Liftlock City crew. They were in on many of the scores. Of the rest, Crowe, E. Creighton, King and Pammett were prominent with several of the others almost as effective. The whole squad looked good in their initial start. The visitors were weak defensively but made it a game. Their best players were Baggs, Banting, Carnegie and Mabley.

Crowe Starts It

Crowe counted the first marker of the season on Magee's pass on neat passing in close. Crowe got another in the first frame to make it 2-0 on Pammett's assist. The locals had an edge but their rivals checked them closely and the score was kept down in this heat. Worthy was gated for boarding but the visitors were unable to bulge the hemp behind Meyette in his absence. Play was fairly rough in spots and threatened to become dirty but they cooled off after a few hard exchanges. Worthy scored before the close but it was not allowed as he came from behind the net.

King counted on Worthy's pass early in the second and then Westonfelt scored from Worthy on fine combination. Westonfelt got another alone, scooping up a loose ball in close. Norton was robbed by Meyette, and Crowe tallied, aided by Magee and Westonfelt on nice passing. Woodbridge got their first halfway through when Hostrawser took Baggs' pass around the defence to counter. Banting went off for cross-checking and King scored on Worthy's assist to make it 7-1 at the gong.

Petes Get Hot

Half a minute after the third opened, Magee blazed one by Doyle on E. Creighton's assist. Loucks slapped in another on a dandy try and then Mabley got one back for Woodbridge, coming out of a corner. Crowe and E. Creighton combined for one, the former flinging the ball into the twine. Westonfelt took a corner passout from Dundas to tally and the same player got another fast on Whitton's aid. Bowen scored from Worthy, a nice one. Woodbridge kept battling and tallied their third when Banting got Miller's pass in close and whistled it by Meyette. It ended at 13-3 for the locals.

There was plenty of fancy passing in the fourth but not a bit of damage done till halfway through. Play was slower, clean and fairly even. Westonfelt and Brewer roughed it up somewhat and were waved off. King took a pass from Worthy to tally at close range. Banting got it right back for the visitors on Carnegie's assist. E. Creighton scored an easy one from Ellis, and Baggs finished the scoring on a pass from Hutchison.

The teams:

Woodbridge: Goal, Doyle; defence, Banting and McNabb; centre, Miller; wings, Carnegie and Harrington; rover, Norton; alternates, Baggs, Hutchison, Castator, Hostrawser, Mabley and Brewer.

Petes: Goal, Meyette; defence, Westonfelt and J. Creighton; centre, Dundas; wings, Worthy and King; rover, Whitton; alternates, Sloan, Miller, Magee, Crowe, E. Creighton, Pammett, Bowen, Ellis and Loucks.

Referee—Bud Fisher.

LIBERALS SWING DEWDNEY RIDING FROM B.C. TORIES

MISSION CITY, B.C., May. 21.—(CP).—Liberals took Dewdney riding from the Conservative column in the provincial by-election yesterday when D. W. Strachan, a former representative of the seat, was elected. His victory raised government strength in the Legislature to 32.

Mr. Strachan defeated Reeve W. A. Jones of Kent municipality and Miss Mildred Osterhout of Vancouver. Mr. Jones carried the Conservative banner and Miss Osterhout ran as a Co-operative Commonwealth Federation candidate.

With two polls to hear from the vote was: Strachan 2030; Jones 1905; Miss Osterhout 1641. As a result of the balloting the house standing will be: Liberals 32, Conservatives even, C.C.F. seven, Independent one, Labor one.

FAIRVIEW

The Women's Association held a special meeting on Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Ernest Mahood. A large number of ladies attended and a quilt was finished during the afternoon which will be sent to missions. A delightful lunch was served.

Mr. Allan B. Mann, reeve of Smith township was the guest speaker at Fairview Young People's meeting. Mr. Mann gave a most interesting address on municipal affairs and Christian citizenship.

The Smith township O.R.E.C. convention will be held at Curve Lake and Wesley churches Thursday, May 26, afternoon and evening and not Wednesday as printed in error on the programs.

Miss Olive Bell is visiting friends at Clydesdale.

OFFICERS' MESS.

The last officers' mess of the year was held after the cadet inspection. Among the guests were Lt.-Col. J. A. Dewart, Major R. T. E. Hicks-Lyne of the Prince of Wales Rangers; Messrs. W. E. Jackson and L. J. Pettit of the teaching staff; Captain H. A. Craig, instructor; A. Parks, president of Students' Council, and a delegation from the Lindsay C.I. Corps, including Captain L. Le Craw, O.C., and six other officers. The Cadets of "B" Company were given a dinner for their splendid work. The attendance was over 120, including guests, 58 officers and N.C.O.'s and "B" Company. Grace was said by Major Tom Hooper. The following toasts were proposed: "The King," by Lt. J. Hawthorne; "The School," Col. R. Hagerman, replied to by Mr. L. J. Pettit; "The Corps," by Lt.-W. Wheeler, replied to by Captain H. A. Craig, who thanked the men and officers and congratulated them on their fine showing and to the guests by Major H. Davidson. Captain Millette was the first guest to reply. Then Col. Dewart spoke. He congratulated the corps and expressed the necessity of cadet training. He said he was proud to know that the P.C.I. Corps was now affiliated with the Rangers, and as a welcoming gesture he presented to Major Hugh Davidson the uniforms used by the P.W.R. band up until last year. Major Hugh Davidson then expressed his thanks for the donation. Col. Dewart offered all possible assistance and predicted, as well as urged, improvement in the corps.

The next guest to address the men was Major Hicks-Lyne. His chief hope was, he said, to see better uniforms and all equipment in the school. Major Hicks-Lyne spoke of the responsibility of defence of Canada and the purpose of cadets.

Owing to poor health, Dr. Kenner was unable to attend, but sent Lt. W. E. Jackson as representative. On behalf of Dr. Kenner, Mr. Jackson thanked and congratulated the corps on its success. Colonel Bill Wheeler then thanked the officers for their co-operation, and on behalf of the corps made a presentation to Captain H. A. Craig, the instructor.

MORNING ENTERTAINMENT.

Morning entertainment reached a new high this week, with two outstanding features, Miss Olga Westbye, a student of Mrs. Dorothy Allan Park, sang "Shadows on the Moon." Miss Westbye's solo held her audience in silence, and drew a hearty ovation from the student body.

OBSERVATION PLATFORM.

Extra copies of pictures appearing in the Echoes were on sale this week... The baseball team practised two nights this week. One practice was held at Riverside, where the players split up into two teams and practised batting...The team is coming along well, and should finish the schedule near the top, if not on top... A large crowd of school-spirited pupils attended the inspection and it is estimated that five out of every six had a candid camera....The Camera Club, represented by Bob Hamilton and Bob Graham, took many fine pictures from the second storey of the school. The club uses a special camera for this work ... Middle and Upper School exams definitely start on the 25th of May... Mr. Craig wishes to have all the cadet uniforms returned by Monday. Cadets please note.

ONE SHOCK ENOUGH

KITCHENER, Ont., May 21 (C.P.)—The electric fence salesman had a good argument. He sold the fence to a certain farmer not far from Kitchener and the farmer connected his car battery to it, the fence working wonderfully in keeping the pigs out of neighboring fields. The farmer complained that he couldn't use his car, so the salesman said the fence had done its educational work and the battery was no longer needed. The farmer took the battery off, and sure enough, the pigs still give the fence a wide berth.

Most Valuable American Stamp

Because a printer who "set-up" the United States' first airmail stamps erred and they were printed with the airplane flying upside down, they became the most valuable American stamps. William E. Robey, Washington, D.C., purchased a sheet of 100 for $24, before the error was noticed by the post-office. He sold the entire block to a Philadelphia syndicate for $15,000, who in turn sold it for $20,000. These four stamps are at present on exhibit in Washington in connection with the U. S. Airmail week celebrations. They are valued at $16,000.

NOTED WINNIPEGER R. D. WAUGH DIES

WINNIPEG, May 21 (CP)—Richard Deans Waugh, 70, British Empire representative of the Saar Commission in 1920, and thrice mayor of Winnipeg, died here today.

Mr. Waugh was chief commissioner of the Manitoba Liquor Commission and his death was just four days after a fellow commissioner, W. J. Bulman, noted Winnipeg printer, died.

Mr. Waugh, a genial Scotsman, will long be remembered for his civic leadership in Winnipeg between 1908 and 1916, and as head of the commission in charge of reconstructing the explosion-torn district of Halifax in 1917.

Mr. Waugh, born in Melrose Scotland, March 23, 1868, came to Winnipeg at the age 13, received his education here and after a brief experience in a law office he entered real estate business in the rapidly-growing city.

He became president of the Winnipeg real estate exchange, a leader of the Scottish Association and prominent in curling and horticutural circles.

His first political venture was in 1908 when he became city controller and four years later the citys mayor. He was named mayor for 1915-16.

The 98-mile acqueduct carrying Winnipeg's fresh water from Shoal Lake, Lake of the Woods region, was built between 1915 and 1920 when Mr. Waugh was chairman of the greaer Winnineg water district. The project cost $20,000,000.

Chosen By Borden.

In March, 1920, Sir Ribt. Borden, then Prime Minister of Canada, offered Mr. Waugh the Saar commissionership, at the request of the British government, and it was accepted.

Mr. Waugh as a member of the Saar administration, declared that the administration had no more right to be anti-German than anti-French or anti-British and as a result he said:

"It seems I was always a minority of one, as I thought it my duty to see that the Treaty of Versailles was carried out to the very letter by both French and Germans."

For three and one-half years, Mr. Waugh strove to pacify the great German population in the fertile mining valley. But in 1923 the Saar commission moved to impose heavy fines and imprisonment upon inhabitants who criticized the Versailles treaty or any administration.

After three months of fighting this move, Mr. Waugh resigned in August and came back to Winnipeg.

Mr. Waugh was twice married. In 1892 he married Harriet Logan, daughter of Alexander Logan, four times Mayor of Winnipeg.

Mrs. Waugh died in July, 1931, and in August, 1932, Mr. Waugh married Miss Eleanor Lewis of Winnipeg. Six children surive.

GOVERNMENT MAN HOLDS AYLESBURY

LONDON, May 21—(AP). — The government to-day checked trend of unfavorable by-elections by retaining the Aylesbury division of Buckinghamshire by a margin of nearly 11,000 votes.

Results in yesterday's polling gave the Conservative candidate, Sir Stanley Reed, 21,695; T. Atholl Robertson, Liberal, 10,751; and Reginad Groves, Labor, 7,666.

The government's majority was only slightly smaller than in the general election of 1935. Labor, which had won three successive seats from the Government, increased its total by 3,000 votes at the expense of the Liberal party.

Sir Stanley Reed, a former editor of the Times of India, campaigned on behalf of the governments foreign policy which was attacked by the other two candidates.

The by-election was held to fill a vacancy caused by the resignation of M. W. Beaumont, Conservative.

LINDSAY CROWN BRANDS ONTARIO'S WINE 'FIREWATER'

(Examiner Correspondence.)

LINDSAY, May 21.—A young man named Tully, residing in Verulam Township, faced Magistrate Gee Friday morning, charged with malicious damage to property and resisting arrest. He was remanded for two weeks for sentence. This young man, according to the police, ran amok in the township after an over-indulgence in liquor and acted like a mad man. According to County Crown Attorney Anderson, the accused would have killed his brother had he been delivered to him. "No one has ever been closer to murder," remarked Mr. Anderson.

The accused worked for Oscar Thurston, where he became very violent. He damaged two cars and also the interior of the house, and the Thurston brothers had a hard fight battling with him Constable Hardy, of Bobcaygeon, was summoned to the scene, and another battle was staged with the officer. County Crown Attorney Anderson also pointed out that the accused, who had a previous court record, possessed a revolver and scared two Bobcaygeon girls by discharging it. The Crown wanted possession of the weapon before the case was through, and steps will be taken to get it.

County Crown Attorney Anderson also condemned what he termed "Ontario's contemptible wine product." "They used to sell what they called firewater to the Indians," remarked Mr. Anderson, "and this stuff is firewater, too." A. T. Lacey, who appeared for the accused, remarked: "It should be called dynamite. I cannot condone the sale of the stuff."

Gordon Hill, of Gooderham, is in the Red Cross Hospital at Wilberforce suffering from cuts about the head, accidently inflicted by his brother, Kenneth. They were helping their father to peel logs when the axe slipped in Kenneth's hands.

A resident of Omemee will face the charge of failing to remain at the scene of an accident that occurred on the Fenelon Hill Thursday night. It is alleged that the accused side-swiped a car driven by J. H. Clarke, of Toronto. It is further alleged, after speeding away, he was chased two miles before he turned into a farmer's lane.

The funeral took place Friday of an old and highly esteemed resident of Lindsay, in the person of Millicent Davidson, widow of the late Thomas Wesley Blackwell. In her eighty-third year, she was born in Emily Township and resided on a farm east of Omemee before moving to Lindsay thirty years ago. She is survived by three sons.

Mount Pleasant W.A. Postpones Bazaar

MOUNT PLEASANT, May 21.—The May meeting of the W. A. of Mount Pleasant United church was held last week at the home of Mrs. Norman Fee.

Mrs. T. Graham, president, was in charge. Mrs. Hubert Gardiner conducted the devotional period, reading the Scripture lesson and giving a paper on the evils of smoking and drinking.

The secretary read the minutes of the previous meeting. It was decided to postpone the bazaar until later in the fall. The treasurer read the report and then the various committees were called on New business was discussed. It was decided to hold a pot luck dinner at the next meeting at the home of Mrs. H. Jamieson.

Mrs. McConkey and Mrs. H. Gardiner had charge of the program. The meeting closed with a hymn, after which the hostess served a dainty lunch and a social half hour was enjoyed.

1500 Contestants Take Part In Northumberland Festival

Bethesda South United Church Choir Awarded The H. N. Carr Trophy

CAMPBELLFORD, May 21. — Close to one thousand people from all parts of Northumberland County gathered in Colborne to hear the grand concert and presentation to winners of the second annual Northumberland Musical Festival, in which contests have been in progress since Wednesday afternoon. An estimated 1,500 were entered in the various classes, for all of which Dr. Fricker, widely-known authority on music from Toronto, acted as adjudicator. So large was the attendance for the final concert that it was necessary to run the program simultaneously in both the church auditorium and the sunday school of the Colborne United Church. A. A. Martin, district school inspector and secretary of the association, was assisted by District Agricultural Representative A. H. Martin of Brighton.

In their opening remarks the chairmen voiced their appreciaton to the officials of the church and to the local committee as well as to the music supervisors and teachers who co-operated in making the festival a success in every sense of the word. Mark St. Seniors Beats All Saints'

Mark St. Seniors of the Church Softball League Friday night at the Oval edged out a 12-8 verdict over All Saints to stay on top of the loop. The Anglicans, who have not won yet, made it close and were leading for a time till a five-run splash in the sixth by the East City nine stopped them. Craig pitched for Mark St. and was hit fairly hard, as were his rivals, G. Seabrooke and McDougall. However the winning hurler had better support than the All Saints slabmen. Bill Brady hit a homer and with Darwin and Williams were leading hitters, while Hill, Menzies, Platt, Brady and Townsend all kicked in with nice fielding plays. The teams:

All Saints: Platt, 1b; Rusaw, 3b; McDougall, p; G. Seabrooke, p, 3b; S. Seabrooke, ss; King, cf; Alton, cf; Menzies, rf; Williams, 2b; Livingstone, c; Hill, lf.

Shuffleboard Courts At Millbrook

The new Shuffleboard Courts at Millbrook; ABOVE, the gift of F. C. Scott. At his personal expense, and involving an amount of over $400, Mr. Scott has installed three courts, on the former bowling green, and given them free fully equipped to the village. Citizens young and old are learning the game, and the courts are busy at all times. —(Examiner Correspondent's Photo)

LEAVING CANADA FOR AUSTRALIA

The salt spray from the bows of great windjammers got into the blood of David Hardie when he was a youth and sailed all the oceans of the world, and he hasn't been able to forget the roll of a ship since.

DAVID HARDIE

Last summer the 88-year-old sailor went on a cruise to Australia, where he had once lived and where members of his family still reside. He arrived back in Peterborough just before Christmas and now he's off to Australia once more. He leaves today (Saturday) and says he intends to live the rest of his life in the land down under.

In this city David Hardie has been a tent and awning maker. He lives and carries on his business at 499 Patterson street. He came here 30 years ago after a varied experience. He was a sail maker aboard the old sailing vessels that sought far horizons. Then he made tents and awnings in Australia for a few decades. When he leaves this city today he turns over his business to a son, Robert Hardie.

MR. GRAVESTOCK'S ATTITUDE

In justice to James Gravestock of Lindsay it should be mentioned that the reason he did not vote for the resolution clearing Alex. Elliott, M.P.P. of any suspicion of having misrepresented matters in regard to the lunge situation was that Mr. Gravestock is not a member and was not eligible to vote. It was the Lindsay man, as a matter of fact, who suggested to the mover of the resolution, that such a motion should be passed in fairness to Mr. Elliott.

MAIN STREET TOPICS

By an Examiner Reporter.

AN EXPLANATION

Some time ago Paddy Jordan of Peterborough got into trouble in Toronto in connection with a minor offence and almost simultaneously, The Examiner is informed, another youth of the same name was jailed for breaking and entering. The explanation is made now to clear up any misunderstanding.

BIG SCOUT JAMBOREE.

Col. Sir George McLaren, president of the Provincial Council of Boy Scouts of Ontario, will be present when scouts from all parts of this section of the province hold their annual jamboree at Lindsay on May 24. A tremendous crowd of scouts and scouting enthusiasts is expected to converge on Lindsay for the celebration. Peterborough will send a large deputation.

HOLIDAY VISITORS

A rush of visitors for the week-end and Victoria Day is expected at the lake resorts of the district, and today will see hundreds arrive for the annual first-of-the-season visit to the cottage and for the early "fixing up." A number of cottagers arrived at Stoney Lake Friday for the holiday — and several families have opened their summer places for the season.

NOT RECOVERED

During the severe storm in March when shipping in Britain had a trying time two bags of mail were transferred from a C.P.R. liner at Greenock, Scotland were blown from the tender Palawan into the Clyde. One bag was found washed ashore later but a letter received in the city from Greenock this week stated that the second bag has not been found. It is thought it became waterlogged and is now lying on the river bed.

VISITORS TO QUARRY

Many visitors to the Canada Slate Products Limited quarry at Madoc this week saw the plant running at capacity of nine-hour days in the making of slate flour and granules, structural slate, and the tiles for roofing. Plans are proceeding for a colored tile department which is expected to be completed within the next few weeks. The Madoc quarry is the only industry of its kind in Canada, its nearest competitor being in the state of Vermont. Some of this week's visitors were from Toronto, Belleville and Stirling.

DONATIONS RECEIVED

The Grenfell Labrador Medical Mission, Peterborough Branch, gratefully acknowledge the following contributions to their work: Miss M. Lees, $5; Mrs. W. R. Morris, $10; Mrs. G. E. Johnson, $2; Miss Margaret Matthews, $1; Miss M. Sherin, $5; Miss Mary Nicholls, $3; Miss Florence Edwards, $3.

DRUNKS FINED.

Individuals who indulge too freely continue to make their contribution to the public funds or else to further crowd the county jail, already congested to the point wherein the jail staff is considering the advisability of putting up hammocks for the state's boarders to sleep in. Today two men pleaded guilty to being drunk and were nicked the usual $10 fine and $4.50 costs.

SUSPENDED SENTENCE.

A 16-year-old girl pleaded guilty in police court this morning to stealing a number of hats from the Metropolitan store and was allowed to go on suspended sentence. Two younger companions may be charged with a similar offence in the juvenile court. The girl told the magistrate she had taken the hats to wear and explained that she had put them in a handbag in order to get them out of the store.

ADDED SENTENCE FOR ART WILSON

Arthur Wilson who was sentenced on May 9 to 18 months definite and six months indefinite in the Ontario Reformatory for breaking into the store of Gordon Hudson appeared before Magistrate O. A. Langley, K.C., again this morning, this time to face the charge of stealing $30 in cash and a cheque for $51.39 from John Wilson of Chapleau, Ont., in February.

Wilson who was still here awaiting removal to the reformatory was brought down from jail this morning to answer to this new charge from the Sudbury district and pleaded guilty.

Magistrate Langley sentenced him to three months definite and three months indefinite to begin at the end of the definite portion of the sentence handed out to him for the offense committed here early this month.

ALL CHEESE BOXES MUST BE MARKED

All the cheese factories of the Peterborough district are operating except Indian River, which has been delayed by the installation of a new boiler which will be set up and ready for the first steam next week.

W. J. Moore, dairy instructor, reported today that he had been advised through G. H. Barr, Toronto, dairy commissioner, that the Dominion graders were tightening up the regulation regarding the marking of cheese boxes. Three complaints have already been received this season regarding Ontario factories, and the department has decided to refuse to grade or at least to lower the grade on boxes that are not clearly stamped with the factory's registered number and the date of the making of the cheese. Mr. Moore said the British buyers were insistent that all cheese boxes must be legibly marked, and the penalty will be brought home to any factory that fails to carry out this detail of the industry. There has been no complaint against any local factory, but the instructor's desire is to avoid this defect, because it would not only affect a particular factory but also the rating of the whole group of factories in the final standing for the season.

SEYMOUR RESIDENT PAYS $25.00 FINE

CAMPBELLFORD, May 21.—For consuming liquor in a car parked on a side street in town a township resident was assesesd $25 and costs when he appeared before Magistrate Langley in police court here Friday. Another Seymour pair charge with the theft of parts of a pump received one year's suspended sentence. Both charges were laid by Provincial Constable Campbell. One traffic violator was summoned before the magistrate and paid $2 and costs for driving without a tail light. Chief Constable Hardy was the informant in this case.

Knox Seniors Cop 14-6 League Win

Knox Seniors copped a 14-6 Church Softball League win over Murray St. Friday night at King Edward, the luckless losers finding a change in pitchers backfired with eight runs coming in the last two frames. They got four runs off A. Wedlock in the fourth but otherwise were held in check by the Knox heaver. Wilson and E. Spencely twirled for the losers. Gatfield, the Wedlock brothers and Charlton all hit well for Knox, and E. Spencely led the other squad. The teams:

Knox: Gatfield, 2b; Masters, c; Copping, lf; McKinley, 3b; Charlton, rf; McDonald, cf; W. Wedlock, 1b; Watson, ss; A. Wedlock, p.

Murray St.: Johnston, ss; McNabb, c; Gillespie, lf; Foster, cf; F. Spencely, 3b; Inkpin, rf; E. Spencely, 1b, p; Wilson, p, 1b; Palmer, 2b.

COBOURG IS SET AS MEETING PLACE DISTRICT W.C.T.U.

The annual meeting of the local W.C.T.U. was held yesterday afternoon in Mark Street United Church, with Mrs. H. Rehill, the president, in the chair.

The city Protestant churches were all well represented, and a resume of the year's work given in the many fine reports.

The worship service, led by the president, assisted by Miss E. Boyd, who read the comforting Scripture lesson from the Psalms, and Mrs. J. H. Rowe, who offered earnest prayer for the work and its workers.

Business necessarily held a large place on the day's program, for it was chiefly a matter of stock-taking of the past and plan-making for the future.

After the routine business, reports were heard from the officers and department superintendents, showing that this group of Christian women were in real earnest and running their organization upon not only spiritual lines, but upon definite business principles. Education in day and Sunday schools was stressed, and in this direction the medal and poster contests for boys and girls were cited as active effort among them, as given in Mrs. Connolly's splendid report.

The Peterborough-Northumberland County W.C.T.U. convention was announced for Friday, May 27, to be held in Cobourg in an all-day and evening session, with an exceptionally fine program promised. The Peterborough Union has been asked to give a worship service, as its share. Transportation for the executive members from Peterborough and the various delegates were arranged for in a systematic manner.

The close of the year brings a change in the local executive, and when Mrs. Campbell read the report the slate appeared as follows, with a few vacant seats yet to be filled: President, Mrs. H. Rehill; 1st Vice-President, Mrs. W. Boorman; 2nd Vice-President, Mrs. E. E. Lord; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. G. H. Rowe; Treasurer, Mrs. A. B. Cunningham; Pianist, Mrs. E. W. Glover; Superintendents of Departments — Evangelistic and Christian Stewardship, Mrs. C. Elliott; Temperance in Sunday Schools, Mrs. J. Fairbrother; Citizenship, Mrs. M. A. Morrison; Soap Wrappers, Mrs. Campbell; Flower Mission, Mrs. E. Manning; Indian Work, Mrs. A. J. Throop; Law and Sabbath Observance, Mrs. J. H. Rowe; Methods of Work, Mrs. W. Boorman; Press, Mrs. E. J. Wagar; Publicity and Social, Mrs. James Spencer; Travellers' Aid, Miss Leta Brownscombe.

Instead of a guest speaker, a very comprehensive and interesting report of the Ontario Temperance Federation convention was brought by the society's delegate, Mrs. H. Rehill, who summarized addresses given by the president, R. S. Rodd, K.C.; Mrs. R. J. Marshall, president Toronto Local Council of Women; Dr. Beaven of Rochester, N.Y., and Dr. Moir of Hensall. This fine report tended to strengthen and encourage these women.

An executive meeting was held at the close of the meeting proper, which was brought to a conclusion with a hymn and prayer.

Fowlds' Boat 'Forest City' Launched Eighty Years Ago

Cobourg Clipping Recalls Forgotten Phases Of Transportation On Otonabee

An old story of the launching of the steamer "Forest City" at Hastings, owned by Henry Fowlds, one of the most prominent pioneers of the village on the Trent, it retold in Edwin C. Guillet's column in this week's issue of the Cobourg Sentinel-Star. The boat was put into commission on September 11, 1858, and a correspondent's account of the event recalls forgotten phases of transportation on the Otonabee and Trent Rivers and Rice Lake eighty years ago. The news story is copied from the Cobourg Star of September 22, 1858, as follows:

"It is with much pleasure that we submit the following account of the launching of a new steamer at the village of Hastings. The opening of the back townships and especially those which border upon the beautiful river Trent are of the utmost moment to the residents of Cobourg and its immediate neighborhood. The more commerce becomes developed upon the Trent and Rice Lake the more valuable will our railway become."

The Launching of the "Forest City"

"On Saturday, the 11th inst., a new and commodious steamer was launched in the village of Hastings, Asphodel. She is a good model and well adapted for the purpose for which she is intended, viz., the conveyance of passengers and freight over the waters of Rice Lake and its tributaries, being of light draught, only drawing 14 inches of water with more than 20 persons aboard.

Large Crowd Present.

"As the weather was very fine a great number of the inhabitants of Asphodel and the surrounding townships assembled for the purpose of witnessing the novel scene. The vessel was beautifully decorated with flags and evergreens, and slid majestically into the water, as she was named the "Forest City" with the usual ceremony by Miss Fowlds.

Pleasure Trip Up the Trent.

'In the afternoon Mr. Fowlds treated the visitors, as well as his workmen and their wives and sweethearts, to a pleasure trip on the new steamer. The enjoyments of the day were enhanced by music and dancing. Altogether the proceedings of the day were highly satisfactory and will not be forgotten even by the youngest participant."

Presentation to Mr. Fowlds.

During the trip an address was presented to Henry Fowlds, Esq., eulogizing his public spirit. It is well worth quoting in full:

"Honored Sir:—We, your fellow-settlers, have great pleasure in seizing this opportunity of testifying the great respect we entertain towards yourself and family. Throughout the whole of your career in this province you have earned for yourself a name which will ever remain an example to those who wish, by industry and integrity, to gain a high position in society.

"We desire to congratulate you upon the success which has so far attended your efforts, and hope that throughout the whole of your life the result of your labors will be success and satisfactoin. More especially do we desire to congratulate you upon the success which has so far accompanied the building of the beautiful steamer whereon we stand. In conclusion we hope the energy, integrity, and success for which you are so well known will ever attend your family."

Mr. Fowlds' Reply.

In expressing his thanks, Mr. Fowlds said he was highly gratified if his work afforded an example of stimulus to others. "The age in which we live is one of progression, ceaseless activity, extended intelligence and gigantic enterprise. Witness the discoveries that are being made in science, and the improvements in the arts of life are such as in any previous period of the world's history would have been deemed fabulous . . . And now gentlemen, allow me to wish you a day of pleasant enjoyment, and uninterrupted success in the Battle of Life, and again to thank you for your flattering address."

Canadian Legion Notes

A chield's amang ye takin' notes, and, faith, he'll print them.—Burns.

Some of the members are having a painting bee this week-end and are busy painting the card room. The cribbage addicts have been turned out of house and home and now know something about the discomforts of spring cleaning.

We would remind the members of the fishing competitions that there are three prizes for the largest pickerel, lunge and bass caught during the fishing season.

A number of the members took in the parade of the Collegiate Cadets on Wednesday in Confederation Square and are loud in their praise of the bearing of the boys. Every credit is due to the cadets and also to the officers who have really worked wonders in a very short time.

We would remind all ex-service men of the visit of the Governor General to the city on May 31st, when a parade of ex-service men will be held in Confederation Square. All men who can manage it are requested to parade in front of the Legion Hall at 2.45 p.m. on that day with berets, medals and armbands. His Lordship will review the ex-service men and the boy scouts at 3 p.m.

TRIBUTE IS PAID MADRIGAL SINGERS

In a letter to The Examiner today, Charles Peaker, Mus.D., F.R.C.O., of the Toronto Conservatory of Music, and formerly organist at Knox church in this city, pays a fine compliment to Dorothy Allan Park and the "Madrigal Singers" for the perfection of their work in conjunction with the Philadelphia Orchestra and Toronto adult and children's choice directed by Sir Ernest McMillan Tuesday night. He says:

"As on who once resided in Peterborough and still retains very happy memories of your beautiful city, I want to compliment you on the splendid part Doorthy Allan Park and the "Madrigal Singers" played in the performance of the "Children's Crusade" in Massey Hall.

"When we bring the matchless orchestra from Philadelphia, to accompany the Conservatory choir and the beautiful children's chorus, and then secure your own singers from Peterborough and put them all under Sir Ernest's inspired control, then, I say, we have a glorious instrument, and such it proved to be.

"May you long continue to send us such charming and accomplished missionaries."

One More Wedding

CHAPTER 42

"A man is always permitted a leave of absence to get married," Ray explained to Barbara, later in the evening on which she had told him she would mary him. You'll meet me in Paris, my sweet, and we'll ramble through the Bois when the chestnut trees are blooming—Barbara, my dearest, you do mean it?"

"Yes, Ray, of course I do."

But the moon hung sedately on a good substantial nail back of London Tower, and the Thames, which lay before them, had no rippling, dancing waves.

When Garry had asked her to mary him, the lights had been shining on the East river and in the buildings that climbed the city sky, and there had been a great log burning in his fireplace, and they had been alone in his living room. His head was bandaged in layers of gauze.

For a moment her self-possession left. Her hand closed around the narrow stem of her water goblet, then slowly relaxed. She was glad that Ray had not noticed. She would never again think of Garry, Never! Not even when she saw a peddler with a basket of yellow roses, or heard a song that he used to hum. Never again! She turned to Ray with a smile on her lips, and the hint of tears in her eyes did not let him know that there was no mirth in them.

She saw him off the next night, calling to her until the little boat was too far from shore. Then, groping blindly through tears that would no longer be denied, she went home. She must make a mask, and wear it forever. Then if her heart twisted strangely at times, only she would know. There were moments, when she hated Garry because he had done this to her, and moments when she loved him, no matter how deep the bruise his going had left.

She plunged into the work she had been neglecting while Ray delayed. She wrote Ray gay, happy letters. She droped into the lunchroom to see the old woman, now and then.

One night the woman said: "Child, you should be happier."

"But I was happy when Ray was here. I don't think when he is around. I'll be all right."

After all, she did love Ray, in another manner. She missed him. With a sigh that was almost happiness one day, she found that she had started swiftly because someones laugh had held his tone. He was associated with her London memories. She would be well and waiting when he came back.

She wrote to Natalie that she was engaged to Ray.

• • •

Natalie, meeting Garry one day, told him about her letter from Barbara, just as Barbara had hoped she would.

Natalie told it quite casually, as she knew Barbara would wish it told. Garry had remarked that he hoped Barbara and Ray would be very happy, murmured some inconsequential things, and gone away presently. After that he had worked harder than ever on the new play.

That week-end Ruth telephoned him that she and Peter were in town. Peter's book was finished and his serialization was starting. He had resigned from the Martinsville Post and they were taking an apartment in town, because Peter was going to work on a New York newspaper.

Ruth and Peter asked Garry to dinner. They were so merry and devoted and interested in his plans that he felt an ache, which he had managed to keep pretty well in hand, growing a little bigger. He tried to visualize Barbara as she had been that last morning at the boat—cool, gay, not very interested in him, but that image kept slipping away, to let one of a girl with rusty hair and an eager smile lighting green-gray eyes, step from the boat and wave from the wharf. And he, in turn, became the traveler, as that last summer scene was played again.

Because he threw himself so intensely into his new play, the lines came to life and glowed. The scenes took definite shape. He was working now, harder than he had worked before. Now and then he dropped in a tea for a literary or theater personage, or let himself be included in somebody's private party. He came alone, though.

Ruth commented on that fact to Peter one night.

"Garry's thinner. He and Wenda are washed up. I wonder if it hit him so hard."

"He'll recover," Peter said, remembering those days in the dusty, shabby office when he had watched a rusty head bent over a clattering typewritten and wondered if Barbara's gray-green eyes would ever be serious when he talked of love.

"Yes, of course, he'll recover," Ruth assented, and for a moment thought of a girl who had sat alone on a terrace one summer afternoon while a man whom she had loved for a long time pledged his troth to another girl in a little town in the middle west.

Odd, she reminisced, that Peter had been the newspaper editor in that little town where the wedding had taken place.

Peter crossed the room and put his arms around her and held her closely a moment. He had said no word to her of the love he had once borne Barbara, and she had not talked to him of the days when her world had rocked because Bill Jameson had married Marie Rinehart. That was so completey done for both of them. Yet each of them knew, in some way that could not be touched with words, that the other had suffered a little somewhere, sometime.

It was that same week that Wenda Ayer resigned from the play. Someone was leaving an English production and she had been offered the part. Impersonally, as though Wenda had never stood for a strange, impetuous rhythm that followed after glamor and beating drums and shooting stars, Garry commented inwardly on her lack of loyalty. The play had accepted her when she needed it. She was contributing to the progress of the show, but she would not linger because it needed her.

She had taken from him the girl he loved, too, but he held no censure for that. It was his own stupidity that had sent him chasing a cobweb over the moon. Well, anyway, he was glad Wenda was going. He wondered suddenly if she ever had received her vanity case.

Then, one morning, spring dropped down from the sky. It was Saturday and Garry was free from the office. His play was nearly done. He decided that he would go away to work on it. He would take a ferry across the Hudson, tramp in the Palisades until he came to a place of smooth, flat rocks. One some hiltop he would spread the Indian blanket he was carying and work for a while.

He walked five or six miles, breathing in the early spring air. He hadn't taken a hike for a long time. He must begin again. In college he had been a member of the track team and he had a letter on a sweater somewhere earned for doing a high jump.

He found a comfortable spot on which to camp while he worked, and studied his script for several hours, oblivious to the passing of the day. When he glanced up the sun was far down. He must hurry. He felt hungry and wondered if he would have to wait until he reached Manhattan to find a stead and baked potato.

It was quiet in the Palisades. He had come farther than he realized. He looked down the bank, wondering how far it was to the string of lights that marked a ferry boat station.

There were no sounds, no people as he started to retrace his steps. He had dore a good day's work and he felt healthily tired, both mentally and physically. He decided that he would come often to the hills above the Hudson—the hills where legend said the ghosts of the sailors left behind by Henrick Hudson still watched for the mythical ship that would carry them back to Amsterdam.

He was so engrossed with his own thoughts that four men, carrying a bundle, came around a bend in the trail before he heard footsteps. Clearly and distinctly their voices came to him:

"All right, Legs, but you gotta keep that kid out of sight till you get the 50 grand! I'm taking no chances. If the cops head this way, we're done for. So we'll toss the brat in the river. Get me? But it's up to you guys to see the cops don't get wind of the hideout."

At the same time the four men sighted Garry. They knew that their voices had reached him, and he was aware of it. The bundle squirmed in one of the man's arms.

Before Garry could speak, one of the men said: "Take him along, fellows. The guy's heard too much."

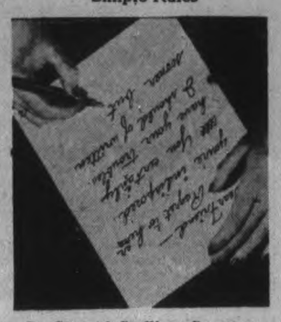
THE EXAMINER HOME SERVICE

Write Letters Easily — Follow Simple Rules



Be Sure of Spelling, Grammar

The letter you mailed. to-day Will it strengthen a friendship tie? Make a good impression on a new acquaintance? Win a job?

Or will the person who receives it say, "How CAN anyone write such a pitiful, blundering little note!"

Play safe. Follow these friend-winning rules:

1. Address your friends by name, "Dear Mrs. Stanley" or "Dear Nancy". Nobody writes "Dear Friend" any more.

2. Avoid stiff-sounding phrases like "Regret you're indisposed." Be natural. Say, "I'm so sorry you're ill."

3. Don't be a Calamity Jane, talking of "troubles". Write instead, "How I wish I could send you an armload of our yellow tulips to cheer you up!"

4. Make your letters pleasing to look at—no misspelled or scratched-out words. And watch out for careless slips in grammar, such as "should OF" for "should HAVE".

Our 32-page booklet gives sample letters for all occasions, social and business. Beginnings, closings. Invitations, thank-you notes. Sympathy.

GILMOUR

The regular meeting of the Gilmour Memorial Mission Band was held in the basement of the church on Sunday with a good attendance present,

After the devotional exercises the topic was taken by Mrs. Milton Clarke on "New Canadians." Dorothy Telford and Clare Telford read items on the subject. Cameron Clarke sang "Mothers of Salem" and the meeting was closed with prayer.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Lowes and family of Emily were recent guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Clarke of Lindsay highway.

DOROTHY DIX

Dear Miss Dix—I have been reading the story of a pioneer woman who went with her husband out into the wild and unsettled West in the old days. The only household equipment she had was a flour barrel and an iron pot. She helped her husband clear land, build a home and raise crops. She reared a big family. She faced death, disease, childbearing. She probably never saw a doctor or dentist in her whole life, yet she lived to be 87 years old. Compare this woman with myself or the average wife of today. We have homes filled with every comfort and luxury. We have every sort of gadget to make our work easy. We have one or two children and think we are martyrs. We have doctors and trained nurses whenever we think we are ill, and we have a nervous breakdown at 40. Our children grow up soft and tender, unequal to any kind of hardship. What is wrong with us? Is each generation growing weaker? If we had to live the life of the pioneer woman, could we do it? MRS. B.

Answer:

I think so. I don't think women have really degenerated as much as they seem to have done, and that if we were confronted with the difficulties that our pioneer grandmothers found that somehow their spirit would rise up in us and give us enough backbone to carry on.

I confess that when I see women who live in satin-padded jewel boxes, so to speak, who have never done a lick of honest work in their lives or gone without a single comfort or luxury, and yet who howl and shriek over the hardships of their lot, and compare them with the women who braved the wilderness without a whine, I am tempted to think that they are pretty poor creatures, and that civilization has weakened the breed instead of strengthening it.

Especially am I ashamed of my sex when I see, as I often do, young women who are the descendants of these pioneer women throwing their marriages into the discard because they cannot endure the gaff of a little poverty. They can't do without the luxuries to which they have been accustomed. They can't stand not having a new car and pretty clothes and going to parties and places of amusement. And so by the time the trousseau wears out and laying at being a poor man's wife becomes a reality, and they have to push a perambulator instead of riding around in a limousine, they can't take it. They throw up their hands and quit.

Statistics show that more than half of the divorces occur in the first five years of marriage. That is largely due to the fact that both our young men and women are soft and they love luxury better than they love each other. Hence when hard times come in at the window, marriage goes out at the door. They are not willing to give up their cars and their golf for the sake of being together. A permanent wave is more important to them than permanency in marriage.

One wonders what the woman who thought herself equipped for housekeeping with one iron pot would say to her great-granddaughter who whines over having to heat up something that she got out of a can on an electric range —where she only has to push a button and the stove does the rest. Doubtless it would be a-plenty.

But the picture isn't quite as black as it looks. There are a few joints of our pioneer grandmothers' spinal columns still left, a little of her intestinal fortitude, as somebody elegantly puts it, still remains, as has been abundantly proved during the depression. Then, when the occasion demanded, many a woman proved herself worthy of her pioneer ancestors. Many a woman who in a day was reduced from riches to poverty took the rap without a whine and with her own courage bolstered up her husband's.

Many a woman who had never even manicured her own nails rolled up her sleeves and went to work at whatever task she could find to do. And many a woman who had never done anything but spend money went out into the world and got a job by which she supported her family. So we needn't despair over the softness of women. Given the necessity the old pioneer spirit still survives.

Dear Miss Dix—I am 42 and my wife is five years older than I am. She is a fine woman, cultured, has been a good mother to my children, and outside of her being a poor housekeeper I have little fault to find with her. But she just has no attractions for me, and I am starved for love, companionship and a feeling of mutuality that I see in other couples. I have borne this loneliness for many years, and it has finally brought me to a nervous, distraught state and an alarming despondency. For many reasons divorce is out of the question. I am at a loss to know which way to turn and have not the courage to go on. What can you say?

AN UNHAPPY MAN.

Answer:

Not much that would be of comfort to you, I am afraid because when one has made a fatal mistake in picking out one's mate nothing can metamorphose the wrong one into the right one. Nothing can change a cold woman into a warm loving one. Nothing can turn a dull one into an interesting companion. Nothing can put a thrill into a kiss that is a perfunctory duty.

If you do not love your wife, that is your misfortune, but there is nothing you can do about it. The heart is an unruly member, and none of us can love or cease loving at will. Nor can we work any magic by which we can put ourselves en rapport with others and establish between ourselves and them that bond of sympathy and understanding and congeniality that makes just being with the ma perpetual delight and gives us a companionship in which we never talk out. That, too, is the gift of the gods. If we have missed it in marriage, we have missed the best thing in life, but that, too, is our misfortune, and we have to accept it as such.

The only suggestion I can make to one who is the victim of one of these death-in-life marriages that is nothing but an endurance test is to meet it with whatever fortitude one can. Make the best of what it offers and think as little as possible about what one has missed. Absorb oneself in other interests, for, after all, there are many things in life besides a happy marriage. And refuse to indulge oneself in selfpity. And keep out of temptation. Don't always be looking for the woman you might have married. The only alternative to this is divorce and making a second try. And there is no assurance that a second marriage will be any happier than the first. DOROTHY DIX.

UNCLE WIGGILY'S FREEZING LESSON

Uncle Wiggily hopped out of his hollow stump bungalow bed very early one morning. He hopped out quickly.

"What the matter" asked his wife, who was already helping Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy get breakfast ready for the little bunny rabbits. "Did you have a funny dream?"

"I don't want to be late for my nature and science classes in the woods," answered the rabbit gentleman husband. "You know I have promised to teach the animal children at least one new thing every day which they may write in their oak leaf note books. I must not be late, as Chattie Chipmunk was

"What's the matter?"

when she tried to fly to school on a kite and I had to rescue her in my airship."

"That was quite an adventure, said Mrs. Longears. 'But you need not hurry now."

"Why?" asked Mr. Longears.

"Because this is Saturday and there should be no school."

Not From Cold

"Um. Yes. I suppose so," said Uncle Wiggily. "Still the children need not stop learning just because it is Saturday. I remember it was on a Saturday, many years ago, when my father taught me how to freeze and that saved my life when a hawk tried to catch me. I was glad, then, I had gone to school on Saturday."

"Oh, Unkie Wig!" exclaimed Baby Bunty, who was up extra early. "Please tell me how you froze? Was it in Winter?"

"No, it was in Summer," said Mr. Longears.

"I don't see how any rabbit can freeze in Summer," said the orphan rabbit. "But if you will tell me maybe I can learn something for my note book, even if it isn't a nature or other school day."

"I shall be glad to tell you," said Uncle Wiggily. The other rabbit children in the hollow stump bungalow, hearing this talk, gathered around Uncle Wiggily. They had their note books of oak leaves and their pencils of thorns from the locust tree.

"To freeze, in animal talk, has two meanings," said Uncle Wiggily. "It means to freeze with cold, which is no fun. It also means to become as still and quiet when there is danger, as if you were frozen into an icicle or a block of ice. You can freeze that way even on a hot Summer day."

"How, please tell me, Unkie Wig?" asked Bunty.

'Many enemies of us rabbits," said Mr. Longears, "only want to catch us when we are alive and moving Among these enemies are snakes and hawks. A hawk is a bird. So is a turkey buzzard or a vulture Those birds will eat dead rabbits. But snakes and hawks like to catch us alive.

Becomes Still

'So, as soon as they see us moving in the woods or fields they get ready to pounce on us. Then if you see them, as once I saw a hawk, after my father, in a Saturday lesson, had taught me to freeze in Summer, you do this."

Uncle Wiggily gave a hop, skip and a jump pretending to be gathering carrots in a field. All of a sudden he pretended to see a hawk overhead. Instantly he "froze." He became as still and quiet as a rabbit carved out of wood, stone or ivory. Not even his eyes blinked. His pink nose did not twinkle and his ears didn't jiggle.

"That is how you freeze and become motionless like a block of ice," explained Mr. Longears to his class. "No hawk or snake will pounce on you then. And you are too swift for turkey buzzards or vultures to catch you as they are slow fliers.

"Come on! Let's practice our freezing lesson!" said Bunty.

The little rabbits did this and so they learned on Saturday.

FIVE-SUIT NO TRUMP

NO TRUMP contracts will not be as frequent in Five-Suit as at regular contract. One reason is that partners have five chances to find a good suit instead of four, another is that there are more suits to be stopped for no trump, but the main one is that the discarding value of the widow card, to produce singletons and voids, is helpful only to suit contracts. When, however, you get to a no trump game, proper use of the widow card is of vital importance.

(Dealer: East. North-South vulnerable. Widow card: Diamond Q.)

Here South opened the bidding with 1-Diamond rather than 1-Spade, to make it easy for his partner to answer with hearts if possible, so he could go into no trump. When his partner responded with 1-Heart as he hoped, South called 2-No Trumps and over North's 3-Hearts he bid 3-No Trumps.

When West led the club 7, South counted up his tricks and decided to use the widow diamond Q in his own hand, discarding a spade. As a result he was set when East blocked the hearts and West the diamonds.

If South had put the diamond Q in dummy, as an entry if the hearts didn't break, discarding a club, no power on earth could have kept him from getting 11 tricks—the three he had bid over the "book" of eight.

How many tricks will the widow heart 4 be worth to South if he uses it properly when playing Five-Suit Bridge at a contract of 4-Eagles, West having led the diamond K? Should he put it in his own hand or dummy, and what should he discard?

Health Run Down Housework A Burden

Nature intended women to be strong, healthy and happy instead of sick and miserable, but is it any wonder that when they are run down in health they become nervous and irritable, weak and worn-out, and the lightest household duties seem a drag and a burden?

Milburn's Health and Nerve Pills are a remedy that all nervous, tired-out, weary women should take to help them back to the blessing of good health, and when this is done their household duties will be a pleasure instead of a burden.

Mrs. A. K. McLean, Pleasantfield, N.S., writes:—"A short time ago I was in a badly run down and nervous condition. I got so that my housework became a burden to me. I started taking Milburn's Health and Nerve Pills, and now I feel like a different person, for again am able to do all my own housework.

Hereafter I shall always recommend H. & N. Pills to my friends."

Chandler—Lucas

The marriage of Gwendolyne Lucas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Lucas of Wolfe Street, to Victor Chandler, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Chandler of Bolivar Street, was quietly solemnized at 12.45 today at the home of the bride's parents, the Rev. Canon J. D. Paterson performing the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was charming in her lovely wedding gown of white taffeta, with which she wore her mother's bridal veil, falling from a Juliet cap of pearls. She carried a bouquet of Talisman roses and lilies-of-the-valley.

Miss Meta Hart attended as bridesmaid. She was attractively gowned in pink moussaline de soie, with matching Juliet cap and accessories, and carried a bouquet of Briarcliffe roses and lilies-of-the-valley. Little Peggy Boddison was flower girl, prettily gowned in pale green taffeta, with Juliet cap in the same shade, and carrying a nosegay of pale pink sweetpeas.

The groom was attended by his brother, Reginald Chandler.

Following the ceremony, a wedding luncheon was served to immediate members of the family, after which the young couple left for a short honeymoon trip to Windsor, the bride wearing for travelling a dark grey suit with navy hat and accessories. They will reside in Peterborough.

Mesley—McFee

George Street Church at two o'clock this afternoon was the setting for a lovely spring-time wedding, when Helen Margaret McFee, daughter of Corporal J. H. C. McFee, R.C.M.P., of Ottawa, and the late Mrs. McFee, became the bride of Harold Raymond Mesley, youngest son of Mrs. Emma Mesley and the late W. H. Mesley, Rev. M. C. Parr officiating. The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in her wedding gown of white lace over satin, with long train, pointed cuffs at the wrist, and tiny buttons reaching from neckline to waist. Her veil was of white embroidered net, and the graceful bridal bouquet was of Talisman roses and Baby's Breath. The bride was attended by Jean Carter, in a charming gown of pale green taffeta, princess style, with a deep, deep hem of pleating, puff sleeves, and a matching net veil falling from a headpiece of apple blossoms to the sweetheart neckline. She carried a nosegay of yellow roses and Baby's Breath. Ray Pearson, cousin of the bride, attended the groom, and the ushers were Ralph McFee, Ottawa, step-brother of the bride, and Ernie Mesley, brother of the groom.

Mrs. Charles Renaud presided at the organ, and during the signing of the register, Betty McLeod sang sweetly, "The Sunshine of Your Smile."

The groom's gift to the bridesmaid was a gold necklace; to the soloist a silver pendant, and to the groomsman, gold tie pin.

Following the wedding a reception was held at the home of the bride's grandmother, Mrs. J. H. Morrison, of Water Street, who welcomed the guests in a gown of navy sheer, worn with matching hat and accessories of pink. The groom's mother wore green satin faced crepe trimmed with gold, and black accessories.

The couple left for a honeymoon in Quebec, the bride wearing a navy ensemble with accessories of yellow. On their return, Mr. and Mrs. Mesley will live on Division Street.

Brown—Alcock

Beautifully decorated with a profusion of mauve and white lilacs, St. George's Anglican church was the scene of a very lovely wedding at 8 o'clock Friday evening, when Joyce, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Alcock, of 577 Chamberlain street, was married to Arthur Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. Brown, of New Liskeard, Ont. The Rev. T. S. Gault performed the ceremony, and the wedding music was played by Mrs. R. King, the organist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was charmingly gowned in printed white chiffon, with which she wore a white halo hat, with small veil, white gloves and slippers. Her beautiful bouquet was composed of roses with orchids sent by plane from her aunt, Mrs. F. N. Heafield in California.

Miss Mary Rahkonen, attending as bridesmaid, wore a gown of "green foam" triple sheer, white hat with veil, white accessories, and carried a bouquet of roses and larkspur. The groom was attended by Bert Alcock, brother of the bride, and two other brothers, Tom and Frank Alcock, acted as ushers.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, where Mrs. Alcock, receiving, was wearing a striking gown in coral shade with turquoise bolero, and beige accessories. Mrs. T. Alcock, sister-in-law of the bride, receiving also, was wearing a smart black and white ensemble with matching hat and accessories.

Later the young couple left on a motor trip to points west, the bride travelling in a Copenhagen blue knitted boucle suit, with navy accessories. On their return they will reside at 535 Albert street.

The groom's gift to the bridesmaid was an evening bag, to the best man a billfold, and to the organist a pendant and chain.

Open School and Tea Queen Mary H. and S.

Splendid exhibits of youthful skill, displays by the Domestic science Classes, Grades 7 and 8, under Miss A. Jamieson, and fine examples of the woodwork, etc., of the Manual Training Classes, taught by A. Hope, were features of 'Open School' celebrated under the auspices of the Home and School Association at Queen Mary School Friday afternoon. Most interesting examples of the pupils' work were on display in all the classrooms, where the teachers, including Miss Esther Devell, president of the Association, received the parents and friends.

Tea was served in the attractively decorated kindergarten room. The guests were received by Mrs. D. Loucks, and presiding at the pretty tea table were Mrs. O. M. Steer and Miss C. Cairns, and assisting in serving were Mrs. G. Fallen, refreshment committee convenor, and her assistants. Covered with a white mosaic cloth, the table was artistically arranged with a silver basket of roses and white snapdragons and matching candles in silver holders.

A homemade cooking table in the hall was in charge of Mrs. E. R. Shirley, Mrs. Ingram, Mrs. E. G. R. Clarke, Mrs. C. L. Upper and Mrs. Regan. Home-made candy was sold at another table by Mrs. A. K. Whyte and Mrs. P. Edwards. The pupils of the Domestic Science Classes also sold their wares, turning over the proceeds to the Home and School Association. Mrs. W. Fanning acted as treasurer.

Presentations At Presbyterial

A pleasant incident at the Peterborough Presbyterial W.M.S. meetings of the Presbyterian Church, held in St. Andrew's Church, Cobourg, this week, was the honoring of two faithful workers in the Presbyterial for many years.

Mrs. David Ewart of Cobourg, who retired last year from the presidency of the Presbyterial, after holding that office since 1925, with the exception of one year's absence through illness, and Miss Gertrude Harvey, also of Cobourg, corresponding secretary for the Presbyterial for the same length of time, were shown small tokens of the appreciation of their fellow members.

Certificates in honor of the two ladies were presented to the Mission Band of the Presbyterial, and personal tokens in honorary life-membership pin to Mrs. Ewart and a life-membership pin to Miss Harvey, were presented by Miss Flora Galbraith of Bowmanville, on behalf of the Presbyterial. Suitable expressions of thanks were made by the recipients.

Shower For Miss Dolly Lacey

A delightful miscellaneous shower was given this week for a bride of to-day, Miss Dolly Lacey, when Mrs. V. E. Forbes was hostess at her home, 340 George street. Pink and white decorations were charmingly carried out in the rooms, and for the loaded basket of gifts, brought into the room by Peggy Lacey and Marilyn Plunkett. Attractive refreshments were served.

During the evening, the bride-effect was also presented with a handsome walnut tea wagon, and two framed pictures by her associates of the Punch Press Department at the C.G.E., the presentation being made by Miss Ada Foy.

Members of the Hospital Women's Auxiliary who are willing to assist in connection with the Penny Sale, Monday, May 30, are asked to Tel. 671 or 1607J at an early date.

Mrs. Hooper Re-elected President Lyceum Club and Women's Art Assoc.

The popular president of the Lyceum Club and Women's Art Association, Mrs. F. E. Hooper, will continue to head that organization for the coming season of 1938-39. The retirement of Mrs. L. J. LeClair as social convenor and Mrs. F. C. Neal as program convenor, marks the only change in the Association executive. Mrs. J. G. Wharry and Mrs. R. J. Kidd were appointed to fill the offices respectively.

The annual meeting of the Association was held in the Green Room at the Y.W.C.A. Friday afternoon with the president presiding. Comprehensive and stimulating reports for the year's activities showing them to be many and varied, were presented by Mrs. C. S. Thompson, secretary; Mrs. A. E. Chalmers, treasurer, and the convenors of the study groups. The Association has a slightly increased membership of 106, and a substantially increased budget, with a balance on hand of $93.10.

Following the reading of all reports, the thanks of the president was sincerely expressed for the loyal, cheerful co-operation of the executive throughout the year. The report of the nominations committee was brought by Mrs. H. E. Connolily, and Mrs. Kelly was appointed to fill Mrs. Kidd's place on the reception committee.

An invitation was read from the Oshawa branch of the Women's Art Association, to attend a fete by the Women's League of Health and Beauty, under the auspices of the Association, on May 28. An invitation was also extended by Mrs. F. C. Neal to the members to hold a noon-day picnic at her summer home on May 31.

The increased contribution of the Art Association to community life, was shown in Mrs. Thompson's report. Highlights of the year included the sponsoring of Peterborough's first Book Fair, the formation of another craft group, and also the sponsoring of 'Craft Week' when classes might be attended by any woman in the community.

The Book Fair, held February 24 and 25, has received much praise from outside sources, as the best organized and most successful for its size yet held. For this much credit is due to Miss Leone Walsh and Miss Greta Giles. One of the most fascinating features of the Fair was the playlet, written and produced by Mrs. Adrain Macdonald and Miss Walsh, dramatizing the naming of Peterborough. The competition for school children representing book characters was another highlight.

From May 4 to 11, craft classes, sponsored by the Guild of Arts and Crafts, with instructors from the Ontario Welfare Council, were held, through the courtesy of Mr. C. H. Saunders on the 3rd floor of the Richard Hall store, the subjects taught being varied and in some cases hitherto unavailable.

The ten studio meetings, showing many outstanding speakers and artists, were listed by Mrs. Thompson, with extra activities including an outstanding exhibit of pictures by the Ontario Society of Artists on March 31 and April 1, with Fred Haines, R.C.A. as special speaker. Indebtedness was expressed to Mr. Charles Shaw and A. Wander Ltd., for minimizing the expense and work in connection with procuring the exhibit. The public schools art project was held at the end of April and the annual banquet on April 22, at the Empress Hotel. Hon. Senator Iva Campbell Fallis as guest speaker.

Mrs. Thompson's report closed with a note of sadness in the loss keenly felt by the Association in the passing of Mrs. Barns.

Convenor for the Guilds of Arts and Crafts, Mrs. J. E. R. Munro's report showed a year of extensive and interesting study by this group. The guild held its annual exhibition in November, when much varied and beautifully executed handicraft was on display, including Mrs. Tinker's prize-winning batik, exhibited at the Montreal Handicraft Show. Topics studied by the guild during the year included: furniture woods, regency furnishings, picture pottery, and pottery animals, lace, jade, Sheffield plate, the history of salt cellars, and color harmonies. Many members attended glove making classes under Mrs. C. Browne's direction.

Miss Leone Walsh as convenor of the Literary Study Club, reported a program of twelve meetings successfully carried out, ten of which were devoted to the study of modern drama, continued from last year, beginning with the Ibsen period and leading to current plays of the day. The club had hoped to rehearse and present a play, but this had to be postponed till the fall. Preparations for the Book Fair claimed the interest and time of many members of the club.

Mrs. V. S. Foster, convenor, was not able to be present to give the report for the Art Study Club, successful meetings of which had been held throughout the year, following the program arranged, which included the study of many famous artists, and several other subjects of interest, such as French tapestries, Quebec wood carvers, the ancient castle, 'Knole", etc.

The report of the new study group, to be called "The Home Arts Guild" and of which Mrs. Fulford is convenor, showed enthusiastic meetings since its formation in February, with 16 members and 8 other names listed for the fall. Interesting work along the lines of color harmony and home decorating has been studied.

A vote of appreciation to the president, Mrs. Hooper, the executive officers, and the convenor of the program committee, Mrs. Neal, was voiced by Mrs. J. E. R. Munroe. Tea was served in the library, with Mrs. Neal and Mrs. F. M. Somerville as hostesses. Lovely pink and white trilliums from the woods were arranged in a central bowl, and small vases to make it especially attractive.

Branch Notes

ALL SAINTS' BRANCH.

On Monday, May 9, a business meeting was held at which it was decided that the election of officers should be held in May to be in unison with the district instead of in December, as in previous years.

On Monday, May 16, a short business meeting was held before leaving for the council meeting in Omemee, and Canon Paterson presided over the election of officers. The executive is as follows: President, Douglas Weir; Vice-President, K. Gibson; Treasurer, Miss Edith Abraham; Secretary, Miss Mary Cavalier, and Publicity Secretary, Miss Mary Sisson.

All members be ready for the opening of the tennis season next week.

ST. LUKE'S BRANCH.

The monthly business meeting of St. Luke's was held on Thursday evening, with the president, B. Pammett, in the chair. The treasurer gave a report on the play, which resulted in a nice profit after all expenses had been paid. After the business meeting Bert Graham, who has spent some time up north, gave a very interesting address on that country, which was much enjoyed by all present. A hearty vote of thanks was extended to Mr. Graham for his splendid address. The remainder of the evening was spent in group games and contests, with Art Sayers' group in charge.

The meeting next week will be the last until the fall season, and we would like to have a bumper crowd of members there. Mrs. Curtis and her group will have charge of the program.

WEDDING IN LONDON.

LONDON (CP).—Miss Daphne Pooley of Esquimault, B.C., daughter of the former attorney-general of British Columbia, will be married to James R. Appleton of the Royal Air Force early in May and shortly after arrival of Mr. Appleton's mother from Canada.

Armenia is boosting aviation.

JUST BETWEEN US WOMEN

ROBERTA'S MAIL

"Alicia": Thank you for all your comments, and that is what I write for, to help you with your daily problems. Do not let yourself get downcast. You are up against something which you cannot master at present, so the best thing to do is nothing at all. Leave it with God, He will do so much better than you, and anything you try would only make matters worse. Surely I will pray for you. Write again soon.

"Tony": Am so glad things turned out as they did for you. Go ahead and enjoy every minute of it, for happiness cannot be saved to another day. I am pleased to know I have been of so much help, and do write again.

"Lonely": It must be hard for you to be crippled like that, but don't let it get you down. You will do more good to yourself and get more sympathy and understanding if you do your best under this affliction. This may sound like poor comfort, but it works and that is the main thing.I shall write the article you want at an early date, so do write again.

"Margaret": Thanks for such a lovely letter. I shall be glad to do what I can for you when the time comes. Am so glad the other was satisfactory. Let me know in time.

"Peter": I am so sorry for you in this loss. You cannot expect to look after these children and go to work too. Could you not get a middle-aged woman to come and keep house for you. Of course you would have to pay her, but the money will come along. I am sure when God does not forget the widows and orphans, He will not forget the widowers either. Even altho' your heart is broken, pray to Him, and I know He will help you. No, you have not bothered me, and I shall be glad to hear from you again.

"Sandra": Must you have all these things to make you happy. I have been happy in a small cottage, and not so happy in a large mansion. Besides, you can get them as you go on. Maybe you don't want them so much as to impress your friends. After all, it is your life, so go ahead and get all the joy which things and possessions can never give you. Do write again, and am so pleased to know I help so many.

Your Friend,
ROBERTA.

IN MEMORIAM

CROUTER. — In fond and loving memory of a dear Husband and Father, Sidney Wallace Crouter, who passed away one year ago, Sunday, May 22, 1937.

Gone is the face we loved so dear,
Silent is the voice we loved to hear;
Too far away for sight or speech,
But not too far for thought to reach.
Sweet to remember him who once was here,
And who, though absent, is just as dear.

—Always remembered by his Wife, Daughter Shirley, and Sons, Daughter-in-law, and Grandchildren.

JAP COMMANDERS MAKE TRIUMPHANT ENTRY ON SUCHOW

SHANGHAI, May 21—(CP). — Commanders of the Japanese Army made a triumphal entry into Suchow to-day as their army mopped up Chinese forces around the strategic city.

The vital rail junction was completely occupied, the Japanese announced, and their army was closing in on 35,000 Chinese troops said to be trapped in the Suchow vicinity.

Seven thousand Chinese already have been killed in the Suchow area, the Japanese estimated. They said Chinese forces were retreating toward Siayi, 15 miles to the south, Chulan, 16 miles to the south-west, and Sutsien, 70 miles to the south-east.

Although in number of casualties Suchow was not one of the big engagements of the war, the capture of the city was strategically more important to the Japanese than their occupation of Nanking, China's capital.

The fall of Suchow was the climax of a five-month campaign which started after Nanking was captured. In the drive the Japanese suffered their first real defeat in modern times at Taierhchwang on April 6.

The main body of General Chiang Kai-Shek's troops, which withdrew from Suchow before the Japanese attack, were reported preparing to make a second stand 30 miles west of the captured city.

HATS PAST THE LIMIT

CONESTOGO, Ont., May 21 (C. P.). — Buster, bull terrier owned by a hotelkeeper here, is a useful dog to have around. He specializes in extinguishing cigarette butts that are tossed to the floor. Recently a woman lit a cigarette, setting fire to her hat, and Buster extinguished the cigarette in record time, then looked up anxiously. He was unable to reach the hat.

THE STARS SAY . . .

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Sunday, May 22,

Sunday's horoscope is a very fortunate one, especially for affairs of the church and state, the clergy and all philanthropic enterprises. There is much to be gained in popularity with persons of importance and authority, although there may be some slight setbacks or disappointments. Investments and finances, as well as social relations and friendships, should thrive and bring much happiness.

Those whose birthday it is may expect a prosperous and happy year, with many affairs developing fortunately despite certain setbacks or disappointments. Investments, finances, and advantageous connections with those in place and power are assured, with much personal and social satisfaction.

A child born on this day may be efficient, ambitious, generous, and kindly, having a fine personality and proud bearing.

For Monday, May 23,

Monday's astrological forecast is a rather intriguing one, with the probable precipitation of sudden and quite unforeseen matters that have peculiar or mysterious angles. It may be necessary to deal quietly or with strategem or secrecy in order to put over these unexpected programs, but in the end such methods will give stability and worth to the prospects.

Those whose birthday it is may experience a year of peculiar, mystifying or intriguing adventures, with sudden and surprising matters claiming the attention. These may have to be handled with ingenuity, cleverness, and probably craft or secrecy. Changes or travel are possible, but in all be discreet, practical, and vigilant.

A child born on this day may be quite temperamental, excitable, emotional and fond of change and unusual adventures. The intriguing, mysterious and novel may lure it from commonplace endeavors.

Violin Prodigy And Bride-To-Be

Yehudi Menuhin, one of the world's foremost violinists, remembered as one of the greatest prodigies of all time, appears to have grown up definitely. He is shown here with Miss Nola Nicholas, daughter of wealthy Australian George Nicholas, whom he is to marry. The wedding will take place in London. After the marriage Menuhin and his bride will make their home in the violinist's California ranch.

McGEER-DUNNING

impossible at the moment because British Columbia had four national parks while other provinces had none and because development of the area would involve considerable expense.

Room for Some Outlay?

The latter, in Mr. McGeer's mind was the chief reason behind the government's position and it was not a sound one. If Germany, Italy and the United Kingdom, could rise from near bankruptcy to spend hundreds of millions on armaments, social reform and national public works surely the government of Canada could find a few millions for national parks and suitable roads into them.

"We have no reason to be afraid of the future unless those in the seats of government have lost confidence in the possibility of this nation's wealth," he said. "If the government have lost faith in the nation it is impossible to expect others to have confidence."

Park developments would attract tourists to Canada and pay dividends to the Canadian people, he went on. He congratulated the minister of the park program as far as it went and on his program of building roads into mining areas.

"My hope is that in view of the splendid results that have been achieved," he said, "those of us who have faith in the great program the minister is carrying out will rally to his support and do all we can to guide the department of finance out of the swamp of financial ignorance in which it seems to be lost.

Reformation of the finance department wa san easy matter if the House wanted it, said Mr. Dunning.

"Mr. McGeer," he declared, "has an opportunity of demonstrating the extent of the support which he could get for getting rid of the present minister of finance and the present financial methods of the country.

"I hope he will attempt it; because then we will have this House clearly on record as to whether the somewhat vague proposals of so-called financial reform, which I personally regard as financial reaction and not financial reform, should be applied in the proper constitutional manner by the Government of Canada."

All in Good Humor.

The affair ended in good humor as the Deputy Speaker ruled the discussion out of order. Mr. McGeer explained he had merely meant to point out that the develpoment of Garibaldi Park would be a sound investment even under present financial methods and bring revenue to Canada. He had "carelessly let go a few shots which should have been reserved for the budget debate."

Mr. Dunning accepted the apology and said he had no objection to Mr. McGeer's arguments on the merits of the proposal.

Despite the small attendance members gathered a lot of miscellaneous information from Mr. Crerar as he questioned him on his estimates. Some of the things they learned were:

The government will develop historic Citadel Hill at Halifax as a national park;

It has given no consideration to the construction of a highway through Alaska as a Federal proposition;

No negotiations have taken place regarding the merger of the Yukon territory with British Columbia and Premier T. D. Pattullo who broached the porposal has suggested the matter rest until after the report of the Rowell Commission;

Canada's sovereignty over the Arctic islands up to the North Pole is wel recognized and has not been challenged.

The Examiner BULLETIN BOARD

Canada's sovereignty over the territories and islands of the Arctic is unquestioned, Resources Minister T. A. Crerar informed the House of Commons yesterday.

Improvement in the condition of Premier Hepburn, who is confined to his home with a sprained ankle and infected foot, is reported.

Archibald W. Cambell, manager of one of the Toronto branches of the Canadian Bank of Commerce was shot dead in the basement of his home last night when a shotgun was discharged.

The British Government has won the by-election in the Aylesbury constituency by a majority of 11,000 votes, the first victory since the resignation of Anthony Eden.

Goes to Jail at 90

At Quebec, Joseph Louis Plante, who claims to be 90 years of age, has been sentenced to six months in jail for grievously injuring Mrs. Lazare Paradis with a meat axe.

Nick Lepeznick was convicted at Montreal yesterday of attempted murder in the November 2 shooting of Constable George Pigeon.

Sluices in the Chats Falls dam on the Ottawa River were closed yesterday to aid in the search for the bodies of four Ottawa men drowned Sunday while on a fishing trip.

An appeal against the conviction of Robert Barbour of Dalhousie, N.B., for murder may be entered next week, according to defence counsel in the case.

Injuries Are Fatal

Injured at Brampton when a car and truck collided in that town on April 28, died in the Toronto General Hosptial yesterday.

The execution of William Munchuk, under sentence of death at St. Catharines, has been postponed until July 14, by an order of Chief Justice Middleton in Osgoode Hall.

Albert Isely, 55, farmer living near Moosejaw, Sask., is in critical condition as the result of having been trampled by a bull.

Richard S. Hoskings, B.A., B.D., for nine years a judge in the Famly Court at Toronto, has resigned to become national secretary of the Y.M.C.A. for the Dominion.

Skate Marathon Barred

Quebec Provincial Police have banned roller skate marathons in that province. A race from Quebec to Ste. Anne de Beaupre, a distance of about 20 miles, had been planned for Sunday.

Richard D. Waugh, British Empire representative on the Saar Commission in 1920 and three times Mayor of Winnipeg, died suddenly in that city yesterday.

Orvil Hardy of Toronto was sentenced to Kngston Penitentiary for 2½ years, and Fred Cudney to 24 to 26 months in the Reformatory for breaking into a garage at Wardsville and stealing a car.

John Holovitch, convicted at Hamilton of armed robbery was sentenced by Magistrate McKay to six years in Kingston Penitentiary.

sibly "on vacation" in the Austrian Alps, would call on Chancellor Hitler of Germany at Obersalzburg was printed by the Nationalist newspaper Narodni Politika, which said it had received information from a reliable source.

In rioting at Praha during the night, angrily shouting crowds, proclaiming their loyalty to the government, strained at police lines in a ceaseless stream headed toward the Sudeten headquarters and the centre of the city.

What might have been a major disaster was averted only by the conspicuous absence of Sudeten militants, and casualties were all the result of zealous police efforts to hold the government supporters in check. Outside Sudeten headquarters demonstrators shouted "long live Slavic Praha."

Similar demonstrations of Czech origin broke out in Moravska Ostrava and in Brno. Brno had been the scene of previous disorders Thursday night. Last night 5,000 Czechs marched through the town singing nationalist songs, but were dispersed without an encounter with the local sudetens. Extra guards were thrown around Brno's German consulate and the Sudeten headquarters.

The Czechoslovak news agency reported new outbreaks at Chomutov in northwest Bohemia, where a soldier was gravely injured by 60 Sudetens, and at Chodov, in northern Bohemia, where police were set upon and manhandled by 300 Germans.

In pre-election disorders at least 30 persons were injured in Praha. Windows were shattered in the German Legation. Rioting occurred in provincial districts.

Konrad Henlein's Nazi followers informed the government they would refuse to negotiate on the new minorities statute until order was guaranteed in the German areas. He demanded restoration of free speech, free assembly, free press, and the freedom to form political organizations. The Nazi party, as such, is at present banned in Czechoslovakia.

A report that Henlein, now osten-

COUNTESS CHEERS VON SCHUSCHNIGG

VIENNA, May 21—(AP).—Countess Vera Fuger Von Babenhausen remains the constant friend of former Chancellor Kurt Von Schuschnigg of Austria. She is permitted to see him daily.

No one in Nazi officialdom seems to know what is in store for Von Schuschnigg, but a responsible government spokesman said his position had become more serious. Documents had been found, the spokesman said, linking him with responsibility for execution of a number of National Socialists (Nazis) in 1934.

Under guard in in his Belvedere castle, Von Schuschnigg is reported seen now and then walking in the gardens.

The Countess talent for classical music was said to have been the main attraction which brought Von Schuschnigg to her home after his wife was killed in an automobile accident in 1935.

Later the Countess, separated from her husband and the mother of four children, was said to have taken the mother's place in caring for Von Schuschnigg's son, a student at Kalksburg Seminary, near Vienna.

Friends said her loyalty to the former Chancellor was so great that they became engaged immediately after his forced resignation when German troops marched into Austria March 1.

$150,000 for promoting markets for sea products.

An item of $5,219,000 for the Mines and Resources Department includes $1,310,000 for provision of transportation facilities to mining areas, $1,750.000 for development of tourist roads, and $1,000,000 for parks and historic sites.

More For Airways.

In the transport department an extra $1,350,000 will be spent on airports and airway equipment, $1,000,000 on canals, and $1,000,000 for the elimination of level crossings. For the possible deficit of the Trans-Canada air lines during 1938 thie estimates provide $830,000.

A small increase of $1,932,000 is added to the main estimate of $34,000,000 for the National Defence Department. Of this amounut $884,900 is for the permanent Royal Canadian Air Force and $530,000 for general stores.

Details of the various items will be given by the ministers involved when the estimates are being considered by the committee of supply and it is possible the battles that waged nearly two weeks on the relief act will be fought over again to some extent.

An item of $60,000 for the external affairs department for representation in Belgium and Holland was taken to mean the government would establish a legation in Brussels with jurisdiction over the Netherlands. Belgium sent a Minister to Canada last year and it has been generally expected Canada would return the compliment this year.

TWO YOUNG MEN DROWNED IN OTONABEE RIVER

TRAGEDIES COST 9 PERSONS' LIVES OVER WEEKEND

Boat Mishaps Claim Five, 2 Are Killed in Traffic, 1 Burned, 1 Dies in Fight

TORONTO, May 23.— (CP).— Boating accidents were blamed today as the chief cause of loss of life in Ontario during a warm sunny week-end that lured thousands of city dwellers to the outdoors. Nine persons died in mishaps, five by drowning. A man and a child were killed in traffic accidents, a woodsman was burned to death in a forest fire and another man suffered fatal injuries in a fight.

A fishing trip on the Otonabee river, 10 miles south of Peterborough, ended in tragedy Saturday night when James Murphy and Charles Joyes, both 26, were drowned when a rowboat upset. Douglas Simmons, 29, swam to safety but became lost in a swamp and for more than two hours struggled weeds and water, at times neck deep, before obtaining aid.

A capsized boat resulted in the death of William R. Beattie, 47-year-old Toronto butcher, near Barrie. Beattie was drowned in Little Lake. His fishing companion, Bruce Campbell, dragged himself aboard the boat and got ashore. The accident occurred early Saturday but it was not until Sunday afternoon the body was recovered.

The third time was unlucky for 12-year-old Bobby Thompson. The boy was drowned in the harbor of Wellington, Prince Edward county, when a boat in which he and another boy were playing overturned. The second boy was rescued. Bobby twice previously had been rescued from drowning.

Cyclist Falls Off Dock

Ten-year-old Boris Kelly rode along the edge of a dock at Toronto last night He was drowned in 20 feet of water when the machine slipped into Toronto harbor in view of nearly 1,000 persons debarking from nearby ferry boats. The boy's legs were twisted about the bicycle when the body was recovered.

Ole Swanson, believed an employee of a timber or paper company, was burned to death in a bush fire near Heron Bay, 175 miles east of Port Arthur on the north shore of Lake Superior. Details of the man's death were not known, but it was believed Swanson had been trapped in the flames.

Robert Barr, 26, is held in custody at Port Colborne on a charge of vagrancy, laid in connection with the death early Sunday of Clarence Robins, 29 Police said Robins had suffered a fractured skull when struck during a fracas at a party in a house on the outskirts of the town.

Two-year-old Jackie Gibbs was killed instantly when he fell under the wheels of a truck in Toronto Saturday. Alan Mechigain, Detroit, suffered fatal injuries in an automobile collision 25 miles south of Hamliton. Another man was seriously hurt.

TWO PETERBOROUGH MEN D ROWNED IN THE OTONABEE

The dark of the night hid a grim tragedy on the Otonabee river near Bensfort Bridge on Saturday, when two young Peterborough men were drowned and another had a miraculous escape. The boat from which they were fishing pickerel turned over and threw the three men into the water. The two drowned were Jimmy Murphy, 26, of 175 Rubidge street (LEFT INSET) and Charles Joyes, 26, of 308 Mark street (RIGHT INSET).

A crew of volunteers in boats dragged the river for half a mile in either direction of the upturned boat all day Sunday in search of the bodies, finally recovering that of Joyes. Seach was continued on Monday for Murphy's body. The picture at the left shows Provincial Constable Menie of Cobourg directing dragging operations from one of the boats. With him are Harold White of Peterborough and John Michels of Bensfort Bridge, from whom the trio rented their boat. The boat from which the dragging is being done is the same that carried the two men to their death.

At RIGHT is Douglas Simmons, 29, of 1 Brown street, who was the third member of the fishing party. Simmons swam to shore, became lost in a huge swamp and fought his way out of it in more than three hours, nearly drowning once again. He is seen here pointing to one of his foot prints at the swamp's edge. (Examiner Staff Photos.)

Third Succeeded In Making Shore Below Bensfort

Night Fishing Excursion On Otonabee River Ends in Tragedy—Survivor Lost in Swamp Three Hours Before the Alarm Was Given

Two Peterborough men were drowned in the Otonabee River half a mile below Bensfort Bridge, 12 miles south of this city, late Saturday night, when a skiff from which they were fishing overturned in the dark. A third had a miraculous escape.

The body of one of the drowned men, Charles Joyes, 26, of 308 Mark Street, was recovered shortly after 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon, following dragging operations that started at 10 in the morning. Search was continued until this afternoon, when the body of the second man, Jimmy Murphy, 175 Rubidge st., 26 years old, The third member of the party, Douglas Simmons, 29, of 1 Brown Street, narrowly escaped with his life. He reached shore exhausted, then fought his way through half a mile of swamp, reaching Bensfort Bridge more than three hours after he had emerged from the water.

Joyes was employed at the Western Clock Company in the dye casting department; Murphy worked in the punch press department of the Canadian General Electric Company. Simmons, the lone survivor of the party, also works at the Western Clock Company. He is a married man, has one child. The other two men were single.

Simmons said he and his two companions had gone to Bensfort Bridge to go fishing for pickerel by night. They hired a 16-foot square sterned skiff from John Michels at Bensfort Bridge at about ten o'clock at night. Both Michels and Charles Olaveson of 90 Lock Street, Peterborough, said they had advised the party not to go out because it was too late at night, but to no avail.

"I was rowing and one of the others was sitting in the boat and the other on the stern," Simmons said afterwards. "All of a sudden the boat went over. I don't know what made it upset—the first thing I knew I was in the water. It was about half-past ten, I think." When the boat overturned the anchor dropped to the bottom and held the skiff submerged except for the keel. When police arrived Sunday morning only the inch-high board could be seen above the surface. The boat was upside down, held in the same location in which it had upset, by the anchor. The water was about 20 feet deep.

Simmons said he took off his shoes and a suit coat before striking out for shore, clinging to the keel while he removed the articles. The other two men struck out for shore ahead of him, he said. "There wasn't any moon until later, and all I could see was the black trees on the south shore," he said. When the boat was discovered Sunday morning it was only a hundred feet from the north shore, two hundred from the south shore to which the trio attempted to swim. The current on the north side was extremely swift, however.

Simmons said he was nearly exhausted when he reached the shore,

CZECH NAZI CHIEF CALLS ON PREMIER IN MOVE TO PEACE

PRAHA, May 23.—(AP).—Konrad Henline, leader of Czechoslovakia's autonomy-seeking German minority, and Premier Milan Hodza met tonight in a preliminary effort to settle their dispute.

Henlein returned to the capital by airplane late to-day and it was understood he had come from Vienna, where presumably he had seen German leaders.

He arrived soon after reports were received that German troops were withdrawn from the Czechoslovak border. Hopes for averting a serious Central European conflict were considered appreciably brighter.

His talk with the Czechoslovak Premier was considered a preliminary to real peace negotiations between the Praha government and the 3,500,000 Sudeten Germans, for whom Henlein considers himself spokesman.

The Third Violation

BERLIN, May 23—(CP-Havas) — D.N.B., the official German news agency, tonight charged that Czechoslovak troops violated the German frontier for the third time in 48 hours when a military contingent attempted to set fire to several bridges just across the Czech border.

According to the agency, Czech troops crossed the frontier at Ulrichsburg and Hohenfuerth, north of Linz, and sprinkled straw and gasoline on the bridges with the apparent intention of setting them afire.

German frontier guards discovered the troops before they were able to carry out their plans and the Czechs fled across the border, D.N.B. said.

Earlier to-day the agency said a Czechoslovak military plane crashed in flames just across the German frontier at Barenstein in the Erz Gebirge (Iron Mountains) district of Czechoslovakia and last night it was charged that Czechs attempted to dynamite a bridge on German territory. No mention was made whether the plane was fired upon.

The official Czechoslovak press bureau reported Germany had received a prompt apology for the attempt to blow up the bridge linking the two countries across the river Thaya at Berhartsahl.

British Pressure Staves Off War

France Supports London, Warns Germany Bluntly She Will Fight for the Czechs.

LONDON, May 23 (AP).—Prime Minister Chamberlain told the House of Commons today that Czechoslovakia's premier and the leader of her Germanic minority had met tonight in an effort to settle their dispute.

Smiling and affable, the prime minister acknowledged cheers which greeted his announcement that a conference was under way between premier Milan Hodza and Konrad Henlein, leader of the Sudeten Germans over whom Germany has declared herself protector.

"At the moment the situation seems to have eased somewhat," Mr. Chamberlain said.

"The British government represented to the German government the urgent importance of reaching a settlement if European peace is to be preserved and have expressed their earnest desire that the German government should co-operate with them in facilitating an agreement.

"His Majesty's government at the same time informed the German government of the advice tendered in Prague (Praha) and of the assurances received from the Czechoslovakian government.

Although he did not say so, it was presumed the British government had been instrumental in bringing the antagonists together after the Sudeten German party had refused to enter into negotiations offered by the Czechoslovak government.

France Ready to Fight.

PARIS, May 23.—(CP).—France put the question of peace or war squarely up to Germany to-day, leaving no doubt she would fight any unprovoked aggression against Czechoslovakia.

WOMAN IS KILLED 2 SERIOUSLY HURT IN TORONTO CRASH

TORONTO, May 23 (C.P.).—Mrs. E. Townsend of London, Ont., was killed and two other London persons were seriously injured here today when the light motor car in which they were driving was struck by a truck at an intersection.

Driver of the car, D. W. Cameron, of 716 Colborne Street, London, and his wife were believed to have suffered fractured skulls. Fourth occupant of the car, John Thornton, 9, grandson of the Camerons, was only slightly injured.

Police said the car driven by Cameron north on Runneymede Road apparently did not stop when it reached the St. Clair Avenue intersection and was struck by a truck driven by A. Peters of Keswick, Ont.

The collision spun the London car around, throwing it against a truck driven by John Mettrick of Port Credit. Mrs. Townsend was thrown from the Cameron car under the wheels of one of the trucks.

Mrs. Townsend died shortly after being admitted to St. Joseph's Hospital. Mr. and Mrs. Cameron were taken to the same hospital. The condition of Mrs. Cameron was described as grave.

700 RELIEF SITTERS QUIT VANCOUVER HOTEL FOR $500

VANCOUVER, May 23 (C.P.). — Seven hundred single unemployed continued peaceful occupation of two Vancouver buildings early today although 300 of their number quit the Hotel George lobby when paid $500 by city aldermen.

The offer was made to the hotel group in the absence from the city of Mayor George C. Miller, who disapproved the arrangement on his return. The 300 jobless accepted the $500 and marched from the hotel after almost 27 hours in the lobby.

Unemployed occupied the hotel, the central post office, and Civic Art Gallery on Sunday, intending to draw Government and public attention to their flight. They remained in the latter two buildings to-day.

Under the agreement reached between five city aldermen and officers of the Relief Workers' Union, $500 was paid over to the union for distribution among the men in the hotel at 60 cents a day each. Any surplus was to be used for feeding the other demonstrators.

Hon. George S. Pearson, Provincial Labor Minister, stated the Provincial Government will not provide relief assistance for men from other provinces, but offered to provide free transportation for those returning to their Eastern Canada homes.

Hon. Norman Rogers, Dominion Labor Minister, informed the city the Dominion Government will take no action contrary to the Provincial Government's policy.

Youths' Fist Fight Ties Up Traffic

Silverthorne, May 23

CHOOSING one of York Township's busiest intersections, Rogers Road and Silverthorne Avenue, for a fist fight during the busy hours of Saturday night, Alex. Ross, 16 Halton Crescent, and William Wiles, 608 Winona Drive, were arrested and lodged in the Don Jail on a charge of disorderly conduct. The fracas held up traffic for several blocks in either direction.

U.S. MAY LOAN B.C. ALASKA ROAD CASH

WASHINGTON, May 23.—(AP)— International negotiations promise to speed the day when it will be possible to motor 14,000 miles or more from Alaska, through British Columbia and the United States to Buenos Aires.

The negotiations involve the possibility of a $15,000,000 United States loan to British Columbia, or some other means of financing a 2,200-mile all-weather road between Seattle and Fairbanks.

The British Columbia Premier, Hon. T. D. Pattullo, left Vancouver yesterday by airplane for Washington, presumably to discuss further the projected highway.

Half of this northern projection of a pan-American highway system has been completed. Already a motorist may drive from Hazleton, B.C., across Western United States and on to Mexico City, nearly 4,000 miles.

Unaided, the province of British Columbia, has pushed a road northward toward Alaska, but lack of funds prevented continuing further into the wilderness of Yukon territory.

Out of an earlier series of conferences here with Mr. Pattullo came

CHINESE LEGIONS FIGHT IN DESPAIR AS TRAP NARROWS

WITH THE JAPANESE ARMY IN CENTRAL CHINA, May 23.—(AP)—The Japanese field command said today that 10,000 Chinese soldiers have surrendered since the fall of Suchow.

The number of prisoners mounted rapidly as Japanese forces pursued fragments of the routed Chinese army fleeing from the conquered Central China railroad zone.

Flying over the Suchow area in a Japanese plane this correspondent saw a ghastly spectacle of desperate Chinese fighting for their lives in the Suchow trap. The Japanese said they had narrowed the trap down to an area roughly 12 miles in diamcter centring the Lushan hills midway between Suchow and suhsien.

Passing over Suchow at 500 feet, it would be plainly seen that the Japanese were in full possession of that city. The rising sun flag floated over the city and it swarmed with Japanese troops, tanks and trucks.

In the adjacent fighting zone where the Japanese say more than 200,000 Chinese are caught tanks, motorized units and infantry could be seen pursuing groups of fugitives across the fields, harassing them with machine gun and rifle fire.

Scene of Desolation

The terrain was littered with ruined villages, wrecked bridges, and devastated farm houses.

(In Shanghai, a Japanese army spokesman said a gap approximately 30 miles long still existed along the Tientsin - Pukow Railway through which several Chinese divisions already have fled westward. The Japanese previously had claimed the Suchow area was completely encircled and that the Chinese trapped there were faced with either surrender or annihilation.

(The admission that a gap remained unclosed was taken to mean that the Chinese still have a possible outlet to the west and that others probably will escape.)

Anglo-U.S. Pact Will Cut Into British Favors To Dominions

Gives America Better Chance To Compete With Empire Nations

WASHINGTON, May 23.—(AP). —The forthcoming Anglo-American trade agreement will cut into Great Britain's preferential tariff agreement with her Dominions, United States officials said to-day.

The Ottawa agreement, negotiated in 1932, gave preferential treatment to Dominion farm products in Britain's market place and to British factory goods in the Dominion markets.

The American trade agreement with the United Kingdom, and another agreement being negotiated simultaneously with Canada will materially lower these preferences, officials predicted.

The United States thus would be better able to compete with the Dominions in selling agricultural products to Britain and with the United Kingdom in selling manufactured products to the Dominions.

All this, it is believed, will come about in July. Negotiations, officials said, are proceeding—both with Britain and with Canada—in spurts and stops.

Negotiations with Britain involve a factor not found in those with other countries—Britain's necessity nor consulting with Canada and the other Dominions before granting agricultural concessions to the United States.

Captured Loyalists Shot Down In Battle To Escape

Rebel Troops Use No Mercy As 2,000 Prisoners Overpower Guards And Seize Arms

HENDAYE, France, May 23 (AP). —Two thousand captured government militiamen killed several of their guards in the insurgent prison at Pamplona last night and, seizing arms, battled troops in a futile effort to escape.

The insurgent command at Irun said the uprising was quelled only after an undetermined number of prisoners were killed and wounded. Bare details reaching the frontier indicated the attempted break was sternly suppressed.

Prisoners were said to have overpowered their guards in a carefully-laid plot, shooting several. Then they broke into the guardroom, where firearms were stored. Barricading themselves there, they engaged in a fight with insurgent troops.

A government offensive on the Catalonian front was reported to have driven a wedge between key insurgent positions between Tremp and Balaguer.

The insurgents, however, disputed government reports and said the attacks had been fought off. An insurgent spokesman said the government suffered heavy losses.

Dispatches from Barcelona said the highway linking insurgent advance positions at Balaguer and Tremp, important Hydro-Electric power centre, had been cut by the government's surprise attacks. This sector had been quiet for weeks.

Two Cars Strike Cow On Highway

MARMORA, May 23 (Special). — A cow was dead, two cars were badly damaged, and one man was in jail on Sunday, following an accident near Actinolite, 16 miles east of Marmora on Sunday afternoon.

E. J. Casey, of 158 McKay Avenue, Windsor, was driving east toward Actinolite, when his car allegedly struck a cow. A second car, said by police to have been driven by A. J. Stricker, 627 Huron Street, Toronto, and travelling in the opposite direction, then struck the cow, carried it on his bumper for thirty-five feet, killing it. Casey, driver of the first car, was arrested by Provincial Constable Hatch of Marmora, who said he was laying a charge of driving a car while intoxicated. The cow was owned by Joseph Shanks, Actinolite.

TWO IN HOSPITAL AFTER CRASHES

Two persons are in hospital here to-day as the result of two different accidents near the city on Sunday night.

Mrs. W. E. Stewart, who lives on the Peterborough-Port Hope Highway, is at present at Nicholls Hospital, suffering from an injured right arm and body bruises. She was walking west on Highway 28 near the water trough hill, facing traffic when a car driven by John Brady, 194 Rubidge street, came in contact with her and knocked her over. There were several cars passing at the time and Brady states he had to pull over on that account.

John Thompson of Western avenue, sustained three or four fractured ribs and a bruised hip as the result of a collision between the bicycle he was riding and a car driven by A. E. Ellis, 104 Gladstone avenue, on No. 7 Highway, near St. Peter's cemetery. Thompson, in company with another cyclist, had entered the highway from off a side road just tse the Ellis car came along, going in an easterly direction.

Halifax Archbishop Sees No Harm In Church Games For Prizes

Halifax, May 23 (CP)

THE CIVIL LAW had a right to impose rules forbidding gambling, but an intelligent administration could distinguish between gambling and innocent amusement, Archbishop John T. McNally of Halifax, said last night in addressing a rally of seven Halifax units of the Canadian Catholic Students Mission Crusade.

Referring to church games played for prizes under church rules, Archbishop McNally characterized them as innocent and beneficial. He vigorously condemned "rules and regulations" which he said confused "innocent amusement" with gambling.

(The Halifax Police Department have been carrying on an anti-bingo campaign under instructions of Mayor Walter Mitchell.)

Czechs' Election Is Quiet War Fears Ease

500,000 Troops, However, Line Vast Frontier Prepared for Any German Move; Sudeten Nazis Gain Little in Vote

PRAHA, Czechoslovakia, May 23 (AP).—Passing of a peaceful election day momentarily has eased little Czechoslovakia's fear of war, but there remains to be settled the question of how and by whom her 3,500,000 German minority population shall be governed.

The situation after yesterday's municipal elections appeared in this light:

Czechoslovakia kept 500,000 Czech soldiers along the 1,300-mile frontier facing Germany, and believed that force sufficient to deter any incursion by Chancellor Hitler, of Germany.

The Czechs fear he may try to make of Czechoslovakia another Austria, now joined to Germany.

The Sudeten, Nazi German party increased its strength in the German communities where voting was held yesterday, but only municipal governing bodies were affected so that it appeared there would be no direct national effect.

Henlein Balks at Parley

Konrad Henlein, the Sudeten Nazi with the government on his sweep-leader, refused again to negotiate with the government in his sweeping demands for autonomy for the Sudeten Germans, "under the existing unconstitutional situation"—the presence of troops in Sudeten areas during the elections.

The Czech republic placed her hopes for permanent settlement of her troubles upon diplomatic negotiations in Berlin, London and Paris—Great Britain and Frence were endeavoring to prevail upon all concerned to work out a compromise to assure Europe's peace.

The continued presence of troops at border points, with always the chance of an incident that could set off trouble, and two more municipal election days to come—one next Sunday and one June 12 to complete the voting in all regions—were factors of danger.

Among the 1,500 communities which voted yesterday, 28 were predominantly German and four of these in Western Czechoslovakia were classed as cities.

MEXICAN FLIERS BOMB CEDILLO'S REBEL AIR BASE

SAN PUIS POTSI, Mexico, May 23.—(AP).—Army fliers said to-day they had bombarded former General Saturnino Cedillo's rebel air base, destroying two camouflaged panes.

The raid was in retaliation for an attack made yesterday by a fast white plane on the field headquarters of President Lazardo Cardenas at Villa Hermosa, three miles from the city of San Luis Potosi.

Four bombs dropped by the white plain exploded in an air field near the residence from which President Cardenas is directing military forces trying to crush the Cedillo insurrection.

The army fliers said they found Cedillo's hidden air base near a place called Santo Domingo, a point not shown on maps but which is believed to be in the rugged Huasteca region.

Meanwhile, a rebel plane was reported to have bombed the village of Buenavista, near Ciudad Maiz, spreading terror among the inhabitants and causing them to flee. It could not be learned immediately whether there were any casualties from the two bombs which fell in the village.

Ciudad Maiz is the town in which General Cedillo, in his teens, organized his first rebel force to fight against President Porfirio Diaz.

The Government Defence Ministry said the uprising was confined to the State of San Luis Potosi. Strong hints were given that President Cardenas is keeping a watchful eye on activities in at least three other States.

Dispatches from Guadalajara said mountainous Jalisco, traditional haunt of rebel factions, had been visited by Government planes which dropped pro-Cardenas propaganda leaflets.

CLAIM DOMINION CANNOT AFFORD TO ISOLATE SELF

Must Beat War System To Get Real Tranquility, League Society is Told

OTTAWA, May 23 (C.P.). — Sixteenth annual conference of the League of Nations Society in Canada, self-described Peace Parliament of the Dominion, got down to business to-day after a mass meeting where members heard pleas that Canada work towards a collective peace policy.

An address by Senator Cairine Wilson, honorary president, preceding establishment of conference committees and one later by J. T. Thorson, Liberal member of Parliament for Selkirk, held top places on to-day's agenda. Gunnar Myrdal, member of the Swedish Parliament, will address a dinner to-night.

W. Arnold-Forster of London, England, member of the executive committee of the League of Nations Union, suggested to the mass meeting last night Canada's long-range foreign policy might be directed towards establishing collective security. Clark Eichelberger, New York, League of Nations Association director, brought greetings from the American organization.

The meeting also had a message from the prominent British peace worker, Viscount Cecil of Chelwood. Read by Mr. Arnold-Forster, it said not even Canada could "afford to isolate herself from the world's effort to master international anarchy." Lord Cecil added there never was a time when peace work was so urgently needed.

In similar vein, Mr. Arnold-Forster declared: "Unless the war system is mastered, unless the present fear of mass murder with modern weapons can be dispelled, you won't have real peace even in Ottawa. You won't be free from the haunting question—what will happen to us if the United States goes to war with Japan or if Britain and Germany are again at grips."

Plants Plentiful Farmers' Market

Butter and eggs were more closely together on Saturday's market than they have been for months. Eggs in the upstairs hall sold at 23 and 24 cents a dozen, but on the outdoor counters they were down to 20 and 21 cents. Butter ranges all the way from 25 to 30 cents, with the bulk of the offerings in the higher brackets. Chickens were unchanged at 25 cents a pound.

The outdoor market featured vegetable and flower seedlings in boxes, an exceedingly heavy offering of a wide variety of young plants. Every other counter was loaded with tomatoes, cabbages, asters, petunias, marigolds, and so on. The boxes of plants were uniformly two for a quarter. Thomas Parker of Hastings also showed geraniums in pots at 20 cents, double petunias and dracenas for window and verandah flower boxes. Rhubarb was three bunches for ten cents, and there was a big offering of asparagus. Potatoes were 50 and 60 cents a bag, and some maple syrup at 50 cents a quart.

U.S. MAY LOAN

the comment from Interio Secretary Ickes that there appeared to be no barriers to arranging an international loan so the British Columbia link may be completed.

The Alaskan highway proposal has been pending for 15 years. Congress took it up in 1930 with creation of a commission which reported three years later that the road was feasible and could be built at a cost of about $20,000,000.

Unpaved at First.

The plant is to build first an unpaved road, with the aim eventually of providing a concrete surface. The snowfall in the sections of British Columbia and Alaska to be traversed is actually less than in many states, the commission found.

Nine-tenths of the highway is in Canada and most of the expense would fall on British Columbia, though much of the prospective benefits would accrue to the continental United States and the territory of Alaska.

Though the United States' War and Navy Departments have not expressed official opinions, they are reported to favor a road as a weapon in the defence of Alaska and the American northwest.

The Inter-American highway, extending 3,250 miles southward from the Texas border through Mexico, Guatemala, El Salvador, Honduras, Nicaragua, Cost Rica and Panama, has been approaching reality since the 1923 conference of American States at Santiago, Chile.

It already includes some 1,265 miles of all-weather roads, mostly paved or being paved, 1,425 miles of dry season roads, and 560 miles of trails. In Mexico and El Salvador construction has been advancing rapidly.

Cricket Results

LONDON, May 23 (C.P. Cable).—Lancashire retained leadership in the English county cricket competition to-day defeating Northamptonshire by an innings and 57 runs. The northern county compiled 322 runs on Saturday and to-day dismissed its opponents for totals of 98 and 167.

Close of play scores in first-class matches started on Saturday follow:

Lancashire 322, Northamptonshire 98 (Brookes 51, Pollard six wickets for 31 runs) and 167 (Pollard four for 43); at Manchester.

Somerset 158 and 133 for five wickets (Buse 63 not out), Derbyshire 207 (Alderman 66, Townsend 50); at Derby.

Middlesex 474 (Edrich 245, Allen 64, Butler six for 75), Nottinghamshire 291 (Hardstaff 105, Heane 59); at Lord's.

Kent 602 for seven wickets, declared (Chalk 167, Fagg 134, Valentine 100, Spencer 52 not out), Worcestershire 256 for six wickets (Martin 80, Gibbons 60 not out); at Dudley.

Hampshire 310; Glamorgan 488 for eight (Dyson 149, Brierley 86, Smart 60; at Cardiff.

WOODSMAN DIES TRAPPED AS FIRE SWEEPS FOREST

PORT ARTHUR, May 23 (C.P.).—Body of a man said to have been burned to death in a bush fire near Heron Bay on the north shore of Lake Superior, 175 miles east of here, was brought by train yesterday to a Port Arthur undertaking parlor. Only information available was that his name was Ole Swanson.

The body was burned badly, all the clothing gone except the boots. It was believed Swanson was an employee of a timber or paper company operating in the Little Pic River district near Heron Bay.

An unidentified man who arrived here on the train that brought Swanson's body told the undertakers Swanson was trapped in the bush fire and burned to death.

Details of the fire were not known here, but some bad fires have been reported in the bush near Heron Bay and employees of the Ontario Paper Company and the General Timber Company operating in the district have been recruited to fight the flames, supporting the Forestry Department.

BRITISH PRESSURE

elections in Czechoslovakia and the firm stand taken by France and Great Britain against possible German interference were considered in Paris to have eased the tension slightly.

Except for constant conferences at the Foreign Ministry and Premier Edouard Daladier's office in the National Defence Ministry, France outwardly was calm. The French feling seemed to be hope for the best while preparing for the the worst.

In London the Evening Standard, one of Lord Beaverbrook's group, today prints a further story that Colonel Joseph Beck, foreign minister of Poland, told the German ambassador in Warsaw Saturday that if France and Great Britain entered the lists in defence of Czechoslovakia the Polish army would come into action at the side of the great powers of western Europe.

German Staff Against It.

The German general staff is understood to be against war at present. German military experts, according to reports, do not think Germany's four-year program is sufficiently advanced to stand the strain of a European war. Her defence preparations are incomplete. She has not yet digested Austria. She could not withstand Russia and France with the added uncertainty of British neutrality. The immediate danger, therefore, has passed but the fundamental issues remain.

Liberal and Labor leaders in both Houses of Parliament today interviewed Prime Minister Chamberlain at Downing street and were placed in full possession of the facts. Mr. Chamberlain in the Commons and Viscount Halifax, Foreign Secretary, in the Lords will comprehensively review the position.

The next issue between Berlin and Praha is likely to turn on the new statute of minorities under which the Czechoslovak government seeks to meet the demands of the Sudeten leader, Konrad Henlein. Information here is that the statute proposes to grant the Czech Nazis full local autonomy in the municipal areas where they are in control.

But it does not propose to grant full autonomy over the whole areas where the Czech Nazis reside. Such a concession would mean, the Czechs argue, that large bodies of Czechs would be placed under Nazi domination and that the natural frontiers of Czechoslovakia would be thrown open to invasion.

The government of Czechoslovakia, it is further learned, does not intend to denounce the treaty with Russia.

Kingdom and with Canada are carried on separately, and the United States has avoided the intimation that, in return for concessions from Britain, she should grant concessions to Canada.

United States negotiators expect to receive telling tariff reductions on agricultural products. Great Britain last year took one-third of all agricultural exports of the United States.

Reductions are almost certain on a wide variety of fruits, particularly apples, as well as on lumber and machinery.

The United States in return is considering reductions on leather and leather goods and on textiles. Tariff cuts on American tobacco are doubtful because of Britain's efforts to develop her own tobacco brands.

ONTARIO HOGS

TORONTO, May 23 — (CP). — Bacon-hog prices advanced 25 and 35 cents at Peterborough to-day, while declining 15 and 20 cents at London. Other markets held steady.

Liveweights.—Hull, $9.75; Peterborough, $9.60; London, $9.60; Stratford, $9.50.

Dressed-weights. — Barrie, $13.00; Hull, $13.35; London, $12.80; Peterborough, $13.10; Stratford, $12.70.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

Winnipeg July wheat future dropped more than three cents today to lead declining prices that followed weakness in outside markets, easing of the European political situation and lack of demand. Wheat futures closed 1⅛ to 3⅛ cent lower, May $1.16⅛, July $1.01⅛ to ⅝, October 83¼ cents.

A feature of the drab session was the disappearance of a premium for No. 1 Northern wheat. For the first time in many months the top grade of Canadian wheat was on a deliverable basis.

The market traded at lower levels throughout on scattered selling caused by lower Liverpool prices.

Liverpool failed to reflect North American gain Saturday and closed unchanged to ⅛d lower.

OLD DOWRY IDEA STIRS REBELLION BY HINDU PARENTS

By T. E. Powell
(Canadian Press Correspondent.)

CALCUTTA, May 23 — (CP). — Hindu parents are agitating vigorously against the custom which ordains they must hand over a large dowry before their daughters are married.

By centuries-old Hindu law a man must obtain husbands for his daughters while they are still young. Among many Orthodox people it is regarded as disgraceful, and may even lead to ostracism by their caste, if a daughter is not married quickly after a cetrain age.

By custom Hindus can marry within a restricted circle, usually the sub-caste, and the supply of eligible bachelors is further limited by the unemployment and poverty of the middle classes. As a result it is a general complaint among middle-class Hindus of Upper and Eastern India that they have to pay dearly to secure the much-needed husbands for their daughters. In Bengal girls have been known to commit suicide rather than put a strain on their parents' financial resources.

For years reformers have been condemning the dowry system. An Indian professor, writing in a volume of essays produced in honor of the author of the Child Marraiges Restraint Act, sums up the grievance thus:

"Our young men to-day have started a vogue for what may be termed 'marriages of convenience' or rather a commercial type of marriage. Young men with the best of education, and the advantages of travel and training in Europe have been known to haggle for a dowry in an entirely commercial spirit.

"If a well-connected young man demands $2,000, one in the provincial civil service may demand $4,000, while another in the Imperial service would not think of less than $6,000 with a car and furnished bungalow thrown in. Atrocious as it is, the attitude is gaining hold, and parents with daughters of marriageable age have woeful tales to tell."

Custom Rules All

Why do not parents and daughters rebel? Because custom is king among orthodox Hindus, and a husband must be found for a man's daughter.

Marriages are arranged by parents and other relatives. The bridegroom ordinarily does not see the bride until after the wedding. Her looks and other merits are vouched for by his mother and sisters who visit her behind the purdah.

The tide of indignation is now rising higher. The laws passed in recent years to improve the legal status of women, the vigorous reform movement in Hindu society and above all the activities of women's organizations — and women now for the first time have seats in the legislatures — have convinced many Hindus the time has come to act.

A member has introduced in the Sind legislative assembly a bill to curb the excesses of the dowry system. A government bill for the same purpose has been published in the progressive state of Baroda, in western India.

Get Wise to Constipation!

When you're constipated, it's a great temptation to be satisfied with quick relief. But physics may become a habit. And they don't keep constipation from returning. It's so much better to get at the cause of the trouble.

If you eat what most people do, chances are the only thing the matter is you don't get enough "bulk." And "bulk" doesn't mean how much you eat. It means a kind of food that isn't consumed in the body, but leaves a soft "bulky" mass in the intestines and helps a bowel movement.

What to do? Eat a little Kellogg's All-Bran for breakfast every day and drink plenty of water. This crunchy toasted cereal is not only rich in "bulk"—it also contains the natural intestinal tonic, vitamin B_1. All-Bran is made by Kellogg in London, Ontario. Sold by every grocer.

KEENE

The members of the Bird Club held a very enjoyable meeting at the home of Ann Brown. Interesting contests and games constituted the evening's fun. The topic, "The Warbler," was enjoyed and Inez Edwards read a paper on this bird. Helen Kempt and Anna Houle sang "The Old Apple Tree." Dainty refreshments were served, for which Lila McElroy moved a vote of thanks.

Among those from the district who attended the graduation exercises of St. Joseph's Hospital last week in the Peterborough Collegiate Auditorium were Mrs. Vince McCarthy, Mrs. Annie Weir, Mrs. William Nelson, Mrs. Andrew Nelson, Mrs. Ambrose Doris, Miss Katherine Gourley, Mr. John Gall, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Nelson, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kylie, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Kylie, Mr. and Mrs. Augustine Bolin, the Misses Kathleen, Evelyn and Edith Nelson, Loretta and Elinor McCarthy, Doris Houle, Katherine Bolin, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Walsh, and Ormond McCarthy.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Youngs of North-east Pennsylvania were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Elmhirst last week-end.

The Tillicum Class met at the home of Miss Kathleen Nelson on Thursday evening . Devotional service on God in Nature was ably conducted by the president, Miss Betty Brown. For roll-call the girls exchanged slips of plants or roots.. Discussion followed a letter from Mrs. Aitken of Toronto saying she would be glad to put on a coking school in Keene in the fall under the auspices of the Tillicum Class. A committee was appointed to be responsible and look after a play entitled "Wanted a Wife." Mrs. Ferguson conducted an interesting geographical contest on Canada. A dainty lunch was served by the hostess to which Miss Betty Brown moved a vote of thanks.

T. A. COUGHLIN ON HASTINGS BOARD

(Examiner Correspondence.)

"Sweep" Winner Graduates

One of the 248 graduates honored at the spring graduation of the University of British Columbia, was Arthur P. Dawe — "Lucky Dawe" — the young Vancouver man who won $40,000 in the Irish sweep eight years ago. He had quit college at the end of his second year to go to work. After the novelty of his fortune wore off he enrolled unobtrusively at the university again and completed his course. He is shown here receiving his bachelor of arts degree from Registrar Stanley Mathews.

KING'S STATEMENT LIKELY THIS WEEK

OTTAWA, May 23.—(CP)—Prime Minister Mackenzie King's statement on international relations and appearance of Sir Edward Beatty before the Senate Railways Committee are expected to be highlights of the week in parliament.

Members have awaited eagerly Mr. Mackenzie King's statement which has been postponed several times, in the last instance because of the absence of Opposition Leader Bennett from Ottawa. It is understood he kept closely in touch with the situation in Central Europe during the week-end.

He possibly indicated what he will tell the House when he spoke Friday to delegates to the National Federation of Liberal Women. He declared his conviction the present and all British governments had always directed their policy toward the preservation of peace in Europe.

Sir Edward will appear before the Senate Committee on Tuesday. The Canadian Pacific Railways president is expected to lay before the members proposals of his company regarding the railways problem.

The Second Stage

His appearance will mark the second stage of the committee's work. Previously it had concentrated on study of cooperative efforts between the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Railways. Now it will probe the possibilities of unification of the two railway systems under one management.

Study of the supplementary estimates tabled in the House of Commons Friday night will engage the attention of many members. The government indicated in the estimates it plans a $100,000,000 spending program and Labor Minister Rogers also forecast legislation to encourage low cost house building.

While members have discussed unemployment relief frequently during the session they have done so without knowledge of the government's program for speeding up employment. Now they know $40,000,000 is to be spent on "work-creating" projects and their criticism and approval make take more definite form.

HAVELOCK

Wallace Denike of Toronto spent the week-end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Denike.

Ray Moir of Vineland spent the week-end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Roberts.

Mrs. Robert Jones spent Saturday with her son Borden Jones and Mrs. Jones at Round Lake.

Miss V. Robinson spent the week-end at her home near Madoc.

Miss Bessie Roberts of Rawdon spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Roberts.

D. C. Drinkwater spent the week-end at his home in Colborne.

A number of Preneveau ladies assembled last Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. George Brooks for a "stork" shower, many lovely gifts being presented to Mrs. Brooks. A playette was part of the program, entitled "In the Hospital Nursery," with Mrs. W. Smith, and Misses Mary Anderson and Lottie Keene taking part. Readings were also given by Mesdames H. L. Scott, George Hartin, J. Roe, Robert Anderson, and Miss Nellie Tinney. At the conclusion of the program a very delightful lunch was served.

Miss Isabelle McQuigge of Whitby spent the week-end with her parents Mr. and Mrs. S. McQuigge.

Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Anderson of Toronto spent Sunday with his mother, Mrs. A. Anderson and the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Haig.

Mrs. C. Hawley and daughter Patsy of Toronto, now spending a few days at Trent River, were Sunday visitors with Mr. and Mrs. John Armstrong.

Mrs. H. Vance of Niagara Falls spent a few days last week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred McAdams.

Mr. and Mrs. Giffen of Norwood were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. William Rice.

Mrs. Ross Richards of Timmins is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Vansickle.

LAKEFIELD

Mrs. Richard White left on Wednesday for Bobcaygeon, where she will spend two weeks visiting relatives.

Dr. and Mrs. G. E. Renwick and daughter Mary Alice were in Toronto for several days this week, where they attended the convention of the Ontario Dental Association.

On Monday evening, May 30, the A.Y.P.A. of St. John the Baptist Church, Lakefield, is holding a reunion meeting to which all former members of the society are cordially invited. The meeting will replace the banquet usually held and the present A.Y.P.A. will provide a program for the "old-timers." Refreshments will be served, of course, and it is hoped that a good representation of former members from Lakefield and other points will be present.

WAKE UP LIKE A CAVE MAN

Feel Full of Life—No More Tired, Dull, Heavy Mornings

Keep your liver healthy and you'll feel great every morning. When you wake up feeling "rotten" your liver is out of order. Your liver clears the blood of poisons, separates the nourishing part of your food from the waste. Supplies energy to muscles, tissues and glands—gives out bile, the body's laxative, helps stomach, kidneys and intestines to work properly. A mere bowel movement isn't enough. "Fruit-a-tives" made from fruits and herbs, will strengthen and build up your liver like nothing else will. You'll be amazed how well you are every morning. Try Fruit-a-tives. All druggists.

ELLIS REMANDED UNTIL MAY 27TH

Gordon Ellis, charged with robbery with violence, was remanded until Friday when he appearel before Magistrate Langley, K.C., in police court this morning.

Magistrate Langley, who had heard the evidence given in the preliminary hearing of Joseph Ellis, Gordon's brother, on a similar charge, preferred to have the case heard by another magistrate and the remand was ordered to make that possible.

When the case was called to-day the Magistrate made an explanation in regard to an incident that had taken place at a previous hearing when W. J. A. Fair had complained of the fact that Hon. G. N. Gordon, acting as counsel, had put up part of the bail.

The Magistrate said he had not intended to reflect in any way upon Mr. Gordon when he had remarked that the practice fo counsel putting up bail bonds was objectionable to him. It was a general statement and not applicable in any way to Mr. Gordon, whose record as a counsel was well known.

Mr. Gordon, who is acting for Gordon Ellis, said that the crown had asked for two securities the other morning and he had supplied one of them as a gesture of assistance.

B.C. Indians Honor Sasquatches Legendary Hill Giants

None Ever Seen By White Men But Creature Are Real To Natives

HARRISON HOT SPRINGS, B.C., May 23 (C.P.). — Hundreds of Indians will gather here to-day and to-morrow for a celebration named after the legendary Sasquatches, hairy creatures whom Indians say roam the high hills of this district 80 miles east of Vancouver.

Sasquatch Days is the name given to the festival, but just what the Sasquatches are nobody knows. No white man has seen them and only a few Indians claim an actual visitation.

But the hairy giants are a reality in the Indian mind. Mothers warn their babies to behave with the admonition: "The Sasquatches will get you."

Legend has it the Sasquatches did get one Indian woman, and carried her off to the hills. When she came back she told all who would listen that the Sasquatches possessed the power of showing her the Indian village where she had lived, even though it was miles away.

The Indians will gather from reservations in the coast district of British Columbia and the State of Washington. There will be parades, riding exhibitions, and war canoe races on Harrison Lake.

A. Wells Gray, British Columbia Minister of Lands, will be made an Indian Chieftain by the Chehalis Tribe of Harrison district. His native name will be Siam Chee'quets Sasquatch—"Chief of the Big Timbers."

MAY 24TH DRIVE SAFELY!

Last year the holiday traffic on our streets and highways ran up a terrible toll of seven killed and 215 injured in 145 accidents! We must not have a repetition this year.

One thoughtless move on your part may bring tragedy into your own or somebody else's home. Before you take the wheel, therefore, resolve to use the utmost care on the highway, and to observe every traffic rule.

—Drive at a safe speed at all times.

—Never pass another vehicle on a hill or curve, or any point where the view is obstructed.

—Do not park on the highway.

—Signal the car behind you in plenty of time before you turn.

—Observe all road signs and signals.

—See that your car is in safe driving condition.

In the name of humanity drive safely on this, the first holiday of summer. Help make the highways safe for yourself and others.

If you drink, don't drive

The hand of the law is dealing severely with drunken drivers. The maximum penalty for driving while drunk is three months' imprisonment. If you have taken even one drink, don't drive.

Not Very Smart

Possibly a good deal of evidence could be produced to show that Canadians are of average intelligence. We would rather resent the suggestion that we do not know how to carry on business; we have developed or adopted a method of doing things which seems to us right enough at times.

But there is always something coming to the surface to indicate that we do not know much. When the Rowell Commission opened its sessions in Fredericton, N.B., the operators of coal mines were on hand to state their case. In any country we take it that the existence of coal in the community would be looked upon as an asset. People would include it when counting up what they call the natural wealth of the place.

They have coal in New Brunswick but according to the statements made it is not possible to run the mines at a profit; in fact they operate at a loss. The suggestion is that the C. N. R. should purchase more coal in New Brunswick and less in Nova Scotia. And if a cure of that sort were applied it would mean taking the troubles of New Brunswick and shifting them over for the folk in Nova Scotia to worry about.

We admit we know little enough about the possibilities of coal mining in New Brunswick, but this much is apparent—there is coal there, and coal is something which is needed, and it was provided at no cost for the people of that territory. And yet our system of production and distribution applied to it results in a loss. Evidently there are a few things which we have not yet learned.

Driving A Locomotive

A reporter in Toronto asked eight men what they wanted to do when they were boys. Four of the eight, including Hon. H. J. Cody, president of the University of Toronto, said their ambition had been to be locomotive engineers But not one of the four became an engineer. And right there one encounters two truths, (1) that a great many lads have felt they would like to drive a big snorting railway engine, and (2) that many folk never do realize their boyhood ambitions.

We believe it is correct enough to say it would not be possible for the world with all its improved methods of production to make sufficient locomotives for all the boys who have wanted to operate them. And the bigger and more powerful and more imposing they make the locomotives the greater will be the desire of the boy to approach the stage where he will be big enough to lean on the cab window and make the thing go.

We can think of several drivers now retired who seldom miss a day going to the station at the time when their old train is arriving and departing. They admit frankly and with enthusiasm that there was and is something in it from which they never will be entirely separated. It was their life, thundering along over open dark spaces, often in the dark with the headlight picking out the track ahead; over switches, ever on the alert and knowing too that running schedule had to be maintained. They were part of a great moving system, a thing which lived and throbbed and played its full part in the nation's work of a day.

We recall too one engineer who during the period of eliminating steam engines on the less productive runs and replacing them with Diesels, was given the commission of operating one of those lighter and newer engines. He went ahead and did the work well, but he never liked it. His objection in his own words was "It's too much like running a street car."

Small wonder that four of eight men in Toronto should say that as boys they wanted to become locomotive engineers. If the average adult today were asked the same question we are certain there would be a great showing of hands indicating that the same desire had entered many a boy's head.

Courage Brother!

We may have a national and provincial and municipal and personal debt in Canada which is much too great for us to bear.

We may have a railway problem which staggers our best brains to find a solution.

We may have a problem of unemployment which does not yield to all our scientific plans for betterment, and which stubbornly refuses to adjust itself according to our schemes for remedial treatment.

But we own the whole territory extending clean right up to the Norh Pole. A line exended north from the Alaska-Yukon boundary is the western limit of our ownership and on the east a line drawn north from the west coast of Greenland performs similar service.

And we own all that!

Of course there is a great deal of ice and snow and water and such, but there is so much of it. Just how much no person seems to know. Hon. Mr. Crerar, Minister of Resources, made all that plain in the House of Commons. The one spot we don't own is Wrangell Island and that belongs to Russia.

So do not let our other problems press you down too hard or too far. If your expenses are running beyond your income, if business is dull, if you are out of a job, if you can't pay your rent, if you can't grow pigs for the market price—then start thinking you are part owner of all the land right straight through to the North Pole. Whether it's worth little, much or anything at all we are not quite sure. But walk forth unafraid for you are part owner of the whole thing.

Taking A Chance

A number of the boys who ride bicycles in this city have an ingenious method of getting by the red light at street intersections. When they find it is against them many decide not to stop. Instead they make a right turn which is allowed, and after going a few yards along the street they wheel across to the other side of the street, then make another right turn at the corner and away they go. They thus get around the red light and perhaps they save ten or fifteen seconds.

They may get away with it for a while. But they are not well advised to keep on doing it. At places where traffic is heavy the boys on wheels are taking chances which are not worth while, and by twisting around as they do they are not playing fair with the drivers of motor cars. Traffic lights are placed at corners for the guidance of traffic of all sorts and bicycles are included.

You Can't Beat The Races

Clarke Robinson, writing in the Christian Science Monitor, deals with horse racing and betting. His figures taken from known records show that in 1937 some $278,814,914 went into the parimutuel machines at race tracks in United States, and Mr. Robinson adds what is well known that this represents only a fraction of the total amount bet on horse races. Betting on the races is a widely distributed racket, and bookies operate in all manner of places where they are seldom disturbed. Mr. Robinson is certain that the 278 millions which went into the machines can be multiplied by 18 to produce something which actually comes close to the total of the actual cash bet on horse racing in United States in one year. And that would be over five billion dollars.

Clarke Robinson contends that the people who furnish the horses for the historic races, the jockeys who ride them, and the trainers are not in the betting fraternity. They are actually in the business of breeding horses and improving their strain. In many cases it has been the business of a family for several generations and all the family possesses is tied up in horses. These people ought to know all that can be known about the horses and their chances of winning; they should be and probably are well aware of the manner in which a certain horse will travel on a wet day or a fine day. They will have quite an adequate idea of which horse has been put in a race to see what he can do, as a sort of "try-out" and they will possess intimate knowledge of the jockeys. They know that certain of them are good with any horse on any track; know too that others are flightly and can't be depended on in a crisis to do the right thing. And yet possessed as they are of all this inside knowledge—very few of them ever wager a dollar on the outcome of a horse race.

Mr. Robinson, after eliminating those who know all that can be known about horses from the betting ring, proceeds with the business of finding out what sort of people put up their money, and comes to the conclusion that they are those who know little or nothing at all about what is going on at the tracks. He says the worst thing which can happen is for a person making his first bet to find he has picked a winner; such an individual is certain to come to the conclusion he can keep on doing the same thing. Mr. Robinson also asserts that people become addicts to the race track just as others become glued and fastened to the use of narcotics; that the weekly or monthly pay envelope often goes in a lump sum; that homes have been mortgaged and ruined, the funds of financial institutions have been raided by trusted employees—all with the expectation of winning back large sums which have been lost at the horse races. The average man who bets on the horse races knows next to nothing at all about horses or races, and the people who know the most bet nothing at all. Mr. Robinson's article carries the significant title "You Can't Beat the Races." And yet people in United States are putting up about five billion dollars a year to prove he is wrong—and discover he is right.

Could It Be Done?

Reading the discussion which took place at Ottawa when estimates for the Department of Agriculture were presented, it could be found where there were several opinions expressed regarding the increases for various services operated by the Dominion Experimental Farm. When an item of $32,238 came up and it was explained it represented increases in salaries there were farmer members who were inclined to say "Whoa" and pull on the lines. No one seemed to doubt the excellence of the work being done, but the point was made several times that the benefits of all this work were not reaching the farmers.

It may be the times in which we have been living have made it more difficult to try and make farmers believe that scientific methods are doing much for them, and the reason for such belief would be in the one fact—that farming is not as profitable today as it was a number of years ago. Price fluctuations have become more marked and uncertainty of the outcome has increased.

The suggestion was made at Ottawa that the policy of centralizing effort at experimental or model farms was not getting the results and experience well placed before the farmers. We dare say that not many of our farmers would pay visits to the farm at Ottawa to see what is going on there. They have to depend on bulletins, and that brings in the difference between showing a man and telling him, and in farming as in anything else it is much more convincing to show a man than to tell him.

We believe there is opportunity for either the Dominion or the Ontario Department of Agriculture to do something very practical in the way of demonstrating that scientific farming is superior to any other kind. We do not believe there is an agricultural county in the province which has not today its share of abandoned farms, mute evidence that the farmer in that spot quit cold because he could not succeed.

We would very much like to see one of our Agricultural Departments demonstrate what can be done with such property. The whole countryside would watch every move made in such a place. The soil could be tested today more effectively than during the time the farm was failing; the breed and known value of certain types of livestock is more definitely known today. There must be in the records and experience of our agricultural departments a store of information and practical knowledge which could put an abandoned farm back in the ranks of places where a man can make at least a living.

Such an experiment would have to be conducted within reasonable limits of commercial practice. That is, such a demonstration could not be carried on as though there were the resources of either the Province or the Dominion solidly behind it. It would have to be on a money scale and standard which would be within the reach of farmers in general otherswise it would not be practical. But if that demonstration could be given, and if scientific agriculture could show that it could rescue an abandoned farm and make it worth while we are certain the people would rise up and cheer for the department which engineered the work. To our mind that would be bringing scientific agriculture out of its big home and applying it where people could look and see and be benefited.

NOTE AND COMMENT

Speaking of the ages of various animals the Sault Star says it read of a donkey living 56 years and once heard of an editor who lived to be 96.

License plates are so much in demand in Ontario that 17,000 additional sets have been ordered. You got to have them even if they can't be read.

The attitude of Quebec toward the Rowell Commission may be a contribution to national unity but it must be admitted that if such is the case it is very thoroughly masked.

Western Liberals are leaving Ottawa to battle in Saskatchewan against the Social Credit invasion. The real danger there however is that the invaders may slip in while the two old parties are fighting each other.

Radio committee of the House of Commons has recommended that the increase in the cost of radio licenses should be reviewed. So far the public is concerned, "rescinded" would have been a better word.

On the sporting pages we noticed where Montreal secured 18 runs in one game, Newark was credited with 15, and a team in Cleveland also had 15 to its credit. It must have been baseball the teams were playing because that was the heading at the top of the column.

HOURS

(By A. R. K.)

¶ A farmer talked with me today, on working just eight hours a day, the notion struck him fine; he knew the hour when he'd begin, the only thing that bothered him, was getting through on time.

¶ I'm up at five or six he said, no longer I can stay in bed, I'm just a farming man; and though that's early in the day, the stock all starts to look my way, and wonders where I am.

¶ At noon I like to rest a bit, and after dinner snooze or sit, to keep from turning sour; a little rest like that will pay, I take it every working day, for just a half an hour.

¶ But when it gets on after two, my eight-hour day should be nigh through, and I should quit right there; I should go driving into town, or take a book and sit me down, and find my easy chair.

¶ But I have got to drive a team, I've got a pile of seed to clean, my work's not nearly done; I've got to mend a whiffletree, and clean some pests from out a tree, I haven't well begun.

¶ When I get through the chores at night, I know if I have reckoned right, and figured it two ways; I've got it firmly in my head, that since I got from out my bed—I've worked two eight-hour days.

Our Statesmen At Their Labors

POLITICAL GRASSHOPPERS

Entomology, $463,121.

Mr. PERLEY: A considerable annual expenditure is made under this item. I am not finding any fault with the work done by the department in an endeavour to control the infestation of grasshoppers, cutworms and so on. I think money spent in this connection is well spent. What proportion of this vote will be expended in Saskatchewan, and how many senior and junior entomologists will be located there? Perhaps the minister could give us some information as to the possibilities of infestation of cutworms and grasshoppers. There is a possibility that there will be an influx of political grasshoppers into Saskatchewan in the next two or three weeks, and I understand that these are more dangerous to the people than some of the bugs that have troubled us in previous years. I do not expect that the minister will give us the amount of money to be expended in controlling this latter grasshopper pest, because I realize that he may be one of the principal grasshoppers in that province. However, all jokes aside, I think that this is an important work being carried on under this branch.

TAKING THE CREDIT

Mr. GARDINER: I think the hon. member for York North (Mr. Mulock) is going to answer. I shall answer afterwards.

Mr SPENCE: I know something about it.

Mr. MULOCK: I am sorry if I said anything during my remarks which hurt the hon. member for Parkdale—

Mr. SPENCE: It will not hurt me a bit.

Mr. MULOCK: My understanding of the matter was that the government sent cheques directly to every person from whom they bought; but no doubt the minister will be able to make a statement on that point, and he will correct me if I am wrong.

Mr. SPENCE: Who put the price on? Did you? Why did you not engage someone who knew something about values and who could put a fair price on the articles?

Mr. MULOCK: I thought the hon. member was objecting to the government spending the money and using the dominion inspectors.

Mr. SPENCE: I am not criticizing the government for buying the stuff at Holland Landing, because it was a godsend that they did buy it. But you did not need to take so much credit for it—you and the hon. gentleman who represents York North in the local house. You took great care that the papers were full of it so that it would help you out. That kind of stuff is no good, politically.

Mr. GARDINER: The people in the Holland marsh area asked a price which they obtained, one which was a little lower than the prevailing price at the time.

Mr. SPENCE: It could be no lower than the prevailing price, because the stuff was worth nothing.

Mr. GARDINER: I quite agree that the stuff would have been worth practically nothing if the government had not taken that great surplus out of the Holland marsh and the district round about.

Mr. SPENCE: That is correct.

A BIG INDUSTRY

Mr. TUSTIN (Prince Edward and Lennox): What companies have the seed which has been purchased by the department, and in what part of the country have these experiments been carried on?

Mr. GARDINER: The department has the seed which has been purchased by the government, and is experimenting with it. The companies are purchasing seed and having it distributed among their customers.

Mr. TUSTIN: Is this experimentation being done by the department at the experimental farms?

Mr. GARDINER: Yes.

Mr. TUSTIN: It says here that the canners are carrying on under supervision of the department.

Mr. GARDINER: The canners are carrying it on jointly, with the seed they purchased, as the result of this experiment which has been arranged by the department.

Mr. TUSTIN: Could the minister give us any idea in what part of the country this experiment has been carried on?

Mr. GARDINER: It is altogether in Ontario. As a matter of fact it is starting this year.

Mr. TUSTIN: I am particularly interested in this item. The minister said a few minutes ago that more canned vegetables and fruits were grown and processed in three provinces, two in the eastern part of the country and one in the west. In the constituency which I have the honour to represent there are more vegetables processed than in any other part of the country. Last year the territory from Napanee, Ontario, on the east, to Peterborough on the west, produced approximately fifty per cent. of all the vegetables canned in Canada. Not only that, but approximately fifty per cent. of all the exports to foreign countries took place from that territory. There is an abundance of tomatoes grown and processed in those two counties which I represent, and I was deeply interested when I read this item that seed had been purchased. I thought that the department may have looked up the county of Prince Edward, which produces more tomatoes than any other county in Canada and has an ideal soil for their production. If this experiment is to be continued there should be a demonstration lot in that county in order that the canners in that part of the country may benefit by the production of this kind of tomato.

Editor Examiner:

Sir: May I through your paper express the disappointment we experienced Thursday. After going out of our way to Montreal, at Welcome we turned and drove to your town expecting to spend several days there. On arriving at your tourist park we found no attendant, no electric trailer facilities, no toilet open. After spending considerable time trying to locate the man in charge we decided to move out.

Now you have a fine park, and such things as trailer plugs, toilets, and especially a shower bath would go a long way to make your park popular—not the welcome we received. May I state your park could be cheaply wired with so many trees.

PREFERS TO LIVE

Editor Examiner:

Sir: May I have some lines in regards, partly, to the editorial that appeared in your paper, re the straw vote on war taken by the C. C. Y. M. of Peterborough. It was stated in the editorial that although people did not want war, a belligerent nation would not, in time of attack be prone to consider the opinions of the country of her attack. True. But who is the belligerent nation? Or nations?

An uncle of mine, having travelled extensively through Europe and Asia remarked while in Canada recently, that every country now preparing for war looks to and upon some other country as belligerent, or rather potentially so; yet at the same time each country claiming that it, itself, wants no war but must protect itself. Surely all countries are not all belligerents to be, and yet one-half of the world is arming to blow the other half to dust particles. Then who will win? One cannot realize gain from something destroyed. Who will lose? Germany after holding nations off for four years, after being bled white in men and money and lands, is now as advanced as any country—some claim better than most.

If the people do not want war then who does? Apparently wars are created by something other than their initiative. (When I say people I mean of course, the common people of my make—the workers, and all are workers but a few.) And wars must be created for some definite purpose; else why fight? a purpose nevertheless that has never been a great benefit to those who fight and win them, save the promise of bigger and better wars. So, are people going to go on not wanting wars but still getting them?

However, should they decide that they are not necessary then there will be nne, as Sweden has amptly proven. Sweden has had no wars for over a hundred years. Upon study it is found that fifty per cent of Sweden's resources are co-operatively owned by the people themselves and that goods are produced for the needs of the many rather than for profits for a few. It is found that Sweden does not foster trade hatred through unfair competition between and with other lands; in short it lives for itself and does not strive to exploit others. I found too, that Germany with her highly developed air forces could demolish Sweden in thirty-six hours. Surely Sweden with her pulp and paper industries, her mines and farms would be a valuable asset to any country. Why then has it not been attacked? Evading all economical facts which only help to confuse, the reason for her success lies in the fundamental desire of the Swedes to live and let live; because they came to the conclusion long years ago that wars would never settle anything of importance. It was the will of the people that decided the issue. Are we not as intelligent?

Referring to that paragraph where small pox was mentioned as being something wholly unwanted yet pox appears less frequently of late years, because we set about to discover remedies and found them, whereas had we adopted Eastern fatalism the threat would today be as great as ever. Westudied small pox. Allegorically speaking, shall we enter a land infested with small pox in order to devise means and ways of counteracting the germ? When one is fevered and ill there is little hope for intelligent progress.

Before long we are going to be asked to lay down our lives for 'Big Business' who must find more markets for its choked storehouses. Are we prepared to die for that and to know that twenty years hence the same question will be put to our children? Do we all understand the issues at stake? We can produce yearly in Canada sufficient for fifty-two millions, yet, now we have one and three quarter million starving for life's necessities. We have solved the question of production for all time. We can now, if we wish, really understand what a wonderful world this could be made into with a little calm thought. Then why war? Let those who wish to fight, fight. But in all fairness to themselves they should at least know why and what they will die for; it might be of some consolation to them. Personally I have no wish to die for Canada. I want to live for my country and tell the world what a swell place it is.

Sincerely,
ALEX SJOBERG.

PARLIAMENT TO DECIDE

Editor Examiner:

Sir: Two bills of vital importance to the Canadian public have been introduced in the House of Commons at Ottawa by C. Grant MacNeil, the C. C. F. representative from Vancouver North. They are amendments to the Militia Act and the Naval Service Act.

At present the command of the Canadian troops, even to the point of virtual conscription of Canadian manhood, is exercised outside the Dominion of Canada by His Majesty without reference to the Canadian gvernment or parliament. In effect this means that the Chamberlain government of Great Britain may send Canadian young men to war. Under the present act in the event of war we are not a self governing country. These two amendments, known as Bills 83 and 84, if adopted would bring our war-time status into conformity with the self governing rights of Canada as recognized by the Imperial Conference of 1926 and the Statute of Westminister of 1931. They will place command of our armed forces in the government of the Dominion of Canada.

The present act permits the conscription of all male inhabitants of Canada between the ages of 18 and 60 years without even seeking the advice of the elected Canadian government. This section of the act perpetuates, even in peace time, the worst features of the Military Service Act of 1917, better known as the Conscription Act. The amendment to this section provides no inhabitants of Canada may be enscripted until Parliament has passed an act authorizing such compulsary military Service. Under the present act Canadian troops may be sent overseas beyond defending the borders of Canada, without so much as a reference to The Canadian Parliament. The amendments provide that the Canadian cabinet may place the militia on active service in Canada provided that Parliament is convened within fifteen days. The important point about the amendment, however is that no expeditionary force may be sent overseas without a decision by Parliament.

The present act permits the appointment of a senior General of the British regular army in command of Canadian troops without reference to the Cnadian cabinet or parliament. This leaves control of the Canadian Militia absolutely outside the power of the elected representatives of the Canadian people. The amendments propose to repeal this section and put the control where it rightfully belongs—with the parliament elected by the Canadian people. Under the present Naval Service Act the Canadian Navy may without reference to the Canadian Parliament be placed at the disposal and command of the Royal Navy. The amendments repeal this section of the Naval Service Act in order that parliamentary sanction must be obtained for any such decision.

The passing of Bills 83 and 84 is essential to the self government status of the Dominion of Canada. They are of vital importance to Canadian youth. They must be passed by Parliament—and they must be passed immediately—during the present session of the House. The Liberal Government must live up to its word by passing this legislation so that it will not alone be a minister's word that "Parliament will decide!"

KNOCKED OUT IN TIME.

(Woodstock Sentinel-Review)

JAMES J. BRADDOCK, former heavyweight boxing champion of the United States, is in the restaurant business in New York. It is reported that the receipts for the first week were $12,000, while $3,000 would take care of the overhead. If Mr. Braddock's accounting system is dependable, the conclusion would be that James netted a profit of $9,000 in the opening week. He must have a suspicion, because of these fortuitous events, that he was a lucky man to be knocked out at the fight business.

There are a number of reasons why those who know anything of Braddock's record will be pleased that he is getting along so well in business, but the most appealing is that he showed a commendable streak of honesty and gratitude when, after winning the world's heavyweight championship, he paid back to the government of the United States a considerable sum of money that had been given him while he was unable to find employment. The circumstances suggests that Mr. Braddock possesses admirable traits of character and most people are pleased when such an individual succeeds in life.

A Bible Message For Today . . . .

AND WHEN JESUS was entered into Capernaum, there came unto him a centurion, beseeching him, and saying, Lord, my servant lieth at home sick of the palsy, grievously tormented.

And Jesus said unto him, I will come and heal him.

The centurion answered and said, Lord, I am not worthy that thou shouldst come under my roof: but speak the word only, and my servant shall be healed. . . .

And Jesus said unto the centurion, Go thy way; and as thou hast believed, so be it done unto thee. And his servant was healed in the self-same hour.

And when Jesus was come into Peter's house, he saw his wife's mother laid, and sick of a fever. And he touched her hand, and the fever left her: and she arose, and ministered unto them.

When the even was come, they brought unto him many that were possessed with devils: and he cast out the spirits with his word, and healed all that were sick: that it might be fulfilled which was spoken by Esaias the prophet, saying, Himself took our infirmities, and bare our sickness.—Matt. viii, 5-8, 13-17.

PURCHASING AGENT.

(J. C. K., in Marketing)

A CANADIAN — from Nova Scotia —who was the representative of a printers' ink firm in Britain, told me of his interview with Lord Beaverbrook. My friend Young had obtained a letter of introduction to Lord Beaverbrook from a man to whom L. B. was once heavily indebted for benefits received. He wrote to Lord Beaverbrook asking for an appointment. Back came a letter from L. B.'s secretary asking that the letter of introduction beforwarded. Then came another letter saying that L. B. would see Young at an appointed time. Young started in with talk that had nothing to do with the object of his visit—which was to try to get the Daily Express to use Young's printing ink. Lord Beaverbrook sat in his easy chair as mute as a rock. Young became irritated by his chilling and inhuman silence, and then blurted out why he had called. Lord Beaverbrook reached for his dictaphone and said, "Mr. Smith, see Mr. Young about printing ink." Then he rose, and dismissed Young with a hand-shake, but from first to last he never spoke a word to Young!

Young learned that ennobled proprietors of newspapers are not purchasing agents.

MAN OF ONE LOVE.

(Mrs. Gadabout, in Glasgow Bulletin)

THE RUMOR that Herr, Hitler was to marry the Hon. Unity Mitford scarcely needed the denial of the lady's father, Lord Redesdale, to assure us that there was no foundation for it. However powerful the Fuehrer is, it is to the last degree unlikely that he would venture on marriage with one not of German origin. It has also been understood that he was already loved once and has declared that for him there can be no second love. The lady on whom the dictator centred his affection was, as it happened, British born. She was Winifred, widow of Siegfried Wagner, son of the great composer; but she chose another bridegroom than Herr Hitler.

KING ZOG'S THRONE.

(Glasgow Bulletin)

KING ZOG of Albania holds a position that might have been killed, had they wished, by some eminent Britons. The late Lord Headley, who was a Mohammedian stated that the throne of Albania was offered him no fewer than three times, but he refused it because there was no guarantee of a salary sufficient to maintain the position. Sir Charles Edward Watkin Hamilton, also a convert to Islam, once received, and refused, a similar offer, and in 1921 the first Earl of Inchcape was approached by a powerful group of Albanians with an offer of the crown. "Thrones," said Lord Inchcape, "are not in my line."

PETER B. BIGGINS GIVES LECTURE ON CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

Peter B. Biggins, C.S.B., of Seattle, Washington, and a member of the Board of Lectureship of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts, gave a lecture to a large audience in the Capitol Theatre on Sunday afternoon. The speaker's subject was "Christian Science: True Science Meeting Modern Needs." Mrs. A. B. Rhodes introduced the speaker.

"One of the important lessons which we learn from the life and work of Jesus the Christ is the blessing of the realization that God is ever present. This consciousness of God's ever-presence does indeed meet our needs. We have heard this assurance given many times. Until we learned the lessons of Christian Science, however, many of us have not been able to make this practically available. In Christian Science we find that God is good; not merely that God expresses the quality of goodness, but that He Himself is infinite good. The practical value of this lies in the fact that, as we realize the nearness of God, we are enjoying the presence of good. Every problem, every difficulty, which we seem to have, implies a belief in the absence of some phase of good. Thus the realization of the presence of God, infinite good, brings the solution of our every problem. How comforting it is to know that everyone without exception may enjoy the sweet consciousness of God's presence! All may prove the truth of what the Psalmist proclaimed, when he sang 'In thy presence is fulness of joy," said Mr. Biggins.

Basis of Healing Simple

"The basis of the healing work of Christian Science is so simple that some may have overlooked its vital importance. It is discerned by those who are humble in heart. This basis is an understanding of God's power, presence, and allness; the realization that man is Gods likeness; the ability to lay hold, mentally, of the desired spiritual good, and to appropriate it, thus bringing it into demonstration. This method is fully described in the Christian Science text book," he asserted.

"Mrs. Eddy caught a glimpse of the harmony to which Christ Jesus referred, when, in the prayer which he gave to his disciples and to all humanity in his Sermon on the Mount, he addresed God in these terms 'Our Father which art in heaven.' She saw the vital significance of this great prayer, and in her matchless spiritual interpretation of it, she thus explains its opening words, "Our Father-Mother God, all-harmonious" (Science and Health, p. 16). In this fact of the all-harmonious nature of God, the one divine Mind, we find our true starting point.

"God sees His children as they really are, perfect, spiritual, harmonious, expressing the beauty, health, strength, grandeur, and perfection of the divine Mind. It is your sacred privilege, my dear friends, and mine, to see ourselves as God sees us, to 'know as we are known.' In this fact of perfect being, we find the solution of our every problem, the supply for every need. Has your problem appeared to be hard to solve? Take fresh courage, and press on. Study "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mrs. Eddy, with a humble heart, with renewed resolve, listening for the voice of God. So doing, you cannot fail to find the blessing which you seek, and which is yours for the asking. It has done this for thousands. It will do this, and more, for you."

With The Boy Scouts

The District Boy Scout jamboree will be held in Lindsay this year on the 24th (tomorrow).

A full turnout of the scouts from various centres is expected to be on hand to give a welcome to the new president of the Boy Scouts' Association, Provincial Council for Ontario, Col. Sir George McLaren Brown, K.B.E., Hamilton.

Sir George was European manager for the Canadian Pacific Railways and Director-General to Minister of Transport in England during the World War.

It is expected that a reception will be held in the Benson House about noon, and we would urge that the members of the local association and troop committee will do their best to be on hand for this occasion.

At the last executive meeting it was suggested that a scout library would be formed for the leaders at present, and along these lines the association would ask all officers who have books belonging to the association to report same to the Skipper, phone 3067. It is hoped that in the early Fall a list of books will be compiled for the library for the benefit of all leaders who are really interested in the movement.

At a very fitting ceremony Jimmie Smith was invested into the great brotherhood of scouting when he took his Cub's promise before Akela Brooks of the All Saints' pack. Bob Adams and Alan Paterson passed their leap frog, while Jackie Chambers proved his ability at ball throwing. Instruction courses for the cub leaders are being held at Akela's every Monday night. On Sunday a very successful church parade was held, with nearly 100% attendance of both pack and troop at divine service. After church, District Commissioner J. T. Hornsby and Rev. Canon Robertson addressed the boys at a meeting on the lawn beside the church. Many pictures of both pack and troop were taken.

At St. John's on Friday, R. Braund, G. Duck, W. Smith and A. Harte-Maxwell passed their second class 1st aid, whilst Harris Glen completed his knot tying. A. Hooper was accepted into the troop from the cub pack during a ceremony which will be in his memories for years to come.

The All Saints troop are putting in a lot of practice for the jamboree in hopes of carrying off the Beal Trophy and pennant. Heres wishing them! Roy Williamson, Orville Cullen, Bill Kempt, Bern. Rose, Frank Stewart, Ted Smith and Lew Wall passed their laundrymans badge under the guidance of Mesdames Kearns and Carpenter, whilst Roy Williamson also passed his engineer's badge.

During the troop meeting A.D.C. Ernie Wolfe visited the troop with Les Bruton, Guy Miles and Norbert Begley, scout officers from Lindsay, who spoke briefly on the coming jamboree.

To-night, Monday, the Mothers' Auxiliary are holding a euchre party at the home of Mrs. Watkins, 11 Park street, to assist the transportation problem of tomorrow.

At a Court of Honor meeting on Wednesday, the scouts co-operated with the church warden's, drawing up a constitution governing matters concerning both church and scout group and other important items.

Frank Chapman, Armand Carter and James Blaiklock were invested as tenderpads into the scout movement through the medium of St. John's cub pack by Akela Frank Pammett.

Akela Lawless, Miss A. Laing, accompanied with five cubs from St. Luke's, and Akela Whalen of St. Andrew's, were visitors to the pack during the evening.

The St. John's Cubs are asked to meet at 2 p.m. tomorrow (Tuesday) in the Central school playgrounds, when the ball teams will be chosen and a ball game played.

St. John's Mothers' Auxiliary will meet in the parish hall at 3 p.m. on Friday next, May 27.

The Akelas' Cub course will be held as usual on Wednesday night, May 25, at the headquarters.

You have been warned!—Don't stand abount in the wet grass with your boots soaked when in camp. Keep on the move. Running barefooted will do you no harm.—The Skipper.

FIRST WIFE SPEAKS UP

T. A. McDONALD DIES SUDDENLY

Seized with a heart attack while downtown on Saturady afternoon, Thomas Arthur McDonald, 415 Dublin street, died suddenly in his 43rd year.

Employed by the Bell Telephone Company for the past 26 years, he came to this city eight years ago, from Port Hope, and was employed with the company as a "Central Office" man.

Mr. McDonald was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. James A. McDonald of North Bay, Ontario, and was born at Eau Claire, Ontario. He was a member of the A. F. & A.M. at North Bay, and a member of the Bell Telephone Pioneers, an organization of employees who have served the company for twenty-one years or more.

Surviving are his sorrowing wife, one son John, aged 14 years; one daughter, Jean, aged 11 years; two brothers, Dawson McDonald of Levick, Ontario, Wilfred (Bob) McDonald of Capreol, Ontario; and two sisters, Mrs. George Neilson of Sudbury and Mrs. S. Moffat of London, Ontario.

The remains rested at the D. Belleghem and Sons Funeral Home until Sunday evening. The funeral took place Monday afternoon from All Saints' church at 3 p.m., to the C.P.R. station, for interment at North Bay. Rev. Canon J. D. Paterson of All Saints church, was assisted by Rev. Dr. A. T. Barr of St. Paul's Presbyterian church and Rev. Dr. E. W. Young of St. Andrew's United church at the service.

TAG DAY FOR BLIND BE HELD SATURDAY

In Canada's school without a schoolroom, the four hundred and forty-two pupils range in age from five to eighty-five years. None of them are very rich; most of them are quite poor. Some of them are bed-ridden; some are married; some are bright; some are abnormally dull; some of them live in city slums; some are sad. They have this in common, their eyes are of no assistance to them in their studies. The students in this sightless university are working for no academic degree, but are endeavoring to learn something that will not only occupy their time during lonely hours, but will enable them to make a few very necessary dollars. They learn how to make baskets; how to make articles of leather; how to make nets of all kinds; how to knit; how to cook; and how to read books and magazines which are not printed in ink. Last year the sixteen home-teachers of The Canadian National Institute for the Blind gave many thousands of lessons to over four hundred and sixty blind persons in their own homes.

Part of the money raised in Peterborough during the Tag Day on May 28 is used to defray the expenses of the home teachers who carry on this important part of the Institute's work in Peterborough.

Blind men and women are taught various handicrafts by the home-teachers of the Institute and the baskets, mats and knitted goods which they make at their own homes are sold locally by the workers themselves or marketed through the Institute organization. In cities and towns blind persons are given the privilege of free transportation on the street-railways and in many places they are admitted free to moving-picture theatres. A special rate is given them by the railways. They are not required to pay the Dominion radio license. Appliances used by them, such as typewriters, Braille watches, Braille writing machines, etc. are sold to them at cost through the Institute. Very substantial discounts on the retail prices of radio receiving sets and parts are available to blind persons who apply through the Institute.

The facilities of the Braille Library, which has some twenty-one thousand volumes of embossed literature on its shelves. are available to blind readers. The main library is situated in Toronto and there is a smaller one in Winnipeg. Books are carried postage free.

The wide-spread activities of the C. N. I. B. are made possible by the co-operation of public bodies and by the support of the public at large. The extent to which the lives of the blind citizens of Canada can be made normal, useful and happy depends upon the measure of support given The Canadian National Institute for the Blind by sighted Canadians who realize the tremendous problems which those deprived of their sight are called upon to face.

Couple Start 72nd Year Of Marriage Happy With Good Family

Vancouver, May 23 (CP)

MR. AND Mrs. Henry Cranswick began their 72nd year of married life today, cheered by the good wishes of their children, grandchildren, great-grandchildren and friends who dropped in to see them on their anniversary.

Mrs. Cranswick, 96 years old, pointed to pictures of three sons and only daughter hanging on the wall. "They're good children, all of them," she said. "They never forget us."

Mr. and Mrs. Cranswick live here with their daughter, Mrs. Earl Young. Their eldest son, William Henry, is a "young monkey" of 70 who lives in Hull, Yorkshire. Two others, Harry and Percy, live in Vancouver, and the fourth, Arthur, lives on a farm north of Brandon, Man.

There was no anniversary cake, and no fuss of any kind. "Mother doesn't like people around as much as she did." said Mrs. Young.

Mr. Cranswick is 93, "good steady lads, I never have much trouble with them," he said.

12 MILLION CASES SYPHILIS IN U.S.

DETROIT, May 23—(CP). — The trend of incidence of venereal disease in recent years in the United States has been upward, with this country and Mexico far behind other countries of the Western world in the control of syphilis, according to Dr. L. Merrill Henikoff, Chicago, speaker at the annual meeting of the Homeopathic Medical Society of Michigan.

"The situation has aroused the medical profession and public health agencies, and during the last year there has been a great increase in scientific study, linked with public education on the subject," Dr. Henikoff said.

"The profession and the public must face the fact that there are in the United States today not less than 12,000,000 cases of syphilis, with 500,000 new cases appearing each year. Control of syphilis is a greater problem in the United States than anywhere else in the world, because of our traditional prejudice against open talk and action against the disease," he added.

"Fortunately the taboo barriers are down now, and there is a united public and professional effort to stamp out the disease that keeps 683,000 constantly under treatment, and takes an annual death toll of not less than 100,000 in this country."

Dr. Henikoff is president of the Chicago Homeopathic Medical Society, and editor of the journal of the society.

Let's sweep out the last DARK CORNERS!

The present control law of Ontario is a sound law because it is founded not on restraint but on reason! Because it assumes rather than denies the citizen's control of himself!

To date it has made a great progress. Yet for the good of the Province, moderation must completely replace excess. True temperance assures liberty while it avoids excess.

Let's keep the principles clear:

Control differs from prohibition in two important points . . . It allows each citizen the greatest individual liberty of choice, while preventing him from interfering with the liberty of others!

And because it respects his liberty it can count on his co-operation!

The Industry therefore sincerely urges every open-minded citizen to join in helping the Government clean up such abuses as still exist. Assure your own freedom of choice by discouraging those of your friends who try to turn liberty into excess!

"We need not be the keeper of our neighbor's conscience but we must always be the guardians of his liberty."

Digging Up the Local Dirt With the Odd Chuckle or Two

By CEC PERDUE

DIAMOND DRAMA will be unfolded here tomorrow afternoon, if the weather is oke, when Oshawa GM-men tangle with the Petes at three in Riverside Park to open the 1938 C.O.B.L. schedule. The traditional opening ceremony will be staged at 2.45 o'clock by prominent civic and sports officials and then Umpires Ken Colling and Don Thomas of Belleville will shoo the players into action. Ought to be a huge holiday crowd out to see the start of summer baseball. Must have been nearly 200 railbirds over at the practice Saturday, and a fine workout it was. Plenty of batting practice against Len Hollingsworth and Joe Jakafby—southpaw and righthander—to prepare for Biddle or Turner, as the case may be. And a real snappy infield drill. Besides the fungo hitting to the gardeners.

* * * * * *

THOSE ON HAND for the infield exercises Saturday all agreed that this Bob Doll just rounded out the inner circle perfectly. He has lots of ginger and is one smooth worker. Covers ground, scoops 'em up easily and pegs like a professional. Al Clark looks as smooth as velvet on short, too. While Eddie Murphy was in his old form at second. Bun Kingdon arrived later and will fit in fine at second to start the season, being a classy performer on ground balls. And Cliff Cadd is looking better all the time at first and will do okay. Burton, Deadey and Kearns will cover the outfield as it should be handled. Kitchen may get the starting hurling assignment, but it's not definitely decided yet. If Doll can't play third, Whatley will fill in and Mowry will catch. Otherwise Cy will do the receiving.

* * * * * *

OUGHT to know sometime today if the O.B.A. will grant the Petes permission to use Doll for May 24th. Several of 'em have been contacted and seemed favorable, but we haven't heard so far if this permission has been granted—with Doll's transfer being considered a little later. As Secretary Jim Dorris pointed out in his request to the O.B.A., the Petes need this player badly since Calladine and Starr retired. We are in a real strong loop with Oshawa and Kingston and can't afford to drop games at the start. Murphy will miss the first couple of contests, too. It'd be mighty nice to start the season off at home with a victory over the 1937 league champions, what?

* * * * * *

WHEN we mentioned diamond drama at the start of this column, we meant just that. Something about baseball, unlike other sports, that lends itself to drama. Probably because it doesn't feature speed or bodily contact as in hockey, rugby or lacrosse. It is a case of skill and smart thinking mostly. And fans can sit back comfortably outdoors on a warm day and see the whole baseball plot unfolded before them by the uniformed actors out there on the green sward. They can see traps carefully laid with or without success, nine men trying to outguess one batter and his coaches, a runner trying to outmanoeuver a pitcher and his aides, one mistake being awfully costly or one sensational play changing the entire complexion of the contest. You can shut your eyes and follow the game by ear. The smack of the ball into the catcher's mitt, the ump's call, the crack of the bat, the roar of the crowd being suddenly choked off or turning to a groan. Just try it sometime.

* * * * * *

AND SO ladeeeez and gents, this drama with all its tense spots and comic relief is brought to you tomorrow afternoon at the small sum of two bits a head. The champion Oshawa outfit and the local heroes. New faces and old reliables. Two gangs of husky athletes attired in white uniforms, a smooth green diamond marked with chalk, two natty and all-powerful umpires in blue serge suits with bow-ties. And a noisy crowd on a holiday afternoon in May. That is the setting for the baseball opener here tomorrow.

* * * * * *

KINGSTON PONIES have an exhibition game at home tomorrow when they tackle Hull Volants. For the next week or so, the Ponies have to get by without Paczkowski and a couple more U.S. collitch players—still going to school in N'Yawk. They have lost Mickey Compeau and Jimmy Arneil to the intermediate Locos, but have added Handford and Wilson of Napanee and McIntyre from Carleton Place. Team tomorrow will likely line up like this: Jamieson, p; Corkey, c; McIntyre, 1b; Scrutton, 2b; Handford, ss; Elliott, 3b; Webber, lf; McQuaide, cf; Bennett, rf. With extras being Wilson, Boneham and White. Probably the other imports from Uncle Sam's section will include a hurler or two and a catcher. Coach Bob Elliott—with Joe Daley no doubt lurking around behind an advisory title—will have another powerful edition of Ponies this semester.

LET'S SEE how the softball season is shaping up this week here. Men's City League is to open at the Bowl this Thursday and part of the schedule is in tonight. At 6.30 Motorists and Westclox will pry off the lid. Girls' schedule at the Bowl commences this Wednesday, the day after the holiday, with C.G.E. and Westclox clashing at 6.15 o'clock. As both these city rivals are stronger than last year, it ought to be a hotcha opening number. Lindsay and Keene meet at the Bowl on Friday, while Westclox journey to Keene on May 30th. Lindsay scribe says the Supremes will have to tighten up on their fielding, but should hold their own with the other squads of femmes in this circuit. No doubt they will.

* * * * * *

MANAGER FRANK RANDLE of the local lacrossers calls practices for tonight at six and Wednesday eve at eight, players to wear their warring pads. They will be readying up for an exhibition match at the George St. arena this Friday 'gainst the Brampton intermediates. Surely to the ornery and very rare seven-toed squill picker—a distant relative to the squab snubber—the gutted-stick crew will hear something soon of a grouping for the summer. By the way, some three dozen sticks will be sold at a fraction of their true cost to local lads, the minors, by the club officers—starting tonight at 6.30 at the practice session.

Smart Money Favors Admiral To Finish Ahead Of Biscuit

Turf Followers Compare Pair To Tunney And Dempsey Fistic Battles

NEW YORK, May 23—(AP)—One of the most remarkable things about this Ward Admiral-Seabiscuit $100,000 match race at Belmont Park next Monday is the way all the elements piece together to make it a natural clashing of opposites.

The more fanciful are comparing the two equine antagonists to Jack Dempsey and Gene Tunney, though it seems a little tough on the Admiral to cast him in the Dempsey role before he has swung such a punch. Generally speaking, though, there is a similarity, and even the rival jockeys fit into the picture.

War Admiral is a spirited, high-strung hunk of horseflesh who likes to come out swinging and get it over with. Seabiscuit doesn't work himself into a lather about any horse race. He feels the important thing is to have his nose in front at the finish.

That the Biscuit's nose hasn't been quite long enough on several important occasions is not fault of his reasoning. A number of busybodies, like Harry Greb, climbed all over Gene Tunney at one time or another, but he got his handsome proboscis under the wire first on each occasion that he sampled Dempsey's early foot.

Favor War Admiral

This is not to predict that the Biscuit next Monday will mastermind War Admiral out of the big purse, because the smart money now is around 8 to 5 that Man o'War's handsome son will come winging home in the lead. But it's an idea of the two oat-eater intellects.

Charley Kurtsinger, who will ride the Admiral, is a lot like his famous steed. He's a chatty, cocksure little guy who is busy every second when his horse starts running, though he never has laid a whip on War Admiral more than a couple of times.

"Sure. I'm going to jump right out in front and keep going," he says, confidently, "because I know War Admiral can outrun any horse on the track today. I hope Seabiscuit makes it close, though."

Red Pollard of Edmonton is different. He's tall for a jockey, towering nearly a head above Kurtsinger, and he's as quiet and contained as Seabiscuit. All he could think of to say at a recent conclave of the sound movies was, "I hope we win."

Lawn Bowling

By HERB MARTIN

On this the eve of the day that all summer sports are declared officially opened, may we on behalf of the lawn bowling club, extend to other organizations, the hope that this season may be chucked full of good, honest and clean sport and those who have the honor to belong to these clubs will have gained in courage, faith and patience...As far as our club is concerned, the games are called for 1:30 p.m.; it is wide open to everybody, no fees and activities in the afternoon only. Come along and bring a friend.

There has been reason for grief in lawn bowling circles within the past 48 hours The sudden death of Thomas McDonald and the tragic death of Jimmy Murphy, brother of Miss Eleanor Murphy, one of our lady bowlers...The late Mr. McDonald came from Port Hope about eight years ago and became affiliated with our club, the next year Mrs. McDonald joined and both have been active members ever since. Tommy belonged to the younger set of skips and only last year he successfully skipped his rink to win his group in the schedule. He was a gentleman on and off the green, popular with his fellow bowlers and a real member of our club.

While Jimmy Murphy was not a member of our club, his sister, Miss Eleanor Murphy was one of our best known lady bowlers and his tragic death comes right home to our club.

Canadian Passes First Round With 5 And 3 Victory Over Geo. Illingworth Of England

Driving Rain Fails To Spoil Winning Shots Of London Golfer

TROON, Scotland, May 23.—(CP)—Sandy Somerville carried Canada's challenge for the British Amateur golf championship successfully through the first round today by defeating Geoffrey Illingworth of Woking, England, 5 and 3 in a driving rain.

The many-times Canadian titleholder from London, Ont., defied the wild Scottish weather in a rubber suit and beat down Illingworth's resistance with a steady iron play. Long, low iron shots that overcame the wind, changing capriciously and blowing rain in every direction, clinched the Canadian veteran's victory.

He turned two up and snuffed out the match with a bogey five on the 443-yard 15th. He gained his margin at the turn by taking the fifth and sixth when Illingworth explored the sand and three-putted. He picked up another at the 11th and a bogey five was good enough for the 13th.

The match started uncertainly. On the first hole Illingworth sliced a shot to the rough and conceded. From the next tee Somerville hooked into a yawning bunker and finally conceded, to square the match.

After the lone Canadian in the big field had taken the fifth and sixth, both got birdies on the 456-yard ninth. Sandy started back with four straight par fours. The Englishman drove into whins—or gorse pat hes—on the 13th and 15th.

Their cards

Par, out	444	435	435	—36
Somerville	4x5	435	444
Illingworth	x45	446	444
Par, in	444	434	534	—35—71
Somerville	444	535
Illingworth	454	636

First of the favorites to have a tough match, Gordon Peters, top-ranking Scottish and British Walker Cupper, squandered a two-hold lead and had to sink a 10-footer for a birdie on the 18th to beat A. S. Anderson, one up.

K. B. Scott beat A. H. Bloomer 2 and 1, while M. J. Ryan of Australia beat P. B. Lucas, former British Walker Cupper, two up.

A. E. L. Mackenzie-Grieve of England won on the 20th hole from Bobby Dunkelberger of the United States.

The second American to go out was Arthur V. Rogers, Jr., of Winchester, Mass., who lost to H. N. M. Fogg, three and two. A second-year student at Oxford playing from a French Club, Rogers got away to a bad start and struggled without success the rest of the way.

Golf Notes

PETERBOROUGH GOLF CLUB.

Saturday's sweep saw another large field of golfers face the starter. The competition was a sealed holes affair. Nine holes are picked from the full 18 holes, the players score on the 9 sealed holes less half his handicap to count. Lowest first three nets are prize-winners.

First place this week was captured by Stan Payne, who toured the sealed 9 holes in 40-5—36, R. Abbott finished right on Stan's heels with a 39-3—36 for the second place. Tom Holyman again finished third with 44-7—37.

There will be a sweep on Tuesday, May 24. Other scores in Saturday's sweep were:

W. B. Gordon 39, R. E. Cutting 40, C. V. Elliot 41, G. J. Monaghan 41, H. T. Cranford 42, C. B. Westbrooke 42, Eric Westbye 42, J. E. Esson 43, M. Shaver 44, W. R. Thompson 44, W. Widdess 44, C. H. Ackerman 44, D. T. Diplock 44, J. H. Vernor 45, J. Wharry 46, G. Maniece 48, M. G. Hardill 39, T. T. Gentles 40.

OTTAWA CRICKET MATCH CALLED OFF

As the county match scheduled to be played against Carlton Co. at Ottawa on May 24 (Tuesday) will not take place, Peterborough and Whitaker's have arranged to play the first of their local "derbys" at the Oval on that date. The teams seem equally matched and it should produce a good match. Local enthusiasts please note—play to start at two o'clock.

As to the County match a word of explanation is called for. Not until Friday, May 20, did the local executive receive any notification and that was sent to the secretary of three years ago. On Friday night it was decided that the long trip to Ottawa was impossible and the Carlton County secretary was notified by telegram to that effect on that night. The shortness of the notice, with local limited resources and the six or seven hour road trip rendered it impossible to get together a team to make the journey and the Carlton County Secretary has been notified by letter to that effect. The logical plan would have been, as in all previous years for Peterborough and Ontario County to meet either here or in Oshawa but the authorities to Toronto thought fit to send Ontario to Hamilton and Peterborough to Ottawa. Of the last five matches played in this County series, Peterborough have only had one home game.

Golf Facts

Business of Winning

The prospects of the various golf stars were discussed recently by a group of national known sports writers. The consensus of opinion seemed to be that only a few of the leading players had any chance of winning the big prizes. But, when one of these critics made a statement, he invariably qualified it with another to the effect that luck and many other things helped to determine the winner.

The latter is particularly true where the players are more or less evenly matched. For example, Picard, Cooper, Revolta, Thompson and one or two others can be counted on to be among the first three in any open event. The one to collect the big purse is the one who is on his game and getting the breaks. Outside of luck, the things which determine whether or not a player will score well have to do with his swing and more particularly with his mental state on the occasion.

Very often one of these players will suffer from worry over things away from the course, then again he may be stymied by some distraction about the playing of the tournament. It is not easy to learn just what the cause is for some of a player's mental states. At times it is impossible for the player himself to know what is handicapping him but no matter what the cause, the results are just as influential, they show quite plainly in every performance. If you are trying to pick a winner select a happy one.

Authorities in Turkey, Syria, Iraq and Iran are being urged to construct a motor road to India.

NEW YORK, May 23.—(AP)—Ivy Goodman, leading the home-run derby with 10 payoff pokes, has hit one or more in five parks already this year...

Story going around here has the boys chuckling...Seems when the Yankees played their first series at Philly, Earl Mack got to talking to Joe McCarthy, said things were pretty fair, and that Dario Lodgiani was a whiz around second base...Couple of weeks later, the Athletics came to the stadium, McCarthy shook hands with Earl, and asked, "How're things going"..."They're okay," says Earl, "except we've got an awful big hole around second base."

The tip is out that Sunny Jim Bottomley quit his manager's job at Syracuse over do-re-mi...Signed for nine G's as playing-manager, but when he decided to hang up the spikes for good, the pay as benchpilot was coffee-and-cakes money in comparison...Jack Bromwich, the Aussie tennis-star, has 'em talking again...When he brought his two-handed backhand from down under, everybody sat up and took notice...Now he's taken up golf—and putts one-handed.

LEAFS SUFFER THREE REVERSES TO RED WINGS OVER WEEKEND

Rochester Club Threatening Bears For League Position; Syracuse Splits With Birds

Leafs Split On Saturday 10-9 And 3-2—Lose Pair On Sunday Bill

TORONTO, May 23 (CP)—The more you look at it, from practically any angle, the more those Rochester Red Wings look like the team to give Newark Bears a run in the International League pennant race.

Not only did they knock off Newark three games in a row last week, but they're winning consistently now after a very poor start this season, and are right up there in a virtual tie for second place in the standings. They have won 10 of their last 13 games to climb from deep in the second division.

A double victory over Toronto Maple Leafs yesterday 6-5 and 7-3, left the Red Birds only three percentage points behind Baltimore Orioles, who moved into second by splitting a pair with humble Syracuse Chiefs. They're both 3½ games behind Newark, which rallied from its recent losing streak by trimming its Jersey City neighbors 6-3 and 13-10.

Baltimore dropped the first game to Syracuse, 3-2, in the 10th after Ed Remorenko nicked old Blubber Malone for a pinch homer with one aboard in the eighth. The Orioles came back to win 6-2 behind Johnny Wittig's five-hit pitching.

Montreal Royals belted Buffalo down from second to fourth in the standings, winning both ends of a bargain bill 9-6 and 8-4 with plenty of heavy hitting and Marvin Duke's six-hit elbowing in the second game. Norm Kies set the pace in the opener, knocking in five runs.

Oshawa Champions Are Here Tomorrow

Oshawa GM-men and the Petes tangle at three o'clock here tomorrow (Tuesday) afternoon in Riverside Park to open the 1938 C.O.B.L. schedule. The usual big May 24th holiday crowd of ball fans is expected to witness this fixture, and an exciting game is probable. Civic officials will take part in the opening ceremony at 2.45 oclock and then Umpires Colling and Thomas of Belleville will start the struggle. Neither Coach Art Legge of Oshawa or Manager Eddie Murphy of the Petes has nominated his starting twirler yet. It will be either Lefty Biddle or Jack Turner for the 1937 league champions, in all likelihood, and probably big Russ Kitchen for the Petes. Joe Jakafby and Eddie Whitehill are ready to start for the Petes, if called upon.

The visitors have pretty much their smart squad of last year to open this season, plus a few junior graduates to fill in as utility men. But the Petes have several changes. Cliff Cadd will be at first with Burt Kingdon at second, Al Clark at short and either Bob Doll or Cy Whatley at third. Burton, Deadey and Kearns will form the outfield. If Doll plays third, Whatley will catch; otherwise, Mowry will do the receiving. Both teams will be battling to cop the opening game of the year here tomorrow.

OWNED DERBY WINNER

Soccer Notes

A special meeting of the P. and D.F.A. will be held to-night in the Chamber of Commerce Rooms. All club representatives be present at 8 o'clock. Business important.

On Tuesday afternoon Toronto Kenwoods will be the guests of the Canadian General in a soccer game at 2.30 on King Edward Park. Alex. McKinley will be the referee. After the game, the visitors will be entertained in the Legion Hall. Over 80 guests are expected, and it is stated the president of the Ontario Football Association will also be present.

GIANTS CLIMAX LOSING STREAK WITH 18-2 WIN

NEW YORK, May 23.—(AP).—The Giants shot out of the hitting doldrums yesterday with their heaviest run-making assault of the season to trample Pittsburgh Pirates 18 to 2 and end their four-game losing streak.

King Carl Hubbell, after giving up two runs in the first inning, pitched shutout ball the rest of the way for his fifth win of the season against one defeat to the entertainment of a crowd of 30,343.

The Giants, who have scored exactly three runs in their last four games, were sparked by a 15-hit attack that buried Dutch Brandt, Bill Swift and Rookie Truett Sewell. Harry Danning contributed a homer with the bases loaded and a triple to drive in six runs. Jo-Jo Moore whacked a homer with two aboard. In fact, every one in the line-up, except for Shortstop Dick Bartell and Second Baseman Mickey Haslin, hit safely at least once. Haslin was given Lou Chiozza's infield berth because of the latter's weak batwork.

WINS HIS OWN GAME.

Boston Bees forged link No. 7 in their victory chain at Boston yesterday as Milburn Shoffner, their 31-year-old southpaw rookie, won his own ball game by singling home the winning run in the eleventh inning of the series with Chicago Cubs. The score was 2 to 1.

The winning streak is now the longest the Boston Club has enjoyed since it was named the Bees two years ago. Shoffner hurled the entire distance for the victors, who, by winning their third extra-inning contest in four days, advanced to within one game of second place in the National League.

A crowd of 20,161 watched as Shoffner, pitching seven-hit ball, cut down the Chicagoans, who themselves invaded National League Park with a four-game winning streak. Olay Bryant went the route for Chicago. Although he fanned eight men, he issued seven passes.

BRINTONS BEAT ELECTRICS 2-1 IN FIRST MATCH

Brinton Athletics took the first game of the soccer season on Saturday afternoon, when they got the one-goal advantage over the Canadian General. The winners trotted out in full new equipment—blue sweaters, black pants, blue stockings, and football boots. Ben McMaster looked good and showed his old form when he got the smartest goal of the game.

Clever Combination.

Captain Eric Jones won the toss and selected the sun at his team's back. The half-backs came into prominence through the effective breaking up tactics against the alert forwards who endeavored to get an opening that failed to materialize. But the wing men never gave up, and repeatedly got the better of the argument as they carried the play right up against the full-backs. Stan Murduff once made a nice opening for the centre-forward, who tried for the corner of the upright, but the Brinton goalie picked up the ball from the corner of the upright to kick clear. McLeod trapped the ball quickly as it came down to send his forward on the wing to gain two unsuccessful corner kicks which Bolton fisted clear under the crossbar. Towards the interval, both custodians were tested with close shots to keep their goal intact when the interval stood. No scoring.

Brinton Takes Lead.

On resuming, C.G.E. trotted out some new forwards that added some excitement as the Burgess-Ben McMaster combination proved dangerous with their close-dribbling style as they hovered around the goal; in fact, it seemed to bring out the superb understanding of the Brinton halves as they carried the play forward to get within shooting range. Stan Murduff and Jimmie Mitchell responded with smart punting to baffle the attacking forwards. The run of the game was very even until a Keith break-away went wide of the mark. The kick out went to McLeod who beat three men in a row to send his left winger away on the run. He beat the full-back nicely, and carrying the sphere into the corner sent it on an angle to strike the under part of the cross-bar. The C.G.E. tried hard to get the equalizer, but they were surprised when a free kick from the right wing left George Downer in possession who gave the custodian no chance to save. Thereafter the C.G.E. forced the play to get the Brinton defence in a quandary as they did everything but score. Burgess made clever openings, and it was from one of these that McMaster rattled the upright with a stinging drive from twenty yards out. On his next visit to Brinton territory, he accepted the pass from the inside man to get the Electrics' only counter. During the last five minutes, the C.G.E. forwards were more aggressive, to find the full-backs conceding nothing. Brinton Athletic 2, Canadian General electric 1.

What A Man O'Callaghan

"A broth of a bhoy from the ould sod" to say nothing of being ambitious is Dr. Patrick O'Callaghan, ABOVE, now in United States on the trail of the world's wrestling and boxing championships. Yes, that's right both wrestling and boxing! Dr. Patrick won the two Olympic titles for throwing the 16-pound hammer, but whether he will be able to throw all the thing necessary to even get close to either title remains to be see. His first tilt is with Jim Londos in Boston, June 18, then he untangles himself and goes into a boxing stance against Jimmy Adamick in Detroit, July 2. Keep punching, Patrick!

Columbia Lou's Consecutive-Game Streak Threatened By Charley Horse

CLEVELAND, May 23.—(AP)—Cleveland Indians increased their American League lead to two games yesterday by walloping New York Yankees 8 to 3 in a series-opening game which was costly to both sides.

Bob Feller retired after working three innings when he complained of the recurrence of a back injury, and Lou Gehrig, the Yankee iron man, pulled a charley-horse on a double in the sixth inning and gave way to Babe Dahlgren in the seventh. It was Gehrig's 1,990th consecutive game.

Rookie Johnnie Humphries replaced Feller, who in the first three innngs held the world champions to one pop single.

Humphries worked two and two-thirds innings and was replaced by Mel Harder, who pitched three full frames. Although Harder entered the game with the score 8 to 3, the official scorer awarded him the victory.

A crowd of 62,244 spectators saw the game.

GETS HIS 200th WIN

Ted Lyons, 37-year-old right-hander, scored his 200th American Baseball League victory yesterday as Chicago White Sox defeated Washington 9 to 2, at Chicago.

The veteran knuckle baller yielded nine hits, one a homer by Jonathan Stone in the eighth inning, but after pitching himself out of jams in each of the first three frames he had little difficulty. It was his second triumph against no defeats in four starts this season.

Lyons' mates ganged on Wes Ferrell for five runs in the sixth, and added two more runs of Harry Kelley in each of the seventh and eighth innings. Approximately 20,000 attended the series opener.

Washington ... 000 010 010—2 9 2
Chicago ..... 000 005 22x—9 11 1
W. Ferrell, Kelley and R. Ferrell; Lyons and Sewell.

YORK CLOUTS A HOMER

For the second time in a week Rudy York hit a home run with the bases loaded and gave Detroit Tigers a 4-to-3 victory yesterday over Boston Red Sox.

York's heavy blow came after Jack Wilson had walked Pete Fox and Dixie Walker, and Charlie Gehringer had singled. Manager Joe Cronin hammered out a home run for Boston in the second, but the bases were empty.

Boston ..... 010 010 001—3 10 0
Detroit ..... 400 000 000—4 6 1
Wilson and Desautels; Poffenberger and Tebbetts.

A's WIN IN 10th

The Athletics scored three runs in the tenth inning off Buck Newsom, who went in as a relief hurler with two on, to defeat the Brownies 8 to 5 here yesterday.

BUNTY LAWLESS DEFEATS FIELD BY TIDY MARGIN

TORONTO, May 23 (CP)—A rosy future was forecast today for Bunty Lawless, little bay son of Ladder-Mintwina, who romped to victory at Woodbine Park Saturday in the 79th running of the King's Plate, 1⅛ miles' feature of the Ontario Jockey Club's opening program.

Bunty did not register the smashing triumph of a Horometer nor of a Young Kitty but he came from behind to beat a field of 14 to win by 1½ lengths, going away, from Mona Bell of the Cosgrave Stable. Cabin Gal, carrying the silks of Harry Giddings, was third another four lengths back.

The winner, owned by Willie Morrissey, who sold newspapers on Toronto streets in his boyhood, ran the distance in 1.54 2-5. Bunty Lawless broke swiftly and followed the hot pace of the surprising Mona Bell and Suffern until the three-quarter mile pole. At this stage Bailey gave his mount his head and Bunty went after the leading filly and caught her in the last sixteenth.

Bulk of the $7,500 purse and the King's 50 guineas, given to Morrissey by Lord Tweedsmuir after the race, plus nomination and starting fees and side bets netted the colt's owner about $20,000 for the performance. Morrissey had a $4,000 horse-against-horse sidebet with a syndicate backing Harry Hatch's Suffern.

Suffern stayed behind the blazing early pace of Mona Bell until they hit the turn leading to the stretch where Bunty made his move. Then Hatch's entry, with which he was bidding for a third straight plate victory, quit and finished ninth. Grand Dame took fourth at the start and never improved.
